The above remedies have now been before the public many years, and their great success in alleviation of human misery, has excited the cupidity of several parties, who use the name "Specific Pills," copy my labels, circulars and advertisements, sometimes word for word, and put up worthless compounds that disappoint the just expectations of the purchaser,

SCHOOLS AND SCHOLARS.

Read at the exhibition, by the scholars of District No. 33, Sterling Minn., at the close of school, March 22d. 1867.

Composed by O. Goff, for the occasion.

I will write a composition at the close of school.
For fear if I don't they will think I'am a fool,
And I dont want it known so I'll try be a wag,
And by aping the fool, keep the cat in the bag.
Now what is a school? why a house where they keep,
All the boys and the girls on a very hard seat.
Then call them out upon the floor and make them toe a line,
Till their legs ache like blazes, a standing all the time,
They say this all is needful to play in life our part,
And learn all the hard names of these little crooked marks.
For instance, one that crooks both ways like two hooks wrongly joined,
They say is "S" and we should lisp when that is brought to mind,
Another one they call a T it is nothing but a cross,
And why that folks should call that T, I'm at a total loss,
They say it represents a sound, but how a sound should look?
One day I listened sharp and long, to hear one in the book.
But all those little crooked marks I learned some how or other.
And then to spell by putting all and each of them together;
Sometimes one way and sometimes 'tother, but no two ways alike,
By Gum! I don't see how the folks can tell which way is right,
Next writing comes with pen and ink, and paper clean and white,
And we must make those crooked marks and that they call "to write,"
But then the marks we make with pen are not like those in books,
And if you are not careful then they'll call them eyes and hooks.
Next cyphering comes, with figures ten they say there is no end,
Then what's the use to start at all, I'll stop 'fore I begin,
I don't believe that all this stuff is that which makes the man,
For I have seen a wrestler smart before whom none could stand,
And he could neither read nor write but called on Uncle Ned,
To sign his name to a note he gave for liquor he had had.
Now I don't want to be a priest and preach for bread and butter,
And do on Sunday's what I do that other folks had'nt oughter.
Nor Doctor with his poison pills to make his patients puke,
And kill more folks with calomel then any Mamaluke.
A merchant I don't want to be and buy a heap on credit,
Then trust it out to A. B. C. perhaps I'll never get it.
Nor yet a lawyer would I be and live by telling lies.
And setting neighbors by their ears to pick out both their eyes,
Nor Judge to hear two lawyers plead, each makes his case so plain,
I could not with them disagree were all the world to gain.
Now is it cause they've got their heads so full of those black marks,
That makes them all so cute and keen to play their several parts.
No, I don't believe it is at all for here is little Bill,
Will plead his case and clear himself do what the critter will,
And he don't know the letter U from our old brindle ox bow,
Nor could he tell a barrel hoop from the letter they call O.
And if he lives to be a man he'll beat them all a pleading,
Then what's the use in schooling us in spelling, writing, reading?
Would I know better how to swap my pewter bladed knife,
Or catch the quails or make my ball or work upon a strife.
No, I can work as well to day, as ignorant as I be.
As if I knew my arithmetic clear to the rule of three,
And you can't fool me in a word unless you lisp or stammer,
No quicker than you could if I had studied through the grammar.
But I won't brag but just sit down and watch the scholars study.
There Bently made a picture then and showed to master Freddy,
There Thomas threw a paper ball and hit Miss Hatties' nose.
She turns around and aims at George and whiz the bullet goes,
The master sees the missele fly but whose the arm that sent,
He looks: the scholars all around are on their studies bent,
I'll watch he thinks but 'hind his back John's pulling Spencer's hair,
And Spencer and Ally viewing each to hoist their heels in air.
Stamp goes the foot, all look aghast. Each thinks he is detected,
While maps and slates and grammar too the instant are neglected.
While every eye around is to see who is deficient,
And I must look upon my book for fear of foul suspicion,
This is the picture of a school, as ever scholar knows,
And every teacher feels 'tis true whether in verse or prose,
And see the reasoning of his heart when he was young as I,
If now they sing a different song I wonder if they lie.
Your pardon sirs I meant no harm, hope no offense is taken,
The poets liberty I claim and hope 'twill save my bacon,
But if it don't 'tis all in life where pain and pleasures blended,
I've had my song and sung it through, now song and school are ended.

—Great excitement is now existing in Brandon, Vermont, owing to the discovery of the body of a daughter of Mr. Goodenough buried in her father's cellar. The girl had been missing for some time, and it was supposed that she had either committed suicide or had been accidently drowned in one of the mill streams or ponds in the vicinity. Mr. Goodenough has been arrested and lodged in jail at Rutland on suspicion of having murdered her, the report being that he wanted to get rid of her, she being of unsound mind. The unfortunate girl was eighteen years of age.

THE RAILROAD BOND QUESTION—SOMETHING ABOUT REPUDIATION.

[From The Winona Republican.]

Among the laws enacted by the Legislature near the close of its last session is one providing for submitting to the vote of the people, at the next general election, a proposition to set apart 500,000 acres of land, together with the revenue resulting to the State from the earnings of railroads, to be applied to the payment of Minnesota State Railroad bonds. The bill provides that whenever $20,000 shall have accumulated in the treasury, from either or both of these sources, it shall be used for the liquidation of as much of this debt as it will buy on the best terms that can be made with the holders. From the phraseology of the bill and the discussion that it elicited in the Legislature, as well as the position taken by the St. Paul Press and the Pioneer, which papers support it, and urge its adoption by the people, it is evident that if ratified it is to be taken as a recognition of the validity of those bonds, in full for principal and interest, and that they must be paid, except so far as parties holding them voluntarily come forward and offer to take a less sum. It is also obvious that the tactics to be employed by the friends of this measure, is so to present it to the people that its rejection shall be to adopt the alternative of repudiation, and accept the dishonor and disgrace that must attach to a State refusing to pay a legitimate and honest debt.

I do not now propose to discuss this question on its merits, but simply to give the advocates of this measure fair notice that that policy will not answer. The people are not to be cajoled or hoodwinked into a scheme so important as this, by any cowardly fear that the good name of the State is to be sullied by repudiation. They are fully competent to protect their own honor, and those who believe that it can only be done by providing for the payment of these bonds had better be offering some other reasons in support of that theory.

Whether repudiation is justifiable or not depends entirely upon the character of the claim repudiated. If it is an honest debt, contracted in good faith, no ethics can justify its repudiation. On the contrary, if it has been obtained by fraud or without consideration having been given therefor, repudiation is not only justifiable, but it is the duty of the party on whom the fraud is attempted to refuse payment. The records of all our courts are full of evidence sustaining this position.

Now what are some of the facts in the history of this bond question, which may be seen at a glance, and that at least indicate that it has two sides?

The Legislature of 1858 proposed an amendment to the Constitution providing for a loan of State credit to railroad companies to the extent of $5,000,000. That amendment was ratified by the people, and subsequently, in pursuance of the amendment to the Constitution and an act of the Legislature passed August 12th, 1858, $2,250,000 were issued to four different railroad companies. What, now, is the next development of history in this connection? The first State Government that met after these bonds had been issued, took the position that the parties who received them had broken faith with the State, and the next Legislature submitted to the people an amendment to the Constitution, providing that no provision for the payment of these bonds should be made without it should first be submitted to a popular vote, and this was ratified. Bear in mind, the Legislature was not content to provide that these bonds should not be paid, because the next Legislature could repeal such a law; and we all know the appliances that are sometimes brought to bear on Legislative bodies, where large amounts of money are involved; but they went as far as they could go in providing against the payment of these bonds, and the people ratified their act. In other words, the Legislature and people repudiated this debt; and it may be a pertinent inquiry, to see how far that act impaired the public credit. The same Legislature that submitted to the people the amendment of the Constitution providing for the loan of State credit to the railroad companies to the extent of $5,000,000, also passed an act authorizing a loan of $250,000, the bonds of which were put on the New York market, and promptly sold for a premium. Now if repudiation is an act so terrible in its consequences to State credit, it would naturally be supposed that after the people had deliberately voted in favor of repudiating the Minnesota State Railroad Bonds, the State credit would have been so impaired that the bonds of the $250,000 loan would have no value in the market, or at least would have greatly depreciated. But this was not the case; so far from it, the fact is, they have always commanded a price equal to the best State stocks. It will be borne in mind that the action taken by the Legislature and people repudiating the Railroad Bonds, was at a time when all the facts and circumstances relating to their issue, and the use that was subsequently made of them by the parties to whom they were issued, were fresh in the public mind. Since that time, many people have come to the State who are not expected to be familiar with that early history, and many of the facts and details have undoubtedly passed from the minds of some who were participators in making the history to which I have called attention. Is it not palpable, then, that before much is said of repudiation and public dishonor, the history of the bonds should be investigated, and the people of 1860 be put on trial, and their cause be either condemned or vindicated?

INQUIRER.

From the South.

Gov. Patton, of Alabama, has published a long letter, in which he advises the people to accept the terms proposed by Congress for reconstruction cheerfully and carry out the law faithfully.

The Herald's Richmond correspondence says John Minor Botts recently called upon Gen. Schofield, and gave some advice regarding the manner in which the new powers delegated to the General as commander of the district should be applied. No reply was vouchsafed to him, however, and he left feeling himself snubbed.

The press are all turning their attention to securing the negro vote, and Hunnicutt's paper warns the colored people against voting for rebels.

In Louisianna similar efforts are being made by the politicians, who, a month ago, were defiantly bent on not voting at all if the negro did, and their late readers did not. Now they call upon their leaders to sacrifice themselves, and the negro to vote with their old masters and best friends.

The first act of General Sheridan under his new authority it is reported will be the removal of Mayor Monroe and the secession municipal government at New Orleans.

Governor Wells and the General, who have been enemies since the riots, have resumed amicable relations.

The Grand Army of the Republic—an association of discharged Federal soldiers—numbers over seven thousand men in two parishes alone, and is extending all over the State.

Accounts of lawless outrages in North Carolinian are still reported.

STILL THEY COME.

The conversions to the Congressional faith of reconstruction are so numerous in the South that it will soon become difficult to record them. There is a general "revival," and one of its most hopeful aspects is seen in the fact that "the vilest sinners" are returning to the fold. For instance, the Chronicle and Sentinel, of Augusta, Georgia, which only a few months ago menaced Northern men with violence who should settle in that community, if they differed with the community in politics, and which has denounced the Reconstruction Law without stint, and advised the do-nothing policy very recently, has now completely changed its tone. It declares that "the work of reconstruction has been begun under circumstances which promise satisfactory result;" it points out the folly of resistance and non-action, and even goes to the extent of expressing the opinion that, after all, negro suffrage is not so great an evil as many have supposed. It goes on to show that there should be no strife between the two races; that their interests are mutual, and their relations those of dependence one upon the other.

Among other distinguished converts we must set down the Daily Era, published at Atlanta, Georgia, and heretofore classed among the most violent rebel journals. In an article headed "Our Position; the Rear Closed," it declares that it has "deliberated long and deeply, and anxiously, and with a conscientious desire to decide aright." It says "the question was too fearfully important to be decided hastily, or without mature and profound reflection," and adds:

This we have given it; and the result of our deliberation, as a firm, honest, judicious and unwavering friend of President Johnson, who has declared that he will more rigorously enforce laws passed without his signature than those he approved, is, that it is our bounden duty and that of every other patriot and well wisher of the South, to at once signify an unconditional acceptance of the measures perfected by Congress for our restoration to the Union, and heartily co-operate with the United States authorities in securing the most desirable end.

TERRIBLE MEXICAN BARBARITY.

Deliberate Execution of French Prisoners.

From the Brownsville Ranchero, Feb. 21.

We published yesterday the order of Gen. Mariano Escobedo, directing that all the prisoners captured at San Jacinto Ranche, on the first day of this month, not born in Mexico, should be put to death. This order was executed on the 3d inst., at seven o'clock in the evening; or rather, the execution of the one hundred and twenty-three prisoners was finished at that hour. One by one the prisoners were shot, and each bloody body was left as it fell for the next victim in order to look upon. We are informed that but few of the doomed victims faltered, and when marched out for execution most of them sang the Marseillaise hymm.

It has long been the custom in Mexico to shoot commissioned officers captured in battle, but this is the first instance in many years where any considerable number of private soldier prisoners have been sentenced to death and executed. During all the wars, the Mexican leaders have regarded the private soldiers as an irresponsible instrument in the hands of the conscripting commissioned officers. Then why, let us ask, have they at this time dragged one hundred and twenty-three soldiers to the executioner's block? There is but one answer to be given. These soldiers were foreigners, they were only Frenchmen, and when disarmed were heroically put to death. The perpetrators of this atrocity were perfidous, treacherous assassins.

Kerosene.

The last Congress passed a wholesome law in relation to the sale of this important article of almost universal consumption. The law provides as follows:

"Section 29 of Amendment to Internal Revenue Law, approved March 4, 1867: And be it further enacted, that no person shall mix for sale naptha or illuminating oil, or shall knowingly sell or offer for sale oil made from petroleum for illuminating purposes, inflammable at less temperature or fire test than one hundred and ten degrees Faherahеit; and any person so doing shall be held to be guilty of a misdemeanor, and on conviction thereof by indictment or presentment in any court of the United States, having competent jurisdiction, shall be punished by a fine of not less than one hundred dollars, nor more than five hundred dollars, and by imprisonment for a term not less than six months, nor more than three years."

Indian Affairs.

WASHINGTON March 28.—Special Indian Commissioner Bogy had an interesting interview with the Sioux Dakota Indians this forenoon, in the council chamber of the Indian Department, upon the subject of the application of their treaty funds. Hon. N. G. Taylor, the new Commissioner of Indian Affairs, was present, but took no part in the proceedings, not yet having formally entered upon his duties.

Hon. N. G. Taylor the new Commissioner of Indian Affairs will enter upon the discharge of his duties on Monday. Charles E. Mix, for many years Chief Clerk of the Bureau, will be retained in that capacity.

FOR FORT ABERCROMBIE.—We learn that some 800 troops are on their way to Fort Abercrombie, from the East, and we suppose they are to be used as escorts over the plains this season. About 150 arrived at Fort Snelling last week; the others are on the way by detatchments.—Min. Chron.

LYNX KILLED.—A lynx was discovered near Carimona on Wednesday of last week, and pursued nearly to the Iowa line, where it was killed in Hoag's Grove, by B. B. Palmer and Thomas McNair. It measured in length 5½ feet, and in height 26 inches.—Preston Rep. March 15th.

The Legislature passed a bill changing the county seat of Wabasha county from Wabasha to Lake City. The Leader thinks the vote of the people will sustain the act and remove the county seat.

We give above the vote of the county upon the question of locating the jail, which is decided by a majority of 872 votes, or more than two-thirds of the entire vote in favor of Mankato. Outside of the vote of Mankato the verdict is 73 in her favor, and withdrawing both contestants from the count, Mankato has a majority from voters not locally interested in the place, of 273 votes. We trust that the verdict of the people will satisfy Garden City that she is neither the geographical or commercial centre of Blue Earth County. The vote proves that the addresses published in favor of Mankato in respect to her commercial importance were true, while the one in favor of Garden City was specious, void of merit, and intended to mislead the credulous into schemes too wild for a sensible people to entertain. The canvass has been conducted with much spirit on both sides. This in itself is commendable, but when downright lying is resorted to we cannot withold our contempt for the act. We have not intentionally misrepresented in any particular, while we know that some of the friends of Garden City have. We are asked now to be generous inasmuch as we are the victors. When the smoke has cleared away we presume our usual suavity will return to us, and in that event we propose to evince our generosity by offering Garden City the old jail. As they are in a terrible sweat about having a jail at their town, and as Mankato is to have a new one, we can afford to give it to them, and as they think there is no necessity of a new one, the old shell will be quite satisfactory to them. Now that is a plan of conciliation quite feasible, and very satisfactory as far as we are concerned. If not so, to our Garden City friends (?) we will propose to run for a county office next fall, and if they don't get even with us then it will be no fault of theirs, "we bet!"

Concerning the building of the new jail, our county commissioners should at once commence its erection, and if they hesitate, they ought to be indicted by the Grand Jury. The Sheriff is obliged to hire an extra guard to keep prisoners from escaping, which costs as much as the interets on bonds, and continual repairs are necessary, which are a continual cost. The judge of this District will send criminals, at our expense to St. Paul for safe keeping, our reputation for thrift and improvement will be tarnished, and to avoid all this immediate action is necessary.

LATER

Have just heard from Pleasant Mound which gives only 43 majority for Garden City, making majority for Mankato 872.

RAILROAD BONDS.

The Legislature at its last session passed a law providing for the accumulation of a fund from the sale of 500,000 acres of land and the taxation of the railroads of the State for the purpose of liquidating the bonds issued under the five million loan bill. In the law is a condition that when $20,000 shall have been raised, the fact shall be advertised, and the bondholder who will surrender his bonds for the lowest price shall be paid first. This was done upon the ground that the equities between the State and original bondholders were such that a successful defence could be made against their payment in full. The peculiar manner of providing for their payment implies that it was not the intention of the Legislature to pay them in full. The reason for anticipating a settlement of these claims for less than their par value, could be none other than that, such payment would be contrary to the will of the people and unjust to the State.—Though the bonds were issued in good faith by the State and accepted by the various railroad companies during the year 1858, before the next year had expired these same companies failed to pay the interest on them according to the terms of issue, and also failed to build the roads according to contract with the State. These conditions to be performed by the railroad companies may be found in the amendment to section 10, article 9 of the constitution, page 48 of the new public statutes. This amendment was proposed by a democratic legislature, and the state, under its leadership and misrule ratified it in April 1858. The railroad companies selected portions of the road most easily graded and received $10,000 in bonds for the grading of each 10 miles, which cost only about $3,000, thus receiving about seven-tenths of the entire loan without any consideration. Adding to this their failure to put the cars in motion and pay their interest, the public mind was aroused to the immense fraud which would be perpetrated on the State unless the issuing of bonds should immediately cease, and the progress of squandering the public credit be arrested. In the winter of '59 and '60 at the earliest opportunity after the railroad companies had failed to redeem their pledges the legislature proposed the following amendment to the constitution:

Sec. 10. The credit of the State shall never be given or loaned in aid of any individual association or corporation, "Nor shall there be any further issue of bonds denominated 'Minnesota State Railroad Bonds,' under what purports to be an amendment to section ten (10) of article nine (9) of the constitution, adopted April fifteenth, eighteen hundred and fifty-eight, which is hereby expunged from the constitution, saving, excepting and reserving to the State, nevertheless, all rights, remedies and forfeitures accruing under said amendment."

This disclaimer was known and published before the bonds were fairly thrown upon the market, and especially was it notice to all subsequent purchasers, that the people would not fulfill on their part a contract first broken by railroad corporations, the breach of which threatened to involve the State in ever lasting ruin. But few sub-contractors and employees ever received pay for their labor, and hence contractors and originial corporators of the roads received these bonds in such quantities that if they were sold for one fourth of their par value they would lose nothing. Bankrupt, homestead and exemption laws will screen them from ever paying the laborer, who, with the tax payers of the State, will be the heaviest losers if these bonds are paid in full. When thrown upon the market they were sold as low as 17 cents on the dollar, and all the purchasers who bought subsequent to the amendment of the constitution are in equity entitled to their purchase money and interest only.

But a purely financial view of the subject, reveals facts which may not have occured to most of our readers. The debt when contracted was over two and a half million dollars, and the interest already accumulated and compounded would amount to as much more. It required five years to realize a million and a half of money from the sale of school lands, which were the most desirable in the State. It will take ten years to realize as much from lands appropriated for this purpose, as they are not as desirable, and mean time interest will have accumulated faster than it could be paid, leaving a balance of interest and the enter principal unpaid.

If we do not intend to pay the debt in full, the foregoing facts should lead us to inaugurate a fixed policy which will indicate what proportion of the debt we ought in justice to pay, and not have the question left to the individual bond holder or the discretion of a few individuals. As the people will vote upon adopting or rejecting the law passed upon this subject last winter, it should be considered well before action, and from time to time we shall present our views together with facts bearing upon the merits of the question.

ADJOURNMENT OF CONGRESS.

The new Congress, after passing the supplemental Reconstruction bill the main features of which were published last week, have adjourned to the first Wednesday in July, and in case no quorum can be formed for lack of members, within five days thereafter, then a further adjournment is to take place to December. In pursuance of this arrangement, Congresss adjourned on Saturday last, but the Senate was convened in executive session on Monday last to take into consideration appointments of the President, and the more important matter of a treaty with Russia by which that power cedes to the United States the whole of Russian America situated on the Pacific west of British America. This acquisition gives us all the sea coast—except what lies between latitudes 48 and 56—from the South line of California to the Arctic Ocean. What view the Senate will take respecting the enlargement of our domain remains to be seen. In a few days the attention of the country will be directed from the forum at Washington, to the field of the practical operation of the Reconstruction law, which is already going into effect in the Southern States. There seems to be a disposition in many places of the South to accept the situation in good faith, and encourage a re-organization of the States under this law. Fears are entertained of the connivance of the President in any scheme which will give rebels an undue advantage in the elections, and in framing of State constitutions, and Congress has deemed it advisable to meet any emergency by calling a session in July.

FROM SHELBYVILLE.

By our own reporter.

We are called upon to note one of the most strange, and sad visitations of providence of which we have heard. The facts are these: A man by the name of Short, living near Howard & Folsom's mill, was yesterday morning chopping wood at the door; he finished the stick upon which he was chopping, took his axe and a pail, and went down to the mill, a distance of four or five rods, as he stepped into the mill, he staggered and seemed about to fall, when Mr. Folsom one of the proprietors of the mill, caught him in his arms, and asked him what was the matter. He answered "nothing, only I felt dizzy." He seemed to partially recover, and started along, took a step or two, and fell dead. Those present could feel no beating of the heart or pulse, after he fell. They attempted to start blood but their efforts were unavailing. Dr. Welcome of Garden City was called, and pronounced it a case of epiletic stroke. Mr. Short was about thirty-four years old, and as we are informed, was generally heathly, he was a very quiet, peace loving, hardworking citizen, and leaves a loving wife, one child, and numerous friends, to mourn his untimely loss.

Shelby, March 26, 1867.

The Peabody Educational Fund.

The Board of Trustees of Mr. Peabody's education fund, for the benefit of the South and Southwest, recently held a session at New York:

A full discussion of the subject before the board took place, the founder's views were clearly expressed, and a report from the committee of investigation and inquiry was made in the shape of resolutions. It was determined that for the present the leading purpose would be to create or carry on primary or school education. Normal schools will be established, or where existing, aided, to prepare teachers and to endow scholarships in existing Southern institutions. To promote education as applicable to industrial pursuits, will also be an object of the Board.

Under the guidance of the executive committee, a general agent is to be selected to carry out Mr. Peabody's views. Rev. Dr. Sears, of Brown University, was invited to accept the office. He holds the invitation under deliberation. An executive committee of five is to be elected annually. The next annual meeting will take place in New York on the third Tuesday of June, 1868. A meeting will be held in Richmond, on the third Tuesday of next January. The present executive committee consists of Messrs. McIlvaine, Aiken, Evarts, Graham, Eaton, and the chairman of the Board (Mr. Winthrop) ex-officio.

A letter was received from Mr. Peabody explanatory of his views. He leaves to the board absolute discretion as to the particular localities in the Southern and Southwestern States, and hopes all parts of the country ravaged by war may eventually receive benefits from the fund. The trustees are not to distribute the fund in any measure of proportion to the States, or create any claim to a distributive share. The trustees, collectively or individually, are held to no responsibility. They have "a power and a trust."

Important Treaty With Russia

The President on the 30th ult communicated to the Senate in executive session a treaty with Russia, by which that power surrenders to the United States its sovereignty over all Russian America, including the strip 400 miles long which extends down the coast, thus nearly excluding British America from the Pacific ocean. The treaty was laid on the table, and will be taken up next week. The treaty excites intense interest. Influential parties regard it as significant of Russian policy in view of impending European complications on the Eastern question. Russia cedes her American territory for the same reasons that induced Napoleon to sell Louisiana. In a European war Russia would probably lose this territory, and by parting with it the Czar secures the friendship of our government. The English representative is deeply chagrined, and it is said Sir F. Bruce is to telegraph for instructions to protest against interference by our government. This cession more than doubles the United States coast on the Pacific.

The Burning of the Lindell Hotel.

St. Louis, March 31.—The Lindell Hotel, the largest building of its kind on this continent if not in the world, was totally destroyed by fire last night.

There is a good deal of mystery about the origin of the fire, but the most reliable accounts are that it broke out in one of the west front rooms in the 5th story about half past eight o'clock, but the alarm was not sounded until after 9 o'clock.

At this time the fire was confined to two rooms on that floor, but owing to the extreme height of the building and the difficulty of reaching the locality with hose, it gradually ascended till it broke through the 6th and 7th stories and reached the roof near the Northwest corner of the building; from this point the fire rapidly extended under the roof across the entire width of the hotel to the Sixth Street front, and then moved rapidly downward until the whole building was enveloped in flames.

The building was owned by the estate of Henry Ames & Co., Edward Ames being the representative of the property. Its original cost was little over $900,000, and was bought by Ames & Co., in December 1863, two months after it opened for $373,000. The insurance on the hotel amounts to $310,000, seventy or eighty of which is in Eastern companies, mainly of New York, Brooklyn, and Philadelphia. The lessees were Hatch, Weaver & Felt, whose loss on the furniture and stock is about $300,000, insured for $100,000. But little of the furniture was saved. There was about four hundred guests in the hotel, a large number of which were families boarding in the house.

Ohio Municipal Elections.

Columbus, O., April 1.—In the city of Columbus, Bull, Democrat, the present Mayor, is elected Mayor by 567 majority, a Union gain of 502 over his election last year. The Council stands 12 Democrats and 6 Union. In Centerville Judge Walk, Union, is elected Mayor by 60 majority.

Cincinnati, April 1.—The municipal election passed off quietly. The whole Union ticket is elected by about 3,000 majority.

Connecticut Elections.

New York, April 1.—Advices from several towns in Connecticut give English, democrat, about 600 majority for Governor. These towns including New Haven 185 democratic, and Wallford 467 democratic. The result is close and doubtful but the Democrats claim the State.

—Nashville April 1.—Ten colored men voted at the election of Attorney General at Jacksboro, Tenn., on the 21st of March. These were the first cast in Tennessee since 1864.

—The Governors of several Southern States are striving to get the military reconstruction act before the Supreme Court for discussion.

—The national debt was reduced fifteen millions during March.

—In the Natches District there is no opposition from more intelligent classes to the education of freedmen, but on the contrary many planters have applied for teachers and are willing to permit necessary buildings for schools. Gen. Gillem is convinced that all prejudice against the education of blacks will disappear. The demand for labor continues unabated. Thousands of colored people are brought to this State from older and less fertilized States of Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia. Accounts of destitution and starvation are, so far as they refer to Mississippi, much exaggerated. During January no rations were issued to citizens, black or white, except those in the Hospital.

—Captain Davy has designated Mankato as the point of outfit for emigrants going to Montana from Southern Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois and Indiana, and has directed all emigrants from those localities to concentrate at Mankato, preparatory to going into general rendezvous at Big Stone Lake.—St. Paul Pioneer.

—At a dinner party, given in New York recently, by a wealthy citizen, up town, the waiters were dressed in scarlet coats, knee breeches, silk stockings, and powdered wigs, after the old English fashion.

—A tubular shaft was recently sunk at Whiting Station, Vt., to the depth of sixty-eight feet, and solid rock but no water struck. At the depth of twenty feet a rich peat bed twenty-eight feet in thickness was found, and at the debth of thirty-seven feet a fallen tree or log, in comparatively good preservation.

—It is feared at Huntsville that the frost last week has injured the fruit crop of Northern Alabama very seriously, as peaches, plums, &c., were in full bloom. The region has also suffered severely from heavy rains. The farmers have done hardly any thing for three weeks.

—Mr. C. Bohn, just home from Germany, assures the Winona Republican, that there will be an immense immigration from that country to the United States during the coming season. Every regular passenger steamer from Bremen to New York has her full complement of passengers engaged up to the 1st of next September.

The Republican party of North Carolina was organized on the 28th ult., at Raleigh, upon the basis of Union, Loyalty, Liberty and Equality. Fifty-three counties were represented in the Convention, half of the representatives from each county being negroes, and half white men. The principles advocated and the resolutions adopted by the Convention contain very different sentiments from those advanced by Beverly Nash in his address to his suffering white brethren of South Carolina.

The State Fair.—At the meeting of the Executive Board of the State Agricultural Society, held at St. Paul, on Thursday, Rochester was appointed as the place for holding the State Fair on the 1st, 2d, 3d and 4th days of October next.

We are sure that no pains will be spared by our citizens to make such arrangements as will be creditable to our locality and will insure another successful exhibition.—Rochester Post.

For nearly two years the government has been carrying on its mail service without contracts, refusing to pay the higher prices that railroads have generally asked since the depreciation of the currency. It has now been determined by the post office department to weigh its mails over the most important routes and to pay in proportion to the matter carried.

"Daughter, why do you not wear your rings?" "Because, papa, they hurt me when anybody squeezes my hand." "What business have you' I would like to know, to have your hand squeezed." "Certainly none; but still, you know, papa, one would like to keep in squeezing order."

It appears that General Sheridan issued the order removing Mayor Monroe and other officers without consulting the President. It is they have appealed by telegraph to the President to interpose in their behalf. He will hardly interpose.

Baron Alderson once, in reply to a juryman's statement that he was deaf in one ear, observed: "Then leave the box before the trial begins; for it is necessary that jurymen should hear both sides."

Great Overland

EXPEDITION TO MONTANA!

MANKATO, MINN.,

The point of outfit for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, etc.

The largest Overland Expedition ever organized, will positively leave Minnesota,

FIRST OF JUNE NEXT

under the command of

who has designated Mankato as the point of outfit for Central and Southern Minnesota. It is situated at the great bend of the Minnesota, and on a direct airline from Chicago and Winona to Helena City, Montana.

Mankato contains 15 Dry Goods, 15 Grocery, 3 Hardware, 2 Drug, 3 Clothing, 6 Boot and Shoe, and 3 Harness stores, Feed and Provision Stores, 8 Hotels, a corresponding number of other business houses, 3 first-class Flouring Mills, and it is surrounded by a very fine agricultural country, well stocked with cattle and farm produce of all kind; and at that point can be obtained every article necessary for a complete outfit for the journey and mines, as cheap as can be had at any other town or city west of the Mississippi river.

Emigrants should leave the Mississippi at Winona, where they can take the Winona & St. Peter Railroad to Owatonna, the present terminus, and Mankato is 48 miles farther west by good stage road. The route from Mankato west to Big Stone Lake, the point of general rendezvous, a distance of 200 miles, traverses a beautiful section of country, with pleasant camping grounds, and plenty of wood, water and grass.

The distance from Mankato to Helena City, Montana, is about 1,000 miles and will require not more than ten weeks. It is shorter than any other, and the expedition led by Captain Tom Holmes, last year, over this route, arrived at Helena City two weeks earlier than the expedition led by Capt. Fisk from St. Cloud, via Fort Abercrombie.

For further particulars see Captain Davy's Circular, or address Hon. J. B. WAKEFIELD, Secretary and Treasurer of the Expedition, Blue Earth City, Minnesota.

LIME.—Geo Maxfield has just burned the first lime kiln of the season, and will be ready to deliver it to-morrow at the foot of Front street.

HARNESS STORE. Mr. D. Jones advertises anew his harness shop & store two doors below the post office. He has every thing in his line made up in the very best style and sell at the lowest figures. See his card and give him a call.

GODY.—Godys Ladys Book for April has arrived with its usual regularity. The spring styles are finely illustrated and the reading has attractions of unusual merit.

LESUEUR FERRY.—Mr. William Miller is building a ferry to run on the LeSueur river at the crossing near Scott & Wordens Mill. The ferry will be in operation as soon as the ice goes out.

FROM JANESVILLE.—We learn that D. L. Morse of Tivola, will head a company of ten or fifteen men with five teams, from Janesville in Waseca county, who intend joining Capt. Davy's expedition to Montana.

A NEW MAP.—We call attention to the advertisement of Lloyd's Topographical Railway Map of North America or United States Continent in 1900. This is the most accurate, reliable and complete map of North America ever before published, and, we ask our patrons to examine it and satisfy themselves as to its merits.

LAWS.—We publish in this issue in supplemental form the general laws passed by the legislature last winter. Our patrons are requested to preserve them for future reference as we shall have occasion to refer to such as are of general interest, before they are printed in pamphlet form.

EXHIBITION.—The scholars of the Union School will give an exhibition this (Friday) evening at Higgins' Hall. It was announced last week to have taken place last night, but a change in the time has since been made. Tickets only 25 cents. The proceeds are to be applied toward the purchase of a school library. Give them a full house.

LINING HOUSES.—An article of heavy cheap brown paper is being manufactured for the purpose of lining houses to keep out the cold air. There is no doubt that this paper will secure more warmth than a lining of wood, and will be far cheaper. As the building season commences, those who intend building should go to Smith & Humphrey's and see the paper and test its merits.

MONTANA HEADQUARTERS.—Capt. Davy has leased the building opposite the Clifton House, formerly occupied by Schwartz the tailor, and made it his headquarters for the Montana Expedition. At present J. W. Kelly will attend to the business of the office, but the captain will arrange his matters so as to give his personal attention to business at an early day.

SLEIGHING.—Up to yesterday, the 4th day of April the sleighing except in spots, was in good condition and wagons had not been brought into requisition. The oldest inhabitant is surprised at this freak of the weather. Crows and wild geese have come as scouts to ascertain the situation, and report progress. A good rain storm which seems quite probable at this writing will soon wash the face of mother Earth and give us a "welcome delightful spring" again.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENT.—MR. EDITOR.-Permit me through the columns of your paper, in be half of the family of Mr. Winters, to return sincere thanks to Dr Welcome, Rev Mr Case, and other Citizens of Garden City, for their very liberal donation of flour and provisions. It was thankfully recieved. May it be returned to the donors in blessings an hundred fold.

Yours truly
B. YATES

FOR MONTANA.—A gentleman from Kingston, Canada, was in town on Monday last, on business pertaining to the Montana Expedition. He heard something of the probability of the expedition starting from Mankato, and the company, which propose to go from that point, sent him out to make inquiries. He promises to return about the first of May, with a large company who will join Capt. Davy's train.

RUSTIC WINDOW SHADES.—We have just examined a lot of rustic window shades received by Smith & Humphrey by Express which for cheapness, durability, neatness and beauty far excels any thing of the kind ever offered to the citizens of Mankato. They are of different colors and figured and so cheap that they are within the reach of all. Go and see the goods.

AGRICULTURAL SOCIETY.—The following is a synopses of the business done by the Executive Committee of the Blue Earth County Agricultural Society, at their meeting held at this place, March 29, 1867:

The resignation of J. H. Ray, as treasurer was received and accepted. Mr. Terry of Vernon, was elected treasurer. It was voted that hereafter, no orders or accounts be paid by the treasurer, except upon the order of the President, attested by the secretary. Also voted, that, if the citizens of Garden City do not collect and pay over to the society, by July 1, 1867, the unpaid subscription, for the location and purchase of the Fair Grounds at Garden City, that this committee will not deem the said Fair Grounds as yet permanently located. Also voted that, immediate measures be taken to collect money sufficient to discharge the liabilities of the society Committee adjourned to meet at Mankato the first Saturday in July 1867.

TOWN ELECTION—The election of officers for Mankato township, and upon the location of the county jail, took place on Tuesday last at Higgins' building. The largest vote ever polled in this township was brought out in consequence of the jail question. Eight hundred and twentysix votes were polled, constituting nearly the strength of the town. On the jail question 812 votes were polled for Mankato, 13 for Garden City, and 1 for Rapidan. A few Garden City people who were obliged to come here to get employment for the winter of course voted for their own town. That would seem to be an ungenerous "dig" at their benefactors, but we suppose the love of home is strong even in death, and 'twere well to die "game," though foes encounter them from every hand. Several of the Garden City voters ignored Mankato simply because they were void of good sense.

The result of the election of town officers was not very flattering to the republicans, W. L. Coon for Justice being the only candidate, elected on that ticket. There seems to be a class of voters in the woods who hav'nt voted since the Presidential election of Jackson, and consequently they vote the Democratic ticket as they did then. We demur to another such a "still hunt." Deliver us from our friends, now that the Jail question is decided. We didn't dream that the woods were so full of snakes, or at all events that they would make their appearance so early in the season. The following is the result:

DEMOCRATIC.—John F. Meagher, S. Lamm, J. S. Burgess, for Supervisors, 453 votes each.

E. D. B. Porter, Clerk,	467
C. T. Hill, Justice,	335
G. A. Clarke, Assessor,	450

In town meeting the voters elected road masters as follows: Dist. 1, E. Howe. 2 John Brules, 3 M. P. Farrington, 4 Enoch Morris, 5 Geo. Keifer, 6 P. Hodapp. It was voted to raise 3 mills bounty tax and 3-4 of a mill for town purposes.

Election Returns.

MEDO.—On the jail question there were 84 votes polled, 74 for Mankato and 10 for Garden City. Republican town ticket elected.

JAMESTOWN.—Cast 45 votes which were unanimously for Mankato.

CERESCO.—This town gives a clean vote of 45 for Garden City.

SHELBY.—Town meeting lively, whole number of votes cast 110. For location of jail at Garden City 98 votes, at Mankato 9. Elected for Supervisors T. Fox, Chn., A. Swearenger, and Geo. Boler. For Clerk Lorin Cray relected, Assessor, E. L. Case, Treasurer L. Lindsey.

LINCOLN.—It is reported that this town have given 33 votes for Mankato and 18 for Garden City.

DANVILLE.—This town is said to have given 58 votes for Mankato and 14 for Garden City.

MAPLETON.—This town gives 63 for Mankato, 11 for Garden City and 2 for Rapidan.

SOUTH BEND.—The republican ticket was elected in South Bend as follows: Supervisors C. A. Chapman chairman, D. D. Evans, Ed. R. Jones. Clerk T. Eckstorm, Treasurer W. R. Price jr. Constables L. Mathews. Salva Torgerson. For jail at Mankato 55, Garden City 30. maj. for Mankato. 25.

LERAY.—In LeRay 51 votes were polled, all for Mankato. The Republican town ticket was elected, except one, as follows: Supervisors. Michael McMann Chn., G. A. Beiries. Henry Robinson. Assessor G. W. Burgess. Treasurer Martin Mettler, Clerk, J. B. Reynolds, Justice, J. B. Reynolds, Constable, Geo. Bennett.

GARDEN CITY.—On the question of locating the county jail, the vote stood 200 for Garden City and 1 for Mankato. We have no report of the election of officers.

LATER.—Officers elected are; For Supervisors, J. M. Thompson chairman, J. N. Greenwood, Wm. Long. Town Clerk, S. C. Clark, Assessor, John Frisbie, Treasurer M. T. Fall, Justice Peace, C. W. Frome.

RAPIDAN.—In Rapidan the republican ticket was elected as follows: Supervisors, L. Dyer chairman, I. Kenworthy E. B. Parker. Clerk, Capt. Sanders, Justices W. L. Stevens, C. P. Cook. Assessor, J. Sawyer. For county jail the vote stood 22 for Mankato, 22 for Garden City and 10 for Rapidan.

STERLING.—We learn that the town of Sterling gave 30 votes for Mankato and 61 for Garden City.

VERNON.—The town of Vernon is said to have given 105 votes for Garden City and none for Mankato.

LATER.—Our correspondent says the whole number of votes was 114. On location of jail, for Garden City 113 and for Vernon 1. The following town officers were elected. Supervisors, Theodore Sowers chairman, S. W. Thurston, Martin Sherwood. Town Clerk, E. F. Beebe, Assessor, Jacob Schuler, Justice Peace O. Dart.

MCPHERSON.—There were 161 votes polled in this town on township officers. On the jail question 155 votes were polled, 136 for Mankato and 19 for Garden City, giving a majority of 117 for Mankato. The Democratic town ticket was elected as follows:

Supervisors, J. A. Duncan, Asa White. J. H. Rye, Justice, Geo. Andrus, Assessor J. Y. Coldwell, Clerk, W. H. Harrison, Treasurer, Henry Foster.

JUDSON.—The town election resulted in the success of the Republican ticket as follows:

For Supervisors, Thomas Hughs chairman, W. J. Roberts J. W. Lewis, Clerk, W. E. Williams, Assessor, Richard Lewis, Treasurer, W. R. Hughes. For jail, Mankato received 37 votes and Garden City 28.

ANNUAL SCHOOL MEETING.—The annual school meeting of Mankato School District took place last Saturday afternoon, George Maxfield, Esq., Director, in the chair. The reports of the Trustees and treasurer were read and adopted. On motion of J. N. Hall, it was ordered that the Trustees levy a tax of six mills for the support of schools, and seven mills to finish the school house and build out houses and well, and purchase a pump and bell, and to meet other incidental expenses. For the purpose of completing this work at once, the trustees were authorized to issue orders on the treasury and negotiate them on the best terms possible. An election of officers resulted in the choice of Geo. Maxfield, Director, J. J. Shaubut, Treasurer and Ira Smith, Clerk.

The treasurer's report shows that the bonds to the amount of $10,000 which were issued to build a school house were negotiated for $9,499, and they bear interest at ten per cent per annum. There was in the treasury March 28th, 1866, $1,077 48, the old log school house was sold for $9, and $22 62 were received from general school fund. The total amount for building purposes including bonds sold being $10,511 10. Of this sum Boardman & Wampler have received $7,000 on their contract. The school lots have been paid, also interest on the bonds for six months and there remains now in the treasury $1,636 10. This sum will not quite pay up Boardman & Wampler, and as the building is yet to be supplied with seats and other furniture and apparatus, a tax will be levied for that purpose the present year. The Trustees have exercised a commendable degree of diligence, and discretion in negotiating our bonds on such favorable terms and in bringing our school interests into practical working order.

The above report refers only to our building fund. For the payment of teachers room rents, wood, benches, charts, &c., during the year $1,703 52 have been expended, and there still remains a few dollars in the treasury.

SHAME! SHAME!! SHAME!!! A Man's Wife out to Work. MR. EDITOR:—I wish to inform the readers of the UNION, of one of the most inhuman men on record. This man lives in Pleasant Mound, and has a good farm, team, hogs, one cow, wheat, and five acres of good timber on the Blue Earth near two good saw mills, and lumber in the log worth $10 dollars per thousand feet, but his wife is out to work.

He says the reason is because his bodily strength is poor, and that she is better able to work out than he is. So his wife is out to work. This man has six children almost houseless. They have scarcely clothes enough to cover their tender forms, and shoeless as they are, that father makes them bundle up their feet and go out to do chores.

These poor little suffering children have no tender mother's care, because she is out to work. Her husband, who we will call Mr. A. is feigning sickness. He is as able to work as any of his neighbors, or his wife. We notice that he is able to walk from one house to another as fast as most of the men, and he most always happens around about meal time. He eats very heartily, I think him not very dangerously sick at the present.

Mrs. A. is a very nice woman respected by all who know her, a good and affectionate mother, and a pleasant neighbor.

SPECIAL NOTICES

PLOWS! PLOWS!!—Something new for the farmers. L. L. & O. H. Davis, have just received a lot of the Mishiwauke Silver Steel Plows, which they warrant to scour in any soil, and give entire satisfaction, or the Plows will be taken back and the money refunded. The Silver Steel Plows were introduced in this country last fall and pronounced by those that have used them to be the best and lightest draft Plows ever brought to this country. Not one failed to scour in the worst soil. The Silver Steel Plows are the best Plows. The Silver Steel Plows are the cheapest Plows. Persons wishing will please call and see them before purchasing elsewhere, at Hardware Store.

A Cheerful Witness.

How experience conquers prejudice. Mr. Geo. Thrall, of Rochester, in a recent letter to Wilcox & Gibbs, S. M. Co., writes: "One of your machines has been used in my family for the past eighteen months. It has given perfect satisfaction, and I consider it the best Sewing machine for family use. I the more cheerfully bear my testimony in its favor because I was at first greatly prejudiced against it."

TRUTH WILL SUCCEED.—This fact needs no new proof, but it has one in the success of D. B. De Land & Co.'s best chemical Saleratus. It has been introduced only a few years, and yet we see it taking the place of all other kinds in the market. Would a bogus article do this.

☞For the physician as well as the patient, that is, the physician should prescribe the Medicine and the patient take it, for it is not expected any physician will take his own Medicine. However, if you are sick you need not go to the physician at all, but procure a box of Bryan's Life Pills; they cleanse the blood from all impurity, and banish headache giddiness and other kindred complaints. They can be used successfully in any disease that affects the human system. (See advertisement.)

Hear Reason—Strengthen the Defenses.

When a garrison apprehends an attack from an outside enemy, what does it do? It strengthens the defences. The human system at this period of the year, is beleaguered by morbid influences. The inclement air is full of them. Every change of weather lays the feeble open to their attacks. What is to be done in order to baffle these unseen, but ever active, foes? Strengthen the defences. Do you ask how? The answer is simply—the means within the reach of all. Reinforce the vital organs and the nervous system with

HOSTETTER'S BITTER'S.

Tone the stomach, regulate the bowels, rouse the sluggish liver, cheer the spirits, enrich and purify the vital current, with Hostetter's Bitters. That's the way to Strengthen the defences, and render the capital of health impregnable. If you wish to escape billious head-ache, intermittent fever, indigestion, and nervous visitations—to enjoy, in all its plentitude, the blessing of a "sound mind in a sound body," use this incomparable preventive and restorative. It preserves health in the healthy, and renews it in the weak and ailing.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been throw aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

The News.

—It is stated that the reason why Jeff. Davis has been so long kept "in durance vile" is the fear of Mr. Johnson that, should he release him, he would make enough political capital to be his rival candidate for the Presidential nomination on the rebel-C[illegible] ticket.

—The progressive spirit [illegible] work in Delaware. Th[illegible] mercial is out in an [illegible] franchisement of th[illegible] its limits, and the R[illegible] are about moving [illegible] suffrage.

—The Tenn[illegible] Bank at Memphis has failed. [illegible] is the heaviest loser.

—The firm of Dr. D. Seelye & Co., at Freeport, Ill., has failed with heavy liabilities.

The Times says:

"The election of Barnum to Congress from Connecticut seems a forgone conclusion. With his usual shrewdness, Barnum has managed to secure the virulent opposition of the New York Herald, whereby his success is assured beyond all doubt."

A Herald Metamoras special denies the report of the defeat of the Liberals near Queretaro, by the force under Maximilian. The Liberal lines are within seven miles of that place.

—Trouble is anticipated in Maryland during the sitting of the Convention which is to frame a new Constitution for the State. Prominent Radicals of Maryland have been asking aid from Congress.

—Work upon the McGregor Western R. R. is actively commenced in Mower county, in this State. The right of way is now secured through from Le Roy to Austin, and employees are busily driving piles in the sloughs west of LeRoy before the ice breaks up.—Rochester Post.

Old Age.—An old Irish gentleman named Bannon died in this city last Saturday, at the advanced age of one hundred and three years, having been born in 1764. He leaves a widow surviving him, who is over ninety years old. Mr. Bannon, was up to the time of his death, remarkably active and healthy for a man of his years, and his extraordinary age would scarcely have been suspected.—Rochester Post March 20th

Mr. Bogy, late commissioner of Indian Affairs, acting for the Government, has recently had an interview with the Yancton, Sioux, Sauk, Winnebago and Omaha tribes, the Indians having in view further provision for their comfort and welfare, without cost to the government beyond the present appropriation for these tribes under treaty stipulations.

A favorite idea is to provide for them out of this fund a sufficient quantity of cattle, so that they may begin to raise stock and abandon the chase. The Indians, it is thought, will adopt this mode of life very readily, and as the trial can be made without any expense to the government it is deemed worthy being put in practicable operation.

A bill has passed Congress organizing the Lincoln Monument Association. The corporators consisted of one from each State. The Western names are as follows: Illinois, Mr. Cullom; Missouri, Mr. Benjamin; Ohio, Mr. Wilson; Indiana, Mr. Orth; Michigan, Mr. Driggs; Iowa, Mr. Harlan; Minnesota, Mr. Ramsey; Kentucky, Mr. McKee; Kansas, Mr. Clark; Wisconsin, Mr. Paine.

The President has accepted Gen Rosecrans' resignation as Brigadier General in the Regular Army, and nominated Lovell H. Rousseau to fill the vacancy.

New York, March, 28.—The New York Times' Washington special says: "The Judiciary Committee of the House have temporarily suspended the examination of impeachment witnessess, but will resume their labors about the 1st of May, when, whether Congress is in session or not, all of its members have been notified to be here by its chairman."

A few days since we referred to a report that General Lee had declared himself in favor of calling a Convention under the new Reconstruction Law. We were inclined to think the report had no substantial foundation, but it has since been vouched for by the Valley Virginian, published at Stanton. That paper claims to have the "best authority" for the statement that the General is heartily in favor of such a movement. It says: "He thinks we should make every effort to avert our ruin; that it is idle to talk of resistance or inactivity." He admits that the pill is a bitter one, but says he can suffer nothing more than Appomattox.—Tribune.

Hawkes' Bail.—The bail in the Hawkes' case was given last night. The amount, as was announced last week, was fixed by Judge Wilkin at $3,000. The following are the names of the parties who furnished the bail: Horace Thompson, W. L. Ames, A. W. Etter, Thomas Armstrong, D. D. Merrill, J. J. Shaw and J. B. Slichter. Judge Palmer proposed that the parties give bail individually, in the amount of $500 each. This was objected to by County Attorney Flint, on the ground that if the bail was given in this way it would be necessary to bring as many suits as there were securities in case it became necessary to collect the bail. This view was sustained by the Judge who ordered a joint recognizance which makes each individual responsible for the whole amount.—St. Paul Press, March 24th.

Deserved Appointment.—We are pleased to learn that Mrs. Dewitt C. Smith, the widow of Major D. C. Smith, who lost his life in the army, has been appointed by the Governor, State Librarian. The many friends of this estimable lady will be glad to learn of this appointment.—Minneapolis Chronicle.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A Young Lady returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. AFFLICTED!

SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
General Agents.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order,—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines. Applicants for Agency should enclose stamps.

TO LADIES

If you require a reliable remedy to restore you, and remove Irregularities or Obstructions.

WHY NOT USE THE BEST?

Every lady knows the slightest irregularity of nature is liable to bring on Headache, Giddiness, Low Spirits, Fainting, Hesterics, &c.; then the bloom of health fades, the appetite fails, and other symptoms more distressing commence, as—Weakness, Spinal Complaint, the Whites, Prolapsus, &c. &c.

A NEVER FAILING REMEDY will be found in

Dr. HARVEY'S FEMALE PILLS.

The experience of thirty years has proved they have no equal for removing Obstructions, and Irregularities, NO MATTER FROM WHAT CAUSE THEY ARISE. They are safe and sure in every case. Upwards of 50,000 Boxes are sold annually, and no complaint of their efficiency is ever heard, for they accomplish what they are represented to do.

Sold in Boxes, containing Sixty Pills. Price One Dollar,

Dr. HARVEY'S GOLDEN PILLS,

Is a remedy four degrees stronger than the above, and intended for special cases of long standing Price five Dollars per Box.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

The following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor Cabinet, American School Organs etc etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a mere pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or an erratic jerking of the bellows or the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. Smith, of Boston, Siberia Ott, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address Mr. Siberia Ott, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

FEMALE SUFFRAGE.

Views of Mark Twain.

[From The Missouri Democrat.]

I have read the long list of lady petitioners in favor of female suffrage, and as a husband and father I want to protest against the whole business. It will never do to allow women to vote. It will never do to allow them to hold office. You know, and I know that if they were granted these priveleges there would be no more peace on earth. They would swamp the country with debt. They like to hold office too well. They like to be Mrs. President Smith of the Dorcas Society, or Mrs. Secretary Jones of the Hindoo aid association, or Mrs. Treasurer of something or other. They are fond of the distinction of the thing, you know; they revel in the sweet jingle of the title. They are always setting up sanctified confederations of all kinds, and then running for president of them. They are even so found of office they are willing to serve without pay. But you allow them to vote and go to the Legislature once, and then see how it will be. They will go to work and start a thousand more societies, and cram them full of salaried offices. You will see a state of things then that will stir your feelings to the bottom of your pockets. The first fee bill would exasperate you some. Instead of the usual schedule of judges, State printer, Supreme court clerks, &c., the list would read something like this

OFFICERS AND SALARIES.

President Dorcas Society	$4,000
Subordinate officers of the same, each	2,000
President Ladies' union prayer meeting	2,000
President Pawnee Educational Society	4,000
President of Ladies' Society for Dissemination of Belles Letters among the Shoshones	5,000
State Crinoline Directress	10,000
State Superintendent of Waterfalls	10,000
State Hair Oil Inspectress	19,000
State Milliner	50,000

You know what a state of anarchy and social chaos that fee bill would create. Every woman in the commonwealth of Missouri would let go everything and run for State Milliner. And instead of ventilating each others political antecedents, as men do, they would go straight after each other's private moral character. (I know them—they are all like my wife.) Before the canvass was three days old it would be an established proposition that every woman in the State was "no better than she ought to be." Only think how it would lacerate me to have an opposition candidate say that about my wife. That is the idea, you know, having other people say these hard things. Now, I know that my wife isn't any better than she ought to be, poor devil—in fact, in matters of othodox doctrine, she is particular shaky—but still I would not like these things aired in a political contest. I don't really suppose that woman will stand any more show hereafter than—however, she may improve—she may even become a beacon light for the saving of others—but if she does, she will burn rather dim, and she will flicker a good deal, too. But, as I was saying, a female political canvass would be an outrageous thing.

Think of the torch-light processions that would distress our eyes. Think of the curious legends on the transparencies:

'Robbins forever! Vote for Sallie Robbins, the only virtuous candidate in the field!"

And this:

"Chastity, modesty, patriotism: Let great people stand by Maria Sanders, the champion of morality and progress, and the only candidate with a stainless reputation!"

And this: "Vote for Judy McGinnis, the incorruptible! Nine children—one at the breast!"

In that day a man shall say to his servant, "What is the matter with the baby?" And the servant shall reply, "It has been sick for hours." "And where is its mother?" "She is out electioneering for Sallie Robbins." And such conversations as these shall transpire between ladies and servants applying for situations: "Can you cook?" "Yes" "Wash?" "Yes." "Do general house-work?" "Yes." "All right, who is your choice for State Millinery?" "Judy McGinnis." "Well, you can tramp." And women shall talk politics instead of discussing the fashions; and they shall neglect the duties of the household to go out and take a drink with candidates; and men shall nurse the baby while their wives travel to the polls to vote. And also in that day the man who hath beautiful whiskers shall beat the homely man of wisdom for Governor, and the youth who waltzes with exquisite grace shall be Chief of Police, in preference to the man of practiced sagacity and determined energy.

* * * * * * * *

Every man, I take it, has a selfish end in view when he pours out eloquence in behalf of the public good in the news papers, and such is the case with me. I do not want the privileges of women extended, because my wife already holds office in nineteen different infernal female associations and I have to do all her clerking. If you give the women full sweep with the men in political affairs, she will proceed to run for every confounded office under the new dispensation. That will finish me. It is bound to finish me. She would not have time to do anything at all then, and the one solitary thing I have shirked up to the present time would fall on me and my family would go to destruction; for I am not qualified for a wet nurse.

MARK TWAIN.

Diamond Cut Diamond.

The Cleaveland Plaindealer once knew a man to struggle for years to color a particularly obstinate meerschaum pipe. He tried all the different kinds of tobacco, put a button in it, boiled it in tobacco juice, but to no avail. It wouldn't color. He grew morose and sour, shut himself up by himself and smoked, uttering savagely from beneath his clenched teeth, "I'll c-o-l-o-r ye!" He gave up all his business and devoted himself wholly to smoking, determined, as he said, to color that pipe or die in the attempt. One day he failed to make his appearance at the breakfast table. His room was opened, and there he sat in his chair, dead. the fatal meerschaum was as white as when it first emerged, Venus-like, from the sea, but the man was turned to a rich, dark brown. The meerschaum had colored him.

Mrs. Sweeny gave birth to twins not a year ago, so that now there are five babies in the house, which Mrs. Sweeny finds too many for her arms to hold. There are four other small children in the house, and their parents need help to enable them to support them all.

MARRIED THOUGH NOT MARRIED.

A New York Clergyman Unwittingly Violates the Law.

[From The Hartford Post.]

An unfortunate mistake in the matrimonional line occurred in this city a few evenings since, and we refer to it now more for the purpose of putting the unwary on guard, and preventing future "accidents" than for any other reason. One of our city clergymen was absent from home over night. A New York clergyman, who was visiting him, remained in the family until his return. That evening a young man, accompanied by a girl, who hung tenderly upon his coat-sleeve, applied at the house, and modestly stated that he and his fair partner would be very much gratified to be yoked for life, and he wanted to see Mr. ——. The visiting clergyman informed him that Mr. —— was absent. "But" said he, "I can perform the ceremony just as well." The young man looked at the young woman, and she looked at him; then he smiled and she smiled; then they both looked at the minister, and there was a brief silence, which was broken by the young man, who said, "Well, you'll do, sir; come along, Maria;" and the parties entered the parlor to proceed to business. The knot was tied, and a certificate was made out, and the newly wedded pair left to enjoy their honeymoon.

The next day the absent clergyman returned, and his friend passed over the fee he had received, being quite elated over the privilege he had enjoyed of doing service in his absence. Imagine his surprise when he was told that the whole ceremony was illegal, and the young man and woman whom he had joined together were made the victims of a sad mistake. In proof of this, one of the public acts passed by the Connecticut Legislature, May session, 1865, was read, a portion of which is as follows:

"Any clergyman regularly licensed according to the forms and usages of the denomination to which he belongs, and located in any society in this State upon an engagement to continue minister of such society for a term of not less than six months, and having charge thereof, may join persons in marriage; and the marriages attempted to be celebrated by any other person shall be void."

Here was a dilemma. The New York clergyman had acted from the best of motives, and had done only what the laws of his own State would have permitted him to do; yet there was the law, and he had received a fee and issued a certificate for uniting

> "Two souls with but a single thought,
> Two hearts that beat as one."

who were not, after all, married as most people like to be to make a sure thing of it. All that could be done, under the circumstances, was to ascertain the whereabouts of the honeymoon excursionists, and suggest to them that it wouldn't do them any harm to come around and be made man and wife over again, and steps have been taken to let them know how matters stand. When the letter announcing the mistake reaches them, we shouldn't be surprised in the least if the young man and the young woman gazed upon each other in a very queer sort of manner. However, accidents will happen, and they will undoubtedly make the most of this one.

Monkeys in the Cotton Fields.

A correspondent of the Galveston (Texas) News, writes that in 1843 he owned a cotton plantation in Georgia, and that having occasion to visit the the Island of Trindad, he was persuaded to buy twenty-three monkeys, at a round price, to test their latent capacities for cotton picking. The letter adds:

"I was mighty well pleased when I received my monkeys. Their arrival turned my plantation topsy-turvy. For two weeks nothing was done by whites or blacks but play with the monkeys. The overseer got one of the brightest looking, and remained at his house most of the time watching the monkey's tricks, and I must confess that my wife, myself and children were in the same business. Seeing this would not pay, I began making preparations to go to work. I had reckoned on one negro managing ten monkeys, and five monkeys picking as much cotton as three negroes.

For the next two weeks, all hands, whites and blacks, were engaged in the cotton fields teaching monkeys. The result was somewhat different from my calculations. Instead of one negro managing ten monkeys, &c., it took ten negroes to manage one monkey, and then the monkey did not pick a pound or an ounce of cotton. I became disgusted, gave all my neighbors that would accept, a monkey, and about a fortnight since sold the last eight to a traveling menagerie at five dollars apiece. My monkey speculation has thrown me behind six weeks in cotton picking. The next time I go to Trindad I don't believe I shall want any monkeys."

Congressional Buffalo Hunt.

It is reported that there is to be, during the summer, a large buffalo hunt, to be participated in by a large number of distinguished Congressmen, who go to the far West to chase the buffalo, and see the elephant generally. They go out as the invited guests of Dr. Burleigh, the popular delegate in Congress from Dakota. They intend to be in Yancton about the first of June, and from thence will proceed to the prairies and spend several months in "chasing the buffalo over the plains." The gentlemen named below will constitute the party:

Hons. B. F. Wade, Richard Yates, Z. Chandler, Jacob Howard, James W. Patterson, L. M. Morrill, James W. Nye, Simon Cameron, L. P. Poland, A. H. Lahin, John Covode, John A. Bingham, Thomas Williams, G. S. Orth, G. W. Julian, J. H. Ketcham, Samuel Hooper, J. D. Baldwin, Wm. Lawrence, E. McPherson, W. E. Chandler, A. W. Hubbard, D. R. Carter, Gilman Marston, Alex. Sturzman, and W. R. Robertson.

Conneticut Elections.

For the first time for eight years Connecticut has gone Democratic. The majority is small, but it is enough to turn the scales. As Mercutio said of his wound, "it is not so deep as a well, nor so wide as a church door; but 'tis enough, 'twill do." We have lost the Governor and three Congressmen, and retain a bare majority of one in the State Senate, though the House is more emphatically Republican. This result has been already foreshadowed in our columns, and will, of course, occassion no surprise. A change from 541 Republican majority last year to 500 Democratic majority this has no special political significance, for through an apparent Democratic success, the Democracy will find even less cause of exultation in the rationale of the victory than in the smallness of the majority. —St. Paul, April 3d.

—The Italian Ministry has tendered its resignation and a new Ministry will be formed.

Fort Buford Captured—Garrison Massacred.

[From the St. Paul Press.]

WASHINGTON, April 3.—Letters from the wife of a distinguished army officer at St. Louis, received here, confirm the reported capture of Fort Buford, at the mouth of the Yellow Stone. Col. Rankin, his wife, children, and the whole garrison, were slaughtered—in all eighty souls. Colonel Rankin had represented fully five months ago, his inability to resist a prolonged attack by overwhelming forces that the Indians had brought against him, and by hostile private letters he anticipated his fate, and made good promise to his friends that he would defend his position to the last man. He repulsed, with his small force, attacks of two thousand or three thousand Indians, killing three hundred and wounding over one thousand, before he was overpowered. It is generally supposed Col. Rankin shot his wife to prevent her from falling into the hands of the Indians.

THE RUSSO-AMERICAN TREATY.

WASHINGTON, April 1, 1867.

The treaty made with Russia has been in progress of negotiation some time. On Monday of last week the Russian Minister called on Mr. Seward, saying that the Emperor had directed him not to sign the treaty. The price offered Russia had been seven millions. Mr. Seward immediately offered a quarter of a million more, and offered to pay the whole in gold the moment the treaty was concluded. On Monday evening the Russian Minister telegraphed the new offer to the Emperor, and on Friday evening received an answer accepting it. Mr. Seward and the Minister went at once to the State Department and worked till near morning, finished the treaty; and took it to the President at the Capital at nine o'clock on Saturday. The President read and signed it, and sent it into the Senate at ten. There has been much difficulty in getting clear of all claims of other parties and companies, but the treaty gives such title. One clause of the treaty is significant, declaring one purpose to be "to strengthen, if it be possible, the good understanding between Russia and the United States." The boundary of the ceded territory begins on the coast, at latitude fifty-four forty, runs inland ten marine leagues, follows at that distance from the coast northwardly to the hundred and forty-first meridian; thence on that meridian to the Pole; thence southwardly, following the main channel through Behring Straits, between St. Lawrence Island and Asia; thence southwardly to Western Island of the Aiutian chain, thence southeastwardly to the place of beginning. All the Islands within these lines are ceded to the United States. It is known that the cod, halibut, seal and whale fisheries are more valuable than those on the Newfoundland coast, and that it contains the most valuable fur regions of the continent. The climate is milder than in the same latitude on the Atlantic coast. Of the inhabitants, sixty thousand belong to the Greek Church. The chairman of the Committee on Foreign Affairs favors the ratification of the treaty, and gives an opinion that it will lead to no trouble with foreign Powers.

Murder Trial in Indiana

A man named William Sanders is on trial at Bedford, Ind., for a triple murder. The tragedy occured in Orange county last June. Three persons were murdered in cold blood, and a fourth, an old lady, horribly wounded. It seems that the assassin entered the cabin in the afterpart of the night, slew David Woodward with an axe, and then proceeded to dispatch the other victims with a knife. While this horrid butchery was going on, a little daughter of Woodward, only seven years old, seized the babe and secreted herself behind a door, at the same time holding her hand over the child's mouth in order that its cries might not betray their hiding place, and by that means saved the lives of both. A little son, some five years old, managed to escape by hiding under a bed. Never has there been known such presence of mind exhibited by children as young as they. Mrs. Woodward, the old lady who was stabbed and left for dead on the night of the murder, was sworn, and testified most positively that Sanders was the man who committed the deed. The next witness was Woodward's little daughter. She is only about seven years old, and is very small for one of her age. She is a very bright child, and answered the questions put to her with a candor and frankness that is seldom witnessed in older persons. The first thing was for the court to determine whether she was competent to testify. The Judge asked her name. She gave it in a clear and distinct tone of voice. He then said:

"Do you know what you are brought here for?"

Child.—"To tell who killed pa and ma."

Judge.—"Do you think you can tell the truth?"

Child.—"Yes, sir."

Judge.—"Do you know what will be done with you if you tell a lie?"

Child.—"Yes, sir; I will go to the bad world."

The Judge then ordered the witness to be sworn, and she was then examined closely in regard to all she saw and did on that fatal night. She told all about how she hid behind the door with the babe, and how she held her hand over its mouth to keep it from making a noise; how she went for the neighbors about daybreak, and many other things which it is impossible for us to enumerate. The recital was very affecting, and there is very little doubt of the prisoner's guilt.

Cure of Hydrophobia.

INDIANAPOLIS, April 2,—A young lady named Selina Eller, living twelve miles north of here, was attacked with hydrophobia a few days since. The physician administered bromide of potassa, and she is now much better, and hopes are entertained of her final recovery.

ST. LOUIS, April 1.—The meeting to-night to devise means to rebuild the Lindell Hotel was attended by many of the most prominent citizens and capitalists of the city, and the most determined spirit was manifested that the project should be carried to a successful issue. About $650,000 was subscribed on the spot, and committees composed of wealthy and influential men were appointed to solicit subscriptions from the owners of property adjacent, and to canvass the city at large, said committees to report at meeting from night to night till the required sum is raised. Edgar Ames will put in the land and material now on the spot at a fairly appraised valuation, and take the whole amount in stock. The rebuilding of the hotel is insured.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - - APRIL 12, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r.

GARDEN CITY HEARD FROM.

Since the announcement of the result of the jail election in the columns of the UNION, we have heard from Garden City through a number of sources. Some of the citizens are resenting what they term an insult, which appeared in our announcement of the result last week. We are glad to be deemed worthy of their steel, for a more vigorous, enterprising and intelligent community of opponents we never before encountered. "When Greek meets Greek, then comes the tug of war." We have been conducting the contest on the high pressure principle, and it seemed difficult to put on the breaks until after we had announced the result. Our friends of that city were willing to accept the result and be friends again but for that fatal announcement. They should recollect that we are only a week behind time, and to turn around and crave their favor immediately after robbing them, is quite as impudent as to continue our aspersions until after the result is announced.

Our neighbor has taken occasion to send up a bottle of his "milk of human kindness," which we believe men of taste would pronounce exceedingly insipid—worse than soft solder—for the purpose of making a point in favor of his journal as against us. His anger is slow to rise, and ready to abate when a design is accomplished. Before our paper was issued, they were inscrupulous deceivers, and a great victory was achieved over them. A rooster was in demand to do the crowing, but after our "Chanticleer" had shrieked "victory to our banner" the Record prepared a sugar-teet, thinking as between the two, Garden City would prefer the latter. We don't believe they are to be duped by any such nourishment. Two of our subscribers discontinued. One paid for his paper which shows that he appreciated its weekly visits. He loses it, and we lose a subscriber, so we're even. The other is a delinquent subscriber and the paper will be discontinued upon receipt of arrearages. Upon the heels of their letters came two dollars from Gov. Marshall for the UNION one year, so our list is still in tact. Another friend of Garden City writes that reconstruction ought to begin. We accept the advice, and believe to day that Garden City has no better friend in Mankato than we, though we may have been impulsive in debate. Confession is good for the soul. If we have erred—attribute it to human frailty, and not to any settled animosity against our neighbors. We can stoop to be forgiven for an injury inflicted, but never for pecuniary recompense. We believe our Garden City friends, with these suggestions, will be willing to meet us half way and close the controversy.

BORDER DESTITUTION.

The committee appointed at a meeting held on the evening of the 26th ult. to ascertain concerning the necessity of aid to the frontier settlers have made some developments showing that the reports of suffering and need are not without foundation. The suffering however is not very wide spread, but there is much need of seed for the spring crops. The report that families in the Town of Tenhassen in Martin county were living on rutabagos is untrue except in one instance, but quite a number are in need of some immediate relief. In the town of Fairmont the citizens have subscribed several hundred dollars to help the poorer families and propose to pledge the faith of the town for seed grain, if the citizens of Mankato will assist in procuring the loan of it. In Jackson county there are supplies needed immediately for six families near the town of Jackson and for some at Spirit Lake. Mr. James McDougal of that county left Jackson on Friday last, and came the entire distance on foot, arriving at Mankato on Sunday evening last. He left aged parents and family with only provisions enough to last until he can return. He came expressly to seek assistance. Our committee sent an order to Mr. Joseph Thomas, a merchant at Jackson, authorizing him to supply immediate want and draw on them for the pay. He has the necessary provisions, except perhaps flour, and this can be obtained at Spirit Lake. As it will be several months before these new settlers can realize any thing from their farms they will need assistance for some time to come.

The citizens of St. Paul had raised some $1,500 for southern relief, but had not turned it over for that purpose when they heard of the wants of the frontier settlers. They immediately reserved $500 of this fund, to be held for distribution among the needy settlers of our own State. Gov. Marshall has control of the funds, and has already forwarded to our committee $100 with the promise of more, if necessary. It devolves upon our committee to see that the money is judiciously expended, and that they will surely do. So far, then, St Paul takes the lead in this emergency, and in behalf of those to be benefited, we wish to return thanks for this substantial aid. Mankato we believe has contributed no money as yet, but Deputy Sheriff Martin was sent out on Sunday last to Jackson and Fairmont, to ascertain the exact necessities of the settlers. When he returns, we shall know better what further contributions will be necessary, and our citizens when called upon will respond with their accustomed alacrity.

The question of supplying seed for the spring crop is yet to be solved. There is wheat enough in the city for all purposes but it may be difficult to obtain it. It would be a good plan for the county commissioners to pledge their credit to some person who would advance the money or grain, and receive their obligations therefor, and take the grain to the destitute neighborhoods for distribution. If desirable they could levee a special tax to cover the amount, or collect from the parties receiving the grain. We hear it intimated that the generosity of Captain Davidson will be appealed to in reference to leaving enough of his grain now in store here, for the purposes desired by giving him proper security and interest.

MR. HULL'S REPLY.

It seems evident that we are either "surviving our dis_ust" for the discussion of spiritualism, or have been led into side issues impertinent to that subject by the desultory and pointless letter of Mr. Moses Hull published in the Record of last week in answer to our article of the 22d ult. The burden of his lament is that the editor of the UNION does not know a maxim from a quotation of scripture, misapprehends his first article, his senses are paralyzed, and cannot deal fairly with an opponent. His letter is in the main a plea of avoidance, the effervescence of a mad man who has lost all reason and argument, and fighting phantoms of straw retires in disgust without distroying any one's equilibrium except his own. Prejudice has so much to do with the formation of one's opinion of another, that we are not disturbed by being denominated "Damphool," especially when we are at liberty to apply that most appropriate cognomen to one who holds us in such low estimation.

While Mr. Hull meets quite feebly a few of our points, he fails to satisfy the public in reference to that miraculous phenomenon produced in the healing of the paralyzed arm. The less that subject is stirred, the less the olfactories of the public will be disturbed by its rottenness. Anticipating our inquiry upon this point, he modestly tells the Record that he will not trouble it to reply to anything we may say. He'd rather be excused. No wonder. The declaration that spirit phenomena had caused a cure to be effected on Kelly's arm was a hullsale fabrication too patent to serve his purpose, and therefore he meets our article by a confession and avoidance, or in legal parlance by a general demurrer.

Mr. Hull denies that he wishes to harmonize the world by converting it to spiritualism; he never asked a person to believe spiritualism, nor preached to make converts; and cares nothing for the RESULT of his preaching. If these are not the words of a brainless lunatic then we have studied man's motives, aspirations and accompanying efforts in life to no purpose. If these are his sentiments, the honest spiritualist has been most egregiously duped and plundered. His adherents sent for him to lecture here, hoping to produce results. Converts to the faith were the only legitimate fruits to be hoped for, but he would not turn his hand over for them. Is he an apostate to the faith now, or has he always been an impostor? A father sending his daughter to school, looks anxiously for results. A minister out of his faithful labors looks for results. A lawyer searches his reports, pleads his cause with pertinacity and power, and looks to the jury for the result. The farmer that tills the soil, sees in the golden autumn the result. But Mr. Hull, without anchor, rudder or compass, embarks upon the sea of agitation, no objective point in view, no destination, no harbor, no port to make and none desired. His discussions are only a babble and his eloquence stultiloquence. His audiences are to understand that he is not lecturing to convince, but to muddle the brain by striking a tangent from the sphere of common sense, and leading them on to it, where they can "agitate" without producing any result. "Jack went up the hill and Jack came down again." This is the length, the breadth and heighth of Mr. Hulls' ambition, and we presume from the calibre of the man that his taste for "no results" will be abundantly satisfied wherever he may appear before the public.

MANKATO.

What a stranger thinks of us—Extracts from the Correspondence of the Minneapolis Chronicle.

MANKATO, April 9th, 1867.

I left St. Peter on Saturday evening last, by stage, and arrived here about 10 o'clock P. M. The word "Mankato," meaning Blue Earth, is the name of one of the tributary streams which enters the Minnesota about a mile south of this city.

This enterprising place is one of the most important points on the Minnesota river, and is destined very shortly to be one of the first cities in the State. The vitality and enterprise displayed by its inhabitants, at once arrest the attention of strangers, and every one seems on the move, and all parties seem to work for the general good. At the late election this place was selected as the seat of justice for the county by a large majority, and some idea of the number of inhabitants may be formed from the fact that nearly nine hundred votes were polled in this city. The population may be very safely set down between three and four thousand souls.

The sidewalks are a credit to the place, being twelve feet wide and on an extensive scale. They have extensive reservoirs well filled with water and a splendid fire engine worth $2,500. This may perhaps stir up your citizens to imitate them in this precautionary measure. There are several very fine brick and stone buildings in this place, and any amount of preparation is being made to commence building as soon as the spring opens.

There are no less than four good saw mills in the place, several churches, good school house, grist mills, public halls, saloons, and two first class hotels. The "Clifton House," owned by Mr. Flower & Son, is a first class hotel, and these gentlemen thoroughly understand their business, and are doing a very prosperous and extensive business, being the general resort of the traveling community. The hotel is commodious, well furnished, and everything is so arranged as to entice one to call again.

The great excitement of the day is the Montana expedition, organized and commanded by that energetic and enterprising gentleman, Capt. P. B. Davy, to whom we had an introduction, and to whom we are greatly indebted for much valuable information. The Captain is the sole originator of this mammoth expedition, which, when completed, will be the greatest affair of the kind ever got up in this country. There are now over one thousand persons enrolled, and more are daily coming, and the whole [illegible] will positively [illegible] on the first of June [illegible].

Mankato has [illegible] as the principal point of outfit for Southern Minnesota. The Captain leaves to day for Minneapolis, St. Paul and St. Cloud, to make arrangements relative to the expedition. We hope that Minneapolis will not be behind her sister cities in this gigantic enterprise, which will do a great deal in the developement of this great section of country.

I think that the citizens of this place are ahead of any town in the State in point of enterprise. They have raised by private subscription a very large sum, and have already distributed over thirty thousand posters throughout the Union, setting forth the advantages of the place. This, together with Captain Davy's extensive advertising in regard to his expedition, will, no doubt, attract more immigration to this place than perhaps to any other in the State.

A COMPLAINT.

MADELIA MINN., April 7th 1867.

MR. EDITOR:—As Editors are supposed to know everything, I propose to ask you for some information about mills—flouring mills I mean. I will state my case in full, and as there are some of my neighbors in a like uncertainty, a little information may relieve and enlighten us all. I took to a certain flouring mill, in a certain city a grist of wheat, which after being run through the fanning mill, and then carefully measured, amounted to 14 bushels. A pair of scales being handy, I then weighed it, and found the weight to be 840 pounds clear of the sacks, or 60 pounds per bushel. The very fine gentleman, who was condescending enough to "do the tailler" then looked at it, and pronounced it "very pretty wheat indeed," and agreed to grind it for one eighth (⅛). Now I got said grist home a few days since, and proceeded to sum up the result, which was as follows:

Flour being 32 1-7 pounds per bushel	450 lbs.
Coarse flour and shorts being 5 pounds per bushel	70 lbs.
Bran being 10 pounds per bushel	140 lbs.
Millers toll	105 lbs.
Total,	765 lbs.

or 75 pounds short.

Now I would like to know what became of this 75 pounds. Well, you say, why not ask the miller? Why, my dear sir, he counts all such questions impertinent, shoves up his shoulders and sets some of the machinery to rattling, so one cannot hear themselves think, and are glad to escape with a little flour, before the old mill falls down and kills you. The people of Minnesota have been in the habit of standing all kinds of extortion, if not worse from millers, but I now imagine the day is about to pass away, and I am pleased to say there are many gentlemanly and upright men engaged in the milling business, in Blue Earth County. But from the amount of grumbling about short weight, which I hear among my neighbors who have recently been to mill at a certain ambitious little town in your county, I judge there is a moral discrepancy existing among some of that honorable calling, who go by the name of millers.

Change of School Laws of Minnesota.

MANKATO, April 9, 1867.

EDITOR UNION:—Please allow me, through your paper, to call the attention of the people of the county, to certain changes in the School Law, and additions thereto, which are to be found among the "Laws of Minnesota," that you have just published.

In the supplement to your issue of last week, will be found "An Act to authorize the Trustees of School Districts to issue Bonds," and also another fixing the number of days in a school month—to the former of which I wish to call special attention.

In my opinion there are many school districts in this county in which the people might, to good advantage, avail themselves of the provisions of the act above referred to, issue bonds, build good comfortable school houses, have all the advantages of such houses at once, and pay for them in the future when the population and wealth of such districts shall have increased so as to make the burden of the tax for the purpose of paying the bonds, comparatively light on each individual.

Trustees of school districts that may vote to issue bonds for the purpose of building school houses, will please call upon me for any information they may need in regard to the form of bond to be used and the style of building and seating school houses.

In the Minnesota Laws, published in your paper, you will find an act requiring school districts to have a school taught three months each year, by an authorized teacher, to entitle the district to its apportionment of the public money; an act creating the office of State Superintendent of Schools, and probably some others relating to education.

JOHN R. BEATTY,
Co. Sup't of Schools.

☞The Tax on Incomes, for Nicollet county, is larger this year than ever before. When the returns are all in, they will make a very flattering exhibit of the business prosperity of our people, and show that St. Peter has a solid back-bone in her coffin, worth far more than the bluster of "liveliar" points.—St. Peter Tribune.

A QUERY.—When will St. Peter resurrect that back-bone of her's and assume a more live-liar appearance than now?

FROM WASHINGTON.

WASHINGTON, April 6, 1867.

One of the stipulations of the Russian treaty requires its ratification within ninety days, which will demand the action of the present extra session of the Senate.

WASHINGTON, March 5.—A disgraceful scene was enacted during the executive session to-day.

Saulsbury, who had been very drunk, came over toward Mr Sumner and assumed a threatening attitude, gesticulating, and announcing his intention of having his satisfaction out of Sumner for introducing the resolution for his expulsion.

The Sergeant-at-Arms promptly interfered, and with the assistance of one of the Senators, got him into the coat room, where, after nearly divesting himself of his clothing, he laid down upon the floor and remained until the close of the session when the doorkeeper took him home.

CIRCULATING DOCUMENTS.—Mankato, jealous of the prosperity of her rival, St. Peter, is trying to bring up the rear, or resurrect their lost cause, by circulating 30,000 copies of the Mankato glorification pamphlets.—St. Peter Tribune.

What a lament! Oh, no! neighbor, not 30,000, but five hundred, and as for resurrecting a lost cause, we never had any fear of St. Peter, and the more you "agitate" yourself about Mankato the worse you'll smell.

Superindent of Public Instruction.

From Winona Republican 3d.

Hon. Mark H. Dunnell, Superintendent of Public Instruction, took the oath of office yesterday, in the absence of Chief Justice Wilson, before Judge Barber. We understand he will establish headquarters at St. Paul in about two weeks, or as soon as he can close up his law business before the court. It is Mr. Dunnell's intention, we believe, to devote himself exclusively to the interests of Education, and he will spend the greatest part of the summer in visiting schools and holding Institutes in the different counties in the State.

VALPARAISO, April 3.—The trial of Page, who brutally murdered his wife last winter, has commenced. An immense crowd rushed into the court room on the appearance of the prisoner. His counsel submitted an affidavit praying for a change of venue to Lake county on the ground of prejudice. This was not granted, but he was allowed to take a change to La Porte, where the trial will take place the next term of court.

The News.

—The cental system has been abandoned by the boards of trade in Chicago, Buffalo, and other leading grain markets, and practically may be considered a failure.

—Advices from Pittsburg announce that the "strike" among the operatives in the nail manufactories, which has been maintained for about three months past, ended on Tuesday last—the operatives going to work at the reduced wages offered by the manufacturers.

—Prof. Hitchcock, of Amherst College, has made a post mortem examination upon the body of Miss Ida Hall, who died in Springfield, last week, and decided it a clear case of trichiniasis.

—The Minneapolis Chronicle of the 7th says: "Wheat was worth two dollars and thirty cents per bushel in this city yesterday. Corn was selling for two dollars, oats, a dollar and ten cents, potatoes one dollar, hay thirty-five to forty dollars per ton, and bran thirty dollars per ton.

Immigration Pamphlets.

The third edition of "Minnesota, Its Advantages to Settlers" is now circulating. The fourth will be issued next week. Permanent arrangements having been made with the State to supply the entire demand upon my plan of circulation. The title page now reads thus: "Published by the State. Send lists to Girarte Hewitt, St. Paul, Minnesota, by whom it will be mailed free of charge to each name sent him." This will answer the many letters I receive asking the price per copy, dozen and hundred. The object being to send information regarding our young State to all parts of our own and foreign countries, not exclusively to those who think of changing their residences but to good citizens everywhere.

Respectfully,
GIRART HEWITT.

FROM HENDERSON.

Refusal to Vote Bonds to the Valley Railroad.

HENDERSON, April 3, 1867.

Our election passed off quietly, though there was more than a usual amount of interest felt in regard to the result. The question of issuing bonds to the Minnesota Valley Railroad company called out all the voters. The village of Henderson was strongly in favor of issuing bonds, but the township gave a majority of fifteen against it.

The bonds are defeated in the county by a large majority—some of the towns going almost unanimously against it.

St. Louis Election.

ST. LOUIS, April 8.—Fuller returns show a radical city ticket election, yesterday, by an average majority of 27,00. Board of Aldermen stands 13 radical to 9 republican.

THE river at Winona does not seem in a hurry to open. The Republican of Friday last says:

LET IT BE RECORDED.—Two stages came up yesterday, Thursday, April 4, 1867, on the ice from La Crosse, bringing some twenty passengers. They were under conduct of Mr. Millet, whose teams brought up the stages. If there is any thing later than this on record, the old historians are requested to produce the evidence.

COUNTY BOARD.—The county Board has been in session this week. A report of their proceedings in full will appear next week.

SODA FOUNT.—Dr. Frisbie tells us that he has ordered a splended soda fount which will eclipse in beauty and utility any thing west of the Mississippi. Its cost will be from $600 to $800. Soda drank from such a fount ought to be refreshing indeed.

MINNESOTA RIVER.—The ice in the river is becoming rotten, but has not yet moved. It has raised but a few inches but the smaller streams pouring into it will soon drive out the ice.

FERRY.—The Board has granted a ferry license over the Blue Earth to Col. B. F. Smith for five years. Annual license $15. Which is the cheapest, to pay ferry charges every year or be taxed for a bridge?

JAIL.—The Board have concluded to build a jail at once. The plan submitted by Col. Smith, Hanna and Boardman, is accepted with a few modifications. A large room in the upper story will be used temporarily as a court room. We shall give the specifications next week.

THE WEATHER.—For seventeen days we have had a cloudless sky. The weather has been pleasant but below the freezing point every night. The snow is going off with the sun, and the prospect of high water is discouraging.

NEW MILLENARY.—Miss Lucy McKinney has ordered a new stock of millenary goods from Boston, which will arrive as soon as the first of May, and her rooms will be over Marks' store. She desires the public to wait a few days before purchasing, and take the opportunity to examine her goods.

ACADEMY.—Elsewhere see the advertisement of Prof. Stuart's Academy. His reputation as a teacher has been well sustained during his labors with the Union School, and as the public school will be closed in order to finish the building, Mr. Stuart has opened an academy for the accommodation of the public. Teachers of proficiency will be employed to assist him, and we recommend our citizens to start in their scholars next Monday.
The fees for the higher english branches have been reduced to $9 for 15 weeks.

SKATING IN APRIL.—One of our office boys started out early on the morning of the 10th inst., to create a "local" item. He took his skates with him, and buckling them on, struck out on the pond above the creek. He skated some, but got wet more. His purpose was to be able to say he skated on the 10th of April, and in this he succeeded. The like was never before known by the oldest inhabitant.

BLUE EARTH RIVER.—The Blue Earth is gradually rising, but the ice is not out. On Tuesday the Madelia stage broke through, and crossing by teams is now suspended. The mails are taken to the river and crossed by a small boat to stages on the other side.

LESUEUR RIVER.—This river had risen yesterday about six feet, and the last crossing by stage was made on Tuesday evening. The mail now goes to the riverbank and is crossed in a skiff, or on the ice to a stage on the other side.

GONE INTO LIQUIDATION.—We are informed that the Minnesota Mutual Insurance Company has gone into liquidation, and their affairs are to be settled up by J. A Kennedy, who has been appointed receiver by the court. Mr. Kennedy thinks he will be able to give an exhibit of the condition of the company next week.

NEW DENTIST.—We are informed that Dr. H. W. Stauffer, of Ohio, has rented one of the rooms in Prael & DuBuisson's brick building, 2d story, for the purpose of practicing dentistry. His rooms will be fitted up as soon as the furniture and apparatus can arrive, probably by the middle of next week. He will make it his permanent residence here, and our citizens will find it more convenient and profitable to patronize a resident practitioner than transient quacks.

REAL ESTATE SALES.—L. W. Harrington has sold to Maj. G. K. Cleveland, a lot with frame dwelling, situated on the first bench next door above the residence of Maj. E. H. Smith. The price was $1,000.

Col. B. F. Smith has purchased the house and lot owned by A. M. Collins, and situated next above the new residence of James Cannon, on Front street, for the sum of $800, and moved into it. Both these pieces of property were sold at figures quite reasonable.

PLEASANT SURPRISE.—Last week, Thursday was the birth day of Rev. T. Marshall, pastor of the Presbyterian Church. The ladies of the church planned and executed a very agreeable surprise at his studio in the evening of that day. A few of the ladies went to the evening meeting as usual, while others took possession of his rooms, and made their arrangements to receive him after the services at the church. It was a surprise because no intimation of the enterprise had reached Mr. Marshall, until he reached his own door. The last five volumes of the American Encyclopedia, which completes the entire issue of the work already in the library of Mr. Marshall, and a silver plated water pitcher, both valued at $45, were presented by the ladies, through Mrs. Kennedy, who delivered them in a neat and appropriate address, to which Mr. Marshall briefly responded. Cake and coffee were served and the party retired under the influence of a joyous and pleasant meeting, in which a tribute was paid to the labors of a worthy pastor.

EXHIBITION.—Last Friday evening the scholars of the Union School gave an exhibition at Higgin's Hall to a large audience, under the direction of Prof. Stuart. The hall was seldom ever as full as it was upon that occasion, which evinces a goodly degree of interest taken by the public in the progress of the school. Many of the pieces were well rendered and though some of the scholars were a little embarrassed, as is very natural upon a first appearance on the stage, nearly all displayed a commendable degree of native talent. The nett receipts amounted to $25 which is to be invested in library books for the school. The exhibition was repeated on Tuesday evening last, but the attendence was not as large as on the first evening.

CALL.—The citizens of Mankato are requested to meet at Shoemaker's Hall on Tuesday evening the 16 inst., at 7½ o'clock, for the purpose of nominating Village officers for the ensuing election, to be held on Tuesday the 7th day of May:

Chas. S. Dunscomb,	O. O. Pitcher,
L. T. Kellog,	Jas. Thomson,
John Quane,	J. N. Hall,
M. D. Flower,	M. T. C. Flower,
H. G. Thoms & Bro.,	A. Lorentz,
R. Androwski,	Isaac Marks,
John A. Arnold,	Isaac Cheslie,
D. H. Tyner,	W. P. Boardman, and others.

MINNEAPOLIS CHRONICLE.—We received a call this week from F. E. McBain, Esq., the agent of the Minneapolis Chronicle, who is traveling in the interest of that paper. The Chronicle is published daily and weekly, and already ranks among the first class journals of the West. The same entire budget of telegrams received by the St. Paul papers is published every morning in the Chronicle. It contains a well selected variety of miscellaneous reading and original contributions. The various local interests of the State will always find a hearing through its columns, and no selfish motive will be allowed to suppress any communications which contribute to the prosperity of its sister towns. The daily is received in Mankato on the day of its publication, and should be in the hands of all our business men. Minneapolis is intimately connected with the agricultural districts on account of its flouring and woolen mills, and its lumber, wooden-ware and other extensive factories; and the interchange between us can be kept open only by taking the papers of that city. The UNION is taken by several of the business men of that city upon this theory, and we trust our citizens will reciprocate their views by giving the Chronicle the support its merits and position demand. Mr. McBain has made arrangements with Smith & Humphrey to supply the Chronicle fresh from the press every morning and no doubt our citizens will give it a liberal patronage. In canvassing the town he has succeeded in taking subscriptions greatly beyond his most sanguine expectations.

BANKRUPT LAW.—Messrs. Strickland & Co., of Milwaukee, have done a good thing by publishing the new Bankrupt Law, with an appendix showing the laws of exemption in Wisconsin, as drawn from the existing acts, and all the court decisions on the subject. Also a brief summary of the Household and Homestead Exemption Laws of the States of Minnesota, Iowa and Michigan, which are referred to in the said act. The work is carefully and ably compiled by Austin, Pereles and Johnson. Price, in pamphlet form, 15cents; per hundred, ten dollars. No business man can afford to be without a copy of the Bankrupt Law. Every creditor wants to know what his rights and powers are under this important law. We have just received a copy which can be seen at this office.

FROM MAPLETON.—Our Correspondent "Occasional" from Mapleton, sends us the returns of the late election on the jail question, but they were anticipated through other sources before his letter reached us. He speaks of the efforts made in that town by the friends of Garden City, and compliments them for working with so much zeal. He thinks the people of his town know how to vote upon any question of local importance, and adds that there were no Mankato people at the polls to electioneer them. Mapleton is entitled to the thanks of the citizens of Mankato for the votes cast in their favor unsolicited and unbiased by runners from this town.

BUTTERNUT VALLEY.—In the location of the jail, Butternut Valley has paid Mankato a compliment well worthy of notice. The solid vote of the town numbering 85, was thrown for Mankato, notwithstanding they are located nearer to Garden City than to Mankato. Our citizens deem it a duty to acknowledge the favor with thanks, and we take this opportunity, in their behalf, of returning the compliment by presenting them the best wishes of the people of Mankato.

MILLINERY.—Attention is called to the advertisement of Mrs. E. C. Sanders who has opened a new and nice millinery establishment in the building lately occupied by Billings Sibley. She has received some of her goods and the new styled hat blocks, and is prepared to furnish the best and latest styles of the season. She also keeps on hand ladies' and gents' furnishing goods, Yankee notions, &c. &c., Their work displays a taste which our ladies will be glad to call into requisition in selecting their spring bonnets. Remember the place and give her a call.

WOMEN OF THE WAR.—The most attractive work now being published is entitled "Women of the War." It is a work of six hundred pages, and gives brief histories of many of the noble women of our land who for months and years waited at the bedside of thousands of our wounded heroes in hospital and in camp. Connected with the Sanitary Commission or employed by the Government, their weary watching and labors of love will always be regarded with feelings of the deepest gratitude. This interesting work also contains many brief and thrilling incidents connected with their labors. Every family should purchase and preserve this memento of woman's patriotism. J. S. Little of this city is agent for the work.

FROM PLEASANT MOUND.

April, 3, 1867.

EDITOR UNION:—I will give you the result of our town meeting. Every thing passed off quietly. Considerable interest was manifested in the jail question. Garden City received all the votes—47. The following town officers were elected:

Supervisors, Wm. Perrin Chn., J. J. Gardner, J. P. Thomas; Assessor, Wm. Adams; Treasurer, O. R. Mather; Town Clerk, J. S. Parks.

Your ob't sev'nt,
J. S. PARKS.

SPECIAL NOTICES

THE LIGHT OF THE HOUSEHOLD.—Smiling faces are the household lights. Can a wife expect her husband to smile when she sets before him poor bread? Can a husband look for smiles from his wife if he offers her inferior materials for making bread? If you, sir, will please your wife get D. B. De Land & Co's Best Chemical Saleratus, and she will produce bread and biscuits that will please you—that will please her and there will be light in the household—smiles all around. Use it instead of Soda.

Us and our Descendants.

For Several Generations.

The Rev. W. G. Hubbard, of Wilson, N. Y. under date of Feb. 13, 1866, writes: "The report of the recent 'Trial' at Troy, is waking up some interest here; and inquiries and calls to see our machine (WILCOX & GIBBS) are becoming frequent. The Machine, however, is well known; as frequent calls have long been made on us to do little jobs no other machines could do; and I think we have never failed to accommodate such. I write you now to ask for a few Descriptive Catalogues, with prices, &c. Also, for copies of that 'Trial' in pamphlet form. I enclose a little money for postage. Our machine is one of your first make. Though having run seven years, it does not show injury to the amount of five per cent. I believe it would last us and our descendants for several generations.

PLOWS! PLOWS!!—Something new for the farmers. L. L. & O. H. Davis, have just received a lot of the Mishiwauke Silver Steel Plows, which they warrant to scour in any soil, and give entire satisfaction, or the Plows will be taken back and the money refunded. The Silver Steel Plows were introduced in this country last fall and pronounced by those that have used them to be the best and lightest draft Plows ever brought to this country. Not one failed to scour in the worst soil. The Silver Steel Plows are the best Plows. The Silver Steel Plows are the cheapest Plows. Meagher has just received a large supply of these excellent plows. Call and examine them for yourself before purchasing elsewhere.

Hear Reason--Strengthen the Defenses.

When a garrison apprehends an attack from an outside enemy, what does it do? It strengthens the defences. The human system at this period of the year, is beleaguered by morbid influences. The inclement air is full of them. Every change of weather lays the feeble open to their attacks. What is to be done in order to baffle these unseen, but ever active foes? Strengthen the defences. Do you ask how? The answer is simply—the means within the reach of all. Reinforce the vital organs and the nervous system with

HOSTETTER'S BITTER'S.

DIED:

At his residence two miles north of Madelia, April 5th, David Fedder, after only about eighteen hours illness. Thus suddenly was one of our beloved citizens removed from the shores of time into the eternal world, and as we followed his remains to their long resting place, we were reminded that we too were mortal, and soon must die. The funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Isaac Belknap. The deceased leaves a wife and four children, who mourns the loss of a husband and father, while the community deeply feels the loss of a fine man and a good neighbor.

Great Overland
EXPEDITION
TO MONTANA!
MANKATO, MINN.,

The point of outfit for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, etc.

The largest Overland Expedition ever organized, will positively leave Minnesota,

FIRST OF JUNE NEXT

under the command of

who has designated Mankato as the point of outfit for Central and southern Minnesota. It is situated at the great bend of the Minnesota, and on a direct airline from Chicago and Winona to Helena City, Montana.

Mankato contains 15 Dry Goods, 15 Grocery, 3 Hardware, 2 Drug, 3 Clothing, 6 Boot and Shoe, and 3 Harness stores, Feed and Provision Stores, 8 Hotels, a corresponding number of other business houses, 3 first-class Flouring Mills, and it is surrounded by a very fine agricultural country, well stocked with cattle and farm produce of all kind; and at that point can be obtained every article necessary for a complete outfit for the journey and mines, as cheap as can be had at any other town or city west of the Mississippi river.

Emigrants should leave the Mississippi at Winona, where they can take the Winona & St. Peter Railroad to Owatonna, the present terminus, and Mankato is 48 miles farther west by good stage road. The route from Mankato west to Big Stone Lake, the point of general rendezvous, a distance of 200 miles, traverses a beautiful section of country, with pleasant camping grounds, and plenty of wood, water and grass.

The distance from Mankato to Helena City, Montana, is about 1,000 miles and will require not more than ten weeks. It is shorter than any other, and the expedition led by Captain Tom Holmes, last year, over this route, arrived at Helena City two weeks earlier than the expedition led by Capt. Fisk from St. Cloud, via Fort Abercrombie.

For further particulars see Captain Davy's Circular, or address Hon. J. B. WAKEFIELD, Secretary and Treasurer of the Expedition, Blue Earth City, Minnesota.

FOUR DOLLARS will buy One of LLOYD'S TOPOGRAPHICAL MAPS of NORTH AMERICA and the United States Continent in 1869.

This map is the most complete, acurate and reliable ever published—is 24 square feet in size—cost $160,000 and took 2 years to produce it. The front side presents to view Russian America, British America, United States Mexico, Central America, and a complete map of South America on a smaller scale. A great amount of valuable information is given of the Arctic Regions not to be found elsewhere. The Territories of U. S. are full and complete and therefore is adapted especially to persons wishing information of them—gives the proposed Pacific Railway, Overland-stage and Telegraph Routes. It shows the many different steamship routes from the Atlantic and Pacific Coast—Mexico and Central America are also equally replete; and so is South America. Upon the back a map of the United States is given in 3,090 Counties, colored and in size is eight times larger than that of the front side, thus combining two excellent maps in one, and both to be sold for $4,00. As a map for reference and study it cannot be surpassed. To be appreciated it must be examined and studied. It is an ornament to any man's parlor, and everybody should have one. It is engraved upon steel in the finest style of art—mounted upon rollers and varnished, and beautified in appearance. Copies to be had at Smith & Humphrey's, and Union and Record offices. The supply is limited, and if you would have one call at either of the above named places as soon as possible.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

The News.

—Advices from Utah and Colorado say the weather was intensely cold in March, and in some locations the mercury fell 40 degrees below zero. The snow was very deep, and disastrous floods are looked for in the mountain districts. A large number of horses and cattle were frozen to death. Gen. Augur and staff, and fifty passengers, are snow bound at Lone Star Station, on the Northern Pacific Railroad.

—The Herald's Ireland correspondent says there will be another Fenian rising immediately after the intensely severe weather moderates. Snow had fallen without a day's intermission for fifteen days and nights.

—The Secretary of the Treasury, has designated Helena, Montana, as the port of entry for the collection district of Montana and Idaho.

—Brevet Brig. Gen. J. C. Tidball, major of 2d artillery, is ordered to report to the commanding general of the division of the Pacific for assignment to duty.

—Richmond, April 2.—Gen. Schofield has issued an order suspending all elections until registration is completed. In the meantime, vacancies occuring will be filled by the commanding General.

—Montgomery, April 3.—Gen. Swayne, who is charged with the administration of the military bill in Alabama, says a literal compliance with the civil rights bill will be exacted, and payment for services rendered the State during the war are peremptorily forbidden. Gen. Pope will establish his headquarters at Atlanta.

St. Louis, April 2.—The Democrat's Junction City special says, that General Hancock's Indian expedition, fifteen hundred strong, was at Selma Saturday. General Hancock proposes to go to Fort Larned, on the Santa Fe road, where he will invite the chiefs of the hostile tribes to the council, to discuss terms of peace. If they fail to agree, he will immediately enter on a vigorous war against them.

—The Republicans have carried Dubuque, heretofore the Democratic stronghold of Iowa, J. K. Groves is elected Mayor by nearly 300 majority. Last year the democrats carried the city by 250 majority.

—Maximilian appears to be approaching the last hours of his political and military existence. Advices from Mexico state that the Liberals are around the walls of the Capitol in sufficient force to prevent supplies from entering, and that his army at Queretaro is completely shut in by their troops. The people of Vera Cruz insist upon a surrender to the Liberals, and Maximilian's Governor of the City of Mexico has resigned, and is trying to make his way out of the country.

—Garrett Davis cannot support the regular Democratic party in Kentucky on account of the affiliation of that party with former rebels, and he has written a letter indorsing the Conservative Union Democrats—Governor Bramlette, Lieut. Gov. Jacobs and others.

—The loyal men of Virginia are urging Senator Wilson and one or two other leading Republicans to visit their State, and probably he will go down to Richmond in the course of a week to advise Governor Pierpont and others relative to the course to be pursued under the Military Reconstruction Bill.

—General Hancock, commanding the department of the Missouri, has stationed troops on all the main routes of travel within his command, in sufficient numbers to assure the safety of travelers.

—A candidate for county treasury, in California, has published a card pledging himself in case he is elected, to pay $1,000 in gold coin, for the benefit of the School Fund.

—Jeff. Davis' plantation with that of his brother Joe, have been sold to a former slave of Jeff's for $100,000, on ten years lease, and the colored man it is said will make $80,000 this year.

—Late news from Montana says the mining operations this season will be very extended, and the estimated yield of precious metals is thirty-six millions.

—A Rhode Island boy, 16 years of age being desirous of visiting California, and not having the money necessary to pay his fare, resolutely set out on foot, and has finished the journey in good health and condition.

—Secretary McCulloch is as delighted over his debt statement for the month of March as Mr. Seward is with his Russian treaty. The statement shows that during the past month the National debt was reduced $15,000,000. The Secretary says that if Congress will not interfere with him, by next December, and without creating any stringency in the market, he will bring gold down to 115 or 120. His opinion is, that without any panics in the commercial world, the Government and the banks can resume specie payment within two years.

—Advices from Canada announce the opening of navigation on Lake Ontario.

—General Butterfield has issued orders in compliance with instructions from Washington, by which disabled soldiers suited for duty in the Veteran Reserve Corps, can be enlisted at any recruiting station in the United States.

—Idaho advices to March 26th, states that the Indian outrages are numerous. In the Snake and Bois river valleys there is hardly stock enough left to work farms.

—Near Clermont, Ind., on Sunday, the 24th ult., a man on going to his barn found a team near the door, and in the wagon a man frozen to death. The man was unknown.

—A most revolting case of incest has been developed at Quincy, Ill. A man named Candor ran away with his niece to St. Joseph, Mo., and there married her. The wretch has been arrested, and committed to jail in default of $3,000 bail.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A Young Lady returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Disease of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the receipt for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, Free of Charge.

Please inclose a post-paid envelope, addressed to yourself. Address,

MANHOOD AND YOUTHFUL VIGOR are regained by Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

THE GLORY OF MAN IS STRENGTH.—Therefore the nervous and debilitated should immediately use Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

DR. SCHENCK'S
PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. Schenck, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, 15 North 6th St., Philadelphia, Pa. EXCELSIOR, EXCELSIOR.

CHASTELLAR'S
Hair Exterminator

For Removing Superfluous Hair.

To the ladies especially, this invaluable depilatory recommends itself as being an almost indispensible article to female beauty, is easily applied, does not burn or injure the skin, but acts directly on the roots. It is warranted to remove superfluous hair from low foreheads, or from any part of the body, completely, totally and radically extirpating the same leaving the skin soft, smooth and natural. This is the only article used by the French, and is the only real effectual depilatory in existance. Price 75 cents per package, sent post-paid, to any address, on receipt of an order, by

CRISPER COMA.

Oh! she was beautiful and fair,
With starry eyes, and radiant hair
Whose curling tendrils soft, entwined,
Enchained the very heart and mind.

CRISPER COMA,

For Curling the Hair of either Sex into Wavy and Glossy Ringlets or Heavy Massive Curls.

By using this article Ladies and Gentlemen can beautify themselves a thousand fold. It is the only article in the world that will curl straight hair, and at the same time give it a beautiful, glossy appearance. The Crisper Coma not only curls the hair, but invigorates, beautifies and cleanses it; is highly and delightfully perfumed, and is the most complete article of the kind ever offered to the American public. The Crisper Coma will be sent to any address, sealed and postpaid for $1.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
General Agents.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate, nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

The following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturall arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. Smith, of Boston, Siberia Ott, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address Mr. Siberia Ott, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

APRIL.

From Harper's Weekly.

I hear through all the solemn pines
The south wind's pleasant flow,
And see the clouds, like happy things,
O'er fields of azure go,
While all the sorrow from the earth
Seems melting with the snow.

The robin and the blue bird sing
O'er medows brown and bare;
They can not know what wondrous bloom
Is softly budding there;
But all the joy their hearts outpour
Seems pulsing in the air.

And we will sing, though all our days
Seem dark with pain and loss;
We know that Sorrow's furnace heat
Consumes alone our dross;
We know that one dear Father's love
Gives both our crown and cross.

Oh, while beneath the snow-drift buds
The flower we love the best,
And on the wind-toss'd bough the bird
Still builds its happy nest,
Praise God for all the good we know,
And trust him for the rest!

LEGISLATIVE WAGGERY.

The Artemus Ward of the New York Assembly.

From the Albany Evening Journal.

John Oakley represents the county of Kiegs in the Assembly. He is the "Artemus Ward" of the House, a man overflowing with wit and humor, and good natured geniality. Mr. Oakley, on Wednesday evening last, went in strong on the New Capitol Bill.

Mr. Chairman—I intend to favor this bill, and yet I should not. When I recollect that the codfish aristocracy of Alabama is not worthy of decent red herring, I am tempted to to say, "Oakley, do not make an ass of yourself, by voting for the New Capitol Bill," and yet I will. I will vote for the bill, not because I like Albany, but because I love the State.

Mr. Chairman—I once thought that to be a member of the Assembly was to be a high cockalorum at a world's poultry show. I have lived to see my mistake. An Assemblyman is some pumpkins in New York. He is looked upon as a Cicero in Duches county, and as a Lycurgus in Schoharie. But is not so in Albany. In this city of sturgeons and stickups, legislators are small potatoes and few in the hill. The first day after I reached Albany, I hunted round with a shot gun and a pointer, to find a boarding house. I found one kept by a nightcap and a mammoth waterfall, the widow of a defunct gentleman in heavy West India goods. I asked the widow of said defunct if she desired another boarder. She replied, "That depends upon circumstances." I informed her I was a member of the Legislature. She became cold as an iceberg, and informed me that respectable boarding houses did not desire patronage from Assemblyman or colored people. She shut the door and I retired. I sought another lady.

She was more complacent, and she did not mind boarding one or two Assemblymen, provided they would pay in advance or give security. Is this the way, Mr. Speaker, to treat the successors of Solon? I fancy not. But while I am down on the people of Albany as a community, I have found some individual exceptions, who deserve the highest marks of my esteem. A few weeks ago, a gentleman, loud in praise of the New Capitol, says to me, quite in a friendly way, "Oakley let's go to Peck's and get some oysters." Oakley said in reply, "Nothing would afford me more pleasure." We went to Peck's. We ordered oysters, venison steaks, green seal, and all that sort of thing. My friend left the room to obtain some cigars—fifty cents apiece. He did not came back. He has not come back yet. He left Oakley to pay the whole bill, $17 and 60 cents! You may laugh gentleman, but that is not the worst of it. He got four fifty cent cigars and had them charged to me also.

Last week I gave eight shirts out to be washed. They came back in the shape of five collars, four "dickies" and one corded skirt. Now what do I want with a corded skirt? I am not an old granny like my friend over there, who believes the Erie Canal has injured the State, nor am I a female brother like Susan Anthony, or those other specimens of unfeathered poultry who cackle at hen conventions. I do not want the skirt.

A short time ago I visited the Baptist church, one of the great washing machines of the city. An elderly gentleman addressed the Sabbath school children, and pointing at the capital said: "My young friends, that's the Lunatic Asylum, to which 128 crazy men are sent every year to make laws for 4,000,000 of gulls." I could stand no more, I seized my hat and left the edifice. I don't suppose I could have carried it long if I had tried but I did not try. As I said before I left the edifice.

But while I cannot and will not go much on the red herring aristocracy of Albany, I must be allowed to say that I have received nothing but kindness from the representation of Albany on this floor. Robinson never smokes a cigar without asking me to "smell its flavor," while Smith never sips a glass of Maderia without saying, "Oakley, chew the corkscrew." Robinson and Smith are clever fellows—so are Smith and Robinson. They are both clever fellows, especially Smith and more particularly Robinson.

There is an up-town gentleman, who resides in the Bowery, to whom I am also under obligations. To every chicken dispute and fight which has come off in that part of the city, this unknown friend of a New Capitol has sent me no less than twelve free passes—one for myself, three for Dan Wood, four for Parker, and the other four for the reporters of leading and influential papers like the New York Tribune and Independent.

But I will not detain the House any longer. I am in favor of the New Capitol bill, and hope to see it become a law.

Southern Items

In Fauquier County, Virginia, snow has been lying on the ground since the 14th of December, 1866.

A brute in Richmond, the other day, after nearly starving his wife, playfully broke her leg. His little boy set the police after him.

The Gold Hill mine, in Lumpkin County, Georgia, is said to yield from five hundred to one thousane dollars per day, and only a small force employed.

A New York company is about to erect a glass factory on Rock River canal, Rockbridge County, Va. The sand is worth eleven dollars a barrel, yielding ninety-six per cent of silica.

The assessed value of the real estate in Richmond, Va., is $22,411,350,58. This amount does not include the value of the churches, colleges, academies, and other untaxable building in the city, but does include the property owned by the city, which is valued at $1,634,083,58.

Black Hills Expedition.

We received a call a few days since from B. M. Smith, Esq., of Yankton, who proposes to lead an exploring expedition to the Black Hills of Dakota, during the coming summer. For many years the attention of miners and explorers has been turned toward these hills, and at different times efforts have been made to ascertain the truth of the reports of various Indian tribes, concerning the rich mineral deposits of that region. But all efforts heretofore have failed, for the reason that the hostile Indians who inhabited that region, have guarded with jealous care against all attempts of the whites to examine the country, and and have invariable turned back those who have approached the Black Hills.

Within the past year or two however, the hostile bands have become divided and weakened, so that they can no longer successfully resist the march of a strong band of determined explorers. In this case Mr. Smith conceived the idea of organizing a party, to number not less than one hundred men, which was considered strong enough to insure success, and proceed to the land of rumored wealth and ascertain the truth of the reports which have reached us. He commenced agitating the matter last winter, and already he has met with a surprising degree of encouragement. He now says, that instead of one hundred men which he hoped to get, he confidently expects five hundred to accompany his expedition. He is in constant receipt of letters from all parts of the country from parties who desire to make the trip, and there is every reason to believe that by the 15th of June next—the time appointed for the departure of the expedition from Yankton—there will be a force amounting to a considerable army, on hand for the trip. Prof. Hayden has just secured an appropriation of fifteen thousand dollars from the General Government, for the prosecution of a geological survey of the country, and will be on hand with a corps of scientific gentleman. The Smithsonian Institute will be represented, besides several of the institutions of learning throughout the northern states, by geologists, naturalists and men of science, who are attracted by the famous "Bad Lands," now acknowledged to be the most interesting field of research on the continent. Mr S. believes that there will be nearly one hundred of these scientific gentlemen along. The expedition will accompany the wagon road expedition of Commissioner Lawrence, who has been appointed to open a road from the Missouri river to Montana, on the north base of the Black Hills, with a fund of thirteen thousand dollars to be expended in opening the route. About one hundred men of Dakota, are already enlisted in Mr. Smith's company, and still continued additions are being made. A portion of the men composing the expedition will remain in the Black Hills region and open a settlement, unless compelled to leave. They go for the purpose of settling the country and redeeming it from the Indians. We wish them abundant success, and hope the result will repay them for the venture. Any inquiry concerning the matter, addressed to B. M. Smith, Yankton, Dakota, will receive immediate attention.—Sioux City Journal.

FRANCE.

OPENING OF THE PARIS EXPOSITION.

The New York Herald of the 1st has the following additional items in relation to the opening of the great Paris Exposition:

Paris, Monday, April 1, 1867.

The great Paris Universal Exposition was formally opened this morning.

Viewed at a distance the building resembles a mammoth gasometer dressed with flags, but when entered it is found to be in every way convenenient.

The crowd outside the building was good natured but not demonstrative.

No cheers greeted the Imperial party. They drove up a long avenue covered with a velvet canopy of green and gold, decorated with flags and lined with soldiers. They alighted at a splendid pavilion specially built for the Emperor.

The Emperor immediately reappeared and gave his arm to the Empress, and proceeded on foot to the main door. During the Imperial progress full bands played the national airs.

The cheering now grew louder, the Americans and English present leading with hearty "hurrahs," and Turks, Japanese, Italians, Prussians, Germans and French, joining in the different styles peculiar to their several countries.

The Emperor and Empress bowed repeatedly to the crowd as they ascended the platform which runs around the machine gallery.

The Emperor wore a plain evening dress, with a scarf of the Legion of Honor, and carried a heavy cane. He looked smiling, but pale and fatigued.

The Empress was robed in black silk, and looked in fine health.

The Prince Imperial and Prince Napoleon were not present.

The Princess Clothilde wore a brown velvet dress, powdered with gold.

A distinguished party of Senators and Ministers formed an escort for the Imperial party.

Prince Leuchtenburg represented Russia.

The members of the Diplomatic Corps accredited to the French Court, clothed in uniform, had special seats reserved for them at the opening scene, but they were completely hidden from view.

Preceded by the chamberlains the party passed round the entire gallery, nearly a mile long.

The different national Commissions stood on a platform over the section allotted to their countries.

Turks, Japanese, Russians, Moors, Tunisians and Persians wore their full national costumes.

The Emperor spoke a few words to each Commission, but at the American department he stopped with the Empress and bowed to the crowd, who were cheering heartily.

Half an hour was consumed in this tour. Then the cortege descended and passed through the Art and a few other galleries, and at three o'clock returned to the palace.

A Colored Barber Nearly Elected Mayor.

Concord N. H., Dispatch, April 2, to the Boston Journal.

A special election for Mayor took place this afternoon. The candidates were the present incumbent, Hon. John Abbott, republican, Charles H. Proctor, a respectable colored barber, for a citizens reform ticket, and Doctor Goodwin, the temperance nominee. Returns have been received from all the wards but Fisherville, which gave Abbott 551, Proctor 345, Goodwin 57, and scattering 48. At three o'clock it was reported that Proctor had the lead, which caused considerable excitement. The Abbott men immediately rallied, and the election of their candidate was made sure. Proctors vote came mainly from the democrats.

Secretary McCulloch has decided not to retire the four millions of greenbacks for the month just closed.

Paying for His Provender by Praying.

The Cleveland Plaindealer says:

We have no intention of making fun of serious matters in telling the following good story—we merely relate a fact:

There is a rule at Oberlin College that no student shall board at any house where prayers are not regularly made each day. A certain man fitted up a boarding house and filled it with boarders, but forgot, until the eleventh hour, the prayer proviso. Not being a praying man himself, he looked around for one who was. At length he found one—a meek young man, from Trumbull county, who agreed to pay for his board in praying. For a while all went on smoothly, but the boarding master furnished his table so poorly that the boarders began to grumble and to leave, and the other morning the prayer boarder actually "struck!" Something like the following dialogue occurred at the table;

Landlord—Will you pray, Mr. Mild?

Mild—No sir, I will not.

Landlord—Why not, Mr. Mild?

Mild—It don't pay, sir. I can't pray on such victuals as these. And unless you bind yourself in writing to set a better table than you have for the last three weeks, nary another prayer do you get out of me.

And that's the way the matter stood at latest advices.

Mixing Babies.

An Alliance correspondent of the Canton (O.) Repository relates the following:

Some days ago there was a dancing party given for the benefit of the Fenians, on the outskirts of the town, and several of the ladies present had little babies, whose noisy perversity required too much attention to allow their ma's to enjoy the "hop." A number of gallant young men volunteered to guard the infantry while the ladies engaged in the "break down." No sooner had the mothers left their cherubs in the hands of the mischievous wretches, than they stripped the darlings, and changed their clothes, giving the apparel of one to another. The dance over, the mothers each took, as she thought, her own baby, and hurriedly left the scene of gaieties and started to their homes, several miles apart, being far on the way before the "peep-o'-day." On the following day there was a tremendous row in the settlement. Mothers discovered that a single night had changed the sex of their babies, and then commenced some of the tallest female pedestrianism. Living miles apart, it required two days to unfix the little cherubs, and will require as many weeks to restore the mothers to their natural sweet dispositions.

Characteristic.

A few days since a small, fine looking, bright boy came into the cars and took a seat. Shortly after a minister came in and took a seat before and facing him when the following conversation ensued: "Well, my little lad, what is your name?" said the minister.

"My name is James Foot, what is yours?"

"William Hand," was the answer. "Where are you going?" asked the minister.

"To Rome, sir, and where are you going?" was the response of the boy.

The minister could do no less than answer "to Camden." "How old are you?" was the next question of the minister.

"Eight years." replied the boy. "How old are you, sir?"

The minister hesitated but gave an answer.

"Are you alone?" was the next question of the minister.

"Oh, no," said the boy, pointing to the minister, "I have plenty of company."

"But have you no friends on board to look after you?" asked the minister.

"No, sir," said the boy, have you?"

This was not answered, but followed by a little history.

"When I was a little boy," said the minister, "my parents would not allow me to go off the farm alone."

At this, the boy, with an indeseribable look, said, "it is different now."

Negro Representation to be Conceded

NEW YORK, April 10.—The Herald's Charleston dispatch says, that at a meeting of the prominent citizens of that place, on the 2nd, it was unanimously agreed that the freedmen should be entitled to run some of their own color on the white man's ticket to the convention and State Legislature. The meeting was composed, in a large porportion, of old Democrats and secessionists, and Gen. Hampton read a letter, urging the policy of giving the negroes representation.

The News.

WASHINGTON, April, 9.—A Richmond paper of this morning contradicts the statement that Gen. Lee has pronounced in favor of immediate action on the reconstruction law. He maintains his reticence on all political matters.

DUBLIN, April 9.—The trials of the Fenian prisoners, on a charge of high treason, commenced here yesterday, but were to-day postponed until the 22d inst., The prisoner, Massey, has turned Queen's evidence.

—A man named Moody was killed by wolves in White county, Texas, a few days since. He had been out bear hunting, and, killing a bear, got some of the animal's blood upon his clothes, which the wolves scented. Of the pack which attacked him, he killed three and was then overpowered.

—Some four hundred of the blood stained battle flags and guidons of the regiments of Illinois have been carefully and neatly folded and stowed away in the office of the Adjutant General, at Springfield, and upon the pole of each a neat silver label in the shape of a shield has been affixed, bearing the number of the regiment and the arm of the service. In their solemn and stately silence they look like so many sentinels still on live duty.

—In the city of Cincinnatti there has been established, under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, an institution called the Workingmen's Eating House, in which coffee and bread are furnished for five cents, beefsteak five cents, soup and bread five cents, three eggs ten cents, corned beef five cents, roast beef five cents, oysters 20 cents, pigs' feet ten cents, potatoes five cents, pickles five cents, three crullers five cents, pies ten cents. It has been claimed that the institution has been fairly tested and pays expenses.

Full returns from every town in Connecticut give English, for Governor, 45,787, and Hawley 44,808. Majority for English, 979. The Senate stands 11 Republicans and 10 Democrats; the House 127 Republicans to 111 Democrats.

A St. Louis dispatch states that two or three persons perished in the flames at the burning of the Lindell House, in their efforts to save property.

RUSSIAN POSSESSIONS.

The United States Senate has ratified the treaty proposed with Russia which conveys to us Russian America on the northern Pacific coast. The price to be paid for this expansion of territory is $7,200,000. No appropriation has as yet been made for this purpose and it seems quite probable that the treaty cannot go into effect until Congress again convenes. If it is the ambition of this Government to extend its limits, this is a step toward accomplishing its desires. If it is our policy to strengthen the Government, the treaty is of doubtful expediency. We can only reach it by land through British territory. Instead of concentrating and consolidating our limits we are divided by land and by sea. Isolated dependencies are a detriment to any country unless their resources surpass the expense of protection. It is thought that Russia on account of her complications with other nations has deemed it prudent to sell her American possessions for fear of capture in the event of war. If Russia deems it insecure in her hands, it is alike open to approach by the enemies of the United States. And in the possession of an enemy, we can only retake it by a naval attack, as the law of nations does not allow a hostile army in neutral territory either to occupy or cross it, for the purpose of attacking its opponent. So far from strengthening our friendship with Russia, it will have an opposite tendency, as there will no longer be a mutuality of interest on the Pacific coast. Russia has now nothing to fear from either England or the United States on this continent, and in that respect is independent of them. Our territory is already large, and the Government becoming unwieldly by expansion. We need to infuse strength and vigor and unity of purpose into the different sections of the Government which have been divided by war. We need seven million dollars to tie the Pacific with the Atlantic. We need to develop the entire Rocky mountain region, and the south western territories more than to acquire a field of icebergs near the north pole. To buy anything we don't want simply because it is cheap is not the policy of a true business man. Had the country been clamoring for its purchase, or realized in practical life any great detriment to national strength and greatness by allowing another nation to hold it, our Premier would have some justification in making negotiations for its purchase. But there has been no popular desire for such acquisition, and only among that class of our people who look upon territorial aggrandizement as the only acme of national honor, will the purchase of the region be deemed a triumph of diplomatic statesmanship.

FRONTIER RELIEF.

A meeting of our citizens was called on Mondy evening last to hear the report of the relief committee in relation to the reported want of provisions in Jackson and Martin counties. Dr. W. F. Lewis was chosen chairman, and J. A. Wiswell secretary. The committee consisting of J. C. Wise, Maj. G. K. Cleveland and Rev. T. Marshall, made a report substantially as follows: They had sent out deputy Sheriff Martin to these counties and he has returned. He first went to Jackson, as it had already been learned that Martin county could furnish its own relief. The leading citizens there, among whom were Joseph Thomas, B. H. Johnson, Major Bailey, Aikin Minor and Wm. King, immediately called a meeting and estimated the provisions on hand and the number to consume. They estimate the population at 1,500, and supplies of all kinds could not last to exceed two weeks. They expressed a desire to meet the wants of the settlers without appealing to charitable aid, but doubtless will not be able to fill the demand. Among the gentleman above named $100 was raised, and the committee paid over $400 of the money authorized by Gov. Marshall to be expended for which they gave their joint and several notes, payable on the first of Nov. next. With the $800 thus raised, 5,000 pounds, the greater portion of it course flour, have already been purchased of Loveland & Harrington, Garden City, who donated 25 cents on each hundred pounds. Mr. King who is acting for the above named gentleman will purchase more at Garden City on his return, and will also engage corn meal. They will distribute the provisions as the citizens need and collect the pay in the fall, as far as possible. They are the leading men of the county, and they have the manly independence to accept only a loan from the charities of the public. The entire fund received from Gov. Marshall is $500: of the other $100 a portion has been expended in sending out a messenger, and $10 was given to James McDugal mentioned in our issue of last week. The balance is still on hand. Notwithstanding the spirit of the people of Martin county is to afford their own relief, a private letter was read, stating that fear was entertained that all could not survive the season without suffering from want. In view of this and other facts already reported the meeting proposed to add to the present committee several gentlemen who should solicit aid in this city, the fund to be devoted to any emergencies that may arise. Edwin Bradley A. J. Kennedy, Mr. Androwski and B. D. Pay were added to the committee, and have since canvassed the town for subscriptions. The meeting adjourned to be convened at the call of the chairman.

TAKING COURAGE.

Since the spring elections have indicated a reaction of political sentiment in the small State of Connecticut, by the election of a Democratic Governor and two congressmen, and have also denoted small gains in the municipal and State elections of other States, the Copperocracy are really becoming boisterous in their enthusiasm over the signs of the times, which they deem peculiarly ominous of a general Democratic triumph throughout the country. So great is their hope, that almost everywhere we hear of the formation of "Clubs" for the better dissemination of rebel sympathy, and the rehabilitation of that party which had control of the Government, at the inception of the war, and placed it almost body and soul at the disposal of southern traitors. It is only necessary to refer to the last Democratic President, James Buchanan, for an illustration of the devotion of this party to the Government. During the entire war we can trace the same marks of treason from the leaders to the rank and file of the party, and policy alone forbids them to take up the same issue again. But they are not in a condition to be very hopeful of success. The spring elections are not an indication of a reaction or change of front. They only show a relaxation of the usual republican efforts. Hardly any of them involve more than a local issue, and it is the importance of the issue which always brings out a republican vote. In November 1865 Governor Marshall was elected by the very small majority of 3000, simply because there was no national policy to be indicated. Last fall congressmen were to be elected, and the plan of reconstruction being in issue, the State was carried by more than 10,000 majority. In spring elections the democratic majorities are increased because the republicans are slow to draw party lines when they come to the polls, and slower to come to the polls at all. We can see but little comfort to the democracy in the late elections when viewed in the light of truth and circumstances.

CORRESPONDENCE.

MANKATO, Minn., April 17th 1867.

MR. EDITOR:—I have about completed the cycle of my original arrangements with regard to this health restoring State of the Northwest. The Minnesota is now higher than has been known for several years, not from rain recently fallen, for we have had but very little since last fall. The river has risen from the melting of the snow, which as all know was very abundant, and it was removed rather hastily by the sudden introduction of spring weather.

After all, when every facility is afforded for the most successful navigation of even these northern waters, there is still a very provoking obstruction. I refer to Lake Pepin which forms a part of the Mississippi below St. Paul, which on account of its level situation and stillness of water, ordinarily is two weeks later in breaking up than the rivers. I anticipate a very pleasant journey, as boat travel is decidedly the most preferable mode for invalids. I have a very great repugnance to rail, travel on a long journey, especially since I have been afflicted with physical debility. It is too much after the style of "Young America" for me—floundering along night and day regardless of the anxiety and even fate of its precious lading, without sleep, and food snatched up in the most approved manner for making dyspepties. This may do for those moderners who have no adequate conception of the dispassionate execreise of patience practiced by our fathers in the school of fifty years ago.

How magnificent the thought of stepping aboard one of our comfortable (not large) steamers at this point, and descending this river for one hundred and fifty miles, to the mouth at St. Paul, and there enter one of those floating palaces which belong to the regular line, and which is furnished with every convenience and comfort of a first clas Hotel, and thus make an easy and pleasant journey of nearly one thousand miles to St. Louis, our river destination for the present trip.

I have now spent a whole summer and winter, and almost a whole year in Minnesota, and have had just that much experience of the adaptability of this climate as a panacea for restoring health.

As your readers have had an opportunity of knowing my views on that subject, from an article I furnished your paper some months ago, I shall only say now that I have no reason why my former opinions should be abandoned. I have myself however, been more benefitted by the cold dry winter, than any other part of the time I have spent here. The past winter has been pleasant, and in the way of health, profitable to me.

The Lafayett (Ind.) Daily Courier has an extended notice of the departure of Dr. Bader's party for Montana. They left for St. Joseph, where they intercept a steamer bearing the machinery, which left St. Louis on Wednesday last. Major Cullen and Colonel Freeh, with their familes join them at Omaha. Four ladies of the highest social standing accompany their relatives from here, and will prove a valuable acquisition to the already agreeable society of Helena. The Lafayette company has invested $40,000, and is composed of our solid men. They have three quartz mills of forty stamps. manufactured by Gates, of Chicago. They expect to realize a round million in stamps on the investment this season.

—Mr. M. H. Dunnell, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, yesterday entered upon the duties of his office. and will occupy, for the present, a portion of the Library rooms at the Capitol.—Press 16th.

STATEMENT.

Of the assets and liabilities of the Minnesota Mutual Insurance Company, of Mankato, at the time that it passed into the hands of a receiver.

Amount of notes taken for cash premiums now in the office.	$2,100
Notes for 2d year premium not due	6,900
Premium notes on fire risks	6.000
do do live stock risks,	20,000
Total,	$35,000

There is quite a large amount of, what we term, the cash premium notes now in the hands of collecting agents, that are not included in the above mentioned sums.

Office furniture including safe, chairs table and stove, is worth about	$175 00
Liabilities of the company taken from a book kept for the purpose of recording losses, is	$13,000

There may have been losses reported that have not been recorded, which would add to the indebtedness, and on the other hand there are many loses reported that do not come within the rules of the company, so that in my opinion if the losses are properly adjusted, it will not take $13,000 to pay all the debts.

The company will run in all respects as heretofore, save the issuing of policies and if parties that are indebted to the company will pay, all demands against the company can be paid, and the business closed up to the entire satisfaction of all concerned. I will make such further statements from time to time as I think will be of interest to the insured

J. A. KENNEDY,
Receiver,

Mankato, April 18, 1867.

TO THE TEACHERS & SCHOOL Trustees of Blue Earth County.

You are hereby notified, that I will conduct public examinations of Teachers, this spring, as follows:

May 8th, at the school house in the village of Garden City.

May 10th, at the school house in district No. 33, town of Sterling.

April 22d, at the school house at the Winnebago Agency.

April 24th, at the school house in the village of Mankato.

The examinations will commence precisely at 9 o'clock, A. M. each day, and teachers will please be present promptly at that time.

All persons intending to teach during the coming summer should not fail to attend some one of these examinations, as I will not examine individuals afterwards except upon affidavit they were unable to attend the public examinations.

Trustees and all others who feel an interest in the welfare of our common schools are earnestly requested to be present at the examinations, and consult with the Teachers and Superintendent.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE CONdition of a certain mortgage executed by Rosell J Hull and David Carlton to James Miller, dated on the 18th day of March 1865, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county on the 15th day of April 1865, in book "F" of Mortgages, on page 185, whereby the said Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton sold and conveyed to the said James Miller his heirs and assigns forever the following described real property lying and being in Blue Earth county to wit: The northwest quarter of section fifteen in township one hundred and five north of Range twenty-eight west: to secure the payment of four hundred dollars according to the condition of two certain promissory notes bearing even date with said mortgage, one for one hundred and fifty dollars and interest due one year from date, and the other for two hundred and fifty dollars and interest due two years from date, upon which said mortgage and notes there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred and fifty-seven and 16-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue and in pursuance of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such cases made and provided the above described premises will be sold at public vender to the highest bidder at the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county in Mankato on

Saturday the 25th day of May,

A. D. 1867, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day to satisfy the amount due upon said notes and mortgage with the interest, taxes and costs allowed by law and twenty dollars as solicitors fees, stipulated in said mortgage.

*Below Zero.

FOR SALE.—Buck & Freeman offer some valuable timber and prairie lands, and improved farms, also a house and lot, see their card elsewhere.

MILL DAMS GONE.—We learn that the dam of Butterfields mill on the Watonwan, Dustin's on Blue Earth and Scott & Wardens' on the Le Sueur has been almost entirely washed away.

NAVIGATION.—The Mississippi river is open above and below the Lake, and boats are running. The Chippewa Falls was to have left St. Paul Tuesday for Mankato. Her arrival is hourly expected.

FRONTIER FUND.—The committee appointed to solicit subscriptions for the relief of the frontier settlers, have collected nearly $200. Of this amount we learn that $50,75 was contributed by the Good Templars of this city.

—The Presbytery of Dakota will meet at the Presbyterian Church in this place, on Wednesday evening next, at 7½ o clock, at which time the opening Sermon will be preached by Rev. Rockwood McQuesten, of Le Sueur.

LESUEUR.—We know of no damage to report on the LeSueur river except the injury sustained by Scott & Worden. Their dam and mill race is entirely flooded, but the amount of damage we have not learned. The river has fallen 5 feet and will soon be at its usual stage.

SCHOOL EXAMINATIONS.—On account of high water and after presistant efforts to meet his engagements, our County Superintendent has been forced to change the time of examination of teachers for Garden City and Sterling. By referring to the advertisment elsewhere it will be seen what change is made. Other appointments remain the same.

IMPORTANT SALE.—A light wagon, two young horses, one a mare, with harness saddle &c., also a sett of sofa chairs, marble top table and sofa, what-nots, stoves, tables, bedsteads, and many other articles, the property of Mrs. E. C. Sanders, will be sold at auction by D. H. Tyner at the Mankato House livery stable on Thursday next the 25th inst. The property is in good condition, and will be sold without reserve.

FROM VERNON.—Our correspondent from Vernon says that Mr. G. W. Doty is preparing to erect a water power flouring mill at that place. It is to be located at the crossing, near the old mill site of Smith, Harper & Co. He also says the bridge, lately built at that place, has survived the freshet, and suggests that it is about time the Blue Earth is bridged. In this we agree with him. Strangers who come here wonder at our negligence in this respect.

MINNESOTA RIVER.—Our river has continued to rise since last week at the rate of from one to three inches per hour. It is now as high as the mark of August '58, and within 8 inches of the mark of 1862. which was the highest water known by the earliest settler. It is reported that on Wednesday last, the ice still remained firm at Judson, and if so we may expect a further rise. The only property thus far endangered is 200 cords of Gregg & Co's., wood at the upper brick yard, and a house and barn on the lower flats.

BIBLE MEETING.—The annual Meeting of the Blue Earth county Bible Society will be held in the Centenary M. E. Church, Mankato on Sunday evening April 28, 1867. The exercises will commence at the usual hour. Addresses are expected from Rev. Mr. Adams, State agent, and others. The several auxiliaries throughout the county are requested to send in their reports by the 25th inst., if possible so that they may be incorporated in the annual report.

J N HALL,
Secretary.

RETURNED. Dr. Pierce, dentist has returned to Mankato and will remain here a few days and will attend to calls at the Clifton House. In a notice we made last week of a resident dentist, we mentioned a preference for him to traveling quacks. We wish it understood however that Dr. Pierce is not of this latter class but is permanently located in St Paul, is of the celebrated firm of Pierce & Beecher and makes stated visits to Mankato, and so far from being an inferior practitioner we can add our personal experience to many others in this city as a testimony that he has no superior in the State. We can cheerfully recommend him to the public.

NEW BREWERY.—Messrs Peter Welsh and George Wolf have, since January last, been building a new brewery on the banks of the Blue Earth river in West Mankato. The building is of wood, and the cellar, which is large and cool, is built in the sand stone which abounds there. The improvements have already cost $5.000 and still further additions are to be made. Last Saturday they commenced to brew, and their apparatus is working successfully.

ABSURD.—Some silly man who writes for the Record, from Garden City, says that the UNION shows a lack of good breeding and a want of respect for republican principles, in its announcement of the result of the late jail election. As to the former it is a question of taste, but as to the latter we are unable to divine what the jail election has to do with the principles of republicanism. What particular principle of republicanism have we infringed by announcing in our peculiar style the result of the contest? Can the astute gentleman inform the public? He further says that prominent citizens of Garden City have discontinued the UNION. The wish was doubtless father to the thought, but perhaps this "correct correspondent" will be surprised to know that he is telling what is false. No prominent citizen has done any such thing, and it is a libel upon the good sense of such persons to state it. Furthermore one of the most prominent citizens, and one most interested in its welfare has, since the election, renewed his subscription for a year.

SUGAR CANE SEED.—Parties desiring a fine article of Sorghum, Otahaitan or Siberian seed, can find it at Ray Williams & Bro's., at White's and at J. F. Wallace's Mankato; and at Ray Williams & Bro's. at Garden City. This seed was selected with great care in the fields by Skinner & Co., manufacturers of Sugar Mill Machinery.

SPRING IMPROVEMENTS.—The best proof of the increase of population is in the number of residences in process of erection, whether they be of an expensive or a cheap class of buildings. Already the signs of the times indicate a busy building season, and an expansion of our population. We mention a few who have thus early in the spring broke ground for building and some of them are far advanced toward the completion of their work:

ON THE VANBRUNT ADITION.

Christensen & Scattergood are building a Fan mill factory 50 feet by 22, two stories high, with a one story lean 50 feet by sixteen; also a stable 20 feet by 26. The entire improvement, will cost several thousand dollars.

James Mahoney has built a frame dwelling which cost about $250.

A. M. Smith is building a frame house which when completed will cost about $1,500.

W. P. Boardman, has the stone and much of the lumber on the ground for a fine two-story frame dwelling which will cost about $2,000.

J. H. Ray is building a frame dwelling 1½ stories high, at a cost of $1,000.

ON WARRENS ADDITION.

William McCullough has the brick and stone hauled for a good brick dwelling which will probably cost $1,200.

Rufus Spaulding has also the stone, brick and lumber on the ground for a two-story brick building 24 feet by 26, at a cost of about $1,500.

ON THE BUSINESS STREET

we notice the paint shop of J. H. Lee almost completed, at a cost of nearly $600. The upper room is to be occupied by W. L. Coon Justice of the Peace and Deputy Clerk.

I. H. B. Beebee is erecting a two story business building 22 feet by 40, at a cost of at least $1,500. He will remove his grocery business into it as soon as is completed. The upper story we understand is to be occupied by Dr. Jones for an office and residence.

Smith & Humphrey are building rooms for a post office next door to their present stand, at a cost of $600. The building is 16 feet by 45, two stories high. By removing the post-office into it they will have ample room to show their goods to advantage. Willkinson & Woolfolk will occupy the upper story as a law office.

M. T. C. Flower & Son, proprietors of the Clifton House, are erecting a wing 60 feet by 30, two stories high, besides a basement 16 feet by 30 to be used as a laundry. This addition will give a new dining room 50 feet by 30, with 12 sleeping rooms in the second story, and 8 in the attic similar to those in the main building. A part of the old dining room will be thrown into the parlor, which will be double its present size, and nicely furnished, will be very creditable to the hotel. The balance of the old dining room and kitchen will be overhauled and refitted for sleeping rooms and family use. The wing will cost at least $2,500, and when furnished the entire expense will be more than four thousand dollars.

Last but not least is the new jail, which is to be built this summer on the county grounds near the present one. Proposals for building it are already invited. The main building, or Sheriff's house, will be 34 feet by 37½ and the jail proper will be 32 by 36½. The Sheriff's house will be two stories high besides the basement. The jail will consist of two tiers of cells each. The basement of the main building and east, south and centre wall of the jail proper will be built of stone or rubble work. The west side is to be built of range work, similar to the work on Mr. Wilkinson's residence, the ranges to very from 14 to 6 inches as it goes up. The main first floor will be divided into Sheriff's office and ante room between his office and the jail entrance, on one side, and on the other will be two rooms for the family of the sheriff. The basement will be divided into a cellar, kitchen and dining room. The upper story is to be finished for the purpose of a court and jury rooms, for the present. The roof is to be of slight elevation and covered with tin. The jail will cost more than $10,000, probably about $12,500 but the benefit of having a court room and saving nearly $400 per annum rent, will fully compensate the additional cost.

Mr. Owens is also building on 2d street a 1½ story frame dwelling at a cost of about $1,200.

A rude shanty is going up on Front street near the bridge, intended to accommodate for the summer the female portion of a family of 12 persons. The men purchased a large tract of land of Willard & Barney some two years since and will go out and improve it this summer, leaving their families here.

BRIDGE GONE.—We are sorry to announce that the bridge at Garden City, was washed away by the flood, on the Watonwan, on Tuesday last. The river overtook the low water residents of Madelia on Monday night and the citizens were warned out to assist in removing them to dry land. In one night the river rose about twelve feet, sweeping everything before it. The same rise reached Garden City on Tuesday, and washed the dams of Quayle and Friend, and Loveland and Harrington so badly that several weeks will elapse before repairs can be made. Passing to the bridge it soon swept it from its fastening, and $2,500 is lost to the county and citizens of that village. The county issued $1,900 in bonds toward its erection and the balance was made up by those living in and near the town. We understand that S. C. Clark, the builder, has performed his work according to contract but that such a bridge as he was directed to build, never could withstand the spring floods. It is time that the experience of the past had learned us the necessity of building more permanent structures over such rapid streams. We trust that the loss of this bridge will fall where it can be borne the easiest, and that a prompt effort on the part of the county will be made to replace it with a structure which will resist the highest floods.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Edward Davis, of Utica, N. Y., father of L. L. and O. H. Davis of this place, was drowned in the Mohawk river on the 7th inst., by falling from a dilapidated foot bridge, which he was crossing in the night. He was fifty-five years of age, and had made arrangements to leave Utica the following Thursday, with his family to settle in Mankato.

Thus "God moves in a mysterious way" in exercising His Soverign prerogative, as to the time and manner of our removal from this state of existence. Mr. Davis' sudden death was a very afflicting circumstance to his family, but particularly to those sons in this city, who were fondly expecting their father and his family soon to unite with them in their new home they had selected in this far off northwestern State.

R. I.

FALSE PRETENCES.—Last Saturday evening a man calling himself Charles Johnson, was arrested and tried before Justice Coon for obtaining goods under false pretences. He represented to N. Finch, the provision dealer, that he was interested largely in the brick company of Gregg & Co., and obtained on their credit some butter, 40 pounds of ham, 3 sacks of flour and $4 cash within three days. Paddock & Co. and R. J. Thomas also trusted him upon like representation. To White Brothers he represented himself to be the cousin of the wife of Sam, (meaning James) Hubbell of this city, but they refused to trust him. He sold his flour to Nick Weis and ham to Davis Brothers, and spent his money at the saloons; upon complaint of Mr. Finch he was arrested and held to bail in the sum of $100, in default of which he was sent to the lock-up.

A MATTER OF DUTY.—It is the solemn duty of every grocer to refrain from selling to his customers an article for food which he knows is positively injurious to the health, and he is deprived of all excuse for so doing when a better article for the purpose can be readily obtained at the same cost. Now the Best Chemical Saleratus, made by D. B. DeLand & Co., can always be had, and this is known to be pure, and free from all deleterious matter. No grocer who regards the welfare of his customers will fail to keep it.

TO TRAVELERS.—The Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. Co has just opened the season with its splendidly appointed Steamers on Lake Michigan. They run between Milwaukee & Grand Haven during the night, arriving at the latter point in the morning and connecting with the train which arrives in the evening at Detroit. We cheerfully commend this route to all of our friends, who are making a trip to the East on business or pleasure, or returning from thence to the West. A night of refreshing sleep in the comfortable state rooms of this Company's excellent steamers, is exceedingly desirable; especialy to the jaded and dusty railway traveler. From this point to Winona & La Crosse thence to Milwaukee, via. Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R. by day-light and across the lake by night gives a route to the East, of unusual comfort and rapidity.

SPECIAL NOTICES

—Ray, Williams & Bros., have just tapped a barrel of splendid cider.

—Buck & Freeman, real estate agents, sold this week for Wm. Griffith to Jabez Lloyd of Butternut Valley, an improved farm of 184 acres in secs. 1 and 36 town 108, range 28 (Butternut Valley) for $2,300. Also to Wm. J. Jones for Daniel Griffith the e½ of sw q of sec 1 town 108 range 29 for $300.

—Mrs. Potts has just received an invoice of choice millinery goods by express.

—J. F. Wallace has just received by express a fresh lot of oranges and lemons—very nice and sound.

—As spring approaches, our farmer friends begin to look around for the best plows. It seems to be very difficult to find a plow that scours in this rich Minnesota soil. There are none that can be relied on to work well every where but the Cast Cast Steel of Hartford Conn., which is warranted to give perfect satisfaction everywhere. John F. Meagher has just received a large supply of these excellent plows. Call and examine them for yoursel before purchasing elsewhere.

PLOWS! PLOWS!!—Something new for the farmers. L. L. & O. H. Davis, have just received a lot of the Mishiwauke Silver Steel Plows, which they warrant to scour in any soil, and give entire satisfaction, or the Plows will be taken back and the money refunded. The Silver Steel Plows were introduced in this country last fall and pronounced by those that have used them to be the best and lightest draft Plows ever brought to this country. Not one failed to scour in the worst soil. The Silver Steel Plows are the best Plows. The Silver Steel Plows are the cheapest Plows. Hear Reason---Strengthen the Defenses.

When a garrison apprehends an attack from an outside enemy, what does it do? It strengthens the defences. The human system at this period of the year, is beleaguered by morbid influences. The inclement air is full of them. Every change of weather lays the feeble open to their attacks. What is to be done in order to baffle these unseen, but ever active, foes? Strengthen the defences. Do you ask how? The answer is simply—the means within the reach of all. Reinforce the vital organs and the nervous system with

HOSTETTER'S BITTER'S.

Tone the stomach, regulate the bowels, rouse the sluggish liver, cheer the spirits, enrich and purify the vital current, with Hostetter's Bitters. That's the way to Strengthen the defences, and render the capital of health impregnable. If you wish to escape billious head-ache, intermittent fever, indigestion, and nervous visitations—to enjoy, in all its plentitude, the blessing of a "sound mind in a sound body," use this incomparable preventive and restorative. It preserves health in the healthy, and renews it in the weak and ailing.

Great Overland

EXPEDITION TO MONTANA!

MANKATO, MINN.,

The point of outfit for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, etc.

The largest Overland Expedition ever organized, will positively leave Minnesota,

FIRST OF JUNE NEXT

under the command of

who has designated Mankato as the point of outfit for Central and Southern Minnesota. It is situated at the great bend of the Minnesota, and on a direct airline from Chicago and Winona to Helena City, Montana.

Mankato contains 15 Dry Goods, 15 Grocery, 3 Hardware, 2 Drug, 3 Clothing, 6 Boot and Shoe, and 3 Herness stores, Feed and Provision Stores, 8 Hotels, a corresponding number of other business houses, 3 first-class Flouring Mills, and it is surrounded by a very fine agricultural country, well stocked with cattle and farm produce of all kind; and at that point can be obtained every article necessary for a complete outfit for the journey and mines, as cheap as can be had at any other town or city west of the Mississippi river.

Emigrants should leave the Mississippi at Winona, where they can take the Winona & St. Peter Railroad to Owatonna, the present terminus, and Mankato is 48 miles farther west by good stage road. The route from Mankato west to Big Stone lake, the point of general rendezvous, a distance of 201 miles, traverses a beautiful section of country, with pleasant camping grounds, and plenty of wood, water and grass.

The distance from Mankato to Helena City, Montana, is about 1,000 miles and will require not more than ten weeks. It is shorter than any other, and the expedition led by Captain Tom Holmes, last year, over this route, arrived at Helena City two weeks earlier than the expedition led by Capt. Fisk from St. Cloud, via Fort Abercrombie.

For further particulars see Captain Davy's Circular, or address Hon. J. B. WAKEFIELD, Secretary and Treasurer of the Expedition, Blue Earth City, Minnesota.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent, Calendar For 1867.

The Preston Republican announces that the Southern Minnesota Railroad Company have accepted the conditions imposed upon them in the act of the last session of the Legislature conferring the Congressional land grant; and that under those conditions the company are prepared to build ten or fifteen miles of the road this season. The Republican claims that the real interests of the road are not only not damaged, but that they are secured by the passage of the bill limiting the company to certain designated points on the line.

A national convention of the French Canadians of the Western States and Canada, will be held in Detroit on the 11th. The aim of this national mass meeting is to protest against the establishment of a monarchial government in the neighboring British Provinces: to devise means to frustrate the treacherous designs of Toryism, and to enforce the Monroe doctrine on this continent.

It turns out that many white residents of Washington refused to register as voters, for fear they might be drawn as jurors with negroes. All the Democratic papers publish articles showing that colored men cannot be jurors, and urging the whites therefore to register immediately.

A new railroad constructor has been tried in San Francisco, with complete success. The machine levels the track, lays the ties, deposits the rails and nails them in their places. It is estimated that twenty men will do as much work in a day as two hundred without the aid of the constructor.

A disturbance occurred at Charleston, S. C., on the 1st inst., growing out of two negroes being ejected from the street cars. The military authorities interfered and arrested the ringleaders.

The Russian treaty having been ratified by the Senate, before it can be carried into effect the House of Representatives must make an appropriation for the payment of the stipulated price. Unless an extra session of Congress is called, the matter will therefore lie over until its next regular meeting.

In the Russian treaty there is a provision that the inhabitants may, if they choose, return and resume their allegiance to Russia within three years, or may remain and receive the immunities and advantages of citizens of the United States.

Land Office reports show that the tide of emigration toward the extreme Western and Northwestern States has been unusually strong this spring. Some sales have been made for the purpose of speculation. The greater part, however, are for actual settlement.

Chief Justice Chase has turned over the numerous applications for Registers under the Bankrupt act to Marshal Parsons, of the Supreme Court, who is having them classified. The nominations will be made immediatly, State by State.

The steamer Alabama, with her entire cargo, consisting of 1,000 bales of cotton, was burned near New Orleans, on the 10th inst. The boat was valued at $52,500; insurance $35,000.

The amount of travel going west is truly astonishing. Last Saturday morning three passenger coaches on the Winona & St. Peter Railroad were so crowded that many passengers were obliged to stand up. When navigation opens it will still more be increased, and we expect to note the boats arriving with loads of three, four and five hundred passengers daily.—Winona Rep.

The Copperhead papers have much to say about a "reaction against the Radicals," alleged to be taking place. The election in Rhode Island, two days after that in Connecticut, don't exhibit very much "reaction;" The Cops. fired no guns over the result in "Little Rhody."

The Republicans elected their ticket in Cleveland by an average majority of 400, except for Mayor. Their candidate for Mayor became involved in Maine lawism, and suffered defeat by 480 votes. The rest of the ticket was elected.

The allotment of Chief Justice Chase, by the Supreme Court, to the Virginia circuit in pursuance of the act of Congress providing a new allotment, it is thought must lead to the trial of Jeff. Davis.

Just previous to the Connecticut election the effects of the Johnson headquarters, including the portraits of the President and other leading Johnson men, were sold at auction at a great sacrifice.

After a spirited contest in the city of Toledo, the Republicans elected their ticket by 500 majority, and carried ten of the twelve Aldermen. Not much "reaction" there.

Advices from England state that the Liberals in Parliment have determined to offer a decided opposition to the Reform bill introduced by the Government. It is not comprehensive enough, nor sufficiently republican in principle to suit them. Their intention is to bring it to a test vote as soon as possible, and if successful, it is thought the Derby Cabinet will resign.

Secretay Stanton stands as high as a Constitutional lawyer as Attorney General Stanbery, and he has given the opinion that General Sheridan has the legal right to remove rebels from office in his district, under the Military Reconstruction bill. Gen. Grant declares that he will except Secretary Stanton's construction of the law, and stand by Sheridan, who will no doubt decapitate every rebel holding office in Louisiana.

Ex-Representative Kasson, of Iowa, sails at once for Europe as a special commissioner of the governor to negotiate for a reduction, and to secure greater uniformity in international postage. The post office department is determined to obtain lower rates of ocean postage.

The Senate has ratified the treaty recently made with the Chippewa Bands of Mississippi Indians, providing for the sale of a portion of their lands, and for setting apart other reservations for their use.

—The slight shower of Copperheads in Connecticut on Monday, didn't extend across the line into Rhode Island. In the latter State Major General Ambrose E. Burnside has been elected Governor, and both the Republican members of the last Congress were re-elected. The Senate stands: Republican 28, Democrats 6; House 62 Republicans and 8 Democrats.

Gottschalk makes money in Chile, and injures no innocence, for there is none there to injure.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. SHATTERED CONSTITUTIONS RESTORED by Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Disease of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the receipt for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, Free of Charge.

Please inclose a post paid envelope, addressed to yourself. Address.

MANHOOD AND YOUTHFUL VIGOR are regained by Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

THE GLORY OF MAN IS STRENGTH.—Therefore the nervous and debilitated should immediately use Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

DR. SCHENCK'S
MANDRAKE PILLS.
A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all bilious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

By the use of
CHASTELLAR'S
WHITE LIQUID
ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 20,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by

AFFLICTED!
SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY.
The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate, nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)
REED ORGANS, &c.

The following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name. But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows or the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturall arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR. SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - - APRIL 26, 1867

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r

IMPORTANT LETTER.—The Auditor of Blue Earth County has sent us a communication this week, which, from a patriotic motive toward the county, and paying motive to ourself, we are induced to publish. No other considerations would induce us to publish it for it has but little merit except length, and is very personal in its allusions. We trust in the future our Deputy Auditor will avoid personalities as our subscribers can hardly afford to "pay for a paper that abuses them." His letter is also somewhat enigmatical, and we have therefore printed at the foot a note, explanatory of signs and symbols. Repetition tautology, and diffuseness are among its objectional features, and it will doubtless prove quite a bore to our readers. The Auditor, however, is not to blame; it is the delinquent tax payers, and for their especial edification the letter is published. Much other matter is necessarily crowded out. We refer to the tax list on the 1st and 4th pages.

RIVER.—On Thursday the 18th inst. in the afternoon, the river, which had swollen nearly to the mark of 1862, commenced to recede, and is now going down quite rapidly. During its rise it would swell at the rate of three inches per hour, though the average rate was about one inch. The stage of navigation is splendid and water communication bids fair to be maintained for some time yet.

FIRST BOAT.—The Chippewa Falls, Capt. James Houghton was the first boat to appear at our levee. It came in at about eleven o'clock P. M. of the 18th inst. This is just three days lacking an hour later than the first boat of 1866.

FROM MADELIA.—The Watonwan is a treacherous stream. Though the new bridge at Madelia was built more than a foot above the highest water mark known to the oldest inhabitant, we learn that it was swept away during the recent freshet. It was built at a cost of seven hundred dollars and thought to be entirely out of the danger of high water. The river rose five feet higher than was ever before known and swept away the structure which the inhabitants feel too poor to rebuild at present. We learn that quite a number of new settlers have already come in to the county and are daily arriving. Hon. B. Yates of Madelia was in this city yesterday en route to St. Paul to purchase goods, and from there he goes east to spend a few weeks visiting his friends.

BOAT ARRIVALS.—The Chippewa Falls made its first appearance on the 18th inst. and arrived again on its second trip last Sunday evening. The Jeanette Roberts arrived on Sunday noon last, with a fair load, and left in the afternoon. The C. B. Knapp arrived on Wednesday and returned the same day. The Chippewa arrived the same evening on its third trip and returned before morning.

IMMIGRATION.—The influx of new comers into the State is causing a fair proportion of the travel to seek Mankato and the Blue Earth Country. On Saturday evening last four coaches arrived from the east loaded with passengers and baggage. On account of bad roads much of the travel is coming by river, and every boat has a fair load of Passengers. The roads and weather have been most unpropitious for us, as strangers are coming at the most unpleasant season of the year to be favorably impressed with the country and climate.

THE BEST IS THE CHEAPEST.—This maxim was never better illustrated than in the use of D. B. DeLand & Co.'s Best Chemical Saleratus. It is the best in the world, and the purchaser gets a full equivalent for the money paid, in a pure healthy article. To buy any other is a waste of money. To use any other is trifling with a great blessing—health. Use it in place of Soda.

LYCEUM.—The Mankato Union School Lyceum will meet at Stuart's school room Higgin's Hall on this Friday evening April 26th for the purpose of electing officers. All members are requested to be present. COME OUT.

EPISCOPAL.—At the Annual Parish meeting of St. Johns Church' held at their place of worship on Easter Tuesday, April 23d, the following gentlemen were elected as Wardens and Vestrymen for the ensuing year. Wardens, N. Finch and Dr. J. C. Jones. Vestrymen, O. O. Pitcher, E. D. B. Porter, P. B. Sparrow, A. T. Lindholm, B. D. Fay, J. A. Wiswell, C. S. Dunscomb, and S. A. Gillam.

Dr. J. C. Jones was elected delegate, and H. W. Stuart a substitute, to the Annual Diocesan Convention, which meets in Minneapolis on the 2d Wednesday in June.

NOT TRUE.—Mr. Dustin writes us that it is not true that his dam and mill are greatly injured. The dam is very slightly damaged and the flume and mill have suffered no injury at all. He will be able to commence grinding again next week.

ARRIVED.—Dr. H. W. Stauffer, dentist has arrived in town and expects his furniture in a day or two. He will then fit up his rooms in Prael & DuBuisson's building.

MONTANA.—Capt. P. B. Davy is expected in town soon, when he will open an office and proceed to the business of receiving names and collecting together those who desire to go to Montana.

A PLEA TO PARENTS.—This communication was unavoidably crowded out this week. It will appear in our next issue.

GENEROUS.—The story is going the rounds of the papers that Capt. Davidson has loaned to the farmers of Blue Earth and other counties 20,000 bushels of seed wheat. The whole story is a fabrication. Capt. Davidson has done nothing, and our relief committee who wrote him upon the subject have not even received a reply. Mr. J. Robinson of Winona was written upon the same subject, and he simply offered to sell his wheat for cash.

P. S.—Since the above was in type, and a portion of our edition worked off, we learn from one of the committee that they received a letter from Capt. Davidson, and that he would accept the proposition to furnish the wheat and take county orders, at 12 per cent. interest, as payment.

WHO WOULD NOT BE BEAUTIFUL?—All may posess a clear, unblemished skin, of alabaster whiteness, by the use of Chastellar's White Liquid Enamel. It is the most perfect article in use, for removing all impurities of the skin, and unlike all other cosmetics, contains nothing that will injure the cuticle; being vegetable, it is perfectly harmless. FROM VERNON CENTRE.

By our own Reporter.

Mr. Editor:—Since my last, our little community has much of the time been anxiously watching the river and noting the effect of the great flood which has swept over this section The Blue Earth commenced rising at this point on Monday, P. M. and rose steadily until Wednesday morning when it was Eighteen feet above low water mark being about 8 inches higher than it was April 15th 1862 when our former bridge was swept away. The present structure has stood the tremendous pressure, remarkably well, although it is somewhat damaged. Long ropes were attached to the center of the bridge and made fast up the stream and the flooing removed so as to afford less resistance to the torrent and we had the satisfaction of seeing the water falling and the bridge still in its place although at one time the waves washed the stringers. Later the action of the current was such as to undermine the filing on the north bank and one corner of the bridge suddenly dropped about ten inches and both ends are somewhat injured. It is estimated that $150, or $200 will put it in good order again and in better condition than before to withstand a flood. It will probably be opened for travel in about a week if the water continues to fall.

REMOVED.—The County treasurer J. W. Hoerr has removed his office to Marks' building 2d story.

Immigration to Minnesota.

We learn from a friend who arrived last evening from the East, that all the cars moving Westward are thronged with immigrants, and that Minnesota will receive her full share. The cars on the Northwestern Railroad were crowded to their utmost capacity; the Keokuk brought up to Winona yesterday the largest number she ever carried, and the Winona and St. Peter Railroad brought to Owatonna five car loads, a portion of whom went westward to the Minnesota Valley, and the balance came on to St. Paul and Minneapolis. The immigrants now on their way are principally from the Eastern and Middle States, the season for foreign emigration not having arrived. Those with whom our friend conversed, speak of many others in their respective neighborhoods who are preparing to start as soon as they learn of the opening of navigation. The indications are very strong that we shall receive a larger accession to our population this year, than in any one year since the palmy days of 1864-5 and 6.—Pioneer April 20th.

My Best Friend.

Miss Lucie A. Morrison, of Cleveland, Ohio, says: "No reasonable amount of money could persuade me to part with my Willcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine—unless assured of its immediate replacement by another just like it.—It has become my best friend.

A Hotel is being erected at the western end of the Winona & St. Peter Road, at clear lake, by Mr. Vincent. Hold yourself in readiness Mr. V, for fishing and picnic parties when the cars run through.—Owatonna Journal Apr18

The Winona & St. Peter road have ties and rails at this place sufficient for some 8 or 10 miles of road. They are intending to commence work in earnest in the course of a week or ten days.—Owatonna Journal April 18th

—Miss Amarette Patterson will open a select school in upper town, next door to Lytle & McKinney's wagon shop, on Monday, April 29th. Terms:—three dollars per quarter. one half to be paid at the commencement and the remainder at the middle of the term.

FLOWER SEEDS.—If you want flower seeds, Annual, Biennial and Perennial, and Everlasting, or ornamental Grasses, they can be had at Frisbie's Drug Store. He has just received an invoice from Rochester N. Y. and his catalogue shows the greatest variety ever brought to this city.

BASE BALL.—Our business men have organized a Base Ball Club, and elected Judge Waite President, W. F Lewis Vice President, Albert White Secretary, and J. J. Thompson Treasurer.

TAX LIST.—Elsewhere will be found the tax list of Watonwan County.

Congress has passed a resolution prohibiting the representatives of this government at Foreign Courts from wearing any costume or uniform not recognized by law. The only costume which the law will permit is that of a plain American gentleman, or, if the representative has been in the military service, the uniform of the highest grade which he may have attained in the service.

The Senate has ratified the treaty recently made with the Chippewa Bands of Indians. providing the sale of a portion of their lands in this state and for setting apart other reservations for their use.

Gov. Marshall has appointed Gen. S. P. Jennison his private secretary vice Mr. Ludden who has been elected secretary of the St. Paul Board of trade.

The Mexican Minister at Washington has advices that the capture of Maximillian is inevitable, and that he will be shot, unless the interposition of the United States in his behalf should save him.

The entire Republican city ticket is elected in Chicago. Mayor Rice is reelected by nearly 4,000 majority. The council stands 25 Republicans to 7 Democrats.

Herald's Mexico city correspondence, dated March 17, says Juarez had given orders to his officers to grant Maximillian an escort and honorable treatment to any point on the coast to which he shall select as a point of embarkation, provided he was captured.

Dispatches received at the State Department from Gen. Dix at Paris represent complications between France and Prussia of a most serious nature.

The Senate, after a protracted debate, postponed the nomination of Henry J. Raymond, as Minister to Austria until December next, thus retaining, for the present, Mr. Motley, in that position. The Senate was in session three hours, or until half-past ten o'clock.

Information received from the southwestern part of Virginia say that the prospects of the tobacco crop are very favorable around Lynchburg.—

DIED:

In this city on the evening of the 20th inst., of Consumption, Capt Enos Cook Sanders, aged 32 years, 1 month 15 days.

Capt. Sanders, early in the war, inlisted in the Union army, with his brother Nathaniel. Through meritorius service he was promoted to a Captaney. and his brother to a Lieutenancy. The latter was killed in a battle at Elizabeth city. Failing health induced him to quit the army, and in 1865 he came to Minnesota. He leaves a wife but no children. She with his brother's widow who are sisters' with aged parents are left to mourn these trying losses.

Dissolution of Partnership

The partnership heretofore existing between Drs. Mc Mahan & Bedient was dissolved by limitation on the 20th inst. As Dr. Bedient is about to remove from this locality it is necessary that their accounts be settled at once. Persons knowing themselves indebted to the firm are therefore requested to settle the same immediately. Dr. Mc Mahan will continue the practice of Medicine and surgery at the old stand, up stairs, above Frisbie's drug store.

Hear Reason---Strengthen the Defenses.

When a garrison apprehends an attack from an outside enemy, what does it do? It strengthens the defences. The human system at this period of the year, is beleaguered by morbid influences. The inclement air is full of them. Every change of weather lays the feeble open to their attacks. What is to be done in order to baffle these unseen, but ever active, foes? Strengthen the defences. Do you ask how? The answer is simply—the means within the reach of all. Reinforce the vital organs and the nervous system with

HOSTETTER'S BITTER'S.

Tone the stomach, regulate the bowels, rouse the sluggish liver, cheer the spirits, enrich and purify the vital current, with Hostetter's Bitters. That's the way to Strengthen the defences, and render the capital of health impregnable. If you wish to escape billious head-ache, intermittent fever, indigestion, and nervous visitations—to enjoy, in all its plentitude, the blessing of a "sound mind in a sound body," use this incomparable preventive, and restorative. It preserves health in the healthy, and renews it in the weak and ailing.

TO THE TEACHERS & SCHOOL Trustees of Blue Earth County.

You are hereby notified, that I will conduct public examinations of Teachers, this spring, as follows:

May 8th, at the school house in the village of Garden City.

May 10th, at the school house in district No. 33, town of Sterling.

April 22d, at the school house at the Winnebago Agency.

April 24th, at the school house in the village of Mankato.

The examinations will commence precisely at 9 o'clock, A. M. each day, and teachers will please be present promptly at that time.

All persons intending to teach during the coming summer should not fail to attend some one of these examinations, as I will not examine individuals afterwards except upon affidavit they were unable to attend the public examinations.

Trustees and all others who feel an interest in the welfare of our common schools are earnestly requested to be present at the examinations, and consult with the Teachers, and Superintendent.

RING'S
Vegetable Ambrosia,
FOR GRAY HAIR.

This is the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Man who was bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gay,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE CONdition of a certain mortgage executed by Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton to James Miller, dated on the 18th day of March 1865, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county on the 15th day of April 1865, in book "F" of Mortgages, on page 185, whereby the said Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton sold and conveyed to the said James Miller his heirs and assigns forever the following described real property lying and being in Blue Earth county to wit: The northwest quarter of section fifteen in township one hundred and five north of Range twenty-eight west; to secure the payment of four hundred dollars according to the condition of two certain promissory notes bearing even date with said mortgage, one for one hundred and fifty dollars and interest due one year from date, and the other for two hundred and fifty dollars and interest due two years from date, upon which said mortgage and notes there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred and fifty-seven and 16-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue and in pursuance of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such cases made and provided the above described premises will be sold at public vender to the highest bidder at the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county in Mankato on

Saturday the 25th day of May,

A. D. 1867, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day to satisfy the amount due upon said notes and mortgage with the interest, taxes and costs allowed by law and twenty dollars as solicitors fees, stipulated in said mortgage.

Oliver Bell, ... Equestrian Director.
H. F. Nichols, ... Master of Circle.
J. O. Davis, ... General Agent.

A GRAND FREE EXHIBITION.

MANKATO, MONDAY, MAY 13, 1867.

The Fairy Ascensionist,
MISS ANNIE WORLAND.

Before the opening of the doors of the Circus MISS ANNIE will perform the difficult and perilous feat of walking from the ground to the top of the enormous pavillion, on a SINGLE WIRE!

This is one of the most difficult feats ever attempted by any person in the profession. This beautiful scene will be enlivened by Music from

Capt. J Ollernshaw's Metropolitan Opera Band,

Composed of First Class Musicians, of whom each is an A No. 1 in his respective line.

A Grand and Attractive Combination of Merit, Novelty, Excelence, Amusement and Instruction.

A Stupendous Congregation

Of the most entertaining and attractive features ever offered to the public, combining more to

INTEREST, AMUSE AND GRATIFY,

Than any traveling exhibition in America. The public will remember that for the entire Consolidation, only a

SINGLE ADMISSION FEE IS CHARGED

The Company have been selected with the most scrupulous care from the very

ELITE OF THE PROFESSION

of EQUESTRIANS and GYMNASTS and contains the names of the most exalted of the many claimants of ARENIC DISTINCTION.

Among the hosts of Artists connected with this Colossal Enterprise, the following names are prominent:

GEO. W. DE HAVEN,

The Most Thorough, Practical, Efficient and Humane Horse Tamer on the Continent.

Mr De Haven will at each exhibition introduce his celebrated

Trained and Trick Horse "Pilot."

Mr. De Haven challenges the world to produce a better trained and Trick Horse than the one above named whose Great Equestrian Feats on his Flying barebacked Steed, have gained for him the classic title of WINGED MERCURY, as a Somersault Leaper. Mr Dutton has no equal, and is the Grand Leaper [illegible] from the Spring-board, defies competition.

MADAME WORLAND,

The Daring and Accomplished EQUESTRIENNE, in her Superb and Graceful Acts, introducing her favorite steed, "Gipsy Queen."

MR. WM. DUTTON,

MR. OLIVER BELL,

In his great specialty of throwing a Somersault through a Hoop, whose inner circumference is encircled with sharp pointed daggers. Mr. Bell's marvelous and intrepid feats beggar description.

THE MILLSON BROTHERS,

THE CHAMPION GYMNASTS.

The most accomplished ACROBATS and ATHLETES in the profession, will at each exhibition present a varied [illegible] of Gymnastic, Acrobatic and Muscular achievements, in their peculiar specialties, the MILLSON BROTHERS acknowledge no equal, and their marvelous performances are the most thrilling and exciting that can be witnessed at any exhibition.

MISS ANNIE WORLAND

The most accomplished and graceful artiste in the profession, will introduce at each exhibition some of her principal acts of artistic equestrianism. In her most difficult Pas-Poses, Pirouettes, leaping Banners, and other objects, she is equally talented.

MR P. H. SEAMON.

Our American Clown, Jester and Comic Vocalist, whose grace, dash and spirit have won for him the title of the Sparkle of the ring. Mr Seamon, for his originality, wit and humor, has been termed the Brasson of the ring.

MRS. OLIVER BELL.

The Renowned Premier Equestrienne, will appear in her chaste and principle acts. Mrs. Bell's brilliant and Exquisite Riding is beyond description.

MR. HORACE F. NICHOLS,

The very efficient, affable and courteous Master of Circle, will lend his efforts toward perfecting and insuring success of the entertainment.

MAST. HENRY.

The Juvinile Prodigy, in his wonderful exploits on the Horizontal bar.

La Fontaine Brothers,

HENRY & ALFRED.

These wonderful GYMNASTS and ACROBATS have been engaged at an enormous salary for the present season, in order that the patrons of the Imperial Circus may have an opportunity of witnessing their agility and skill.

MRS. H. F. NICHOLS,

Will also appear at the opening of each exhibition.

Mr. W. A. McArthur,

The Celebrated Jester, will divide the merriments of the ring with Mr. Seamon. Mr. McArthur's motto is "Laugh and Grow Fat.

LA PETTIE ANNIE,

In her daring and difficult feats on the Cords Perelluse or Slack Wire.

MR. WM. DUTTON and WILLIE MILSON,

Will appear in their Wonderful Double Somersault Act, each turning twice in the air before alighting.

In addition to the above, will be found the names of MESSRS. BURT, CARPENTER, FRANKLIN, HENDRICKS, LORRAINE, and a host of others.

TWO EXHIBITIONS DAILY

CHASTELLAR'S

WHITE LIQUID ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 30,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by

BERGER, SHUTTS & Co., Chemists,

AFFLICTED!

SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

MADAME REMINGTON, the world-renowned Astrologist and Somnambulistic Clairvoyant, while in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a perfect and life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, with date of marriage, occupation, leading traits of character, &c. This is no imposition, as testimonials without number can assert. By stating place of birth, age, disposition, color of eyes and hair, and enclosing fifty cents, and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture by return mail, together with desired information.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse; rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Disease of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the receipt for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, Free of Charge.

MANHOOD AND YOUTHFUL VIGOR are regained by Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines. Applicants for Agency should enclose stamps.

DR. SCHENCK'S

MANDRAKE PILLS.

A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all billous disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and billiary ducts, which are the cause of billous affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

FRIDAY, - - - - MAY 3, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD. - Editor and Pro'r

VERY UNEASY.

The St. Paul papers (the Press and Pioneer), appear to be very much exercised on the bond question. They seem to think that there is trouble brewing among the people, or at least they seem to have a faint conjecture that the people of the State, the hard working, tax paying people will have something to say about assuming the payment of nearly $4,000,000, being the amount, principal and interest, of the railroad bonds, fraudulently obtained from the State.

The St. Paul magnates seem to think that if they suggest that the people shall pay three or four million dollars to a gang of railroad speculators and swindlers, that the tax payers are bound to do it. The people will be very wicked and dishonest if they don't do it.

Well, Gentlemen of St. Paul, you may set your hearts at rest, in this matter. The people of this State have been defrauded and deceived too often, by the parties who now make this demand of them, and you may rest assured that they will not be deceived again. They may be betrayed as they have often been before, but they cannot be deceived, and will not be driven into the support of this measure. Besides this they well know that the whole thing relative to the issuing of these bonds, was a deceit and a swindle from the beginning.

If what we learn from the people of this part of the State is any indication of the popular feeling in other districts, then we judge that the act of the last legislature providing for the payment of these railroad bonds, will not receive the support of one fourth of the voters of the State. We believe that if all the newspapers backed up by the Governor and State officials, were to support this measure, it would be defeated at the polls, (as it ought to be) by a very decided majority.

We publish in this issue a communication from the pen of an able and well known writer and citizen of a neighboring county, upon this subject. We commend its careful perusal to our readers. We intend to fully ventilate this bill of abominations before the next election, not in a spirit of factious opposition, but in defence of the right, and for the purpose of attaining a just and equitable settlement of this question.

SEED WHEAT.

In our last issue, we corrected the public impression that Capt. Davidson had loaned 20,000 bushels of wheat to frontier settlers.—In a postscript,—written when our issue was half off, we mentioned the receipt of recent information that he would sell the wheat and take county orders at 12 per cent. interest.—Since then his agent, Mr. Valentine, has arrived in town with another proposition. Capt. Davidson prefers to make a donation of 20 per cent. of all moneys necessary for frontier relief. This offer is even more generous than the other, and much more practical. He has already deposited $500 in bank to the credit of the committee as a donation. To issue county orders would somewhat complicate their negotiation, as it is an unwarrantable stretch of authority to issue them at all for the purchase of seed wheat. We do not consider that any one is entitled to relief who is the owner of a farm and able to obtain credit, either by virtue of his property or friends.—The simple fact of being out of money is not sufficient to raise a case of charity. If it were, we should need "seed wheat" nearly every Saturday evening after paying off our hands. The persons who have no means of obtaining credit should alone receive assistance, and narrowed down to this class, our committee will be able to meet the necessities of all, with the money at their disposal and yet to be collected by voluntary contributions.

Sioux Treaty.

The Senate has ratified a treaty with the friendly tribes known as the Sissiton and Warpeton Sioux. It is not however the fraudulent treaty heretofore denounced in these columns, but is so much modified from that as to be relieved of its most objectionable features. It extends to the friendly tribes only, and their reservation is located near Devils Lake. We have reserved the articles of agreement for publication as soon as we have more room.

For The Union.

THE BOND QUESTION.

Our legislature, wisely or unwisely, have left it to the people of Minnesota to determine at the ballot box next fall whether they will give up the 500,000 acres of land donated them by congress for internal improvement purposes, and in addition consent to be taxed for State purposes, an amount equal to the revenue to be derived from the per cent of railroad earnings, in order that that revenue may be used with the avails of the said lands to liquidate the fraudulently issued five million loan bonds, issued to railroad companies, amounting in all to some two and a half million dollars. This question is one of importance to the people and should be carefully considered and settled upon principles of impartial justice. There are several points to be considered and it is to be hoped the subject may be fairly canvassed before the people vote upon the question. It is not a question that can be fairly discussed in a single newspaper article, and my only object in this is to call attention to the subject by a brief reference to one or two points that seem to require a careful examination.

The legality of the bonds was early questioned, and it is doubtless because their issue was regarded as illegal, irregular and informal that capitalists absolutely refused from the first to touch them at any price, while the State bonds upon which no such suspicion rested were readily sold at very near par.

The legislature which passed the loan amendment, tho' assuming to act in that capacity was no more a State Legislature than the preceding territorial legislature was, for there was no such State as Minnesota in the Union. The Governor approving it as Governor of Minnesota was no more the Governor of Minnesota then than now, for there was no such State in existence at the time. There was no such state as Minnesota in existence when the people voted to ratify the amendment. We had submitted a constitution to Congress, for its approval, which expressly prohibited the creation of a State debt exceeding a quarter of a million of dollars, a constitution which was then being considered by Congress and under which we were subsequently admitted. It was while this constitution was being considered by congress, that a bogus Governor elected by Indian votes and frauds that would tinge with the blush of shame the cheek of any thing but a "moccasin democrat," and a body of legislative pretenders assuming to act for a State not in existence, passed and approved this "bill of abominations" and rushed to the people for their approval, with the most solemn assurance that under no circumstances could they ever be called upon to pay one dollar of principal or interest; that they had taken the utmost care to protect them against any and every possible contingency that might arise, that it was in reality, as the people had a right to consider it, and the world was there by notified, the debt of the railroad companies, and the approval of the people was only asked as an expression of their confidence in the importance and value of their railroad schemes. Immediately on its passage and approval by our Indian made Governor, a seventy-five dollar recess was taken and every democratic member of the illegitimate body with every corrupt republican took the stump to din these arguments in the ears of a too credulous people. They struck at no promises in their preambulations over our sparsely settled prairies. Machine shops and depots were promised to every town site containing a blacksmith shop and a log tavern while every pre emption claimant was assured he should have a way station and side track on his quarter section: with all these assurances and by voting boat loads of strangers at Winona and other points on the river in a light poll, a majority was obtained for the bill, or amendment. Probably more illegal voting was done to carry that question than was ever done at any election in Minnesota, save perhaps the election when the democratic legislative pretenders and bogus Governor that passed and approved it, were elected. Congress subsequently admitted the State under a constitution positively restricting the debt to a quarter of a million, and it would be singular if a congress which approved such a constitution would have admitted a territory containing less than 150,000 people into the Union reckless enough to start out with a state debt twenty times greater.

It is a well known fact that so general was the conviction in the public mind that these bonds were illegally and unconstitutionally authorized and issued that no capitalists would touch them as an investment at any price, while the State bonds for $250,000 met with a ready sale. And when the pliant democratic officials who had been mainly instrumental in their issue, attempted to aid the railroad companies in carrying out the swindle still farther by accepting them as good security for a banking basis, their odor was so offensive that an armfull of the currency would not buy a hungry man's dinner outside the State. Now with all these facts known to the people, then and now—known to the railroad companies who asked and urged this action upon the people and who managed to draw more than half these bonds from the state officials without completing a single mile of railway, who have, after repeated failures to fulfill their contracts, obtained concession after concession from the State, secured not only their original land grant, but large additions of swamp lands from the State, and known also to the public; to every man who holds any of these bonds—are the people, burdened as they are with a load of taxation and debt incurred to put down the late democratic rebellion, legally, morally or justly bound to bear additional burdens to pay the whole or any portion of said bonds. Efforts are made to excite sympathy for bond holders by claiming that many of those are innocent purchasers. All the facts connected with the origin of the scheme, and the issue of the bonds, were too well and too widely known at the time, to render such an argument or appeal effective. The warning to all that it was the railroad Companies' and not the peoples' debt was too plainly and emphatically given to leave any room for deception on that score. The larger portion of these bonds are now in the hands of those who drew them from the State as members of, or connected with, some of the various companies to whom they were issued. Selah Chamberlain is reported to hold nearly one million of them. He holds the railroad, the lands and franchises of a road for and on account of which they or a large portion of them were issued. Had he fulfilled his contract with the State he would have held them on other roads. Those who hold bonds not now or at any previous time connected with the roads hold bonds they have either bought on speculation at very low figures or have taken from debtors in the same manner, hoping perhaps that the railroad influence would some time or other, be sufficiently powerful in the State to force their payment. Whether that time has come now or the "good time coming" to bond holders, is yet in the distant future the people will determine next fall.

The people of Minnesota are already heavily taxed, the war taxes are sufficiently burdensome without adding any additional tax for bond holders at present. Our charitable institutions are becoming absolutely necessary and must be built and supported wholly by direct taxes, for the simple reason that past legislatures have seemed to vie with each other in liberality to railroad corporations, in downright anxiety to place in the hands of these companies every acre of the public domain that could possibly come into the possession of the State, for any purpose, and in memorial to Congress for what yet remains to the general government, and direct taxation for all these purposes is the only resort of the people. Of course the advocates of this measure will claim that the people are not taxed for this purpose; but what is the difference between being taxed to support the State government, or build asylums for the unfortunate, or being taxed to pay the railroad frauds. If the revenue from railroad earnings is $100,000 for 1867, and is appropriated to payment of bonds the people must be taxed a like amount to pay State expenses or build asylums. Ought they to do this with the present outlook? The question is an important one and should be carefully considered. There are other points which with those I have mentioned it is to be hoped will be more thoroughly and fully discussed before the election takes place.

A PLEA TO PARENTS.

If I recollect aright, I saw an article in one of the papers, not long since upon the subject of "Lyceums". The writer appeared to be extremely anxious that a Debating Society should be organized, especially for the benefit of the "rising generation." At that time, there was a Society of this class in this place; though had it relied upon the energy displayed by the larger class, it would have never been organized.

However, viewed as it was by even parents and guardians, as a light affair, not worth taking notice of, it did flourish and increase in numbers for a considerable time. At length growing discouraged by the want of encouragement, the members despaired of success, and adjourned pro tem.

Why is it, that people manifest no greater desire to see how their children are progressing? They send them to school, or to society but never come themselves, to see how they get along. Surely it cannot be from a lack of judgment, it must be from a want of energy.

Night after night, we met at the Society rooms, prepared by a vast deal of time and study, for the exercises of the evening. To be sure, nothing very eloquent could be expected; but the sight of a kind and encouraging face, would have made us desirous of pleasing, and hearing encouraging words would have inspired us with confidence. But no! "We were all alone in our glory." Having no audience, we grew careless, and came unprepared, with ready excuses for turning the usual exercises into Charades, &c.

We are about to re-organize, and if parents and friends think it of enough consequence to favor us with their presence, we should be happy to greet them. Come and be surprised at the talent displayed.

DINGSHINE.

The author of the above although not at present a member of the Society, takes great interest therein. But since the above was received, the Society held a meeting, and instead of re-organizing, as the author anticipated, adjourned sine die. This, however, does not detract from the truthfulness of the communication.—ED.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 3, 1867.

FOR RENT.—Three nice plastered rooms and a summer kitchen in the second story of my boot and shoe store. Stairs in front and rear. Also a pump in the kitchen, which saves carrying water up stairs. Apply to

B. KOHLER.

Mankato, May 2, 1867. no43tf

—Millers ferry on the Le Sueur is in successful operation.

—Smith & Humphrey are receiving new goods by almost every boat.

—The building committee of the Baptist Church have had a settlement with the Trustees, and report receipts up to May 1st at $1,875,75 and expenditures the same.

FERRY.—The ferry on the Blue Earth is running, and the bridges near town were repaired last Monday. Travel is therefore resumed.

—Rev. T. Marshall goes to New York next week to attend the Presbyterian Synod. He will be absent about six weeks. The pulpit will be partially supplied during his absence.

HARD FARE.—A person from Redwood reports that a family near Fort Ridgely, had been subsisting on slippery-elm bark for a number of days during the late freshets. It was impossible to obtain immediate relief, on account of the condition of the roads and streams.

VALLEY ROAD.—We are informed that the Valley Road whose West St. Paul terminus has been under water is again in running order and making regular trips to Belle Plaine. Burbank & Co.'s agent says that stages will soon be put on between that point and Mankato and run in connection with the cars.

STEAM BOAT ARRIVALS.—April 20th Julia, April 27th Mollie, April 28th Knapp, April 29th Tiber, Flora and St. Anthony Falls, April 30th Mollie and Ariel, May 1st Julia, May 2d Ariel from New Ulm.

TO HOUSEKEEPERS.—Weigh your Saleratus when you buy a paper. You will find D. B. De Land & Co's Best Chemical is full weight and that others are not. Try all things and hold fast to that which is best and true on weight and quality both.

Dr. Pierce says that those persons wishing dental work done by him this time must come immediately for he will stay but about ten days longer.

THE MEASLES.—This loathsome disease has full sway in the city at this time. Saffron and sage are in great demand. Many houses are become hospitals, ours among the number. It is fortunate that the measles only gives a solitary call.—Minneapolis Chronicle.

—Rev. Mr. Pryse will resume his lectures upon the "Evidences of Christianity" next Sabbath evening, at the usual hour of evening service at the Methodist Church.

MITE SOCIETY.—The ladies of the Methodist Church will hold their Mite Society, at the basement of the Church on Wednesday evening next. Refreshments will be served. A general invitation is extended.

VILLAGE ELECTION.—Our charter election for town officers takes place next Tuesday. A caucus of the voters will convene on Monday evening, at Shoemaker's Hall, to nominate a "people's" ticket. Let everybody turn out and have a voice in the nominations. Last year the "people's" ticket settled the policy to be pursued in respect to public grounds. This spring we know of no issue except retrenchment, and economy in village expendatures. Let us nominate and elect men pledged to the strictest economy, as the burden of taxation at best is grievous to be borne.

DOGS.—A neighbor inquires what has become of the dog license law. If it is dead, it should be "waked up and buried dacently." If not, it should be enforced. In other cities we hear of mad dogs running rampant in the streets, and their owners defying any body to shoot them. Dogs in our town are more plenty than currency, and about three fourths of them ought to be retired from circulation. They have no more business in the streets than loose cattle, horses or hogs.

MONTANA HEADQUARTERS.—Capt. P. B. Davy has arrived in town and is stopping at the Clifton House. He has opened a headquarters office next door to Z. Paddock's grocery store, where he may be seen during business hours. He will remain here two weeks, to meet those desiring to join his train. After that his time will be divided between Mankato and Minneapolis and when absent Mr. H. Young will occupy the office and act in his stead.

MAILS.—We receive a mail nearly as often as twice a week from St. Paul. The Government presumes we receive one daily. Four daily Chronicles, and the same number of St. Paul papers, came to hand in one mail. The contractors were doubtless waiting for mail matter to accumulate so that they could bring it all at one load. Our readers complain bitterly of this negligence. Wonder if the Postmaster has complained to the Government. Experience proves that a word from him quickens the laches of the mail carriers wonderfully.

THE WEATHER.—Immediately after the 28th of March we enjoyed 17 days of continued sunshine. Since that time the weather has alternated between cold, rainy, and spring like days, but is very backward in reaching the warm side of spring. To have four or five days of rainy weather and as many more of cold, twice or three times a week, is, to say the least, not very clever on the part of the barometer, when we've done all we could to make it pleasant. It is a satisfaction, however, to know that nearly every editor north of Memphis have been equally as unsuccessful as we in warming up the country in their respective localities.

NOTEWORTHY.—We are informed that David J. Davis, of Butternut Valley, recently thrashed about two hundred bushels of wheat and immediately trusted it out to his neighbors for seed, payment to be made next fall. We also learn that Ira Anis, of Mapleton, refused a speculator $2,00 per bushel for his wheat saying it should not leave the county as long as his neighbors needed seed. He has since distributed it to them at $1,50 per bushel to be paid in the fall. These incidents of generosity are not only commendable but worthy of imitation.

FIRE.—About half past seven o'clock on Tuesday morning, a fire broke out in the jail, the part occupied by the Sheriff. As soon as the alarm was given, the fire engine was promptly on the way, but owing to the great distance, the fire was extinguished, without any material damage, before the engine arrived at the scene of action. The origin of the fire was from a chimney. So far this year we have been very fortunate, this being the first, and it is hoped the last.

CIRCUS.—In our last issue and in this, we publish an advertisement of Geo. W. De Haven's Imperial Circus, which will show here Monday, May 13th, in the afternoon and evening. This is the same circus that was to show here last spring, but failed on account of the burning of their canvass. They present a long list of good actors and actresses, and it will no doubt be a splendid treat to us.

BRICK MAKING.—Gregg & Co., received their brick machine by the Mollie Mohler on Saturday last, and are preparing their yard for operation: The cost of the machine delivered here was $1,036, and the teams and other stock necessary to carry on the yard will cost at least $1,000 more. To this must be added $500 for current expenses, so that the undertaking involves a capital of $2,509. The machinery is known to work well, and the only question of success is, whether the demand for brick will be equal to the supply. The partnership consists of J. W. Gregg, of Chaska, L. H. Gregg, late of Plainview, and C. E. Griswold of Mankato. The former is largely interested in the manufacture of brick at Chaska and supplies many of the river towns of the State. He will therefore be here only occasionally, and the business will be under the control of his brother, L. H. Gregg.

We understand that Mather & Mc Queen are making preparations to commence making brick at their yards in lower town as soon as the weather will permit.

FOUND IN THE RIVER.—Mr William Miller informs us that a new two-horse wagon was found last week in the Le Sueur river, a half mile above the mouth of the Cobb, by Messrs Knapp and McCarty. The wagon was embedded in sand, and these men took off three of the tires and the tongue and sold them to Ira Donaldson at the Le Sueur ferry. Any person so unfortunate as to lose a wagon by the flood will do well to call on Mr. Miller who will give him further information on the subject.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By Our Own Reporter.

THE FRESHET.—Our spring freshet has passed, and while the melting of the snow from off the face of the earth gladdens the heart of the farmer, it has left its track along our rivers, in the destruction of much property, to the sorrow of many manufacturers and gives an evidence that there is a power higher than man's, and a power that man cannot fully control. In Garden City the destruction of property is but very little, except the removing of the "boyish structure called a Bridge, planned by some of the knowing ones' of our county. The piers standing quartering in the stream were pushed out by almost the first piece of ice that came down the river, without stopping the onward progress of the ice. The fault was not in the builder, as we are informed that it was built according to the plan. Be that as it may it has gone and we hope it may learn the people of our county a lesson that will benefit them in the future. The damage to the dams has not been very great. The middle of Harrington's was taken out, but we understand that G. W. Goodall has taken the contract to repair it for the sum of $500, and is to have it completed by next Saturday night. Quayle's dam is but slightly injured and will soon be repaired.

IMMIGRATION.—Already the stream of immigration has begun to flow into our town, and there is a prospect of soon doubling the number of our population.

THE Building season has commenced in earnest and quite a number of buildings are in process of erection.

TRADE.—Is rather dull in consequence of a failure in getting a supply of goods in town previous to the breaking up of the river. J. H. Thompson has received a few goods since the freshet, and nearly all our merchants have goods in Mankato awaiting transportation, but the roads, or rather the lack of roads from your great city to South Bend, prevent our receiving them in the proper season. We think that the people of South Bend would do well to erect a warehouse so that merchants in the south part of the county can get their goods in the spring of the year, if there is to be no effort made to erect bridges between those two towns.

WATONWAN FALLING.—In a few days teams will be able to ford the Watonwan at this place, without danger, some have already done so at the lower ford.

—THE Rochester Post has a news item stating that the Minnesota river had overflowed its banks at Mankato and submerged Le Sueur. Errors frequently creep into the papers, and this is one. Mankato is several feet above the highest water known to civilization, and has not been at all disturbed by the flood. There is one house built on the lower flat near the river, which was partly under water, but it forms no part of Mankato. As to Le Sueur, it is located at least 50 feet above the highest water mark, and therefore was not submerged.

☞ By a circular from the Hon. Mark H. Dunnell, Superintendent of public instruction we learn that he has opened his office in St. Paul, and is prepared for duty. Communications are invited from county superintendents and others relative to the subject of education. About the first of June the Superintendent proposes to make a tour of the State, with a view to organizing teachers' institutes, &c.—Leader.

--As spring approaches, our farmer friends begin to look around for the best plows. It seems to be very difficult to find a plow that scours in this rich Minnesota soil. TO DR. HOSTETTER:—Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was taken with the dyspepsia a year ago last March, and, for a period of eight months, was one of the most miserable creatures you ever beheld, not being able either to eat, drink or sleep, and was compelled to walk the floor incessantly. I was nearly deprived of my reason, and hope had entirely left me, all the efforts made for my recovery having proved fruitless.

By the first of November, 1865, I had become so weak and feeble that I could scarcely stand alone, and, to all appearance, would soon die. At this time (having read your advertisement,) my wife prevailed upon me to try your Bitters. A bottle was procured, and, strange to say, I soon commenced recovering. I have taken four bottles, and am enjoying as good health now as could be expected for one of my age (about sixty years). I have no doubt that it was your Bitters alone, under Divine Providence, that effected this wonderful cure.

New York Election.

NEW YORK, April, 23.—The election of senatorial delegates to the constitutional convention in this city resulted in the choice of nineteen Democrats and one Republican, the latter by less than ten majority.

Thirty-two delegates at large are elected throughout the State, of whom sixteen are of each party.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The Tribune estimates the majority for the Republican ticket throughout the State at 20,000. In the Fourth District of this city, Garvin, Lawrence, Burrill and Daley, all Democrats, are elected. If the First, Eleventh and Fourteenth have gone Democratic, and the Twelfth Republican, as we have reason to expect, the Convention will stand 97 Republicans to 63 Democrats.

Jeff Davis.

A Washington dispatch says that it is after all a matter of doubt as to whether Judge Underwood will essay the trial of Jefferson Davis at the May term of the United States district court. If the term be adjourned without such trial the President has determined to at once release Mr. Davis from confinement at Fortress Monroe, on nominal bail. The President has in his possession a letter, signed by leading Republicans, asking that Mr. Davis be released: also a proposition from Horace Greeley, offering to be one of Mr. Davis' bondsmen.

Alabama Claims.

The Tribune's special says: "I learn from an authoritative source that to the last communication of the English Government on the subject of the Alabama claims, received some days ago, our Government has replied. Mr. Adams was instructed to respectfully decline the acceptance of the propositions made by the British Government. This leaves the Alabama matter where it started, without any propositions from either party pending.

FROM MEXICO.

CAPTURE OF PUEBLA.

HAVANA, April 22.—Vera Cruz letters confirm the capture of Puebla by the Liberals by assault, on the 2d inst. Diaz lost about 2,000 killed and wounded, and the Imperialists about 1,000. No quarter was given. Diaz had sent a force against Vera Cruz. It was expected that it would capitulate. The Imperialists made another sortie from Queretaro, and were defeated.

MORE ABOUT PUEBLA.

NEW YORK, April 24.—The steamer Columbia from Havana has arrived. The line of steamers between France and Mexico is about to be discontinued. Advices from Vera Cruz give the report that the Imperialist had re-taken Puebla, but it is discredited. Liberal accounts state that Diaz had defeated an Imperial force at Venta de Cordora, between Puebla and Mexico, which was sent to aid in the defense of Puebla.

Vera Cruz letters say, that Diaz lost 2,000 men in the assault on Puebla, which was taken; the Imperialists lost 1,000. He had previously made two demands for the surrender, which were insultingly rejected. In compliance with his threat, if the demand was not promptly acceded to, all the officers defending the city, from the Lieutenants up, were executed.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousand of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY. The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE CO.,
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison with any or all machines.

SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC.

This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyme, the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal Office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption for his days for visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half-dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE CONdition of a certain mortgage executed by Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton to James Miller, dated on the 18th day of March 1865, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county on the 15th day of April 1865, in book "F" of Mortgages, on page 185, whereby the said Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton sold and conveyed to the said James Miller his heirs and assigns forever the following described real property lying and being in Blue Earth county to wit: The northwest quarter of section fifteen in township one hundred and five north of Range twenty-eight west: to secure the payment of four hundred dollars according to the condition of two certain promissory notes bearing even date with said mortgage, one for one hundred and fifty dollars and interest due one year from date, and the other for two hundred and fifty dollars and interest due two years from date, upon which said mortgage and notes there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred and fifty-seven and 16-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue and in pursuance of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such cases made and provided the above described premises will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county in Mankato on Saturday the 25th day of May.

A. D. 1867, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day to satisfy the amount due upon said notes and mortgage with the interest, taxes and costs allowed by law and twenty dollars as solicitors fees, stipulated in said mortgage.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 10, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r

MINNESOTA NOT STARVING.

The ebbing tide tends eastward and the western shore is bare. Grain takes the same direction and the western border is the first to appear above the surface, and like fish on dry land the population must struggle for life until the flow of the tide brings back what rightfully belongs to them. Reports are circulating in eastern papers that Minnesota is in a starving condition. That grain, throughout the State is scarce, no one questions, but our crops have doubtless been as good and better than in the States further east. But the unusual high prices in the eastern market and consequent high prices here, has induced our farmers to sell all they could possibly spare, and before we were aware of it, the grain was all in the hands of eastern speculators, except perhaps a few thousand bushels which the millers in various parts of the State have been able to obtain. Many of the merchant mills are now filling eastern contracts which they cannot avoid. Others, previous to any knowledge of the real scarcity of wheat, had shipped their flour to Chicago to be sold on commission. We know of one mill at Chaska, on this river, which at the opening of navigation held 3,500 barrels of flour, and at St. Paul 8,000 barrels were shipped the first week of navigation. At other points on the river exportation goes on at the same ratio. The wheat is leaving Mankato daily by steamer, simply because the owners can realize more by shipping it than our millers feel justified in paying to hold during the summer demand. The price is not always governed by the demand. If the coming crop in the middle and western States augers a good harvest, it will flatten the market before the grain is ripe, and our western millers are not the men to buy much wheat at the inflated prices, which are under the direct influence of the incoming crops. Hence the wheat and the flour, except what is necessary for immediate use, must go below, until the demand turns the tide, and brings it back. The scarcity of wheat in Minnesota is therefore not attributable to the failure of crops, but to the drain made upon us by eastern States, where their crops were, in proportion to the population, far more inadequate to the demand than they have been in this State. We have now plenty of grain for immediate use, but if before August the necessity of importing arises, it will be because we have been too clever to our neighboring States, and passed over to them more than their share of the limited supply of grain in the country.

EIGHT HOUR SYSTEM.

The Legislature of Illinois, last winter passed a law making eight hours a days work where no contract is made to the contrary, the law to take effect on the 1st day of May, 1867. To facilitate the practical induction of the law, a grand demonstration was made in Chicago and other places on the 1st of this month. Nearly every branch of mechanics was represented in the Chicago display, and more than five thousand persons joined the procession. They marched through the streets of the city, and each class of mechanics formed an independent company, headed by a band of music and decorated with all manner of devices and streamers. Many of the workmen of the city did not participate in the demonstration, which fact, caused the eight hour men to visit the work shops and compel them to quit. Especially was this the case on the day after the demonstration, and nearly all the factories were compelled to shut down for the day. Manufacturers think they cannot afford to let their machinery lie still two hours per day, otherwise they would be willing to pay for eight hours labor and close the shops early. Some of the strickers demand ten hours pay for eight hours labor, while others would compromise by taking nine hours pay, and still others are willing to take eight hours pay for eight hours labor. There is still another class, quite respectable and large, that favor the old ten hour system.

Laborers thus divided will not be able to effect the full purpose of the law, and therefore the whole attempt will doubtless fail, and the law become a dead letter. The great inequality between the profits of labor and capital is becoming a source of just complaint, and though this expedient should fail, the laboring classes should not despair of ultimate success in equalizing the profits of labor with the profits of capital. What laboring men most want is better pay, and not necessarily less labor. Nine hours would be a judicious mean between the present system and the eight hour law. But then the wages of the day laborer, and the profits of all mechanical and farm labor, are not commensurate with the immense gains which capitalists receive upon their investments. No matter then with what weapons monopolies and rich corporations are fought, so that the bone and sinew of the country can be saved from the oppression of aristocratic wealth. McCormick the great reaper man returned an income for last year of $169,640, and his immense wealth is attributable to the fact that his inventions at an early day were protected by patents granted by Congress. A reward of a man's genius should not work an oppressive taxation upon the people. The American Express Company declares a dividend of 300 per cent. on the stock. Railroads by consolidation have seized the whole country in their grasp and capital in various forms, is attempting to bind the people hand and foot. An amendment of railroad charters, and usury laws, and enactments of a general nature which will place large corporations, which are creatures of the law, under its control, will strike nearer the root of the evil, and the people will breath freer because their burdens will be lighter.

FRONTIER MATTERS.

We learn from our frontier relief committee, that letters have been received from Mr. Little, who was appointed to go to Martin and Jackson counties, and ascertain the wants of the people, stating that in Tenhassen and Chain Lake Center, Martin county, a great deal of destitution exists, not only of food but in some instances, of clothing. Ten or twelve families in Tenhassen were entirely destitute of flour, some living on boiled fish, an other had only a pint of beans in the house, and another only a quart of boiled potatoes. This distress is almost entirely confined to homestead settlers who had no money to commence farming with. Mr. Little is now visiting Jackson county. Capt. Kennedy, State agent, went to Martin county yesterday. Our committee yesterday bought 3,600 pounds of flour and sent it to that county. Our funds will soon be exhausted, and it is highly important that further relief should be given at once. We believe that the Governor would be justified in extending State aid to settlers under such emergencies, and we trust that he will do so without delay.

FRONTIER DESTITUTIONS.

EDITOR MANKATO UNION.—Reading some time ago in your paper, of the efforts being made by the people of Mankato and elsewhere to relieve the distressed and destitute settlers of Jackson county, and particularly that a gentleman of Mankato had been sent to obtain definite information in regard to the people's necessities, I am greatly surprised and pained when just receiving letters from there, to find they contain no information of the whereabouts of the gentleman; and I am sadly afraid that like the devilish and inhuman murders at New Ulm last winter, after going the rounds of the Press, and passing for a "Nine days wonder" generally, the sore trials of the destitute settlers of the Frontier who are really deserving, will be almost forgotten. I know there are people on the Des Moines who will suffer ere long, unless relieved speedily.

Corn is worth $4,00 per bushel, and flour $8,50 per hundred, and the necessary amount of seed grain is not in that part of the country and they can't get it. "Jack Frost" the relentless, swooped all last autumn, and there they are in need.

Now Mr. Editor I don't know but I'm getting scared before I'm hurt, for it may be that the almost universal high water has detained the Mankato gentleman, or one of a dozen improbable things have turned up to hinder the good work, but really I cannot help feeling a deep solicitude for those whom I know to be worthy people, and in very straitened circumstances. Will you Mr. Editor please take the matter in hand and keep the subject before the minds of the people, and by so doing win for yourself, if not riches and honor, the heartfelt gratitude at least, of those who would gladly help themselves but cannot.

Hoping that you will pardon a stranger for the trouble he causes you, I will only say that if I am presuming upon your good nature it is for the sake of those who are worthy of christian kindness.

Respectfully Yours;
ORIN BELKNAP, Jr.

Garden City, April 30, 1867.

FROM GARDEN CITY.

By Our Own Reporter.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mrs. Wilson the wife of R. K. Wilson, Esq., of this town, dropped down dead about noon on Saturday last, while busily engaged in getting dinner for her family. Dr. Welcome was immediately called, but life was extinct when he arrived. Mrs. Wilson was a quiet unassuming woman whom every one that knew her, loved and respected. She was one of the best of neighbors, kind and affectionate to all around her. This sudden affliction falls heavily upon her family, and the neighborhood at large.

FILLING UP.—Our merchants are all replenishing their low stocks of goods. New goods are constantly arriving, at Thomsons, William's Boynton & Cheeny's. Clark & Son, and S. C. Wellcome & Co. have not only a good variety of Drugs & Medicines on hand but have also filled a part of their store with fresh groceries and provisions confectionaries canned and dried fruit, which they offer for sale at the lowest cash price. Mr. Davis from N. Y. has rented Frazer & Dily's store and is filling it with hardware, and will open in a few days at prices to suit purchasers.

FROM MAPLETON.

By our own Reporter.

We have had the highest water this spring known to the oldest settler. The damage has been small, but such as it is we will record.

Mapleton bridge was repaired by the settlers in two days. Whitney's bridge broke in the center and floated down stream leaving the buttments standing. Amount of damage at present unknown. Spickerman's mill dam was flanked and some cutting done around the end, but nothing serious.

School houses are being built and finished in several districts throughout the town. District number 36 is building one costing $900, to be finished and in use this summer. The Congregational Church, just over the line, in Sterling, we understand is to be completed this summer. Being situated so near, we all feel an interest in its progress and completion.

Farmers have commenced spring's work. The vanguard of immigration has already set in and we expect a lively and prosperous season.

April 29, 1867.

—The Senate has adjourned, leaving a few offices unfilled, by reason of the perversity of the President, in refusing to appoint loyal men, and the noble determination of the Senate to confirm no others.

—Only one-third as many dry and fancy goods have passed through the Boston Custom House so far this year as during the same period of last.

—Mr. Frank Cowan, son of ex-Senator Cowan, of Pennsylvania, has been appointed special Secretary of President Johnson.

—The debt of the United States was reduced six millions of dollars during April. Thirty millions of 7.30's and compound interest notes were converted into 5.20's during the same period. The treasury holds one hundred and thirteen millions in specie.

—Gen. Carl Schurz has purchased an interest in the Westliche Post, of St. Louis, and will hereafter become joint editor with Emil Pretorious.

ST. LOUIS, May 2.—The Democrat's Jefferson City despatch says that Governor Fletcher and a large number of leading men of the Northwestern States are corresponding with a view to securing the nomination of Secretary Stanton for the next President.

—Sioux City papers say that it is now established beyond a doubt that the report of the Fort Buford massacre is a canard. Persons arriving at Sioux City from the fort, say possitively that it is all a lie.

—Four millions of dollars are to be expended for a new State capitol building at Albany.

FORT MONROE, April 25.—Senator Wilson called on Jeff Davis this morning and spent half an hour in friendly conversation, reviving old memories and times when they were associated in the Senate, in course of which Davis expressed the cordial feelings he entertained toward many old friends. The prospects of war in Europe and recent improvements in military warfare were discussed, but no allusion was made to political affairs in this country.

HELMBOLD'S CONCENTRATED EXTRACT BUCHU Is the Great Diuretic.
Helmbold's Concentrated Extract Sarsaparilla Is the Great Blood Purifier.
Both are prepared according to rules of Pharmacy and Chemistry, and are the most active that can be made.

CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES,

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all billious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutricious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhoea they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. [2nd w. ea. mo. 1 yr,

MADAME REMINGTON, the world-renowned Astrologist and Somnambulistic Clairvoyant, while in a clairvoyant state, delineates the very features of the person you are to marry, and by the aid of an instrument of intense power, known as the Psychomotrope, guarantees to produce a perfect and life-like picture of the future husband or wife of the applicant, with date of marriage, occupation, leading traits of character, &c. This is no imposition, as testimonials without number can assert. By stating place of birth, age, disposition, color of eyes and hair, and enclosing fifty cents, and stamped envelope addressed to yourself, you will receive the picture by return mail, together with desired information.

HELMBOLD'S EXTRACT BUCHU and Improved Rose Wash cures secret and delicate disorders in all their stages, at little expense, little or no change in diet, no inconvenience and no exposure. It is pleasant in taste and odor, immediate in its action, and free from all injurious properties.

☞A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. MANHOOD AND YOUTHFUL VIGOR are regained by Helmbold's Extract Buchu.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 10, 1867.

—Pat. Kennedy was arrested on Wednesday last and committed to Jail by Justice Coon for stealing a ham and some garden seed from the store of Howe & Everett.

—W. L. Coon, Justice, and Sheriff Walbridge have removed their offices to Lee.s building, up stairs, opposite Bradley's.

—Prof. Stuart has removed his school from Higgin's building to the Baptist Church.

SECESSION.—Secede from every name and kind of Saleratus except the Best Chemical Saleratus. This is the kind to use on every occasion, for it is always uniform and perfect and always holds out weight.

PERSONAL.—Mr. Green, editor of the Winona Democrat. was in this city on Monday last and made us a brief call. He says that the Democrat will be issued as a daily in a few weeks. The Connecticut election has doubtless given him fresh courage and confidence in the ultimate success of his paper and party:

TAKE PARTICULAR NOTICE.—That if you want anything in the way of Clothing, Hats, or Caps, with a full, new and complete Stock to select from, of all the latest Styles and patterns, and as Cheap as the Cheapest, go to the Clothing Emporium of Randall & Smith.

Don't forget that you can find a splendid stock of Cloths, Cassimeres, Vestings, and Tailors Trimmings, and Mac. to cut and make them up in the best style, and most substantial manner at the Clothing Emporium of Randall & Smith.

—We shall attend to the letter of Mr. Quayle, published in the last issue of the Record, next week.

SEE the advertisement of N. Finch entitled "Famine." No trouble about supplying the public with flour and corn meal. He has also a splendid lot of pine lumber. He deals fairly and sells cheap. Give him a call.

MAILS.—Orders came on Tuesday evening last, to Mr. Wm. Gidley, stage agent at this place, to start four-horse coaches on Wednesday morning, between here and Belle Plaine to run on regular time to the cars. We hope this arrangement will put an end to the miserable derangement of the St. Paul mails.

—Wilkinson & Woolfolk have removed their law office to the rooms in the new post office building, second story.

—Messrs. Hunt & Gault, are opening a new drug store in the building formerly owned by Porter Brothers.

—Another millinery establishment is to be opened in Fowler's building, next door to Record office. Mr. Fowler retains a window where he will continue the jewelers business.

—The Criminal Court of the District of Columbia has decided, that the trial of John H. Surratt, the conspirator, should commence on the 27th instant.

PETERSON'S MAGAZINE for June, is an unusually fine number, even for this popular and elegant magazine. It has a beautiful steel engraving, entitled "The Wild Flowers in the Wood;" for sale at Smith & Humphrey's.

—A special meeting of Mankato Fire Co. No. 1 will be held at the house of the Company, on Saturday evening, the 11th of May, at 6½ P. M.

—Griebel Brother, opposite our office have just received their first installment of summer boots and shoes for men, boys, ladies and misses. They keep the latest styles, from the finest balmoral to the heaviest brogan. Work of all kinds done to order with neatness and dispatch. Call in and examine the new goods and you will be suited.

CIRCUS.—Remember that De Haven's mammoth circus will exhibit at Mankato next Monday, the 13th inst., afternoon and evening. Preceding the entertainment Miss Annie Warland will walk from the ground to the top of the pavillion on a wire. This feat may be seen by every body, free of charge.

NEW BOOTS AND SHOES.—Leo Lamm has just received a new stock of boots and shoes for summer wear. He is also prepared to furnish boots and shoes suitable for the Montana Expedition. Give him a call, in the brick block lower town. He keeps as good a stock as there is in the city.

FROM THIS COUNTY.—We hear from Mapleton, Vernon Center and other towns, that the seeding of small grains is progressing quite well, and that the work will be nearly finished this week. Farmers are in good spirits and make no complaint, except that hay is somewhat scarce, on account of the length of time they have been obliged to feed stock. They have reserved enough wheat for home consumption, and every thing they have to sell commands a good price.

RUN AWAY.—Last Tuesday a span of horses attached to an empty wagon, belonging to W. Morris, took fright at a steamboat lying at the levee, and started up Frontstreet at full speed, causing every body and vehicles to beat a hasty retreat and give them a clear track. They however were brought up standing on 3d street without any damage. Persons should be very careful and not allow their teams to get away from them.

INSTALLED.—At a meeting of the Good Templar's Lodge of this city, on Monday evening last, the following officers were installed:

W. C. T.—S. A. Gillam,
W. V. T.—H. J. Tyner,
P. W. C. T.—E. L. Hall,
W. S.—J. Marshall,
W. F. S.—George Maxfield,
W. T.—Emma J. Shaubut,
W. M.—R. W. Beebe,
W. I. G.—Mattie Hall,
W. O. G.—J. W. Karmony,
W. C.—J. G. Craven,
W. A. S.—Clara Hersey,
W. D. M.—Genie Van Brunt,
R. H. S.—Carrie Pease.
L. H. S.—Mary Thornton.

IMPORTING CORN.—Messrs Loveland & Harrington have received, by steamer Hudson, 2,500 bushels of corn which was purchased in Illinois and shipped to this point for sale. A part of it will be milled at Garden City, and the owners expect to be able to sell the meal at $3,50 per hundred. The present rate is $4,50. The frost last fall came much earlier than ever before, and injured the native corn, so that our supply is limited. Add to this the fact that new comers are consuming in large quantities flour and meal, and that every spare kernal has been sold, because the price was high in the eastern market, and consequently high here, and it is not surprising that there is but little grain in the State.

ELECTION RESULT.—The people's ticket, for village officers, was elected almost without opposition. Anti-park men were very scarce throughout the day, and as they had surrendered the guns in anticipation of a defeat upon a fair fight, the vote was small but highly satisfactory to the park men. We give the vote as follows:

THE PARK TICKET.

FOR TRUSTEES—Jacob Bierbauer 323, W. H. Shepard 315, J. Q. A. Marsh 313.
" CLERK—E. D. B. Porter 324.
" TREASURER—Geo. A. Clarke 324.
" MARSHALL—L. C. Johnson 235.

OPPOSITION TICKET.

FOR TRUSTEES—J. J. Shaubut 8, Clark Keyser 2, Jacob Pfaff 1.
" CLERK—Ed. Bradley 1.
" TREASURER—A. C. Barney 2.
" MARSHALL—Sam. Tate 91.

FREE FERRY.

On the question of maintaining a free ferry during the summer across the Minnesota river, 213 votes were cast in favor, and 77 against it. It is contemplated, we understand, to have a free bridge for the winter months.

ARRIVED.—Miss Lucy Mc Kinney has received her assortment of millinery goods from Boston, and opened them in the 2d story of Mark's store. Her selection of flowers, is said, by competent judges, to be the best ever brought to Mankato. She is also prepared to make dresses in the latest style, and to give the ladies "fits." Her rooms are at the farther end of the hall, but it is useless to give further directions, as the rush to see her beautiful goods shows that the public are not ignorant of her whereabouts. We bespeak for her a full share of public patronage.

BURGLARY, JAIL—RESCUE.—DROWNING.—On the 26th of April last, Charles Johnson, in the Mankato jail for trial, for obtaining goods under false pretences, and D. W. Fuller from Faribault County, committed for stealing, broke out and took a skiff about midnight and started down river. About three miles below town they upset and Johnson clung to a snag, and finally reached shore. As they struggled in the water, Fuller was heard to exclaim "Oh, my God!" and this is the last ever heard of him. Johnson after reaching the shore, called loudly for Fuller and walked along the bank of the river. Fuller would doubtless have reached the bank had he been above water. The [illegible] is [illegible] that he was drowned. Johnson called at the house of one, Foster, a brother-in-law of Chas. Hodge, and dried his clothes, and from there proceeded to Henderson and took stage for St. Paul where he was arrested by the police. Sheriff Walbridge went after him and returned last Saturday night.

—The Owen Brothers, are putting in a stock of hardware and tin ware in their building next door to Bradley's, which is now occupied by Beebee, grocer. Mr. Beebee removes to his new store, opposite, in a few days. Mean time both branches of business will be carried on in the same building. The Owen Brothers have engaged Mr. P. B. Sparrow, a gentleman well known to our citizens, to superintend both the business and mechanical departments of their establishment. Mr. Sparrow has had fifteen years experience in this business, and is highly competent to administer to the wants of his customers, and meet every demand in this line, to their entire satisfaction. He invites his old patrons to come and see him at Owen Brothers' Tin and Hardware store.

—D. W. Porter has opened a wholesale liquor and cigar store in Higgins' building. Liquors of all kinds may be had by the barrel, gallon or bottle. Many of their liquors are especially adapted to medical use, being of the purest brand, and costing as high as $400 per barrel. Druggists, physicians and families who wish to obtain unadulterated liquors, should call at Porter's. He has also a good brand of common liquors and the very best of cigars. See his card elsewhere.

ANTI-PARK NOMINATIONS.—After the People's caucus had made their nominations last Monday, a few of the Anti-park men left the Hall and adjourned to the American House, and nominated the following ticket: Trustees, Jacob Bierbauer, E. Bradley and J. J. Shaubut. Bradley refused to run and Captain Keysor was chosen in his stead.

J. W. Hoerr was nominated for treasurer, but refused to run, and A. C. Barney was substituted. E. D. B. Porter was nominated for clerk, and Sam Tate for Marshall. We believe that none of them took any interest in the election, except Tate, having understood that it was a foregone conclusion that the People's Ticket would be elected. Mr. Tate was a candidate for the nomination of Marshal in the People's caucus, and was fairly beaten. He then sold himself to the opposition and got all he was worth, which was'nt enough to elect him.

SMITH & HUMPHREY'S BOOK STORE.—The building and business of Smith & Humphreys, it will be noticed, have been undergoing the process of enlargement. To give them more room and better facilities for business, they have built new rooms for the post office, and will occupy the space lately used for that purpose, for an enlargement of their book, stationery and news rooms. An opening is made into the post office building, which enables persons in the post office to take their paper from Smith & Humphrey's News Depot, without additional trouble. New shelving, counters, repainting and papering will soon place their store in fine condition, and give it an appearance creditable to the proprietors and to the city of Mankato. When the post office was in the same room, they were so crowded that goods could not be shown to advantage. They are now prepared with a new and large stock, placed on shelving for public inspection, to accommodate their numerous customers with every thing in the line of books, stationery, wall paper in endless variety, wrapping paper, school books, slates, pens and every thing coming within their line of business. Although without competition, they are selling goods as low as the strongest competition could bring them, and they will be governed by the eastern quotations whether they go higher or lower. Much of our printing stock is purchased of this house, and in an account of more than $600 per annum, we have always found them correct and honorable, and their goods as low as we could purchase them ourselves at an eastern market. See their new card elsewhere.

PEOPLE'S VILLAGE CAUCUS.—The citizens of Mankato turned out, to the number of 200 voters, to the caucus at Shoemaker's Hall on Monday evening last, to nominate village officers. Judge Brown was nominated for chairman, and W. Maxfield for secretary. It was largely composed of park and levee men, but [illegible] the anti-park men appeared to attempt to turn the tables to their interest. They were nipped in the bud by the following resolution offered by Dr. W. W. Clark:

Resolved, That we the people of Mankato expect and demand of the candidates now to be nominated for village, officers that they pledge themselves to prosecute the suits now at issue and to make no compromise relating to the parks, streets, or levee without submitting the same to the vote of the people.

A motion was carried, after a stormy debate, to proceed to nominate viva voce the village trustees. Jacob Bierbauer was nominated without much opposition. Matthias Uman, was proposed but being known to favor the anti-parkers and living in the same end of town with Mr. Bierbauer he was voted down. J. Q. A. Marsh, Isaac Marks, E. W. Bradley were proposed, and the impracticability of electing in this way induced a motion to elect by ballot, which however was overwhelmingly silenced and loud cries made for J. Q. A. Marsh who was nominated by acclamation. W. H. Shepard was then nominated in the same manner. For village clerk, E. D. B. Porter received a unanimous vote. For Treasurer Geo A. Clarke, was nominated by a very large vote. For Marshal, the vote was taken by ballot as follows: L. C. Johnson 65, Haupt 53, Quinn 36, Tate 21, Dr. Frisbie 1.

Considerable spirit was manifested during the entire proceedings, but quite good feeling prevailed before the adjournment.

[illegible].—A stroll over town reminds us to add a few more improvements to those already announced. Mr. H. Fowler, the jeweler is erecting a frame building on the Warren Addition, near the brick building of [illegible]. It is 16 feet by 22, with an ell 12 by 14. The cost will not be far from [illegible].

Mr. Wyman, on the same addition above Broad Street is putting up a frame dwelling [illegible] at a cost of about $[illegible]00.

Capt. John Pierson is also putting up a frame building on a lot in the same block, 22 feet by 15 at the cost of nearly $800.

Dr. W. W. Clark last fall built the cellar wall for a beautiful residence on the corner of Broad and Jackson streets which will be completed this summer. The contract has been let to Mr. Arundell of South Bend, and the cost when completed will be near $3,000. It will be quite a handsome addition to the town.

The mother of J. J. & Henry Shaubut is erecting a nice residence in the rear of the Presbyterian Church, at a cost of $1,500.

The Episcopal Church is progressing rapidly under the supervision of Mr. Jones, assisted by Capt. Pierson. The walls are up far enough to receive the windows, and the structure is taking on a very beautiful appearance. It is reported that $200 worth of lumber belonging to this society was lost below Minneapolis by the freshet, which loss threatens to retard the work. We trust our citizens will not permit it to disturb the progress of the work. Let the hat be passed around and the amount made good.

In lower town, on the opposite corner from Stephen Lamb's building, Mr. Hodupp is erecting a fine brick business building, 24 feet front by 60 feet in depth. The lower story will be 14 feet high with iron pillars in front. It will be furnished in a style similar to the store of Griebel Brothers.

JAIL BUILDING.—The Board of County Commissioners were in session last Tuesday to open and canvass the bids for the building of the new county Jail. As all bids were to be handed in at noon of that day, after dinner the Board proceeded to open them. There were some fifteen bids upon different portions of the work, but only two on the entire contract. These were made by Boardman & Wampler, at $10,700, and Lewis J. Lewis $10,300. J. H Hartman bid $8,500 on the entire work except the iron and iron work. Geo. Maxfield bid $4,850 for all except wood and iron part. J. F. Meagher bid $2,044 for the iron and iron work. Pollard & Co., bid something over $1,990 for brick work and plastering. Other minor bids were made but space forbids us to mention them. Adding the iron and iron work to Hartman's bids and the whole amounted to $10,544. Adding other bids together and the whole would amount to $10,354. So that the bids in the aggregate stood as follows:

Boardman & Wampler	$10,700
Hartman with Meagher	10,544
Other bids added	10,354
Lewis J. Lewis	10,300

Mr. Lewis being the lowest bidder he was awarded the contract. The Board deemed it necessary to appoint a superintendent of the work and Mr. J. P. Burch, a well known stone mason and builder, received the appointment with the pay of four per cent. on the cost of the building. The close bidding of our builders shows plainly that all have a very good understanding of their business. The awards we believe give general satisfaction.

☞A few more scholars can be accommodated at Miss Paterson's Select School.

To DR. HOSTETTER:—Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was taken with the dyspepsia a year ago last March, and, for a period of eight months, was one of the most miserable creatures you ever beheld, not being able either to eat, drink or sleep, and was compelled to walk the floor incessantly. I was nearly deprived of my reason, and hope had entirely left me, all the efforts made for my recovery having proved fruitless.

By the first of November, 1865, I had become so weak and feeble that I could scarcely stand alone, and, to all appearance, would soon die. At this time (having read your advertisement,) my wife prevailed upon me to try your Bitters. A bottle was procured, and, strange to say, I soon commenced recovering. I have taken four bottles, and am enjoying as good health now as could be expected for one of my age (about sixty years). I have no doubt that it was your Bitters alone, under Divine Providence, that effected this wonderful cure.

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO
100 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw the, thus goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate nor drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a change less tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick chamber as in the workroom. They oil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,--their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison, with any or all machines.

Applicants for Agency should enclose stamps.

ANY ONE WILL DO.

A maiden once of certain age,
To catch a husband did engage;
But having passed the prime of life
In striving to become a wife
Without success, she thought it time
To mend the follies of her prime.

Departing from the usual course
Of paint, and such like, for resource,
With all her might, this ancient maid,
Beneath an oak tree knelt and prayed;
Unconscious that a grave old owl
Was perched above—the mousing fowl!

"O! give—a husband, give," she cried,
"While yet I may become a bride,
Soon will my day of grace be o'er,
And then like many maids before,
I'll die without an early love,
And none to meet me there above!

"Oh! 'tis a fate too hard to bear;
Then answer this, my humble prayer;
And, Oh! a husband give to me!"
Just then the owl in a tree,
In deep bass tones, cried, "Whoo, who, who?"
"Who, Lord? And dost thou ask me who?
Why, any one, good Lord, will do."

LETTERS FROM MINNESOTA.

BY MINNEHAHA.

Introductory.

Oh! such a warm day! How relentlessly the sun poured his scorching rays upon the appealing earth; not a cloud to shield the withering shrub, or thirsty fields.

And the oppressive heat found its way into the parlor of the Harlow mansion, close the blinds though we might. And I, a convalesing invalid, felt the oppressive atmosphere more than the others, for I was not strong enough to work, to ride or walk in the heat, was out of the question, books, the latest publications, paintings, rare and costly, lay on table and mantle, but the very name of "Book," tired me.

I was very nervous. Fretful and peevish, perhaps are not too hard names to apply to my unenviable state of mind. So I leaned back amid the sofa cushions, with just strength enough to keep my palm leaf in motion, and I am sure my face was anything but the picture of contentment.

Cool, white hands on my fevered brow; cooler eyes looking down into my troubled ones.

"Now, Minnie, little invalid, tell me what I can do to bring back the smile to those lips!" and there was such a sympathy in the clear sweet tones of Kate Harlow's voice, that the tears were in my eyes in an instant.

"Well, silly, nervous!" I hear some one say; but ah, you sturdy, robust Minnesotians you are not shaken nearly out of your wits by the ague, or racked by burning fever.

"Oh, Kate, sweet thing—I am almost smothering—something to take up my mind, to banish this ennui, please," I said. "Shall I read to you from some of your favorite authors; here is Whittier, and Browning, Dickens, Beatty——," but I checked her with a grimace and an exclamation, that I could not bear books. "Talk to me, please."

Again the cool hands toyed with my hair, while the smile around the sweet lips showed that she was not provoked out of patience with me; as I am afraid you would have been ere this.

"Ah, I have it," and gliding out of the room, she soon returned with a large packet of letters, tied with a blue ribbon.

"Love letters!" I exclaimed, I was all animation now.

"Yes, such love letters as a dear old school mate can write. They are from Mollie L——, that you have so often heard me speak of. We used to occupy the same seat at school, study from the same book, and in fact, mutually shared each others joys and sorrows; we were almost inseparable, had no secrets that the other did not share: and great was our sorrow, when her father decided that Minnesota was to be their future home, and that consequently we must be parted.

"These first ones are from Iowa, where she stopped on her way to Minnesota, to attend school during the winter; but as it is her Minnesota letters that I wish to read to you, we will lay them by.

"Yes, here is the first, dated March 21, 1861. Do you think you will be interested."

I was interested; and not being a very selfish person, as Kate gave them to me, so I give them to you with very little modification and few omissions.

And readers of the UNION, do not let Mollie (if you should recognize her) see your paper; but if she should, I hope she will forgive me for thus bringing her private correspondence before the public; and I would just add, that Kate has no responsibility in the matter, I having copied and done what little revising was needful.

INDIAN TREATY.

A treaty has been made and entered into, at Washington City, District of Columbia, this nineteenth day of February, A. D. 1867, by and between Lewis V. Bogy, Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and William H. Watson, commissioners on the part of the United States, and the undersigned chiefs and headmen of the Sissiton and Warpeton bands of Dakota or Sioux Indians, as follows, to wit:

ARTICLE 1. The Sissiton and Warpeton bands of Dakota Sioux Indians represented in council will continue their friendly relations with the government and people of the United States, and bind themselves individually and collectively to use their influence to the extent of their ability to prevent other bands of Dakota or other adjacent tribes from making hostile demonstrations against the government or people of the United States.

ARTICLE 2. The said bands hereby cede to the United States the right to construct wagon roads, railroads, mail stations, telegraph lines, and such other public improvements as the interest of the government may require, over and across the lands claimed by said bands—including their reservation as hereinafter designated—over any route or routes that may be selected by authority of the government, said lands so claimed being bounded on the south and east by the treaty line of 1851 and the Red River of the North to the mouth of Goose river, on the north by Goose river and a line running from the source thereof by the most westerly point of Devil's lake to the Chief's Bluff at the head of James river, and on the west by the James river to the mouth of Moccasin river and thence to Kampeska lake.

ARTICLE 3. For and in consideration of the cession above mentioned, and in consideration of the faithful and important services said to have been rendered by the friendly bands of Sissitons and Warpetons Sioux here represented; and also in consideration of the confiscation of all their annuities, reservations, and improvements, it is agreed that there shall be set apart for the members of said bands who have heretofore surrendered to the authorities of the government, and were not sent to the Crow Creek reservation, and for the members of said bands who were released from prison in 1866, the following described lands as a permanent reservation, viz:

Beginning at the head of Lake Traverse, and thence along the treaty line of the treaty of 1851 to Kampeska lake; thence in a direct line to Reipan or the northeast point of the Coteau des Prairie, and thence passing north of Skunk lake, on the most direct line to the foot of Lake Traverse, and thence along the treaty line of 1851 to the place of beginning.

ARTICLE 4. It is further agreed that a reservation be set apart for all other members of said bands who were not sent to Crow Creek reservation and also for the Cuthead bands of Yanktonnais Sioux, a reservation; bounded as follows, viz:

Beginning at the most easterly point of Devil's Lake; thence along the waters of said lake to the most westerly point of the same; thence on a direct line to the nearest point on the Cheyenne river; thence down said river to a point opposite the lower end of Aspen island, and thence on a direct line to the place of beginning.

ARTICLE 5. The said reservations shall be apportioned in tracts of one hundred and sixty (160) acres to each head of a family, or single person over the age of twenty-one (21) years, belonging to said bands, and entitled to locate thereon, who may desire to locate permanently and cultivate the soil as a means of subsistence; each one hundred and sixty (160) acres so allotted to be made to conform to the legal subdivisions of the government surveys, when such surveys shall have been made; and every person to whom lands may be allotted under the provisions of this article who shall occupy and cultivate a portion thereof for five consecutive years shall thereafter be entitled to receive a patent for the same so soon as he shall have fifty acres of said tract fenced, ploughed, and in crop: Provided, Said patent shall not authorize any transfer of said lands, or portions thereof, except to the United States, but said lands and the improvments thereon shall descend to the proper heirs of the persons obtaining a patent.

ARTICLE 6. And, further, in consideration of the destitution of said bands of Sissiton and Warpeton Sioux, parties hereto, resulting from the confiscation of the annuities and improvements, it is agreed that Congress will, in its own discretion, from time to time, make such appropriations as may be deemed requisite to enable said Indians to return to an agricultural life under the system in operation on the Sioux reservation in 1862, including, if thought advisable, the establishment and support of local and manual labor schools, the employment of agricultural, mechanical, and other teachers; the opening and improvement of individual farms; and generally such objects as Congress in its wisdom shall deem necessary to promote the agricultural improvement and civilization of said bands.

ARTICLE 7. An agent shall be appointed for said bands, who shall be located at Lake Traverse; and whenever there shall be five hundred (500) persons of said bands permanently located upon the Devil's Lake reservation, there shall be an agent or other competent person appointed to superintend, at that place, the agricultural, educational and mechanical interests of said bands.

ARTICLE 8. All expenditures under the provisions of this treaty shall be made for the agricultural improvement and civilization of the members of said bands, authorized to locate upon the respective reservations, as here in specified, in such manner as may be directed by law; but no goods, provisions, groceries, or other articles—except material for the erection of houses, and articles to facilitate the operations of agriculture—shall be issued to Indians or mixed bloods on either reservation, unless it be in payment for labor performed, or for produce delivered; provided that, when persons located on either reservation, by reason of age, sickness or deformity, are unable to labor, the agent may issue clothing and subsistence to such persons, from such supplies, as may be provided for said bands.

ARTICLE 9. The withdrawal of the Indians from all dependence upon the chase as a means of subsistence being deemed necessary to the adoption of civilized habits among them, it is desirable that no encouragement be afforded them to continue their hunting operations as means of support, and, therefore, it is agreed that no person will be authorized to trade for furs or peltries within the limits of the land claimed by said bands, as specified in the second article of this treaty, it being contemplated that the Indians will rely solely upon agricultural and mechanical labor for subsistence, and that the agent will supply the Indians and mixed bloods on the respective reservations with clothing, provisions, &c., as set forth in article eight, as soon as the same shall be provided for that purpose. And it is further agreed that no person not a member of said bands, parties hereto, whether white, mixed blood, or Indians, except persons in the employ of the Government or located under its authority, shall be permitted to locate upon said lands, either for hunting, trapping, or agricultural purposes.

ARTICLE 10. The chiefs and headmen located upon either of the reservations set apart for said bands are authorized to adopt such rules and regulations, or laws for the security of life and property, the advancement of civilization, and the agricultural prosperity of the members of said bands upon the respective reservations, and shall have authority, under the direction of the agent, and without expense to the government, to organize a force sufficient to carry out all such rules, regulations, or laws, and all rules and regulations for the government of said Indians, as may be prescribed by the Interior Department: Provided, That all rules, regulations, or laws adopted or amended by the chiefs and headmen of either reservation shall have the sanction of the agent.

Death Caused by an Attempt to Produce Abortion.

From the Rochester (Minn) Post April 27th.

Two weeks ago we published the fact that Mrs. Lois Orcutt had died suddenly at the rooms of a Dr. Guile (horse doctor) in this city. We refrained at the time from making any statements as to the cause of her death, understanding that there was to be an official investigation of the facts.

Drs. E. C. Cross and W. W. Mayo, and A. Blanchard, Esq, were appointed by the Common Council a committee to examine the body of the deceased and ascertain by post mortem appearances and by verbal testimony, the facts relating to her death.

The committee, after making an autopsy of the body and testimony of a number of witnesses, have made a written report to Mayor Stearns, which we have been permitted to examine. This report is too long for our columns, but its conclusions are so important that we have endeavored to condense it so as to present our readers with the main facts:

Mrs. Orcutt died about 5 o'clock P. M., Wednesday, April 10th. The post mortem examination was made on the 11th; between 2 and 3 P. M.

The body was found to be well nourished, muscular and fat. The whole exterior of the body indicated unusual vigor for a female. The stomach, which was distended with flatus, was carefully removed for further examination. The bowels were healthy but distended with flatus. All the other organs were healthy and natural, except the womb, which showed that the deceased was advanced in pregnancy between the fourth and fifth month. On the anterior surface there was a large patch of ecchymosis, also some smaller spots. This discoloration might have been produced from rough handling from the exterior of the body when the deceased was in health, as a part of a plan to accomplish a purpose. There were also signs that it had been subjected to the introduction of instruments. Air was found in the interior. These indications satisfied the surgeons that the organ had been tampered with, with instruments, for the purpose of producing abortion.

These facts so fully satisfied the surgeons that the death was caused by poisoning in the attempt to procure abortion, that several witnesses were examined as to the facts: These witnesses were Mrs. Grant, the mother, and Mr. Chas. Orcutt, the husband of the deceased, Dr. Guile and his wife, at whose residence the death occurred, Mr. Erastus Leseur and Dr. I. M. Westfall, who were called in when Mrs. Orcutt was dying, and John W. Everstine.

The substance of their testimony is, that the deceased had, with the knowledge and probable consent of her husband, been in the habit of going to Guile's to be operated upon by himself or his wife, and of borrowing instruments from there. That on the fatal afternoon she left her mother's house between one and two o'clock and was at Guile's until her death, which took place about five o'clock.

Guile and his wife swear that she was alone with Guile a short time, but he went out and after that she was alone with Mrs. Guile. Both of them of course deny having operated upon the unfortunate woman or administered medicine to her, but Mrs. Orcutt's mother testifies that having occasion to go there for a key about two o'clock, her daughter came to the door and appeared to be in pain.

How or why the poor woman's death was caused is known only to her and the man and woman at whose establishment her death took place. But their own admissions of having furnished advice and instruments to the deceased and others for the unnatural crime of child murder, and the flippancy with which Guile boasted to Orcutt on one occasion and to Everstine on another, of the ease with which he could bring about such a result, must raise, to say the least, a strong suspicion that something worse than veterinary surgery was practiced there, and that we have in Rochester one of those infamous establishments for restricting the population, which are generally supposed to be peculiar to larger cities.

It would seem that the terrible tragic result of this rash experiment must be a warning to women against placing their lives at the mercy of those who, from the very nature of the case, might be expected to be too ignorant to be safely trusted with any such matters, requiring the highest medical and surgical skill.

What has struck us most forcibly in looking over this report is the apparent sublime ignorance on the part of all the parties to the affair, of the important fact, that the trade of an abortionist is a great crime. The idea that it was even wrong to tamper with the life of a mother and child would not appear to the reader of the testimony to have occured to any of them, much less the fact that it was morally and legally a grave offense and punishable by imprisonment in the penitentiary

THE TRAITOR DAVIS.

We publish elsewhere the proceedings of the United States Court at Richmond in the case of Jefferson Davis, the leading traitor of the rebellion, who has been awaiting trial at Fortress Monroe since his arrest. He was arrested as a military prisoner and as a traitor. Chief Justice Chase has steadily refused to try him in the Richmond District so long as it is controled by military law. A writ of habeas corpus was issued by Judge Underwood for the purpose of taking him out of the hands of the military authorities. At his appearance before the court, the writ was not resisted and the Judge released him from military custody. A bench warrant being served upon him, to answer to the Norfolk indictment, and the Government being unable to proceed with the trial he was released on bail of $10,000. This is probably the end of Jeff. Davis' punishment, and the lot of all traitors whose skirts are dyed the deepest in loyal blood. Surratt and his mother, Payne, and other plotters of the murder of one man, suffered the death penalty, while the leader of the grand conspiracy of the rebellion at whose dictation a million lives are lost, and whose crime is in contemplation of law, the highest on the calendar, is to be dismissed on bail, to wait a trial before a jury, who, in all probability will acquit him next November. If convicted, all suspense on his part is allayed by the pleasing fact that the pardoning power will be exerted in his favor. We had supposed that rebellion and treason were only made respectable by success, and that defeat would consign the conspirators to public infamy. But it seems that political prisoners, guilty of the highest crimes known to the law, and causing the utmost devastation of life, limb and property, most of all criminals receive the most lenient treatment. If treason is to be made more respectable than murder, let us reverse the order of public offenses and call treason a misdemeanor, and the stealing of a peanut a felony.

LATER.—A later telegram says that the bail of Mr. Davis is $100,000, instead of $10,000.

FOR THE UNION.

On our first page will be found a communication entitled "Letters from Minnesota," to which the attention of our readers is invited. It will be continued from week to week, and we are promised that it shall consist of events connected with the war founded upon facts, and will be sufficiently diversified with the pleasant, the grave, the thrilling and common place, as to make it entertaining to our readers. Judging from the introductory letter published this week, we feel confident that her communications will be read with much interest. They will be written expressly for the UNION, and our correspondent is a lady of this county, so that whatever merit there may be in her letters, we may appreciate them as the effusion of home talent.

THE LATEST FASHIONS.

Since the invention and successful introduction of the Celebrated Duplex Elliptic (or double) Spring Hoop Skirt, by Mr. J. W. Bradley, of New York, the ladies throughout the country have given up the idea of discarding the fashion of wearing hoop skirts on account of the peculiar and graceful manner in which the Duplex Skirts adapt themselves to every exigency and emergency. So generally acceptable have these Skirts become that the ladies regard them as a special favorite, in view of the superior Flexibility, Lightness and Durability Combined in their Manufacture. They also consider them a far more Economical and Comfortable Hoop Skirt than ever has or can be made for all Crowded Assemblies, for the Promenade or House Dress. Any lady after wearing one of these Skirts will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. Long experience in the manufacture of Hoop Skirts, has proven to the proprietors of this invention, that Single-springs will always retain that stiff, unyielding and bungling style which has ever characterized them, whereas the Double Spring Hoop or the Duplex Elliptic, will be found Free from these objections. Notwithstanding the ability of the manufacturers, Messrs. Wests, Bradley and Cary, to turn out over six thousand Skirts per day from their large Manufactories in New York, they feel obliged to request all merchants ordering the Duplex Elliptic Skirts, to send their orders a few days before they are wanted, if possible, as they are most constantly oversold some days ahead.

FROM MADELIA.

By our own Reporter.

THE CROPS:—The small grain is all sown in this township, and the first sown is up, and gives promise of a good crop. There is a greater breadth of wheat in this vicinity than ever before, notwithstanding the high price of seed.

The fields are all in fine condition and the prospects of a heavy yield are very flattering. Farmers feel encouraged, and this season will doubtless, witness more substantial improvements hereabouts than were ever before accomplished in one season.

NOT SO POOR AFTER ALL.—Considerable has been said through the papers concerning the reported distress upon the frontier. As to the truthfulness of these reports of distress in other quarters, we know nothing, but if they are not more truthful than reports concerning Watonwan county, there has been altogether to much smoke for so little fire. That some families are "hard up" is as true of many families in every other locality throughout the world, but that any family here is starving or likely to starve, is all a canard. These tales are not only injurious to this locality, but to the State at large, being published in eastern papers with additions of the horrible, are read by the thousands tending westward, and are calculated to turn the tide of immigration to some other quarter. That food for both man and beast is scarce and commands a high price is very true, but to say that the people of this town are badly hurt or feel themselves to poor too rebuild a bridge washed away by high water is unjust.

NEW ARRIVALS.—In traveling around now one meets with new and strange faces. Allmost every day adds to the number of new comers. We know of several families who are now on their way to this county, to find homes. We bid them welcome.

LETTER FROM MR. IRWIN.

ABOARD THE DAVENPORT, May 2, 1867.

MR. GRISWOLD.—Many of my friends in Mankato, desired me to report progress as I proceeded on my journey homewards. To prevent the labor of writing several letters, which under the present circumstances is impracticable, I address my friends through your paper.

The Julia was so long detained near Belle Plain extracting the Chippaway Falls from a sandy predicament, and also waiting most of Saturday night above the bridge at Mendota, to run through by day light, that we did not arrive at St. Paul until 6 A. M. last Sunday. After spending a very unpleasant day of mud and rain, at the Merchant's Hotel, whose proprietor, Mr. Shaw, is always ready to attend to the wants of his guests, we took the train at 8 A. M., on Monday, for St. Anthony and Minneapolis, whence we went in livery carriage to Minnehaha, whose falls consist of a beautiful sheet of water plunging over an abrupt precipice into the abyss below, 75 feet deep. It was to our view, but especially to Emma and Fannie who had not visited them before, indescribably magnificent. But in my judgment the greater wonder is to be seen in the St. Anthony Falls, which we all gazed upon in silent admiration while they exhibited a majesty and power which forceably refers us to their great Artificers. And what shall I say of the astonishing improvements to make available by human instrumentally that power as seen in the skillful mechanism at both sides of the Falls.

We left St. Paul on the Davenport at 6 P. M., on Monday, and at 11 o'clock the same evening Miss Emma Hall with some acquaintances she made, left the boat at Red Wing.

This boat is one of the best of the North Western Line, and its entertainments better than most of first class hotels. A few miles above Lyons, on Wednesday night, we were on a sand bar and spent fourteen hours of anxious and laborous effort before we were at liberty to sail again.

I mail this letter at Davenport on Sunday at 6 A. M., which is a long way above St. Louis, my own destination.

I remember my many friends at Mankato with a great deal of satisfaction, and hope providence may permit me to return and enjoy their society again.

Yours, respectfully,
ROBT. IRWIN.

FROM RICHMOND.

Jeff. Davis in Court—What he Said and What was Done—He is Bailed in $10,000.

RICHMOND, May 13.—The United States Court was packed this morning. A military guard was placed around it and a strong police force inside. About twenty ladies were among the spectators, also 50 negroes. At 11 o'clock Davis was brought in and took a seat in the prisoners box, with Gen. Burton and the United States Marshal. His servant accompanied him. While Davis was sitting by an open window he remarked: "It is a little cold, isn't it?" and he was removed to a seat near his counsel in front of the Judge. Gen. Burton's return to the writ of habeas corpus was read, and the Judge complimented Gen. Burton on obeying the laws, and released him of the custody of Davis, and the Marshal immediately served on him a bench warrant to answer the Norfolk indictment.

Mr. O'Connor spoke of Mr. Davis' long imprisonment and feeble health, and asked that he be bailed. There being no opposition on the part of the prosecution, who fixed the amount of bail at $10,000, the Judge announced his readiness to accept bail, stating at the same time that the responsibility of delaying the bringing the case into court rested upon the government, and not upon the the District Attorney.

The sureties then came forward, Horace Greeley being among the first, followed by Mr. Schell, of New York, and Mr. Jackman, of Philadelphia, and others. No gentlemen residing in Virginia offered their names as bail. Mr. Davis was congratulated by several friends, but there was no demonstration or noise of any kind. After giving bail to appear at the November term of the court, Mr. Davis was taken in a carriage to the Spottswood House.

The Arrival and Reception of Jeff. Davis at Richmond.

RICHMOND, May 11.—The steamer John Sylvester, with Jefferson Davis on board, arrived this afternoon. Long before his arrival, military arrangements had been made by General Schofield. A detachment of the Twenty-ninth regiment was present, and sentinels posted at intervals, enclosing about 200 yards square of the wharf. Outside of this a large crowd of negroes and a few whites were gathered. The brows of the surrounding hills were thickly covered with spectators. Major Vance, of Schofield's staff, who was in command, had a detachment of the Eighth artillery, numbering about fifty, mounted as a guard for the carriage. As the steamer hove in sight with the national flag flying, the most intense anxiety was exhibited by the crowd to get closer, but there was no demonstration, no cheering nor hissing, when the steamer made fast. Hon. James Lyons went on board, and meeting with Davis, brought Mrs. Davis ashore. He conducted her to a carriage, followed by her two servants. In a few minutes Davis came over the gang plank, accompanied by General Burton and Dr. Cooper. The party immediately got into carriages, and surrounded by a mounted guard, drove rapidly by a side street up towards the Spottswood Hotel, thus disappointing large crowd, who had gathered on Main street, near the wharf, to see Jefferson Davis. Jeff. Davis was quite cheerful, and he had no guard; he walked freely about the boat, conversing with passengers. All were anxious to speak to him. He said but little about his imprisonment, but spoke in terms of the warmest affection of ex President Pierce who visited him on Thursday last. He said there was no man living for whom he entertained a higher regard. At Brandon, on the way up, a number of ladies had gathered to speak to him, who shed tears on seeing him. They had been acquainted with his family during the war. A lady, named Mrs. Davis of Richmond, who got on the boat at Norfolk, died in the ladies cabin just before reaching here. Two bridal parties came up on the same boat, and a large and serious crowd, all orderly, was around the Spottswood Hotel, waiting to get a glimpse of the prisoner. He will remain in General Burton's charge until produced in court on Monday. The citizens in general, in deference to the wishes of the authorities, staid away from the dock. Many of them were stationed in the doors and windows along the main street to see Davis as he passed up. He occupies the same rooms at the Spottswood that he did in 1861. It is the opinion expressed by one of his counsel that if bail is refused him the Executive will interfere to prevent his further confinement until his trial comes off. Many of Davis' friends will visit him to-night and to-morrow.

Singular Suicide of a Boy.

From the Lockport (N. Y.) Journal, May 6.

We noticed yesterday, the suicide of Jas. E. Riddle, son of Lafayette Riddle, Esq., of the town of Royalton. The deceased was a lad about twelve years of age, and had during the winter, in company with an associate, been engaged building fires at the school house, and some time since the teacher gave fifty cents to Edwin to give his associate for assistance rendered, and instead of doing so, kept the money. The father of the decease did not learn of the facts until on Thursday last, when he talked to his son in regard to the matter, giving him parental advice, and adding that they would settle the matter at another time. The father went out to work and the boy remained in the house, and took up his testament and engaged in studying his Sunday school lesson. After this his mother told him to go out and help his father and he did so; his father asked him to turn out a certain sheep, and the boy started, apparently on the errand, and was never again seen alive. His older brother found his body suspended in the barn by a strap tied above the scaffolding, with a beam beneath, upon which he had stood and put the strap around his neck. He undoubtedly jumped off this beam. This melancholy circumstance brings mourning and sorrow to a once happy household, and a father and mother are bowed down with grief. The friends of the afflicted family deeply sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Depredations of the Cheyennes.

NEW YORK, May 10.—The Herald's Fort Larned (D. T.) special, dated yesterday, says Hancock's operations on the Smoky Hill route have driven the southern Cheyennes north. They are moving in four war parties. They struck the South Platte road between Galesburgh and Denver night before last, and burned two ranches. The Indian Commission are in council with the Indians here.

Messengers from the north have arrived, and state that a large number of Indians desire to come in and make peace, Red Cloud included.

Numerous war parties are on the road between here and Fort Phil. Kearney. The Indians say they shall be withdrawn.

Europe.

LONDON, May 10.—The peace conference held its second session to-day. The following basis for the deliberation of the Conference was agreed upon:

1st. The Territory of Luxemburg is to remain in the possession of the King of Holland as Grand Duke of Luxemburg.

2d. The neutralization of the Grand Duchy be guaranted by all European powers participating in the Conference.

3d. The Fortress of Luxemburg is to be razed.

The News.

—Lumber prospects are bad in Minnesota.

—A committee is organizing the Republican party in every county in Florida, and the prospects are good.

—Senator Stewart of Nevada is about to take the stump in Mississippi in favor of the Republican platform.

—The Democrats of Indiana and Illinois urge the claims of Senator Hendricks, of Indiana, for the next Democratic nomination to the Presidency.

—The Hon. George W. Chase, of Maryland, Otsego County, New York, died last week. He was a member of Congress, in 1853 and 1854. He was a prominent and highly esteemed citizen.

The report of the massacre of the passengers and crew of the steamer Miner by Indians, above Sioux City, May 11th is not credited at Omaha, but the editor of the Council Bluffs Nonpareil expresses confidence in its truth. The Miner was a St. Louis boat, and had quite a number of passengers and a valuable cargo.

Later advices state that the whole story is a fabrication, as it was in the Fort Buford case.

WASHINGTON, May 11.—The report that Secretary McCulloch has stopped the payment of additional bounties is unfounded. The Treasury, however, is temporarily embarrassed, owing to heavy drafts and a falling off of revenue receipts. It is expected that the public debt will be increased for some months to come.

—Crop prospects in Indiana have not been damaged by frost, and grain prospects are better than they have been for years.

—The Grand Jury yesterday found a true bill against Moses A. Hawkes for murder in the first degree. Hawkes was at once arrested on a bench warrant and confined in the County Jail. About twenty witnesses from Chicago have arrived to attend the trial.—Pioneer 12th.

—The Republican eight-hour resolution, providing for a joint special committee to consider the rights, rewards of labor, and the relief measures proposed by the workingmen's organizations, has passed the Connecticut House of Representatives.

—The Dubuque Herald says that whole fields of grain in Western Iowa have been stripped of their crops by immense flocks of pigeons. One farmer residing two miles east of Independence had sown three acres of wheat, and was preparing to harrow it in, when the pigeons made their appearance and gobbled up every kernel before he could get it covered. Some fields containing forty acres were absolutely covered with pigeons, and although the sportsmen waged an incessant warfare against them, and killed great numbers their places were soon supplied with others.

WINONA, April 26.—About 3 o'clock this afternoon while the steamer Keokuk was lying at the depot waiting for the arrival of the St. Paul & Minneapolis train, the mate went on deck to get the niggers out to load some freight, after going the third time and they not purposing to get out, he talked rather loud to the niggers, when one of them who thought himself too much of a gentleman to be owned by a white man, jumped on him and cut him terribly in the head with a razor, after which he jumped into a yawl boat and endeavored to get away.

The captain shot at the nigger, who fell out of the yawl and swam down the river about four blocks when he went under. Nothing has been seen or heard of him since.

Mortgage Sale.

DEFAULT HAVING BEEN MADE IN THE CONdition of a certain mortgage executed by Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton to James Miller, dated on the 18th day of March 1865, and recorded in the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county on the 15th day of April 1865, in book "F" of Mortgages, on page 185, whereby the said Rosell J. Hull and David Carlton sold and conveyed to the said James Miller his heirs and assigns forever the following described real property lying and being in Blue Earth county to wit: The northwest quarter of section fifteen in township one hundred and five north of Range twenty-eight west; to secure the payment of four hundred dollars according to the condition of two certain promissory notes bearing even date with said mortgage, one for one hundred and fifty dollars and interest due one year from date, and the other for two hundred and fifty dollars and interest due two years from date, upon which said mortgage and notes there is claimed to be due and is due at the date of this notice the sum of four hundred and fifty-seven and 16-100 dollars, and no suit or proceeding has been instituted at law to recover the debt secured by said mortgage or any part thereof.

Now therefore notice is hereby given that by virtue and in pursuance of a power of sale in said mortgage contained and of the statute in such cases made and provided the above described premises will be sold at public vendue to the highest bidder at the office of the Register of Deeds of Blue Earth county in Mankato on

Saturday the 25th day of May,

A. D. 1867, at 10 o'clock in the forenoon of that day to satisfy the amount due upon said notes and mortgage with the interest, taxes and costs allowed by law and twenty dollars as solicitors fees, stipulated in said morgage.

FLORENCE
SEWING MACHINE CO.
190 WASHINGTON ST., CHICAGO.
Wm. H. SHARP & CO.,
GENERAL AGENTS.

THE FLORENCE is the only machine extant having a reversible feed, which enables the operator to sew either to the right or left at pleasure, and the only machine that makes a perfectly elastic seam, alike on each side of the fabric.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE not only makes the lock-stitch, but three others, which for certain kinds of work are much superior, especially where elasticity is required and is the only machine that fastens the ends of each seam securely, and does it in one-fourth the time it can be done by hand.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE, does not draw fine, thin goods down through the slot or hole in the work-plate or drop a stitch in turning a corner, and is the only machine having a changeless tension, and no slack threads both of which draw together simultaneously.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE is noiseless, and can be used when quiet is necessary as well in the sick-chamber as in the workroom. They soil no dresses, the machinery being all on the top of the table. It will sew over the heaviest seams, or from one to more thicknesses of goods, without skipping stitches, breaking threads or requiring change in tension.

THE FLORENCE

SEWING MACHINE will do easily all family and tailoring work on one and the same machine. They are strong and finely finished,—their motions are all positive, there are no springs to get out of order.—while for strength, durability & beauty of design it will bear, and we invite, comparison with any or all machines. Applicants for Agency should enclose stamps.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 17, 1867.

Mite Society.—The ladies of the Methodist church will hold their Mite Society at the church, on Wednesday evening of next week.

—Rev. Mr. Pryse will preach on Sabbath morning next, in the M. E. Church, and in the evening continue his lecture on the "Evidences of Christianity."

—Owing to our absence a part of the week, Mr. Quayle, who attracted our attention by an abusive letter published in the Record, will please forbear with us another week until we can have time to do him justice.

Village Board.—The old village Board held its last meeting yesterday, and closed the irksome and thankless task allotted them for the year past. The new Board have not yet qualified, but must do so by law on or before Monday next, at which time the first session of the new Board will be held.

Pierce & Beecher.—Elsewhere will be found the card of Drs. Pierce & Beecher, Dental Surgeons, of St. Paul. Dr. Pierce is well known to our citizens as a superior dentist, and will not only be glad to see them at his superb rooms at St. Paul, but will make stated visits here to accommodate his patrons.

The Fire Engine.—Our fire company made another trial of the Torrent on Saturday last with better success than ever. No doubt when they become proficient in their duties the "masheen" will be handled with great credit both to the engine and to themselves.

Removal.—The firm of Drew & Payne, furniture dealers, are removing their stock to the brick building, next door to Davis Brother's hardware store. This will be a more convenient stand for them, and for their patrons. They have a fine assortment of furniture, and we are glad to see that they will be able to display them to better advantage.

Stage Arrangement.—The St. Paul Stages now leave for St. Paul at 7 o'clock, thus giving passengers ample time to obtain breakfast before starting. They meet the evening train at Belle Plaine which lands them at St. Paul just before dark. We can congratulate our citizens upon being able to sleep a little after midnight, before taking the morning stage.

Livery.—Mr. Bragg, late of the firm of Fowler & Bragg, has purchased the interest of Mr. Lay in the livery business of Tompkins & Lay. The new firm have fitted up a nice and convenient office on Front Street, opposite the Bank of J. J. Thornton & Co., where they will be glad to receive calls. Step in and leave your orders.

Dentistry.—We had occasion several weeks since to notice that Dr. H. W. Snuffer, a dentist from Ohio, was about to settle among us as a resident practitioner. He has arrived with his operating chair, instruments and furniture, and opened an office in the second story of Prael & DuBuisson's brick building where he may be found during business hours. We trust that our citizens will appreciate the convenience of having a first class dentist among us, and give him a liberal patronage.

The Mollie Mohler.—This fine little steamer is now making close connection with the evening train which leaves Belle Plaine at 6 P. M. To those going down stream we can recommend the Mollie, as being the best boat on the line and commanded by very gentlemanly officers. Capt. H. W. Holmes, and William Mohler, first clerk, we have been acquainted with for many years; and can testify to their ability to run a craft, and to their uniform courtesy to those who may be fortunate enough to place themselves under their care.

Breaking Plows! Breaking Plows!—If you want a first class BREAKING PLOW go to the store of L. L. & O. H. Davis, who have for sale the Grand DeTour Breaking Plow which has no equal in the market. They sold and guarantied every one of their silver steel plows for old ground, and they all gave satisfaction. They now offer a plow for breaking prairie which they will guarantee in the same manner. Call and examine the Grand DeTour plow.

Milk.—We understand that the Messrs. Howe, of West Mankato are about starting a milk wagon to supply customers with that article at their doors. They have already made engagements for 100 quarts per day, and the town is not yet fully canvassed. We have long needed such an institution, and trust that they will be fully warranted in the undertaking by a liberal public patronage.

That Wagon.—A man by the name of Lisbon Lucas, living in Decoria township, claims to own the wagon we mentioned as being found in the Cobb river. He wishes us to write him who stole the tongue, tire, &c. We can only refer him to Mr. William Miller, of the Le Sueur ferry, who knows where the wagon is, and who the men are who discovered it and took portions of it away.

Crops.—Wheat and oats were mostly sown before the rain of Sunday last, and already the early sown grain is coming up finely. We hear from various parts of the county that every thing is looking quite favorable and promising, not withstanding the cool weather. It has now the appearance of turning off warm and if it does, the grain will spring from the earth like magic.

Spring Stocks.—Our merchants are almost daily receiving goods by boat and by express. Among the new goods we notice hardware, doors and sash, reapers and threshers for J. F. Meagher, hardware and iron, and wagon stuff for L. L. & O. H. Davis, drugs, medicines, paints, &c., for Wickersham & Co., and Dr. Frisbie, Dry goods and groceries for Christensen Bro.'s, Hidden, Prael & DuBuisson, Marks, groceries for Thomas, boots and shoes for B. Kohler. Fruits for Wallace, and books for Smith & Humphrey.

District Court.—The May term of the District Court for Blue Earth county will meet at Mankato next week Tuesday the 21st inst. The county Board, at its late sitting, rented Shoemaker's Hall for that purpose. The calendar will be nearly if not quite as large as at last term, but there will be fewer trials and shorter cases to be disposed of.

Cold.—The weather has been extremely cold for the past week, and it has never been known, by the oldest inhabitant, of so late a spring. Every kind of vegetation appears to be at a stand, and it is feared that we will not have a very fair crop this season. However it may possibly take a sudden change, and things will grow rapidly.

Of the many Cosmetics and Toilet Articles now advertised, but few prove to be what they are represented. Messrs. Berger, Shutts & Co., Chemists, of Troy, N. Y., are advertising extensively several articles that have proved themselves just as represented, for which they are acting as agents. We believe them to be perfectly trustworthy, and that parties using their preparations will find them fully up to the recommends given. See their advertisement in another column of this paper.

Drowned.—A correspondent of the Record writing from Winnebago Agency, says, that Mrs. Robert Jellison, and her little boy about five years of age, were drowned in the Le Sueur, on the 30th ult. They, with a son of Mr. George Weston, twelve years of age, had crossed the river in a small canoe, and as they were landing Mrs. Jellison reached out to take hold of a willow and upset the boat. All managed to reach a log floating near, but it sunk with them, and the little boy was swept away. The mother followed after her child to rescue it, and in the attempt both lost their lives. Mr. Weston's boy managed to reach the shore. Mr. John Baxter dashed into the stream, but only in time to rescue the lifeless body of Mrs. Jellison. The body of the boy up to following day had not been found.

Returned.—We regret to learn that Mr. W. W. Davis, who removed his store from South Bend to this city last fall, has concluded to return there with his goods. Having a store room of his own in that village, unoccupied, and rents here being oppressively high, he deemed it more profitable to return to his old stand. He will be missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances acquired during his brief residence among us.

Sinking of the Steamer Julia.—On last Friday Morning, about six o'clock, the steamer Julia, commanded by Capt. Raney, struck a snag, two miles below this city, on the larboard side, causing her to sink immediately in twelve feet of water. After she struck every effort was made to stop the flow of water into her, but all proved a failure, and she went down, keeling over on her starboard side. On that side the water entered the state rooms and cabin to the depth of a foot, while on the opposite side the water did not cover her deck except at the stern, her bow being held up by the snag.

The snag penetrated the hull about three feet, and in settling the boat was to all appearances badly racked, but the actual damages cannot now be known.

She had about twelve or fifteen passengers aboard, and all were landed in small boats, without accident or injury. A good deal of alarm was caused by the accident.

The Julia was one of the best and staunchest boats on the Minnesota, and had been inspected at St. Paul only the day previous, passing creditably. She was owned by the Northwestern Transportation Company, and cost, two or three years ago, $30,000. No insurance.

She had on board a tolerably fair freight for this and adjacent towns, and there is no doubt but nearly all of it is damaged to such an extent, as to be worthless. It is feared that unless assistance arrives soon she will be a total wreck, as it is impossible for her to withstand much longer the heavy current that is perpetually surging around her. The accident is not attributed to carelessness, but purely a misfortune and could not otherwise be avoided.

The goods on board were owned as follows:

Prael & DuBuisson, dry goods and groceries valued at $1,100 or $1,200—no insurance. Christensen Brothers, groceries, $500—insured; Isaac Marks, groceries, clothing and dry goods, $3,260—insured; E. & W. Bradley, groceries, etc., insured; R. J. Thomas, groceries $350; J. F. Meagher, plows; Randall & Smith, shingles; R. Brachlesburg, cigars and liquor; J. H. Barr household furniture; Shanbut & Porter, groceries; W. H. Shepard, hop roots—Mankato; Thurston & Young, Vernon Center; T. N. Boynton, general merchandise, Garden City; Abbott & Welsh, Winnebago City; Eckstorm & Co., South Bend.

Two or three small boxes were washed off the boat and carried down the stream.

Quite a lot of express goods were on board but the American Express company will bear the loss.

Later:—The goods have all been taken from the wreck except perhaps a very few which lie in the hold. They were taken to the shore, and some were claimed by our merchants and brought to town. Most of them, however, were brought to the landing on the steamer Flora. Quantities of tea, sugar, salt, cheese, soap, and barrels of tobacco, were fished from the wreck in an almost ruined condition. On Wednesday they were being removed to the stores. Prael & Dubuisson's goods were mostly domestics, and are only slightly damaged. They will be able to sell them readily at a small discount upon their cost. Messrs. Marks and DuBuisson, as soon as the disaster happened, went to St. Paul and ordered new goods which they have already received and are offering them for sale.

Fortunately the orders of all the losers were small, they having purchased cautiously to meet only the immediate demand. Up to yesterday no boat or tackle had arrived with which to raise the Julia, but Capt. George Houghton, Superintendent of the line, is daily expecting the steamer Mankato to aid in the work. As yet there is a probability of saving her.

Pay Up!—The County Treasurer Jno. Wm. Hoerr, has commenced the process of "stirring up" the delinquent tax payers in earnest. Those who owe delinquent personal property taxes for 1866 or any former years, will save trouble and expense by settling the same immediately. The Treasurer has advertised and personally notified delinquents until "forbearance has ceased to be a virtue," and he now proposes to distrain and sell personal property for the payment of taxes, together with the costs of distress and sale. This is nothing more than justice to those who promptly pay their taxes, and no one can reasonably censure the Treasurer for doing what the duties of his office require him to do. "A word to the wise" ought to be "sufficient."

Those of our readers who lack a growth of hair upon the face, or those whose hair is falling out, or have become bald, would do well to try "Dr. Sevigne's Restaurateur Capillaire." This preparation has been used by thousands in this country and Europe, with the most gratifying results. Testimonials of the most flattering character have been received from the most wealthy and influential citizens of the country, and will be sent free to any one, on application, by Messrs. Berger, Shutts & Co., Chemists, of Troy, N. Y., the only agents in America for the sale of the same. Read their advertisement in this paper.

Special Session of the County Commissioners.

Board met May 7th, 1867. Present—Hanna, Grannis, Evans, Andrews. Called to order at 2½ o'clock p. m., and after publicly reading specifications for same, proceeded to canvass bids for erection of a jail. Contract awarded to Lewis J. Lewis for $10,300, and he is required to give bonds in the sum of $12,000 for fulfillment of contract. J. B. Birch appointed superintendent, and his compensation placed at 4 per cent of contract price.

Remonstrances presented against action of commissioners at last meeting in dividing school district No. 7, in Judson. No action taken, because only two notices were posted in the district.

Ordered, That tax be refunded on $330 over-assessment on 42½ feet lot 5, block 11, for 1866, to H. Bradley.

Agreed, with James Shoemaker, on sealed bids, being considered the lowest and most favorable bid for public Hall for use of May term of court, at $3 75 per day.

Petition of E. Palmer and others, for road from Scott & Worden's mill, in South bend, to Russell's store, in Sterling—a county road.—Commissioners Hanna and Grannis appointed a committee to view the same.

Contracts for building county jail presented by county attorney and approved—signed by A. Hanna, chairman, on behalf of the board, and Lewis J. Lewis, contractor. Bond of contractor presented and approved.

Road committee for this year were instructed not to expend more than $690 on roads and bridges. Commissioners Kinney and Andrews were chosen such committee.

The following resolution, with regard to Garden City bridge was adopted:

Resolved, By the Board of county commissioners of the county of Blue Earth, in session May 1867, that the claim of the town of Garden City, for the balance claimed to be due the said town from the county of Blue Earth, to aid the said town of Garden City in the erection of a bridge across the Watonwan river, which was carried away by a freshet during the month of April last, the said bridge not having been accepted by the agent of the said board duly appointed for that purpose, shall be referred to a board of referees, one of whome shall be appointed by this board, the second by the said town of Garden City, and those two to select a third referee; and the said board of referees shall meet at a time to be agreed upon by themselves, not later than the 15th day of June, 1867, at the town of Garden City, in said county, and hear the proofs and arguments in the case offered by the said parties, and their attorneys—both parties to have due notice of the time and place of such meeting, and the said referees to be first duly sworn and empowered to send for persons and papers. And that the decision of said referees, after a full hearing of both the law and the facts in said case, shall be final and binding upon both parties, who shall enter into a written agreement to this effect.

The road committee were instructed to view the bridge at Vernon, and have made all necessary repairs.

A. Hanna and superintendent of jail authorized to select and stake out the grounds for foundation of jail.

Capt. N. W. Dickerson was appointed referee on the part of the county, to investigate the Garden City bridge matter; and the chairman of the board authorized to appoint a substitute in case Capt. D., shall refuse to serve.

The chairman was authorized to sign the agreement between the county and supervisors of Garden City.

D. D. Evans authorized to expend $25 of the poor fund for Mrs. Jones, of Butternut Valley.

Adjurned.

Read the Certificate of Rev. R. T. Flualin.

To Dr. Hostetter:—Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was taken with the dyspepsia a year ago last March, and, for a period of eight months, was one of the most miserable creatures you ever beheld, not being able either to eat, drink or sleep, and was compelled to walk the floor incessantly. I was nearly deprived of my reason, and hope had entirely left me, all the efforts made for my recovery having proved fruitless.

By the first of November, 1865, I had become so weak and feeble that I could scarcely stand alone, and, to all appearance, would soon die. At this time (having read your advertisement,) my wife prevailed upon me to try your Bitters. A bottle was procured, and, strange to say, I soon commenced recovering. I have taken four bottles, and am enjoying as good health now as could be expected for one of my age (about sixty years). I have no doubt that it was your Bitters alone, under Divine Providence, that effected this wonderful cure.

A Horrible Case of Body-Snatching in Michigan.

From the Detroit Free Press, May 4.

A discovery of human remains was made near this city yesterday morning, under circumstances which reveal a chapter of the most horrible and revolting details. The remains were those of a woman apparently not more than twenty five or thirty years old. They were found in the thickly wooded bottom lands bordering on the Clinton River, in the rear of Paddock's mills, and in the neighborhood of the cemetery. They were entirely unburied, being left carelessly on the surface of the ground, and the stage of decomposition indicated that they had not been in that exposed situation more than two or three days. The skeleton had been completely extracted from the body: not a single bone was to be found in the decaying mass. The ground was much trodden, and there was every indication that busy work had been done. Cigar ends were lying about, and a scrap of the Detroit Post was found close by, bearing date the 27th of April, 1867, upon which a bloody knife appears to have been wiped.

These facts betray the history of the damnable outrage against law, decency and humanity, which has been perpetrated. The body was snatched from some new made grave in the cemetery close by, the grave clothing removed, placed back in the coffin, the coffin buried, and the grave restored as nearly as possible to its former appearance, the nude body carried to the woods near by and there mangled and outraged for the purpose of obtaining the skeleton. That skeleton, which so lately formed the frame of a lady well known, doubtless, to the most of us, now in all probability graces the anatomical collection of some one of the physicians of this city. The public suspicion attaches strongly, not only to the persons who are thought to have been the perpetrators, but also centres with a strange unanimity upon her who, it is feared, was the victim of this "deed without a name." Further investigation will doubtless throw a stronger light upon the case; strong enough, it is to be hoped, to lead to the apprehension and conviction of the perpetrators.

A Midnight Scene in General Grant's Tent.

From the Presbyterian.

The battle of Arbela was the eloquence of daring on the part of the young Macedonian king. That of Thermopylae was the eloquence of patriotism on the part of Leonidas and his helots. The battle of Austerlitz was the eloquence of bravery on the part of the young Corsican. The scene at Valley Forge was the eloquence of Faith on the part of Washington. The scene at the battle of the Wilderness combined all these elements, and added the eloquence of silence.

The well known result of the fierce conflict was adverse to the army of the United States. Gen. Lee had flung one wing of his army between our forces and the base of their supplies, which would require another battle to regain them. Each division and corps commander knew this sad state of affairs. They were all summoned to a council of war, to be held at the headquarters at one o'clock at night. They were the saddest steps ever taken by that band of devoted hearts. Fifteen thousand brave soldiers, dead or dying or wounded, were on the field hard by.

One after another entered, and making a noiseless salute, silently took their seats. Generals Schofield, Meade, Burnside, Sickles, Howard, and others, I believe, were there. Not a word was spoken. A full half hour thus passed by. Their emotions were too deep for utterance. Hopes of millions hung on the decision of that council.

At length Gen. Grant asked each one in succession if he had any advice to proffer. Each one answered with a sad monosyllable, No! The commander then wrote a few lines and handed the strip to Gen. Meade, and he retired. This was repeated until all were gone, and the General was left alone. One of the staff of a division commander, who was sick, was the last to retire, and he is our authority for the above.

All were ignorant of each other's order. They felt assured that retreat had been directed. Any other alternative would have been believed to be madness. Had they known that the order had been given to ADVANCE, instant and universal mutiny would have been raised. That eloquent silence, for which the commander has ever been noted, was the key to his success there.

The next morning each corps moved, and General Lee, the moment he perceived them, exclaimed: "Our enemy have a leader at last, and our cause is lost!" He had bid his officers, the night before, to let their soldiers sleep long. But now he saw the army, which he thought utterly defeated, moving round between him and his base of supplies. He hastened to begin retracing his course, and confessed to an artillery officer of the Confederate army that the doom of their cause was sealed.

Pat and the Ham.

Pat went to the house of the priest to confess his sins, and passed into the kitchen to ask for the holy father, but perceiving that there was no one in the room, while a fine ham was laying on the table fresh from market, Pat lost no time in securing the prize. Hiding it as well as he could under his coat, he proceeded to the appartment of the priest, and said—

"Here, your reverence, is a fine leg of bacon which I stole and brought as a present to your holiness. Will you take it?"

"Take it!" said the confessor, "by no means. Carry it back instantly."

"Faith an' I did, sir, and he said he would'nt take it, by no means."

"Very well, then, Patrick, you may keep it."

"An' I'll be absolved, your reverence?" demanded Pat.

"Yes, it is yours, if the owner will not take it back."

"Good morning; God bless ye; long life to your reference."

At a Celebration of a marriage in a Western city, a large number of young ladies were present. The minister said: "Those wishing to be joined in the holy bonds of matrimony will please stand up;" and nearly all arose.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City, was hardly recognized by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. DR. SCHENCK'S

PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. Schenck, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. Schenck makes professional visits to several of the large cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. Dr. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. [illegible]

A Card to Invalids.

A Clergyman, while residing in South America as a missionary, discovered a safe and simple remedy for the cure of Nervous Weakness, Early Decay, Disease of the Urinary and Seminal Organs, and the whole train of disorders brought on by baneful and vicious habits. Great numbers have been already cured by this noble remedy. Prompted by a desire to benefit the afflicted and unfortunate, I will send the reciept for preparing and using this medicine, in a sealed envelope, to any one who needs it, Free of Charge.

AMERICAN ORGAN

Makes home attractive, refines, and elevates the minds of all, beautiful in appearance and effect

SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent,
581 BROADWAY, NEW YORK.

The immense popularity of these Organs, and their superior musical powers, is fast bringing them before the public, as the instrument so long desired in AMERICAN HOMES. And although the cost price is but a trifle over the Melodeon, yet the musical advantages, beauty and general appearance of the organ are so far superior, that they are fast superseding the Melodeon and the call is now almost exclusively for the being adapted to any music, from the quickest and most lively, to the heavy tone of the Church Organ. And almost universally they are preferred to the Piano, by persons who have them, yet cost no less than half.

EXCELSIOR, EXCELSIOR.
CHASTELLAR'S
Hair Exterminator.
For Removing Superfluous Hair.

To the ladies especially, this invaluable depilatory recommends itself as being an almost indispensable article to female beauty, is easily applied, does not burn or injure the skin, but acts directly on the roots. It is warranted to remove superfluous hair from low foreheads, or from any part of the body, completely, totally and radically extirpating the same, leaving the skin soft, smooth and natural. This is the only article used by the French, and is the only real effectual depilatory in existance. Price 75 cents per package, sent post-paid, to any address, on receipt of an order, by

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name. But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full sound tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind or sound-box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, use it as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board, and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano.

This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequalled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted, no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address Mr. SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and see some them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

"Tell me ye winged winds,
That round my pathway roar;
Pray do ye know the spot,
Where our Library is in store?"

This question oft repeated,
To me no answer brings;
And I fear me that our money,
Has found a pair of wings.

Have we worked hard for nothing,
Thro' all those days and weeks?
Oh? I know our Treasury vaults,
Had many awkward leaks.

They told us that the money,
A score of books would buy,
Oh! one half would buy this city,
If they'ed all sell as cheap as I.

For I realy feel so sheepish,
To think they've fooled us so,
Why! we lost half our schooling,
In preparing for't, you know.

Well! There's just one conselation,
We earned the money fair,
Tho' the one that worked the least,
Has got the Lion's share.

We'll bear our ill's like martyrs,
Or else I am no guesser,
But will never trust again,

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

By Our own Reporter.

CHICAGO, May 14th, 1867.

EDITOR UNION:—A case of more than ordinary interest came up in our Superior Court yesterday, one which is likely to send a cold shudder through Springfield and cause no enviable emotions in the breasts of most of the members of our last Legislature, being nothing less than a manifestation of a well considered thoroughly organized and determined opposition to the new State House law. That law, when passed was so palpable a swindle that to get it through, are not particularly scrupulous General Assembly, its projectors and backers had to make it the nucleus of a combination for the passage with it of half a dozen other bills, each of which was of doubtful propriety, to say the least. They said to members "vote for the State House bill and we will give you an equal number of votes for the Southern Penetentiary," or the "Agricultural college," or the "Canal and river improvement" bill, or the "Penetentiary account" bill, or the "Metropolitan Police bill," or a score of others. The interests of all were tied together, and were mutually dependant, and so little confidence had these virtuous vote-traders in each other, that the passage of none of these important bills was allowed to be clenched by tabling of a motion for re-consideration, until all were put through up to this point. When the State House bill was put through however, great were the jubilations of its friends. They did not anticipate the action of one Mathew Laflin, who would and has come into a Chicago Court and filed a bill charging the law with being in a dozen ways illegal, unconstitutional and void, the Commissioners with being usurpers of authority, their power to spend the States money a myth, and praying that they may be legally restrained from any more such nonsense. Here the matter rests at present. By tomorrow morning all Springfield will doubtless be here in a state of intense excitement prepared to fight the thing through to the atmost.

THE EIGHT HOUR STRIKE, is daily growing "small by degrees and beautifully less," there are still a lot of tubulent and discontented men, who, urged on by the harangues of a few demogogues, continue to meet daily, and reiterate that they will not work except on the eight hour system, so they are rapidly getting very hungry, while their places are being gradually but surely filled with new men. In proportion as they find their cause desperate they propose again violent measures. Yesterday they excluded the reporters of the Tribune, Post and Times from their meeting, because those gentlemen, had always published just what was said and done. If a speaker said that he "would rather go to the poor house than work ten hours a day," or advises his auditors "if you find yourselves hungry, kill you neighbors cow and eat her, you have a right to live," or counselled them "if men come here from other cities to work, take a club to them, send them back with a kick and a curse," all these things were faithfully reported. The Republican, on the other hand, gave what are termed "favorable accounts," and its representative was allowed to remain. The great "Eagle Works Co.," are about adopting the policy of making all their employees stock holders in the company, a sure and deadly blow at the eight hour system. The railroad shops are the only ones, which are yet to any extent, affected by the strike.

OPERATIC AND DRAMATIC.

Next Monday evening we shall have the first of a weeks operatic entertainment, under the management of Mr. Strakasch. Parepa, the very big woman who has the very little husband. Rosa, who by the way, is a very good fiddlist, and Brynolia, are the principal attractions. The season opens with "Il Lavatore," and offers nothing new during its continuance. Chanfrau is playing "Sam," at McVicker's, and at Wood's "Cherry" Fair Star, is still retained on the bill.

THE BAPTIST ANNIVERSARIES

come off here during the coming week, and it is expected that several thousand strangers will be in the city to attend them. The denomination is very strong in this section of the country and manifests an earnest go-ahead ative, sort of christianity from which one is justified in expecting a great deal.

DAMAGES.

Leonard W. Volk, the celebrated sculptor, of this city, has sued the Chicago City Railroad Co., for $25,000 damages, in consequence of severe injuries sustained by his wife, some months since, when she was riding on a horse car, the driver of which amused himself by going in front of a rapidly moving locomotive. Volk, by the way, intends going to Italy next autumn or winter, to perfect some statues and other ordered work, for which he has already made the models.

ART.

A lady artist, Mrs. La Mont, formerly of Iowa, has recently taken a studio in the Crosby Opera House, and is creating quite a sensation by her exquisite little fruit and flower pictures. She bids fair to rank, ere long, among the finest flower painters in this country, and already her pictures are in great demand.

DR. J. ADAMS ALLEN,

a man as much honored for his great scientific attainments and rare literary ability, as he is respected and beloved by all who know him for his inestimable worth as man and friend, has assumed control of the Chicago Medical Journal, which may be expected hereafter from his association with it, to rank among the leading medical journals not merely of this country, but of the world. Dr. Allen has been for years one of the most prominent members of the Faculty of Rush Medical College of this city.

COMMERCIAL.

The grain markets are very heavy to-day and the "bears" continue to bring the prices down. Flour is easy at $12 75 @ 14 00 for spring extras. Wheat dull and down to $2 58 @ 2 64 for No. 2. Corn unsettled and declining, stood at the close of the market 92 @ 95 cents for No. 1, 86 @ 88 c for No. 2, 76 @ 76½ for rejected. Oats 62½ @ 64½ for No, 2. Rye $1 51 @ 1 54 for No. 1, $1 67 for No. 2. Barley, flat, $1 20 @ 1 30 for sample lots only quotations. Provisions dull. Prices nominable unchanged.

DON.

TREE PLANTING AND WIND BREAKS.

For The Union.

There is no subject worthy of more attention than the subject of tree planting and I am pleased that it is begining to receive that attention by horticulturists and agriculturists which its importance demands. It is not necessary to reherse the necessity of tree planting for the benefits to be derived from good wind breaks, these are understood by all who have an interest in such matters.

The size and kinds of trees to set, the varieties of seeds to plant, the time, the best plan or mode of planting for wood and wind breaks, are the questions to be considered.

Edgar Sanders, of Chicago, who has had considerable experience in tree planting, in England and in this country, says:

"The first thing to be thought of, for extensive planting, is the size of the trees? Now these must be small, eighteen inches to two feet is abandantly large; trees of this height, every nurseryman will tell you, can be easily transplanted with a loss not exceeding ten per cent., often much less."

This statement is true of any tree, no matter what the variety. It is as true of elm or maple, as it is of the apple.

In selecting trees, we should always have in view the use we wish to make of them. "Ornamental and useful trees," as the phrase runs, may be properly divided into two classes. 1st, Those which adorn and beautify home and its surroundings, and, 2d, Those which, in a dollar and cent view, pay to raise. For lending that beautiful and picturesque appearance to home, so attractive to people of culture and taste, the evergreen stands pre-eminently above all other trees. These are the true ornaments of lawns and pleasure grounds. Several varieties of the evergreens judicially arranged and intermingled together give a wonderful and pleasing effort.

The following named varieties are ornamental for beauty and fast growth:

Norway Spruce, grows into a vast symmetrical pyramid, of light green foliage. Austrian Pine, makes a strong robust tree with rich green foliage, is a rapid grower, very hardy, and easily raised from the seed. Scotch Pine, is one of the best for general purposes. Thomas Wheelian, of Germantown, Penn., says: "For wind breaks, screens or rapid growth nothing is more desirable."

Hemlock Spruce, Balsam Fir, Arborvitoe, Berberry, the Junipers and the Red Cedar are all well known to the public as "ornamental and useful trees." In raising evergreens from the seed, great care must be taken to keep the seeds in order. A very good plan to keep the seed until planting time is to pack the seed in a box with slightly damp sand and place the box in a cool and protected situation, either in an out house or burried in the ground. Early planting is desirable and it would be well to have the ground prepared, in the fall. The seed-bed should be so arranged that the seed may be sown in drills east and west, this plan will assist in shading, which may be done by planting peas close to the drills, on the south side. In setting out evergreens it would be well to shade them the first season, or until they become established.

Of the deciduous, or dollar and cent trees, there are many varieties deserving of special notice.

I give the names of a few, and for the purposes of wood, rails, wind-breaks &c., I prefer them in the order in which they are mentioned. Soft Maple, Ashleaved Maple, the Elms, American White Birch, Red and White Ash. There are many others which might be planted with profit. The Black Walnut, the Hickory and the Oaks do well from the seeds. They grow rapidly and when of sufficient size are valuable for lumber, posts, &c. The Ashleaved Maple is a beautiful tree, pyramidal in form deep green foliage and is as much of an ornament in the lawn, as it is beneficial in the wind break.

It transplants well, also does well from the seed, which may be gathered in the fall. It will grow equally as well from slips or cuttings, and grows rapidly. From the sap of this tree a clear syrup is made equal in sweetness to honey. Those who cultivate the Ashleaved Maple will be abundantly repaid for their time and labor.

Soft Maple does wonderfully well in the grove or wind break, being a rapid grower. The seed of this tree ripens about the 1st of June, when it may be gathered and planted and will make a growth of from six to eighteen inches. The seed must be sown within a day or two after it is gathered, otherwise it will become damaged. A good plan to raise a wind break of Soft Maple from the seed, is to have the ground well prepared, that is plowed and harrowed until it is mellow, then after you get the seed, with one horse and a ——— plow, furrow the ground, and drill the seed, thickly, in the fresh earth, and cover very light. Trees of one years growth may be procured of nurserymen at the rate of six dollars per thousand.

Within five years, from the seed of soft Maple, a good wind break may be had, and in ten, wood and poles of sufficient length and size for good fencing material. Elm seed may be treated the same as Maple.

For setting out a large number of trees, I would recommend the following plan: Lay out the ground in furrows, the desired distance apart, say eight feet, then a boy and a man with a hoe can set out the trees almost as fast as they can walk along, the boy holding the trees in the furrow while the man pulls in the soil with the hoe. Much has been said concerning spring and fall planting, I prefer to plant trees in the Spring, but the ground should be prepared the fall previous. In planting out trees for wind breaks the better plan is to set the trees close together, always having in view the nature of the trees. Such trees as the Oak, Walnut and Elms should be planted a considerable distance apart, filling up the space with trees of less grandure and majesty. Trees planted close together will shade the ground sooner and thereby dispense with the labor of cultivating them. Another important reason for planting close together is that the trees will assist each other and run up much faster than if otherwise planted. If trees are set out in rows, say 4 feet apart and 2 feet in the row, it will require 5,445 trees to the acre. If trees are set eight by three it will require 1,815 trees per acre, and if they are set twelve by four, it will require 908 trees. To get the number of trees required to the acre, divide the square feet in an acre by the distance multiplied together. When trees are set in rows eight or twelve feet apart it would be well to plant a row of plumbs, cherries, gooseberries, &c., between, and thus raise your own fruit. These small trees and shrubs will act as "under brush" and make a valuable addition to the wind break.

The Wheat Crop.

During a trip over the Michigan Central Railroad a few days since, we took occassion to mark the condition of the wheat crop on the line of that road, and we take pleasure in saying that the prospect for a munificent crop never looked better. There seemed to be a very large breadth sown, the stand is exceedingly thick, and the color in every respect satisfactory to the eye of the farmer. If no unforeseen disaster should visit the wheat crop between this and the period for putting in the reaper, we think we may safely look for a big crop of the favorite Michigan wheat.

Our exchanges in almost every direction speak in enthusiastic terms of the bright prospects of the coming wheat crop. This is the universal tenor of their remarks.

The Atlanta (Ga.) New Era says the news from the country all around Atlanta, for a hundred miles or more, as to the growing wheat crop, is the most cheering. Not only was there an unusual breadth sown, but as far as could be heard from all directions, the reports are in the highest degree promising. If no mischief befalls it before the harvest, it will exceed that of any former crop. It is estimated that ten millions bushels of wheat will be gathered from the counties on and contiguous to the Georgia State, Railway.—Chicago Tribune, May 14th.

Jeff. Davis' Bondmen.

Jefferson Davis has been admitted to bail. He is now at liberty to go whethersoever he pleases, provided that when called upon to appear he shall attend the court at Richmond. This obligation he has assumed, and has produced in open court three men, good and true, who have entered into a pecuniary contract that when his presence is required they will produce his body, if living. One of these good men and true is Horace Greeley, a name hitherto not unknown to fame, but destined henceforth to be indissolubly connected with that of the great traitor in the history of the rebellion. So long as the civil war of 1861 5 will be remembered, so long will the name of Jefferson Davis be rescued from oblivion, and there can be no mention of Jefferson Davis without a remembrance that on the bond executed for his release on bail is written the name of Horace Greeley. Harmonious union of antipodes; felicitous blending of philosophical commiseration with unparalleled crime; philanthrophy and treason; order and disorder; peace and humanity, rebellion and civil war; slavery and freedom; union and disunion; democratic equality and despotic oligarchy;—Jefferson Davis and Horace Greeley.

FROM MEXICO,

The Situation at Quaretaro.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—The following news has been received from Hon. L. D. Campbell. His messenger to Juarez returned to day, having made the trip from Matamoras to San Luis Potosi and back in fifteen days, remaining at San Luis two days. He was treated with the greatest courtesy by the Liberals. He reports that Escobedo had 30,000 troops at Quaretaro, and was in possession of all the roads but one, with the expectation of getting that. Maximilian was inside the city with 15,000 men. The feeling among the Liberals and his native officers was that in case of their capture, it was thought that he would not be able to save them. Juarez and his Generals are confident of a speedy triumph at Quaretaro, and expected to be in possession of the City of Mexico in two months. The messenger left Juarez at San Luis, the 23d ult.

REGISTRATION IN LOUISIANA.—Advices from New Orleans, received at Washington, show that 15,000 persons have been registered there as voters under the reconstruction act. The white people are registering very freely now, but the colored men already have several thousand majority in the State of Louisiana. Returns from the registrations show that five colored men to one white are being registered on the average.

The Mankato Union.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 24, 1867.

W. B. GRISWOLD, - Editor and Pro'r

ANOTHER RAILROAD.

Our older citizens will perhaps recollect that in 1857, a railroad company was incorporated by the State Legislature, called the Minnesota North Western Railway Company which had for its object the building of a railroad from the Iowa line below Austin via Austin to Mankato, South Bend, New Ulm and Big Stone Lake. Among the incorporators were F. E. Bissell of Dubuque, and Dr. W. R. McMahan and Bazil Moreland of Mankato, and Francis Baasen and Col. Pfender of New Ulm. A majority of the corporators accepted the provisions of the charter, held a meeting, subscribed $100,000 of stock, elected a board of Directors, and the Directors chose Dr. W. R. McMahan President, and Francis Baasen Secretary. Mr. Baasen still has the records of the company in his custody and in good condition. Owing to the depression of business during the years of '58 and '59 the company were unable to proceed with their work. In order to proceed again under this charter, it was deemed necessary to revive it by legislative enactment. This was done last winter, and several new corporators, and points on the route were added. We understand that the people of Wilton, Winnebago Agency and Geneva are bestiring themselves to infuse new life into the corporation, with a view of building this road at the eariest moment possible. The people of Mankato cannot be idle spectators to any important project which will benefit us, and therefore considerable interest is being felt in this enterprise. It is said that the McGregor Rail road Company have already surveyed to the Agency, twelve miles from Mankato, and that this company is the "power behind the throne" which is not only desirous of seeing the line completed, but will if necessary build the road themselves. We have waited long and anxiously, to see some announcement of the assumption of labor upon the Winona & Mankato railway. Before it reaches Mankato, and connects with eastern roads, there are at least eighty miles of road to be built, which is at least as great a distance as between Mankato and Austin. Two months have elapsed wherein the road ought to have progressed but has not, and this discouraging fact leads us to cast about for another outletto the eastern market.

MOSES A. HAWKES.

Our readers recollect that the above named gentleman was arrested and held on bail, for his appearance before the Grand Jury, at the May term of Court in St. Paul, for the crime of murder, he having shot his wife last summer, at a hotel of that city, and alleged it to have been an accident. The Grand Jury indicted him for murder last week, and he made application to be bailed until his trial takes place. The court granted the request, and fixed the bail at $5,000. The following named gentlemen are his bondsmen: W. F. Davidson, Horace Thompson, D. D. Merrill, J. J. Shaw, J. B. Slichter, A. W. Etter. The prisoner was immediately discharged. His trial will probably take place in a few days.

MEETING OF SCHOOL SUPERINTENDENTS.

Hon. Mark H. Dunnell makes the following announcements for meeting the School Superintendents of this part of the State:

In Owatonna, at Barker House, Tuesday, June 11th, for the Counties of Steele, Mower, Freeborn, Dodge, Faribault, Martin, Rice, Goodhue and Waseca.

In Mankato, Friday, June 14th, for the Counties of Blue Earth, Brown, Nicollet, Scott, Sibley, Meeker and Le Seuer.

The Superintendent of Faribault, and also Martin county, can meet at Mankato rather then at Owatonna, if more convenient. Each Superintendent is cordially and earnestly invited to be present at the meetings as above called, and be prepared to give his views upon such educational topics as he deems worthy of discussion, and such as his official experience shall suggest. It is believed that these meetings may be made of great mutual benefit, and result in the advancement of the important interest committed to our charge.

No hour in the day has been fixed for the meeting. It will be desirable for the members to be present at as early an hour as convenient. The session will continue till the succeeding day.

THAT GRIST QUESTION.

Last month COL. W. W. MURPHY, sent us a communication in reference to short weights in some grists, which were milled at a flouring mill, the owners of whom were not directly mentioned. The guilty conscience of Mr. T. G. Quayle, needing no accuser, he admits his to be the mill referred to, and in a letter to the Record, avoids the charge by making his principal attack upon the editor of the UNION, who had said nothing, and incidentally referring to Col. Murphy, and to the cause of the short weight in flour. That our readers may understand that the controversy was not provoked by us, we re publish Col. Murphy's letter; and to show how far Mr. Quayle has confined his remarks to the limit of replying to Col. Murphy's charges, we publish his letter also in full:

COL. MURPHY'S LETTER.

MR. EDITOR:—As Editors are supposed to know everything, I propose to ask you for some information about mills—flouring mills I mean. I will state my case in full, and as there are some of my neighbors in a like uncertainty, a little information may relieve and enlighten us all. I took to a certain flouring mill, in a certain city a grist of wheat, which after being run through the fanning mill, and then carefully measured, amounted to fourteen bushels. A pair of scales being handy, I then weighed it, and found the weight to be 840 pounds clear of the sacks, or 60 pounds per bushel. The very fine gentleman, who was condescending enough to "do the miller" then looked at it, and announced it "very pretty wheat indeed," and agreed to grind it for one eighth (⅛). Now I got said grist home a few days since, and proceeded to sum up the result, which was as follows:

Flour being 32 1-7 pounds per bushel..	450lbs
Coarse flour and shorts being five pounds per bushel....................	70 "
Bran being ten pounds per bushel...	140 "
Millers toll..................................	150 "

or 75 pounds short.

Now I would like to know what became of that 75 pounds. Well, you say, why not ask the miller? Why, my dear sir, he counts all such questions impertinent, shoves up his shoulders and sets some of the machinery to rattling, so one cannot hear themselves think, and are glad to escape with a little flour, before the old mill falls down and kills you. The people of Minnesota have been in the habit of standing all kinds of extortion, if not worse from millers, but I now imagine the day is about to pass away, and I am pleased to say there are many gentlemanly and upright men engaged in the milling business, in Blue Earth County. But from the amount of grumbling about short weight, which I hear among my neighbors who have recently been to mill at a certain ambitious little town in your county, I judge there is a moral discrepancy existing among some of that honorable calling, who go by the name of millers.

MR. QUAYLES LETTER.

MR. EDITOR:—I take the liberty to request the privilege of replying through the columns of the RECORD, to a scurrilous article published in the columns of the Mankato Union, of the 12th inst.

It appears that Mr. Griswold, not content with his futile attempts to play "chanticleer" for the amusement of the citizens of Mankato and neighboring villages, has concluded to attack and if possible annihilate a few quiet, law-abiding citizens by employing a species of hangers on or deadheads residing in Watonwan county to falsify and defame their characters and professions. His correspondent charges a gentlemen who condescended to play the part of miller in a certain ambitious little town with illegally retaining 75 pounds of a grist left by him to be floured at said mill. The facts in the case will show his bare faced assertions to be false in every particular. By reference to our books we find that a man residing at Madelia by name of W. W. Murphy, (formerly a member of the 14th P. V. C.,) left at the "Yankee Mills" seven bags containing fourteen bushels of wheat. The wheat was good, and only one eighth was taken for toll. The smut mill separated from said grain at least 2½ lbs of foul seed, etc., per bushel which Mr. M., did not count in his estimate of the amount stolen from him. A few days afterward Rev. Mr. Belknap, one of Murphy's neighbors, called at the mill to procure two grists—one belonging to said Murphy, the other to a man by the name of Chase. There were not bags enough to hold all of Murphy's grist, lacking 45 lbs of bran. Mr. Belknap was in a hurry, and having no bag in which to put it, said he would leave it, and let Mr. M., attend to it some future time, he taking all of the grist then in the bags. The 45 lbs of bran is now in the mill, and for fear that we might rob him of a pound or so would request him to call and take the same away, ere it is all stolen.

Now, Mr. Editor, we would candidly ask you and the readers of the RECORD, if it does not appear to you, that there is a motive, base, degraded, even develish, in the attempts of Mr. Griswold and his co-adjutor to blacken and destroy the character and trade of men who never done either of them the least harm.

I am ashamed to even acknowledge the editor of the Union as one of the "stars" of the party to which I belong. His disgraceful conduct during the past six weeks, is to me, a true mirror, showing plainly the foul miasma, overflowing like a river, a soul black as night and a heart cold and unfeeling as the mother earth. Would to God

"That he could see himself as others see him,
"Twould free mani a blunder frae him."

Yours, truly,
THOS. G. QUAYLE.
"Yankee Mills."

Col. Murphy, one of the substantial and reliable men of the western border of our county, wrote his communication simply to reflect the vast amount of complaint he heard, hoping it might produce good effect without directly exposing the guilty party. Had nothing further been said, the public could only have surmised his meaning, while the man Quayle, smitten by his own con science, and threatened by a menace of public exposure, might have corrected one of his bad habits. Or, had he a valid defence to the charges, and desired simply to vindicate himself before those who read Col. Murphy's article, he would have dispensed with his malice toward us, and sent his reply to the UNION, where it could be seen by the same persons who read Col. Murphey's communication. Our readers will mark the difference between the course pursued by Mr. Quayle, and that of Davis Brothers, of this city, who were attacked in the columns of the Record, by a correspondent in reference to some beef. In reply, the latter gentlemen attacked the correspondent and not Mr. Wise, and this was the proper course. Mr. Quayle attacks us instead of our correspondent, which course is either attributable to ignorance or malice, both of which are essential ingredients in the composition of so grand a rascal as Thomas G. Quayle. It is evident then that, writhing in the bitterness of guilt, and seeking a vent for inward corruption, he confesses and avoids the transaction at the mill, and showers upon us a specimen of filth which could generate only among the vilest of the vile.

We wish to give the public further information concerning those grists, and then to speak of that portion of his article which concerns us.

We have before us the evidence that Col. Murphey's grist fell short 75 pounds, and that the grist of Mr. John Chase, of 15 bushels milled at the same time fell short 83 pounds. Quayle admits that some bran was left over, but that it was because Rev. Mr. Belknap had no sacks to carry it away with. We will inquire now if Chase had any bran left. He was short 83 lbs not of bran, but of the different grades of flour. There was method in his knavery. In a grist of 14 bushels 75 lbs were kept, and in a grist of 15 bushels 83 lbs. But the Rev. Mr. Belknap says he had plenty of empty bags to carry all the flour. Mr. Quayle said nothing about the remaining bran, and he went home in the full belief that he had the correct weight. By the mouth of many witnesses is the truth confirmed, and Rev. Mr. Belknap, Col. W. W. Murphy, and Mr. John Chase stand ready with others of their neighbors to make good this testimony. These circumstances and his own statements not only brand Quayle as a liar, but hang like a cloud of weight upon his character as a man of business integrity. Mr. Quayle himself, unless he has lost his senses, could not be satisfied with his own vindication, and to cast off the odium which his conduct has wrought him, he calls us a few of his pet names, by way of diversion. We never passed a harsh word with him, but on the contrary have always treated him with courtesy, and at his and his agent's request noticed in our local columns his brand of flour many times without pay. We have also as far as possible avoided personalities in our columns, except in politics or in the criticism of public men. We have forborne with Mr. Quayle when we knew that at the jail seat election, he was on the street, under our nose, cursing us with a malignity seldom equaled, because we opposed the removal of the county seat. It is our lot, however, to be beaten by mad-caps, white-caps, breakers and flood-wood, but we have planted ourselves so firmly upon the theory that "right wrongs nobody" that we are not disturbed when malice hurls her largest shot over our towers. If millers take illegal toll, or traders use false weights, or crime in any form creeps stealthily into the storehouses or firesides of our patrons, the columns of the UNION are always open as an instrument in its detection.

Mr. Quayle is ashamed that he belongs to the same politidal party that the UNION does. It is a shame, and the only way for him to belong to a different party is to join the democracy. The loss of one vote would be recompensed by the increased purity of the republican party, should he determine to leave us. But while he remains with us, he seems like a boorish member of the family; he fawns and flatters the stranger, and turns and rends his own household. We come in for our full share of abuse and treachery. Eminent men as well as Republics will, however, have enemies, who would gladly plot their ruin. The Colonies had their Arnold, the United States its Aaron Burr, Republicans of Minnesota their Norton, Lincoln his Booth, Ceasar his Brutus, and why should'nt we have our quail? If Mr. Quayle thinks he can enter the arena of newspaper controversy and succeed against such odds as an editor has against him, we pity his folly and distrust his judgment. We trust that with him better counsel will prevail, but if he should choose otherwise let him

STATE NEWSPAPERS.

The Rochester Republican has been merged into the Post and the latter paper now appears in folio form, with eight wide columns. It is just our ideal of a first class weekly journal. It is no flattery to say that the Post is a splendid paper.

The Wabash Herald has enlarged to a nine column sheet, and presents a fine appearance. Its proprietors are men of energy and ability and deserve a prosperous career.

The Northfield Recorder comes to us enlarged to a seven column sheet, and is in every respect a credit to that pleasant village. Mr. Kimball deserves the united support of that community, and he will doubtless have it.

Our County Funds.

The following article was clipped from the financial columns of the Chicago Daily Republican of 18th inst., and it appears so appropriate to the late "situation" of a portion of the funds of Blue Earth county, that with a few words of explanation I ask its insertion in your paper.

It seems that our County Board at a recent session appointed their Chairman to act as Agent for the negotiation of the Bonds of the County issued for the purpose of building a Jail, and that the chairman came to the conclusion after thus negotiating the most of the Bonds that his "Boots" were a more appropriate place for the County funds than with the legal custodian of the same, that is to say, the County Treasurer of Blue Earth County.

It not appearing in this light to the County Treasurer, he demanded the possession of the funds which was finally very reluctantly accorded—the mandamus of Judge Austin not seming particularly desirable to the prospective candidate for the State Senate.

Taking it all in all, it was a very cool and unwarranted assumption of authority on the part of the Chairman of the County Board—a very bad precedent to be set for future officials, and it is to be hoped that in time to come, all the funds of the County will be left with the legal custodian, that is to say with the County Treasurer, who for his prompt action in this case is entitled to the thanks of every tax payer in the county.

OFFICE CHICAGO DAILY REPUBLICAN, }
Friday Evening, May 17, 1867. }

Some of the bankers of this city have made an offer to the Common Council to pay 4 per cent. per annum for the money deposited by the City Treasurer. This is a very liberal offer, but inasmuch as it is a recognized principle among sound bankers that the payment of interest on deposits is dangerous alike to the banker and the depositor, we are unable to see why the Common Council or the City Treasurer should accept the proposed offer. If the city of Chicago desires to make money out of its deposits, the proper mode of procedure would be to let them out to the highest bidder. Perhaps there are some bankers who might be willing to pay as high as 5 per cent. per annum; and there may be others who would be glad to get them by the payment of 6 per cent. Furthermore, there may be some responsible private mercantile house who might imagine it profitable to pay 7 or 8 per cent. for the deposits.

But this whole matter of forcing the City Treasurer to make his deposits in this or that bank is wrong in principle. He gives a good bond for the money which he has in his possession, and if the Common Council attempts to dictate to him where he shall deposit his funds, they release his sureties. If the sureties are released, then the office of City Treasurer is a nullity. The whole of the finances of the city, then, had better be placed in the hands of the Comptroller, and a banker be appointed by the Common Council to take care of the funds. The objection to such a plan is that the city charter does not provide for such a state of affairs. It provides for the election by the people of a City Treasurer, who is required to give bonds for the money which he receives, and nothing more. He may deposit that money in his boot leg if he chooses, or he may deposit it in any of the safes of any of our bankers. The city has security for its funds, and that is all that the law demands.

TAX PAYER.

FROM VERNON CENTRE.

By our own Reporter.

Farmers here are mostly through seeding and much more wheat is sown this spring than usual, $2,50 per bushel has nerved them to extra exertions. Although they cannot expect such a price after harvest still it will probably bring a better price than heretofore. Not much of the corn is yet planted but it will be soon if the rain permits.

S. W. Thurston has just received the appointment of Notary Public. will soon be prepared to attend to a Notary's duties.

We are glad that the County Commissioners have seen fit to repair our bridge. As the water returns to its channel we find that the bridge is more damaged than was at first supposed, the piles which support the bridge upon each bank are badly undermined by the action of the current upon the soft earth until many of these have but slight support. The bridge is still in use but can hardly be considered safe.

FROM MAPLETON.

By our own Reporter.

ED. UNION.—Credit to whom credit is due—is our motto. We wish therefore to correct the statement furnished you for publication that Ira Annes of Mapleton has refused two dollars per bushel for wheat of speculators and is selling to needy settlers at $1,50 per bu. giving credit until fall. Mr. Annes has been and is, asking $2,25 per bushel for wheat and nothing but the ready cash will buy. There can be no blame, on the other hand we believe it to be a duty circumstanced as he claims to be, but to those who are helping the needy and destitute in this their darkest day be all the praise, and to none other.

By dint of manly exertion by the poor, and a goodly share of liberality on the part of those more able, our town is supplied with seed, not an acre of tillable soil we believe will lie idle for want of it. There may be exceptions of which we have not heard.

Corn will receive a fair share of attention notwithstanding the sad experience of last year. Two poor corn years seldom come together, seems to be the decision of the majority.

ACCIDENT.—On Thursday the 9th inst. Kenneth McLellan of sterling, gun in hand, approached some ducks, sheltered by a log in front. On approaching the log the ducks flew. McLellan rose and placed the butt of the gun on the log but it slipped off striking the hammer so as to cause a discharge of the piece. It seems he must have been standing over it, as the charge was received in the lower part ot the right breast taking a direction directly upward making a fearful flesh wound, but luckily touching no vital part. He is doing well and there is no doubt of his entire recovery.

NOTARIES PUBLIC AND DEALERS IN REAL ESTATE.

Having been associated in the practice of the law and dealing in Real Estate in Mankato for the past ten years and becoming fully posted in all matters pertaining to Real Estate, its quality, location and title in Blue Earth and adjoining counties, we have in a measure withdrawn from the practice of law to give especial attention to Real Estate business.

We will buy and sell for ourselves and others. Have constantly on hand and offering for sale some of the choicest lands and farms in the county. Village lots in Mankato, for business or dwellings. Improved farms and village lots, for sale and for rent. Will examine titles, pay taxes and take charge of lands for non-residents.

All persons wishing to purchase lands or lots in our locality will do well to call upon us before purchasing. Non-residents wishing to dispose of their lands will find it to their advantage to leave them with us.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 24, 1867.

—Read the advertisement of Messrs. Berger, Shutts & Co., in another column, headed, "Afflicted, suffer no more."

—Attention is called to the advertisement in another column, of Madame H. A. Perrigo, of Buffalo, N. Y., the great Astrologist and Clairvoyant. Madame P. can be consulted by letter, on all affairs of life, past, present and future.

SUDDEN DEATH.—Mr. Samuel Presnell, of the town of LeRay, and in the employ of Capt. J. R. Beatty, at his stone quarry in Lower Town, was taken suddenly ill on Saturday evening last, and died Sunday evening about midnight. He was a man of athletic form and in perfect health up to Saturday evening. The doctors pronounce his disease congestion of the brain.

PAYMENT OF ADDITIONAL BOUNTY.—The Department have commenced the payment of the additional bounty, though quite slowly as yet. Messrs. Buck & Freeman, Bounty Agents, received last week $100 additional bounty, for Philipp Patten, Co. B., Brackets Minn. Bat. Cav. See their special notice elsewhere.

DISSOLUTION.—The firm of Thompson & Parsons has been dissolved by mutual consent. Mr. Thompson has already returned to Garden City, and commenced business. Mr. Parsons continues business at the old stand, and invites the public to examine his well selected assortment of spring goods.

BASE BALL CLUB.—The members of the Base Ball Club held their regular meeting last Saturday evening. J. R. Tinkcom was elected President, vice Judge Waite, resigned. W. B. Griswold of the UNION, and J. C. Wise of the Record, were elected honorary members of the club. "This means representation without taxation." The club has our hearty thanks for so much of the compliment as relates to us.

JURORS.—In the list of jurors drawn for the U. S. District Court to be held at Winona June 3d we notice the name of Robert Taylor of Mapleton.

In the list of Grand Jurors for the U. S. Circuit Court, to be held at St. Paul, June 17th we notice the name of J. F. Wickersham of this city; also L. G. M. Fletcher of this city, as petit juror.

NEW STORE.—We publish elsewhere the advertisement of J. & H. J. Owens who have established themselves next door to Bradley's in the hardware business. They have purchased, they think, the finest stock of tin and sheet iron ever brought to Mankato, and with Mr. Sparrow to superintend their work, they offer superior inducements in the line of stoves and tin ware, hardware, and all kinds of farmers implements. Buying their goods low for cash they are able to sell as cheap as the cheapest. Give them a call.

RIVER--RAIN.—It rained on Easter Sunday, and therefore, they say, we are to have seven rainy Sundays. We have had five of them, with a prospect, from the appearance of the firmament, of getting the other two within less than a week. The river from recent rains has risen about three feet, but is now falling. The roads are in bad condition and consequently trade is dull. In no other particular is the weather detrimental to a prosperous season.

REAPERS AND MOWERS.—Among the late freight arrivals we notice a large invoice of McCormick and Beloit reapers and mowers for Messrs. Howard & Hall who are preparing to offer them for sale. They claim that these machines are superior to any in the market and will sell them as cheap and on as good terms as any other dealers. For further particulars inquire of John. N. Hall, Esq., cashier of J. J. Thornton & Co.'s Bank.

CONCERT.—The Methodist Choir will give a vocal and instrumental concert at the Methodist Church, on Wednesday evening, May 20th, the proceeds to be used in purchasing a new organ for the church. Price of admission 25 cents. The choir has been practicing for some time for this occassion, and will favor the public with a number of new and excellent pieces. We hope they may be honored with a full house, as no effort will be spared to interest and please, and the object is worthy of the most liberal encouragement.

DENTISTRY.—By refering to the card of Dr. Stauffer it will be noticed that Mr. A. C. May has been associated with him in the business of dentistry, under the firm name of Stauffer & May. Mr. May learned his profession in Indianapolis, Ind., and has long been a resident of that city. He comes among us with every element of a successful practitioner, and the firm will doubtless be able to cater to the wants of the public with great efficiency. Our citizens will consult their interest by giving proper encouragement to these gentlemen, as we are greatly in need of permanent dental rooms in this city.

NEW VILLAGE BOARD.—The Trustees elect met at the office of Finch & Pitcher. Present, W. H. Shepard, J. Q. A. Marsh, and Jacob Bierbauer Trustees, E. D. B. Porter, Clerk, Geo. A. Clarke Treasurer, and L. C. Johnson Marshall. W. H. Shepard was elected President. The license of auctioneers was reduced from $100 to $30,—licenses to expire Dec 31st in each year. Hiram Yates was appointed Road Overseer. for Dist. No 1, and Michael Ulman for Dist. No. 2. A Schedule of the duties of Village Marshall is to be reported next meeting.

On Wednesday evening the Board met and agreed to buy Fletcher's ferry with wire rope for $350, the boat to be placed in running order. Without wire they are to pay $250. It was ordered to advertise for proposals to run the ferry boat by the month. A road poll tax of two days was levied, also a highway tax of two mills. The salary of village clerk was fixed at $10 per month. The Marshall is to receive Constable fees for like duties, and 5 per cent. on collection of special taxes.

FAIRBANKS' SCALES.—About forty years ago the Messrs. Fairbanks invented and began manufacturing these Scales, and ever since then their business has steadily and rapidly increased, and they have kept far ahead of all competition. During the last year they added largely to their works, and their sales were very greatly in excess of any former year. This fact is unusual, if not unparalleled, in the history of inventions and business in this country, and proves clearly that their Scales are in all respects just what the people want. Their advertisement appears elsewhere.

MUSICAL INSTITUTE.—Prof. O. D. Adams, musical instructor of the State Normal school, of Winona, will hold a musical Institute in that city, commencing Monday Aug. 5th 1867, and continuing four weeks. He will have to assist him F. W. Root, of the firm of Root & Cady Chicago Ill. Instruction will be given in the art of teaching music, training classes or choirs, conducting church music, vocal training, harmony, composition, chorus singing &c. There will be two sessions daily, and chorus rehearsals in the evening. Tickets to full course $15, one week $4. Board can be had on reasonable terms. These of our citizens who wish to pursue this art either as amateurs or professionally, will doubtless be greatly benefited by attending the Institute.

LUTHERAN CHURCH.—The Lutheran Society of this city having purchased a beautiful lot on Broad street, are now erecting thereon a neat frame church 24 feet wide by 52 feet in length. In the rear of the building 12 feet will be taken off for a parsonage, to which will also be added another room back of it for family use. This leaves a room 40 feet by 24 for church purposes. It will have two tiers of seats capable of holding nearly 200 persons. For the present it will be used also for school purposes. The building is to be enclosed in time to hold in it a prize party, on the evening of the 20th of June next, when some quilts, foot stools, shirts, cushions slippers and other work of the ladies, will be disposed of for the benefit of the church. The cost of the building will not fall much short of $1,5000.

PAINTING.—Messrs. Phelps & Hoddap have opened a paint shop in the rear of Howe & Everett's grocery store, where orders may be left and will be promptly attended to. These gentlemen have the reputation of being among the best painters in town, and their work fully substantiates their reputation as first class workmen. They are old and experienced artists, and in all work they guarantee to give perfect satisfaction. We bespeak for them a liberal share of patronage because we are satisfied that they abundantly merit it.

THE MONTANA EXPEDITION.—Capt. Davy's Expedition to Montana is daily augmenting in numbers. Notwithstanding the condition of the roads, some fifteen or twenty teams are already preparing to leave from Mankato, twenty four from St. Paul, and fifty from Minneapolis. The weather may delay the time of starting, but the expedition will positively leave, and in the next two weeks the party will swell in numbers in a greater ratio than ever before. It is hoped and expected that the expedition will leave with a thousand persons enrolled.

WEBSTER'S UNABRIDGED.—Smith & Humphrey have received an invoice of Webster's new Illustrated Royal Quarto Unabridged Dictionary, each having 3,000 illustrations. They are bound in every style, and retail at prices charged in all eastern cities. Prices vary according to the binding. This work is a library in itself, and contains the largest fund of information of any one book on the globe.

PANORAMA.—Mr. Bill D. T. Travis exhibited last evening his celebrated portraiture of the army of the Cumberland. This is no dissolving view or magic lantern show, but is composed of splendid oil paintings on canvess which are exhibited in panorama style. He exhibits again this evening at Shoemaker's Hall.

THE JULIA.—The steamer Hudson left this port on Saturday last for the purpose of raising the steamer Julia. She had with her two large wheat barges, and a marine pump which will throw a hundred barrels of water per minute. A barge was placed on either side of the wreck, and filled with water to sink them to the water's edge. The wreck was then lashed firmly to them, by timbers placed through the Julia and across the barges. By pumping the water out of the barges they will rise to the surface and bring the wreck with it. Owing however to some derangement in the machinery of the Hudson they were obliged to send her below, and work is therefore suspended for the present, but will be resumed in a few days.

DISTRICT COURT.—The May term of the District Court for Blue Earth County convened at Shoemaker's Hall on Tuesday last at 2 o'clock P. M. Of the Grand jury pannel Michael McNamara was excused, and the following persons were sworn in as Grand Jurors: S. C. Clark, foreman, S. C. Hilton, John J. Porter, J. K. Mead, Nathan Bixby, George Maxfield, J. S. Little, A. Dart, J. F. Meagher, J. Y. Caldwell, S. T. Mills, J. J. Shaubut, B. Moreland, C. Pagenkopp, Amos Warner, David Lamb, J. A. Reed and G. A. Bieries. N. C. Conner was sworn as Bailiff.

Jurors excused upon their own application were allowed mileage only. The petit jury was called and sworn in, R. J. Marvin, and W. R. Price being excused from service. The entire pannel was excused until Wednesday morning at 9 o'clock A. M. The case of Dr Janes & Son vs. Joel Gates, was continued. Alex. Wood vs. Wescott Wilkin. continued. Betsey Durkee vs. Chas. S. Case passed over because Judge Austin was formerly attorney in the case, and therefore could not try it. Hans P. Oleson vs. Tore Oleson, continued. James A. Comstock vs. Joseph C. McGiven, continued. Village vs. J. F. Meagher, continued. Martha A. Gilchrist vs. Elisha A. Parks Administrator &c, continued. R. R. Wilson vs. W. R. Greenwood, supposed to be settled. S. Tait was sworn as bailiff. James Kelly vs. Dan. Wallace, case argued on Referees report by F. Beveridge and D. Buck.

WEDNESDAY May 22d—Court convened at 8½ o'clock A. M. Criminal calendar called and case of the State vs. Charles W. Hill was continued by stipulation. Also the case of State vs. Andrew Donnelly & Ann Donnelly. Buck & Freeman on behalf of Dey, Miller and others and Williard & Barney on behalf of Nathaniel Stevens, interposed a challenge to the pannel of Grand Jurors on the ground that the list from which the jurors were drawn was not impartially chosen by the Board of County Commissioners at the January session, which was argued by Messrs. Buck & Waite in favor of, and by County Attorney Cleveland in opposition to the challenge. M. S. Wilkinson moved to set aside the jury on the ground of defective venire. Motions denied by the Court. The case of John Tait, son of Samuel Tait, vs. Alfred Muller, late surgeon at Fort Ridgely, for mal-practice was brought on for trial. It seems that young Tait broke his thigh in Oct 1864, while residing near Fort Ridgeley, and Dr. Muller was called to attend him. He has a bad leg which he claims to be the result of Dr. Muller's neglect to set and attend it, and therefore claims damages in the sum of $5,000.

FROM PLEASANT MOUND.

May, 13, 1867.

By Our Own Reporter.

We have had quite a late spring on account of the heavy body of snow. The water has been uncommonly high, taking off nearly one third of the logs from Howard & Folsom's mill, the water at one time was nearly to the eaves of the mill, the mill was not damaged and is now sawing as usual. Spring work is progressing finely, some having finished entirely. There is some land that will not be sowed at all on account of scarcity of seed. There are a few new comers, who are needy, and who are also worthy of assistance, but there are a great many who will not try to help themselves, and who are the very first to apply to the commissioners for help, as soon as an opportunity is offered. We know of individual cases of young men in good health and with no families, who raised good crops last year, applying to the county commissioners to be furnished with seed grain. Let the county commissioners examine into the cases of these applicants before they grant assistance too liberally. The prospects are favorable for a goodly number of valuable improvements the coming season. Mr. Geo. Marsh purposes building a large flouring mill on a newly developed water power within a mile of Shelbyville. He has already ordered his machinery and has hired his workmen. Mr. P. B. Day is also collecting material for a flouring mill to go by wind. This is to be run by a powerful wind mill which he invented last fall, and upon which he has secured a patent. He intends to be prepared for grinding early in the fall. Messrs. Allen & Crandall have sold out their store to Mr. Van Nocken, who, we believe, intends to continue trading at the old stand.

—We call attention to the advertisement of Hon. M. Bohan, of Wisconsin, offering for sale several valuable tracts of prairie and timber lands in Rapidan township in this county. He will be here about the 17th of June next, to perfect the sale of the same.

A meeting of Mankato Fire Co., No 1 will be held at the House of the Company on Friday evening the 24th of May 1867, at 6½ o'clock. Every member is expected to be on hand punctually. Per order of the Foreman.

E. P. Freeman, Secretary.

A CARD

I take this opportunity of informing my old friends and customers who extended to me their liberal patronage during the three years I was engaged in business on my own account in Mankato that I have engaged with Messrs Owens & Co., next door to the Messrs. Bradley's, who have opened a new Stove & Hardware Store, in whose behalf I would respectfully solicit a continuence of your patronage.

They have purchased a new and complete set of Tinners Tools and Machinery and supplied with first quality stock of my own selection. All custom jobbing in the Tin, Stove and Sheet Iron department will be under my especial care and attention. I will guarantee all work turned out from their shop just as represented, and manufactured in a workmanlike manner. For your Stoves, Hardware, Tinware, Plows Cultivaters &c., go to Messrs. Owens & Co. who are bound to sell good goods as cheap as any house in Mankato.

tf P. B. SPARROW.

It Worked very well

But went at half price to make room for Yours!

Our "lock-stitch" machine worked very well, but it went at half-price, to make room for one of yours. We are delighted with the change.—[D. Winter to the Wilcox & Gibbs S. M. Co.

SPECIAL NOTICE.—We would invite all who desire to buy Hardware cheap and select from the largest and most complete stock west of the Mississippi river to call at the City Hall Hardware Store.

My stock consists in part of the following goods: Sheet and Bar Iron, Heavy and Shelf Hardware, Nails, Glass, Doors, Sash and Blinds, Stoves and Tin Ware, Springs, Axels and Wagon wood, R. R. Wheel Barrows, Hickory Chairs, Well Buckets, Cast, Cast Steel and Breaking Plows, cultivators and Shovel Plows.

Farmers will find my stock of Thrashers and Reapers, very large comprising the following celebrated machines: Sweepstakes, Buffalo, Pitts., Case & Co. Massellon and Vibrater Threshing Machines. We have the following Reapers, and Mowers, which are the best in the country. Excelsior's Dropper and Mower, Kirby's self and hand raker, Buckeye mowers and reapers, J. H. Manny with Woods self rake, as a hand Raker and Iron mowers. All the above machines are warranted to give perfect satisfaction and our terms will be made to suit the times. We always keep a full supply of Extras for the above machines on hand. Farmers will find it to their interest to call and examine my stock before purchasing agricultural Implements.

To DR. HOSTETTER:—Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was taken with the dyspepsia a year ago last March, and, for a period of eight months, was one of the most miserable creatures you ever beheld, not being able either to eat, drink or sleep, and was compelled to walk the floor incessantly. I was nearly deprived of my reason, and hope had entirely left me, all the efforts made for my recovery having proved fruitless.

By the first of November, 1865, I had become so weak and feeble that I could scarcely stand alone, and, to all appearance, would soon die. At this time (having read your advertisement,) my wife prevailed upon me to try your Bitters. A bottle was procured, and, strange to say, I soon commenced recovering. I have taken four bottles, and am enjoying as good health now as could be expected for one of my age (about sixty years). I have no doubt that it was your Bitters alone, under Divine Providence, that effected this wonderful cure.

MILITARY.—The little squib, which was first started in the HERALD, and which for some reason has been going the rounds ascribed to the Prescott Journal, has lost nothing in its progress, as, witness the following:

The reason so many marriages occur immediately after a great war, is that bachelors become so accustomed to strife that they learn to like it, and after the return of peace, they enlist in matrimony as the next thing to war.—Ex.

Not a bit of it. It is because they get so used to having "arms around them," that they can't sleep without them.—Wabasha Herald.

Not quite right yet. It is because they are thoroughly drilled in the art of "presenting arms" to their superiors.—La Crosse Republican.

All of you are wrong gentlemen. It is because they have been so long accustomed to hearing the noise of "infantry" that they immediately re-enlist into that arm of the service.—Jackson Co. Banner.

You have it nearly right. It is because they can furnish their own artillery in the line of infantry without supplies from the Government.—Sparta Democrat.

[illegible] right yet. [illegible] because they have become accustomed to "breast works."

The [illegible] in our path weary us and make us footsore more than the rocks.

We reason a good deal as we eat, more often necessity than knowledge.

Those who praise you in the beginning, will ask favors in the end.

Peter says it is folly to tell a man that he must not enlarge his debts, when the poor fellow is doing all he can to contract them.

As the wind bloweth with no obstruction through a waste, so the gassy man letteth off to great advantage among strangers.

—The Secretary of the Navy decides that sailors and marines, honorably discharged from service, are entitled to the full amount of bounty the same as if they had served their full term of enlistment. Heretofore they have been paid only pro rata up to the time of their discharge. A question arises whether those already paid have not a claim for the additional bounty.

HORRIBLE MURDER IN RICE COUNTY.—On Tuesday of last week a bloody tragedy occurred in the vicinity of Dundas, which resulted in the murder of a man by the name of Stanford at the hands of another by the name of Hoyt. It seems there was some difficulty occurred about the cattle of Stanford which resulted in his murder. An axe was the instrument used, and the head entirely severed from the body. After the wretch had accomplished this horrible deed he went to the house of Stanford and attempted the murder of his wife, but was set upon by her two sons, knocked down, bound, and delivered over to the authorities.—Lake City Leader.

NEW ORLEANS, May 15.—Financial circles are panic stricken, caused by the closing of the United States Sub-Treasury and the First National Bank by order of the Comptroller of the Currency. Mr. Knox, of the Treasury Department at Washington, has assumed charge. Heavy defalcations are announced. Mr. A. Pilley, formerly treasurer and president of the bank, has made an assignment of his effects, to secure the government. The bank holds a large amount of Gen. Herron's paper, but Mr. Knox hopes to secure this out of Herron's distillery and plantation property. A run has been made on other banks to-day.

—The Maryland State Republican Convention meeting at Baltimore, May 15th, adopted resolutions in favor of impartial suffrage, calling on Congress to abolish all distinctions of race or color, and opposing the constitutional convention at Annapolis, unless impartial suffrage is included.

—The Eight Hour Law recently passed by the Legislature of New York, and signed by Governor Fenton, is almost identical with the Illinois law. It provides that eight hours' labor, between sunrise and sunset, shall be deemed a legal day's work where there is no agreement to the contrary. These provisions, however, do not effect farm or agricultural labor, or service by the year, month or week, nor prevent any person from performing extra work under special contract.

—The Democracy of Kentucky foot up their majority in the State at 12,600 over both the other parties combined. They carried every District—the closest [illegible] by 800.

The joint committee of [illegible] Presbyterian [illegible] old and new [illegible] a week in New York, agreed upon terms of reunion with remarkable [illegible]. These terms are to go before the [illegible] for a year before final action.

The Postmaster General has decided to dispense with the official publication of the list of letters remaining uncalled for in the postoffices throughout the country. The reason assigned for this is that but a very small percentage of the letters is called for, and that the expense of advertising is a loss to the government.

A disturbing question has been wisely settled in the city of Charleston. The directors of the street railroad cars, after a prolonged and exciting discussion, in which the citizens shared to a considerable extent, have determined to admit all classes of persons, irrespective of color, to the privileges of their cars. The wisdom of this decision has been publicly recognized by General Sickles, commanding the district, in a letter addressed to the directors.

The report of the American Missionary Association shows that there are a million of school children among the freedmen who need 20,000 teachers. There are now, however, less than 2,000 in the field. At least 200,000 freedmen have learned to read and write within a year. The receipts last year were $253,000; of the seven months of this fiscal year, $145,000. A larger average of monthly receipts are needed for the remaining five months.

—A merchant of Newburyport, Mass., recently received a telegram from Calcutta, which had been but two days and five hours on its passage. The dispatch cost $500, and had traveled 13,000 miles.

By the use of

CHASTELLAR'S
WHITE LIQUID
ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 30,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by
BERGER, SHUTTS & Co., Chemists,
285 River St., Troy N. Y.

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. DR. SCHENCK'S
MANDRAKE PILLS.
A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all bilious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

ASTROLOGY.
The World Astonished
AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

AFFLICTED!
SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them; nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

AMERICAN ORGANS.
(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)
REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments, If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind- or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians became aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionbel ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement—

By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind-chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound-box or board and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano.

This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR. SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

IF YOU WANT A KISS TAKE IT.

There's a jolly Saxon proverb
  That is pretty much like this,
That a man is half in heaven
  When he has a woman's kiss;
But there's danger in delaying—
  And the sweetness may forsake it;
So I tell you, bashful lover,
  If you want a kiss, why take it.

Never let another fellow
  Steal a march on you in this;
Never let a laughing maiden
  See you spoiling for a kiss;
There's a royal way to kissing,
  And the jolly ones who make it
Have a motto that is winning—
  If you want a kiss, why take it.

Any fool may face a cannon;
  Anybody wear a crown,
But a man must win a woman,
  If he'd have her for his own;
Would you have the golden apple,
  You must find the tree and shake it,
If the thing is worth the having,
  And you want a kiss, why take it.

Who would burn upon a desert,
  With a forest smiling by?
Who would give his sunny Summer
  For a bleak and wintry sky?
Oh! I tell you there is magic,
  And you cannot, cannot break it;
For the sweetest part of loving
  Is to want a kiss, and take it.

NO. 1.

Homesick.

H——, March 21, 1861.

DEAR KATE.—Heigh, ho! Here I am away up in Minnesota, and homesick as I can well be, though I was very glad to see the dear ones who had preceeded me, four months ago.

But, Oh, Kate, you have no idea how cold, barren, desolate and wild every thing looks here; though every one says, "Wait a few weeks, before you judge hastily." It is just a week, since I started from Uncles, and I could not help crying a little when I kissed him and Auntie "Good bye," though the thought that I was so soon to rejoin father, mother, Willie and little Rose, soon dried my tears.

Uncle placed me under the care of an elderly gentleman, who was going nearly as far as the town in which father lives. I thought it would be so nice, traveling by stage; I soon found out my mistake, for the canvass covered hack was without springs, and soon the air grew so piercing cold, that it had to be closed entirely, upon which I grew deadly sick, but had to bear it the best way I could; then there was a woman by my side with a very worrysome baby, and a man opposite with a breath reeking with whisky perfumes; nor had we gone far before there was a break down, and so we had to sit patiently, while the driver toggled up the broken wheel until we could reach the next town; the before mentioned juvenile, the meanwhile, exerting his lungs to their utmost capacity, the mother, with a very red face slapping and shaking it to make it "hush up," the man with the villainous breath swearing terribly, and I, in my corner, wishing myself at my journeys end, or else back in auntie's cosy parlor.

Such a place as we stopped at that night, long after dark; they called it a tavern, too. An old crone showed us into the room where they cooked, ate, sat, and slept too, judging from the dirty bed in the corner.

As I watched the preparations for supper, I mentally thanked auntie for the nice lunch she had placed in my reticule at starting; and when I came to sit down to the table, the ill prepared viands seemed to stick in my throat, and unconsciously my nose began to turn up.

The sleeping room assigned me, was directly over the bar room, and 'till a very late hour was I kept awake by the drunken hilarity of the crowd below.

I was obliged to hire a private conveyance the last day of my journey, there being no stage communication. The driver was a surly, silent man, the horses jaded and slow, and it was quite late in the afternoon before we reached H———. Such a dreary stretch of country as we passed through; scarcely any improvements, not a framed house after we left A——, until we reached H———. The air was thick with mist, my garments completely saturated, and the roads terrible. I think if I had not been going so soon to see the dear ones, I should have cried outright.

"That is H———," at last vouchsafed Mr. Driver, "what is your fathers name?"

I could hardly restrain my impatience, as pausing at the village tavern he inquired for my father's residence. At least a dozen faces peered out of doors and windows to get a glimpse at the new comer.

"Down there in that little wood colored house, near the school house," replied the landlord, with a magnificent flourish of his hand in the direction indicated.

I had neglected to pay the man until I alighted, and it seemed as if he never would get through making change. I know my foot came down with an impatient tap, on the damp ground as he handed me the last dime.

But amid all my thoughts as to what I would say when I went in, and what they would say to me, I mentally ejaculated, "Pictures in a frame," as I noticed the faces in the windows opposite.

"Mollie, little daughter, is this you?" said a dear, well known voice behind me, and in an instant I was clasped in fathers arms, who hurried me into the house, where such a welcome awaited me! I forgot the drizzling mist out doors, the wild, cold country to which I had come, in the sunlight of love that beamed from the dear faces around me; even the old familiar furniture, that mother would bring with her, seemed to smile upon me. Willie was suffering with a sprained ankle, so that he was confined within doors, but he seemed to find enough to amuse himself with, he is such a rolicking, merry little fellow.

Though the children were so glad to see me, I soon found out that they had not forgotten their propensity to tease.

"I am right glad to see you, Mol," said Will, "Won't we have jolly times fishing, this spring, they say the lake is full of them and the creek, too; I'll spear them and you may help bring them home," patronizingly.

"Mollie," said Rose, who had been eying me for some time, "you are not half as good looking as when we left you at Uncle George's, your nose turns up more, you are darker, and there is a squint in your eyes when you laugh."

"That's so," chimed in Willie, his blue eyes full of their old mischief, "and you will not improve, either; these Minnesota winds will make you black as a squaw, and——"

"Take all the curl out of your hair," broke in Rose, spinning around on one foot, (you know her hair is strait as strait can be.) "Sour grapes," laughed Will, but their tantilization was here interrupted by a knock at the door. Two young ladies, prompted more by curiosity than politeness, I fear, had come to call upon me. My dress underwent a severe scrutiny; was questioned as to the latest fashions; and one of them who was a milliner, wished to see how my hat was trimmed, the other wished to examine the cut of my cloak, as she informed us, with much importance, "she was going to make herself one." I learned that the young people of the village were going to have a party that evening. "Kissing bees," ma calls them. Not long after their departure, a young gentleman called (not very young either, about thirty I should judge,) and very civilly invited me to attend the "candy pull," that evening, saying "the young people wished to get acquainted with me," and that he "thought I would enjoy it." But I declined his kind invitation, saying I was to fatigued with my journey to go out yet, but would be very happy to form the acquaintance of the villagers.

Mother and I had seated ourselves for an old fashioned talk, father was reading a letter from Uncle George, Willie and Rose looking at the pictures in the books aunt Mary had sent them, when there was another knock at the door, and mother ushered in "a maiden lady of thirty odd," I should judge. Tall, angular, long necked; a large mouth, decayed teeth, milk and water complexion; a very Romanish nose, squinting light blue eyes, strait yellow hair, and you have Miss Elizabeth Tibbets photograph; but, oh, I can not portray her squeaking voice, or the simpering manner in which she pursed up her mouth while talking.

She forthwith proceeded to make my acquaintance, notwithstanding the rather cool reception of mother.

"How did I like Minnesota," and "what had I studied the past winter," and "how far had I progressed in my studies," etc., etc. She professed to be a profound scholar, having attended the village select school, the past winter.

"In fact," squeaked the spinster, "Mr. Haden says I was the best scholar he had."

She was quite astonished when she learned that I had studied Algebra and Physiology, but triumphantly asserted that she "had purty near gone half way through Comstock's Philosphy."

Then, after a pause, during which she eyed me closely, she turned to mother, saying, "Why, Mrs. L——, I supposed that your daughter was older, something near my age."

"A great mistake," was mothers quiet answer, "Mollie is young yet."

Father suddenly grew very red in the face, and was attacked with a severe fit of coughing, to relieve which, Willie very dutifully offered him a glass of water.

"I declare," exclaimed Miss Tibbits, "I must go or I will be too late for the party." then with a little spiteful glance at ma, "I suppose your daughter is to young too attend parties."

"To young to attend 'Snap and catchum' parties, I had rather she would go to a ball, but as she is a church member, I dare say she would rather not attend either."

Miss Tibbets again declared that she must go, but that she would call again, soon, when if I would like she would bring the composition that she read the last day of Mr. Haden's school.

I thanked her, and mother politely bowed her out. Ma told me after she was gone that she was a great gossip, and would answer very well to the appellation of "Mrs. Grundy."

"Yes," mother added, "she stands a good chance of getting the school here, as her father is one of the trustees, and such things go by favor, rather than merit. I had hoped that you might have secured the situation, Mollie, as you could then have boarded at home, and you know it is quite necessary that you should teach this coming summer."

There, Kate, is my first days experience in Minnesota. Mother thinks I will like it better after a while, the rest have got acclimated and reconciled to the difference between our former situation, and the present one. What mother said about teaching school, is true. Father's capital is largely invested in lands, and out of his present funds he can not aid me in finishing my education, so you see, I must carve out my own fortune.

Unfortunately for me in securing a situation as teacher, my age is against me; as ma tells Miss Tibbits I am young, fifteen, and do my best I can not look older.

I am afraid you will think I am getting cynical, but I believe homesick people generally are, and are you not tired of this long prosy letter? But you must answer it with such a one as Kate can only write. There, mother is calling, "Mollie its after ten o'clock," so good night and pleasant dreams.

MOLLIE.

The Romance of a Bedquilt.

The Rockport (Conn.) Journal relates the following incident:

Two weeks ago we published the marriage of Captain Robert E. Fiske, editor of the Helena (Montana) Herald, to a Miss Lizzie Chester. Since that time we have learned that there is a bit of romance connected with this affair which is really worth telling. When the war of the rebellion broke out, Mr. Fiske was a resident of the State of New York, from which State he enlisted in the Union army, and attained the rank of Captain. In some of the engagements he was wounded and taken to the hospital. While he was thus confined, it appears that the ladies of our town of Vernon were at work for the soldiers, and among other things they provided, and sent as hospital stores was an "album bed quilt," which contained the names of several ladies who assisted in its construction. As luck would have it, this bed quilt chanced to find its way to the hospital, and to the very bed upon which the wounded Captain lay; and for amusement he copied the names, sending a letter or his photograph, or both, to the address of every lady. One of these letters was received by a little girl, who, as she could not write herself, procured the services of Miss Chester to reply. We need not particularize further, but it was simply by the agency of the "album bed quilt" that Captain Fiske first heard of Miss Chester, and now, after the lapse of two years, that acquaintance has culminated in marriage, and the gallant officer has taken his fair lady to his home in the West.

—The Commissioner of Internal Revenue says that last year, out of the whole population of the United States, only four hundred and fifty thousand persons paid tax on income.

Juvenile Nimrods.... Extraordinary Elopement of two Boys.

From the Dayton (O.) Journal.

We learn that two romantic little fellows, comrades, who reside in the same neighborhood, in this city, left their homes together at a very early hour, last Wednesday morning, and their absence at breakfast and dinner gave cause for great uneasiness to their parents. On close examination of the bed room of one of the boys, his mother found a note addressed to her, stating that himself and a little friend were going to the Rocky Mountains to hunt buffalo and bear! They had plenty of money, (it was ascertained that they had about $10 between them!) and they didn't intend to be back under six months. One of the boys having an uncle residing in the vicinity of Covington, Miami County, it was believed that they had started for that place, and the fathers of the boys went thitherward in pursuit. They found the little Nimrods by the roadside, about six miles from the city. They had little bows, and arrows with spikes in the heads of them, and when found were trying to get a shot at some rather wild calves that were wandering in the woods near the pike! They said they were practising for buffalos! They had been reading a modern work for boys, entitled "Tom Thorn in the Woods," and had been literally carried away with it.

Greeley's Manuscript.

Horace Greeley's manuscript is notoriously bad, and it is said to require a printer of no ordinary skill to set up his "copy," if he happens to write it in a hurry. The recent newspaper anecdote of an article headed Wm. H. Seward, which Mr. Greeley had returned to him set up "Richard III," is fresh in the minds of all; but an occurrence still more funny is related, which occurred in the Tribune office some years since. A compositor had made so many errors in setting "the philosopher's" copy, that it irritated him to such a degree that he wrote the typo a letter discharging him from further duty. The compositor being utterly unable to decipher the contents of the note on receiving it, took it to the foreman, who explained to him that it expressed that he was "not a careful man, and Mr. Greeley dispensed with his services." The man laid down his stick, put on his coat and left. The next day he applied for assistant foreman in a large printing office on the same street. The proprietor inquired if he could bring a recommendation from his last employer. "All I have is this letter from Mr. Greeley," said the young man, boldly producing the document. The worthy job printer scanned it for some minutes with a perplexed air. "H—m—m—careful man—services—signed H. Greeley—yes, that will do—we will engage you." And he did, and never learned till two years afterwards that the "letter from Mr. Greeley" was one of discredit, instead of commendation, as he had supposed.

The Oldest Person in New Hampshire.

A correspondent of the Manchester Mirror from Windham, N. H., furnishes the following facts about Flora Stewart, who has lived half a century beyond the allotted three score and ten. He says:

"In Londenderry, N. H., about two miles northwest of Derry Village, near the line of Manchester and Lawrence Railroad, resides Flora Stewart, a negress, once the slave of the grandfather of Samuel Wilson Simpson, now eighty years of age, whose mother at his birth was nursed by Flora. She is reputed to be 120 years of age. Mrs. Simpson has data proving it to be not less than 119. Flora is full of vim, with remarkably retentive memory. She has been a long time a member of the Methodist Church, and on one of my visits to the lady I learned that she had just completed the re-reading of the Testament. Mr. Simpson gave her a bill and without spectacles she looked at it and said: "Why, Wilson, this is five dollars." Her memory embraces the incidents of a centuary.

Language of Church Bells.

A Boston paper relates the following:

Colonel R. spent the winter in Lexington, Kentucky. A friend of his went out to visit him. "Come Sunday," says the Colonel, "I want you to hearken to our church bells here. There's four of them. Each of 'em sounds out its own denominational call.

"There's the Episcopal. That is a heavy, deep-toned, sound bell Now you see if that don't ring out—'Postolic succession! 'Postolic succession!

"Then the old Presbyterian—that's most deep sounding, and that says—Eternal damnation! Eternal dam na tion!

"The Baptist is quicker—a sharp, snappy bell—and that says, rapid: Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped! Come up and be dipped!

"But the Methodist—that's a crowner; it talks right out: Room—for—all! Room for all! Room—for—all!"

FROM MEXICO.

NEW YORK, May 20.—Advices from Mexico state that on April 28th Diaz had nineteen cannon playing on the Paralvillo gate of the Capitol, and that of San Cosmos was being attacked. Marqueze's only points of defence were the gates. He had 4,500 men. The commanding officers were preparing to capitulate.

The executions at Puebla were ordered by General Diego Alvarez, at the moment he was assaulting a fortification, and General Diaz, when he heard of it, ordered it stopped, and allowed the prisoners to choose a place of refuge.

A hot bombardment of Vera Cruz took place May 5th. The Island of Carmen had proclaimed for the Republic.

VALPARAISO, Ind., May 20.—Chauncey Page, the murderer, will be tried at the special term of Court in Laporte, commencing on the fourth Monday of June next, provided Judge Osborn is able to preside at that time. If not, the trial will go over until the October term. The Court to day found judgment against Chauncey Page for three thousand dollars damages for shooting and otherwise assulting the girl Fredonia Ludolph.

—It has transpired in the impeachment investigation that in the examination of Adam's Express agents regarding the transmission of pardons to the South, testimony was elicited showing that they were sent marked "three hundred dollars, C. O. D." There is no doubt that pardons were sent in this manner. Though it does not necessarily reflect on President Johnson, the fact cannot be disproved.

—Hon George Brancroft has notified the State Department that he accepts the mission to Prussia.

THE BOND QUESTION.

In examining our State exchanges and comparing their views upon the question of paying the State Railroad Bonds, for which the State has never received an equivalent, we find that the entire press of the State, outside of St. Paul, where the subject has been mentioned, is in favor of voting against the law by which these bonds are proposed to be settled. The people have voted once in opposition to that whole scheme by which our railroads were attempted to be built, because it would involve us in financial ruin. This they did when they repealed the constitutional amendment which authorized the State to pledge its credit toward the building of these roads. They declared that no more bonds should be issued, because the conditions upon which they were issued, rendered them worthless in the money market. The whole scheme was an unmitigated swindle both upon the people and upon the railroad employees, because under the law no capitalist would touch the bonds. One section of the amendment declares that the State shall guarantee the payment of both interest and principal of these bonds, while another clause of the same amendment declares that in no event shall the State ever be called upon to pay one cent of this obligation. The amendment was so inconsistant with itself, and with common sense, that it proved in its application, what in theory it really was, a bare nullity. It was a fair specimen of early democratic financiering, and unfortunately the republican party took the helm only in time to repeal this amendment, after more than one half of the five million loan had been issued. These same railroad men are now trying to obtain money under false pretenses. They pledged their sacred honor on every stump in the State, that they would redeem these bonds and pay the interest, and clinched their argument by refering to that portion of the law which makes it their duty to do so. Yet these men whose seductive promises caused a ratification of the amendment by the people, upon the sole promise that they would redeem the bonds themselves, are now seeking to force upon the State their recognition and payment. In attempting to build railroads by pledging the public credit, in pursuance of law so anomalous in its character as to be unworthy the name of law, and distrusted by every capitalists in the country, our people have "put their foot in it," and the only solution before us is how can we honorably acquit ourselves from our dilemma. Our obligations are out to the amount of $2,750,000, with interest. But like individuals who give their promissory notes, and the consideration fails, we are entitled to be heard in our defense, and this is especially the case where parties to the original contract, who have failed to fulfill on their part, still hold these bonds. These bond holders are most of them railroad corporators who promised to save the State from this payment, and yet they have the impudence to demand that the State shall cash them.

Their case is an exact paralled with the man who borrows money upon the credit of an accommodation endorser, and turns round and demands that his endorser shall pay the debt. But it is said that there are innocent holders of these bonds who will suffer from no fault of their own. This we deny. There never was a time that these bonds were worth more than they are now, nor a holder of them but knew that they were worthless. A few railroad contractors may have taken them in payment of labor, but if they had been offered a last year's birds nest, they would have accepted it just as quick, because it was a foregone conclusion in the failure of these railroad companies that nothing else would be paid them. In this ignoble wreck of an impracticable railroad scheme, we can only attempt to do justice to those who have suffered from the falling debris of the explosion. These sufferers are the day laborers, sub contractors, merchants who furnished supplies, mechanics, &c., who lost their entire earnings upon the various roads; and as the State has taken possession of these roads and the fruits of their labor, skill and money, and given them to new companies, its first duty is to liquidate their claims, and until some proposition is offered which contemplates their remuneration, we shall continue to labor against any and every proposition to settle with defaulting or speculating bond holders, even at two cents on the dollar.

DISHONEST POLITICIANS.

The Pioneer, under the above caption, favors us with a bit of news concerning the shape the politics of the State will take, upon the bond issue to be decided at the polls this falls. It thinks a combination is forming to place Senator Wilkinson before the people as a candidate for Governor, with Donnelly on the track to supercede Ramsey in the Senate. It calls these gentlemen dishonest politicians for diverting the attention of the public from the real political issues of the day. A political issue is one which pertains to the policy or administration of a State or nation. If the disposal of this bond question is not the most important issue before the people, what in the name of good sense is? This question and that of admitting people of color to citizenship involve the only issues to be tried in the fall campaign. Has the Pioneer or its friends, or the present incumbent or his friends any vested rights by which to claim more than a two year's lease of the gubernatorial chair? If the right to elect a Governor does not return to the people once in two years, it were possible to call Mr. Wilkinson dishonest in encroaching upon another's rights. The Pioneer is not the only sheet that agonizes over the prospect of Mr. Wilkinson becoming our next Governor, and this not so much because of the man, but on account of his opposition to the payment of these railroad bonds. But few go to the polls, who do not vote for a principle or question involving their individual interests either directly or indirectly; and it is a mean aspersion to insinuate that a man is dishonest in offering himself as a representative of the opinion of a vast majority of the people of the State. The public impulses are too near right too nimit of a wholesale denounciation of the motives which govern the action of our people. Again, upon the question of paying these bonds in full, Mr. Wilkinson is not only honest but consistant. He opposed the amendment which authorized their issue, and carried Blue Earth county against it, and from that day to this he has ever esteemed their issue as a fraud upon the people. The Pioneer is the last sheet to reprove for political dishonesty. Let it consult its own record for the past six years, and hide its face in shame. How many times it has changed its skin for pelf and profit, its readers can easily attest. Satan reproving sin. Ah! the depravity in man,

RAILROAD PROSPECTS.

There is no one theme which pervades the minds of our citizens so fully as the question of a railroad between Mankato and the Mississippi river. Our source of information upon this point is mainly derived from our exchanges, which are published at different points on the line. We regret to say that we learn nothing to encourage us in the belief that the Winona & St. Peter railway will reach the Minnesota river this season. On the contrary the Owatonna Journal says:

> The Winona & St. Peter road will not run west of here during the present season, the hands being employed on the "cut off" near Winona.

The Journal has doubtless some ground for this assertion, and the fact that as late as June, nothing has been done west of Owatonna, is confirmatory of its statements. The cut off above mentioned we understand to be a connecting link between St. Charles, a little town on the Winona & St. Peter road, some 25 miles west from Winona, and Rushford, the western terminus of the Southern Minnesota railway. The distance is only 18 miles, and yet it seems monstrous strange that this road should be built in the rear of Winona leaving it without any eastern connection, thus placing it in a worse condition than a way station. The Winona Democrat of last week throws some light upon this subject. It says:

> The chief misfortune in the construction of our leading lines of Railroads thus far, consists in their having been commenced at interior points, without first forming the necessary connections with lines of roads bearing East and South; and while under this state of things Winona, perhaps, has had most cause for irritation in being made a foot ball for certain Railroad stock jobbers who have private fortunes to make at the sacrifice of Railroad interests they ought to protect, her position is such as to irrevocably connect her fortunes with those of much the greater portion of Minnesota, as also with interests the most vital to Chicago and Milwaukee, and while all outsiders may not comprehend at a glance the true relations existing, every day reveals additional assurances that the consummation of wishes most devout is only a question of very brief time. Behind a frowning St. Paul & Milwaukee Railway Company, the full fruition of hopes somewhat long deferred is already in process of speedy realization.

From this extract we infer that the St. Paul & Milwaukee company, which controls the road from LaCrosse to Milwaukee, are unwilling to meet the Winona & St Peter company on friendly terms, should they build the eastern connection from Winona to a point on this LaCrosse road a few miles east of LaCrosse. They are therefore building a line from a point west of Winona southward touching the Southern Minnesota, which makes its eastern connection opposite La Crosse. This is doubtless done to overcome the competition of the Minnesota Central which expects to build from Owatonna to the southern line of the State and there connect with the Mc Gregor road this fall which makes eastern connection at Prairie Du Chein on the opposite bank of the Mississippi. The people are sure of an eastern connection next winter which will prevent the necessity of further staging between Winona and La Crosse.

There is now a plan developed by which Winona is yet to have at some date an eastern connection. The Winona & St. Paul railway is now known as the St. Paul and Chicago railway and arrangements have been made to prosecute the work as rapidly as possible. It is to run along the river from St. Paul to Winona and thence to the State line. In connection with this road they have the promise of the Chicago & Northwestern R. R. to extend their road from Madison to Winona thus forming almost an air line railway from St. Paul to Chicago. Winona now looks forward to the action of this road as their brightest prospect of realizing the eastern connection so heartily desired. The Northwestern railway company have agreed to build their portion of the road from Madison to Winona within the next two years. To the best of our knowledge this is the present condition of our railroads.

A QUEER PLEA.

The Hastings Gazette, in an article written in opposition to the payment of the State Railroad Bonds, has made a discovery not generally conceded by those conversant with the general principals of law. We quote:

> The State Railroad Bonds never had a legal existence, and the holders of them know it, and this attempt to get the people's endorsal of them is convincing proof, strong as holy writ, of that fact. If the State owes these bonds she has the ability to pay, AND THESE BOND HOLDERS HAVE THEIR REMEDY IN THE COURTS OF LAW. Ah, there's the rub. This ratification before the people is just what these bonds want to make them VALID IN THE COURTS, and if the people vote aye to the proposition to pay them they at once assume rank as State bonds, and interest and principal BECOMES COLLECTABLE.

By what process Mr. Gazette do you propose to collect? And how will you bring the State of Minnesota into court. It would appear as rediculous for the State to serve process on itself, as for a Sheriff to arrest himself for crime. That's a tolerably clear mistake my friend. No sovereign power can be sued by its own subjects, except by consent expressed in its constitution. There is hardly a State in the Union or a Power on Earth that will suffer itself to be sued. The Argus copies this same article and pronounces it sound. We submit it it would not be well for the editor of the Gazette, and the intelligent attorney Henry Hinds, of the Argus, to take down the elementary books again, while they are discussing such important topics as the bond question.

MOTIVES OF THE ST. PAUL PRESS.

For the Mankato Union.

MR. EDITOR:—In a late copy of the St. Paul Press, we find the following notice:

> MONTANA.—The warlike attitude of the Indians on the plains is having a bad effect upon the expedition now being organized by Capt. Davy, for Montana. Quite a number of persons in this vicinity who have made preparations to go out with him, have determined to abandon the undertaking.

It is not the warlike attitude of the Indians that will prove a failure to Capt. Davy's expedition. The infamous lies published through the columns of the Press, may have their influence with some who are ignorant of the unscrupulous designs of that paper. I would like to know where the Press gets all of its information concerning the Indian outrages. If it has received letters from there it is evidence that the mails are not disturbed, and Indians are not hostile. But the Press, is just unscrupulous enough to manufacture these lies out of whole cloth from malice and a bitter feeling it holds against Capt, Davy, because he did not make St. Paul or St. Cloud the principal outfitting point for his expedition. That is how the milk got into the cocoanut, and not through actual Indian depredations. When a man will stoop so low as to injure the interests of his own patrons, because they are striving to establish their town as a point of outfit, it is high time that his disgusting fables be exposed, and he be branded a miserable selfish and unprincipled scribbler, seeking to injure every interest that does not bring him within its pecuniary benefits. The proprietors of the Press are just such men.

If Capt. Davy had only made St. Paul his outfitting point, all would have been right, and there would have been no depredations committed by the Indians, and the Press would have denounced every report of hostilities as a humbug, started under the same motives which now actuates that sheet.

Winona with as much propriety, as St Paul, could have claimed the right as an outfitting point, so far as distance from the frontier is concerned. The outfitting point of an expedition like this wants to be as near the final starting place as possible, and that is the reason why Capt, Davy selected Mankato as that point.

They are as reckless of truth as any liar possibly can be. Mankato has always received the most shabby treatment from that paper, and the fact that it is exerting all its power to crush it as an outfitting point for western emigration, is conclusive evidence of open enmity against us, and we owe it to our future interest, and our dignity as men who will not suffer abuse, to cut loose from this sheet and draw a line between our enemies and our friends.

NASBY ON GREELY AND J. DAVIS.

The extraordinary conduct of Horace Greely in becoming bondsman for Jeff. Davis, has called forth another effusion from Nasby, from which we simply quote one paragraph. It illustrates quite pertinently the fact that the greater the traitor, the greater the honor in store for him. Loyalty is at a discount and treason at a premium:

"In casting a retrospective glance backerd over the pathway uv the past, I kin see many mistakes wich I hev made. I hevn't alluz made the most of oportoonities—I hev doubtid when doubtin wuz a crime, and I hev stood shiverin on the brink and feared to lanch away, when on the tother side uv the Jordan wuz pelf and profit. Our foresite izn't alluz ez good ez our hind site. The great error uv my life wuz in not plunging headlong into the war ez a Confedrit Major General, distinguishin myself for crooelty to Fedral prizners, and bein at the close of the fratrisidle struggle receevd and embraced ez a long lost brother by the Northern people, (lettin em kill fattid calves for me) and uv coorse bein the objeck of sympathy ez a marter by the Southern people. In this sitooshen a man hez 2 strings to his bow. He brings to his support the two exteams. He fetches together Horris Greely from the one side and Genral Boregard from the tother—they embrace, and standing onto both their sholders he hez wat may be called a soft thing uv it.

Erie Railroad.

In our columns to-day will be found the new Time Table of this popular road, which we take pleasure in commending to all who may have occasion to visit any of the Eastern cities. There are obvious reasons why the traveler should take this Line in preference to all others, a few of which we will enumerate:—

First—It is a broad gauge road, allowing passengers abundant room in their seats, from which a great degree of comfort is derived.

Second—It is a double track route, thus obviating collisions, and affording additional security to life and property.

Third—Passengers can take the train at Dunkirk, Buffalo or Salamanca, and travel the entire distance to New York, without change of Coaches.

Fourth—The eating houses on the line of the road are so located that passengers can be provided with meals—prepared in the finest style—at regular hours.

Fifth—The scenery almost the entire length of the Line, is of itself worth the price of a ticket, to say nothing of the comfort to be experienced from having a seat in one of those rolling palaces of the Erie Railway.

There are many other reasons why we would advize our readers to patronize this road, but we have not space to give them. Our advice, however, is, if you would enjoy all the modern improvements in Railway traveling, buy your tickets via the Erie Railway, for sale at all principal ticket offices in the West and Southwest.

Maximilian and his Generals Captured!

NEW ORLEANS, May 27.—A despatch from Brazos via Galveston, says a letter from the American consul at Monterey confirms the report of the capture of Maximilian. The reply of President Juarez to Minister Campbell recounts the grievences of his party in consequence of the conduct of Maximilian. He justifies previous executions, and declines to promise the safety of Maximilian in the event of his capture.

WASHINGTON, May 27.—The State Department has received telegrams stating Quaretaro had fallen May 15th. Maximilian, Mejia, Castello and Miramon were prisoners.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - MAY 31, 1867.

—The June tax sale commences next Monday at the office of the county Auditor.

—See elsewhere the card of S D. Parsons. He has quit the grocery line and now keeps dry goods only. This will enable him to keep on hand a larger and nicer supply.

METHODIST CHOIR.—The concert given by the methodist choir, on Wednesday evening, was certainly a credit both to the leader and to the performers. We have only room to present our compliments, and say, that a musical critic could not do less than pronounce the entertainment very good.

JULIA.—Another unsuccessful effort has been made to raise the Julia. Her cabin is now being taken off and further effort to raise her is postponed until the river recedes to low water mark.

EXTRAORDINARY.—The trees are not yet fairly leaved out. To-morrow is the first day of June. Letters received this week from Michigan, Indiana and Illinois, report that overcoats are yet in frequent use on account of the backwardness of the season.

NEW JAIL.—Work has been commenced on the excavation at the new jail site. Laying of the stone foundation and basement will probably commence next week.

STONE QUARRY.—We understand that Mr. J. P. Burch is about to conclude the purchase of Branson's stone quarry. In case of a purchase he will have it worked, and keep stone for sale.

BELOIT REAPERS.—Elsewhere see the advertisement of the Beloit reapers and mowers for sale by Hall & Howard. These machines are justly celebrated for being substantial and good workers. They will be sold on as good terms as can be had anywhere, and at a very low price.

HOPS.—Mr. J. P. Burch, who owns a fine farm on the road between Mankato and St. Peter, has planted out five acres in hop roots this spring, which he obtained from the southern part of the State. We believe he is the first man in the county, who has started out so largely in the hop culture.

QUARTERLY MEETING.—The quarterly meeting of the Methodist Church will take place in this city, commencing on Saturday June 8th, and continuing over the Sabbath. On Thursday and Friday evenings previous to the commencement of the quarterly meeting there will be preaching at the Methodist Church. Several ministers from abroad are expected to be present.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Mr. N. Lang who keeps a provision store in Lower Town has purchased a lot next door to the lower bakery, of Geo. Marsh for $700, and will proceed immediately to erect a fine two story brick building 22 feet front by 50 feet deep. This is the second substantial brick store already started in Lower Town.

PANORAMA.—The panorama of the Cumberland and its army was shown here last week on Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings by the proprietor, Mr. Bill D. T. Travis. The paintings were executed by Mr. Travis himself, and many of them are very fine, evincing a great degree of skill in the artist who penciled them while with the Cumberland army. The horse paintings surpass anything we ever saw.

MORE BUILDING.—Mr. P. F. Milnor is erecting a new store 22 feet by 58, next door to Wiser's jewelry store, on a lot leased of Col. Tourtellotte. It will be two stories high and will be used for the grocery business.

Mr. A. Shearer is building a neat two story house on the Van Brunt estate, nearly opposite Mr. Cannon's residence. The size is 22 feet by 18, with a one story ell 12 by 22 feet. The cost of house and lot will be about $2,000.

NO INDICTMENT.—The Grand Jury failed to find a bill of indictment against Nathaniel Stevens, for the seduction of Catherine Fox. This is a little singular, when the same evidence before a petit jury was sufficient to give Mr. Fox an overwhelming verdict in damages against Stevens for the seduction of his daughter. The proof, to our minds, was unequivocal. Perhaps the jury concluded he had already suffered the penalty of his crimes and that it wasn't worth while to commence a prosecution, after sentence had been passed and carried into execution "by somebody unknown to this jury."

MALPRACTICE.—In the case of John Tait against Alfred Muller, late of Fort Ridgley for malpractice in setting the limb of John Tait, the jury rendered a verdict in favor of plaintiff, for $300. It was not claimed that Dr. Muller was incompetent, but that he was careless in his attendance. The verdict will doubtless have a wholesome influence upon the fraternity, as that profession is not wholly faultless, in the exercise of care with lives placed under their charge. Messrs. Buck & Freeman were attorneys for the plaintiff, and Clothier of New Ulm with Judge Waite for the defense.

UNTRUE AND UNKIND.—A late scholar of Prof. Stuart, of this city, brought us a few verses for publication, which were in the shape of an inquiry as to what had become of the fund raised by the exhibition of his scholars last winter, for the purpose of a school library. It also insinuated that Prof. Stuart still retained the money. Immediately upon the appearance of the article, Mr. Ira S. Smith, clerk of the school district informed us that the money was in his possession and had been turned over to him long since. The school trustees have never sent in a list of books they wanted, which is the reason none have as yet been purchased. We regret that those verses appeared, as they were not founded on fact, and would without contradiction, create a prejudice not warranted by the facts.

CARPET HALL.—We reproduce elsewhere the old card of R. O. Strong, who keeps the mammoth carpet hall of St. Paul. He has taken into partnership with him Mr. C. P. Williams, and removing last fall into his new rooms nearly opposite his old stand, has increased his stock, and offers to the public the widest range to choose from, of any house west of Chicago. If you want an excellent article in the line of carpets, mattings, oil cloths, ottomans, curtains and fixtures, upholstery, wall paper, &c., call at the store of Strong & Williams. If you are not visiting St. Paul, all orders addressed to them by letter will receive careful attention. Their card will always be found in our columns, to which our readers can refer, should they wish to order goods.

REAPERS, MOWERS AND THRESHERS.—The heavy receipts of reapers, mowers and threshers at this point shows that the country west and south of us is not yet supplied with a complement of grain and hay harvesters.—The farmers were so largely supplied last season by our merchants, that we concluded the demand this spring would be limited. We learn, however, that the scarcity of hay this season was attributable to the fact that there were not enough mowers to cut the grass. A greater breadth of wheat has been sowed this spring than ever before, and reapers and threshers will necessarily be in demand. Almost every make of this desirable machinery has been received in this city. J. J. Shaubut has 50 mowers and reapers, and is expecting some threshers. J. N. Hall, has already received 83 reapers and mowers of the McCormick and Beloit make. J. F. Meagher has 75 reapers and mowers, 3 headers and 14 threshers. The two latter gentlemen are making further orders for more machines. The total number of machines now on hand for sale is TWO HUNDRED AND TWENTY FIVE. This a very large supply for farmers to choose from. Mr. H. C. Howard of Garden City is selling the Beloit and McCormick reapers and mowers in connection with J. N. Hall, above mentioned.

SEDUCTION CASE.—A suit was brought at this term of court by Frederick Fox against Nathaniel Stevens for damages sustained to his family and his reputation in the seduction of his daughter Catherine Fox. The case occupied the attention of the court from Friday last until Monday evening. Miss Fox appeared in court with an infant eleven months old, a boy. She is now 21 years old, quite small and delicate, and almost handsome. Her general appearance betokens a girl of little experience, or decision, or force of character: a passive nature, relying upon the advice and judgment of another, rather than upon her own convictions, and nerve to carry them out. Nathaniel Stevens her seducer, was their neighbor having a wife and nine children. He is neither old or repulsive in appearance. In the spring of '64 her mother died and Stevens was her pall bearer. During the summer he avowed his purpose to seduce the daughter. Pretending business, and a desire to read the papers he often called at the house of Fox, especially when he was away from home. He spent months of time in poisoning the mind of this girl and breaking down the barriers of modesty, by almost imperceptible advances of unbecoming conversation and tales of indecent neighborhood gossip. In February 1865, the villain made his first direct attack upon her chastity, but was repulsed until June, but his threats intimidated her from revealing his intentions, and by using force he accomplished his purpose. We have not room nor desire to teach the public the willy arts practiced by this enemy of chastity and morals, by relating the diabolical expedients resorted to, to accomplish his purpose and cover up his crimes. It is a sufficient evidence of his monstrosity that the jury were not ten minutes in returning a verdict of $1,543 damages against him. Professing the greatest friendship for Mr. Fox and having his utmost confidence he betrayed the trust and poisoned his household. A retribution was visited upon this man, by some persons who castrated him last spring, and had this maiming been by authority of law, we believe a discriminating public would say "served him right."

In the prosecution of this case Buck & Freeman were employed with Senator Wilkinson, and Mr. A. C. Dunn for the defense.

FURNITURE FACTORY.—The attention of our readers is called to the new advertisement of Charles Heilborn, manufacturer of, and wholesale and retail dealer in furniture. Our citizens may be justly proud of a home institution, so extensive in its details, and complete in its equipments for business, as the furniture factory of Charles Heilborn. It contains a steam engine, a planing mill, three lathes, two saws, and boring machinery. He has on hand the stock for two thousand plain chairs, and stock for nicer furniture in the same proportion. He has his business well in hand and understands it so thoroughly that furniture will be made up at the least possible cost, and sold at prices which defy competition. In respect to prices see his advertisement. About ten men are constantly employed. His planer does good execution, and planing as well as turning will be done to order. Dealers in Southwestern Minnesota will find it to their advantage to buy their furniture of Mr. Heilborn, as he is determined not to be undersold by the eastern factories.

JUDICIAL DECISION.—On the 15th inst., Judge Austin rendered his decision in the case of the Village of Mankato against Willard & Barney. The suit was brought to remove or set aside a deed showing a color of title to 132 feet of land known as a portion of the levee, and lying opposite Prael & DuBuisson and Marks' store. Willard & Barney claimed title under a filing of Robert Wardlow, but the court held that Mr. Wardlow was never in contemplation of law an occupant of the levee or any portion of the town site, nor did he or his assignees do any act hostile to the public use of such levee. The levee being laid out as a public easement and no one who claimed title to it having dissented to its use by the public, a dedication to public use is conclusively presumed. All streets, alleys and parks which were laid out at the time the land was entered, and the occupants paid for their lots and received their deeds, are declared to belong to the public. The reason given is that actual occupants paid for their streets, parks, &c., as well as their lots, when deeds were received, intending them to be for public use. The court says:

"In towns entered pursuant to this act of Congress, although the lands are conveyed to the trustee according to the government survey and maps, yet the occupants designate their claims and the trustee conveys to them with reference to some survey and plat of the town into lots and blocks, and however much of the site may be occupied as streets, levees and parks, yet the aggregate cost of the whole is apportioned among the occupants of the lots and blocks, who, in receiving their title, contributed to the expense in proportion to the area of the lots and blocks conveyed to them severally, without regard to the streets and public grounds."

The Court does not attempt to decide in whom the fee of the land rests, but says that question should be left to be settled between parties who claim it. It does decide however, most unequivocally that the public have a right to the perpetual use of the levee as a public easement dedicated by the proprietors of the town site and acquiesced in by adverse claimants. The court therefore ordered that the defendants, their agents and attorneys, and all persons claiming any interest in or right to said premises, through them or either of them, do forever refrain from obstructing or in anywise interfering with the free and unrestricted use by the public of the premises in question as a public levee or landing.

About 6,000 bushels of wheat in store, at this place during the years 1864-5 was assessed and taxed, and the taxes collected by seizure and restraint by the treasurer. A suit was brought by the owner, Capt. Wm. F Davidson, to recover the amount thus paid, and tried at the last term of our district court. The Judge filed his decision several days ago, sustaining the legality of the tax.

DISTRICT COURT PROCEEDINGS.—The case of Chas. Scheffer vs S. W. Gleason was continued. S. Hidden was excused from the jury for the term. Charles Andrews was sworn bailiff for the Grand Jury. The Grand Jury reported indictments against Charles F. Goodell for larceny and burglary. This Goodell will be remembered as the man who broke into the store of S. C. White & Brother, last March. The case of Z. Paddock vs the Board of County Commissioners was ordered to be placed on the Calendar.

James M. Elliot and Mary A. Elliot, were ordered to be discharged from jail, the Grand Jury finding no indictment against them. They were examined on a charge of rape by a Justice of the Peace at the Agency and committed for trial. There seems to have been no foundation for the charge. Wm. Wells was excused from attendance as juror. Case of Lorinda Youngman vs Nathan C. Youngman was continued, with privilege to try it at next special term. Benedict Bangerter and Gregory Waltz were admitted to full citizenship.

The Grand Jury found an indictment against Charles Johnson for obtaining goods under false pretenses. The jury also found an indictment against James Douglas for selling unwholesome provisions. In the case of Tait vs Dr. Muller for malpractice, the jury found a verdict of $300 in favor of Tait. On the morning of the 24th, Friday, the case of Frederick Fox vs Nathaniel Stevens for damages sustained by reason of the seduction of his daughter Catherine by the defendant, was called for trial. The case occupied the court until the following Monday evening, the 27th inst., when the jury rendered a verdict of $1,543 in favor of the plaintiff. The attorney for the defense gave notice of a motion for a new trial. The attorney of Dr. Muller asked for a new trial, and 20 days to prepare his motion. The case of Alex. Wood vs R. G. Murphey et. al. was referred to M. J. Severence to try the issue and report. On the 25th, Chas. F. Goodell was arraigned, and being without means the court appointed Maj. Woolfolk to defend him. Time was given him to prepare for trial and he was remanded to jail. Charles Johnson was arraigned, and Buck & Freeman appointed to defend him,—remanded to jail to await trial. Douglas was arraigned and appeared by Buck & Freeman, was allowed to await trial on his own recognizance.

MONDAY 27th.—John Weimer indicted last term was tried as a party to forging the endorsement of a check sold at J. J. Thornton & Co.'s bank, and was acquitted, Brown & Wiswell for the defence. Case of Perkins vs Turner, judgment was set aside in court below on account irregularity of Justice of Peace.

TUESDAY 28th.—Douglas pleads "not guilty" on his indictment. The Grand Jury appeared and presented indictments against William H. Day, Horace Kinney, Norton Day, Thomas Day, Jesse Thomas, James Miller and Jacob Best for malicious maiming one Nathaniel Stevens. A. C. Dunn was permitted to be associated with the county Attorney in the prosecution of these men. Charles F. Goodell plead guilty to the charge of larceny, sentence reserved. The defendants Day, Kinney, and others, were arraigned and given one day to plead to the indictment. Sebastian Veil and Joseph Veil were admitted to full citizenship. Case of Wm. C. Kohler vs Aaron Hilton dismissed with cost to defendent. Charles Johnson was tried by jury for obtaining goods on false pretenses and acquitted, the evidence being insufficient, Buck & Freeman for defense. Mathias Bertz vs Clara Weber et. al., to remove cloud upon title, decree granted according to prayer of Plaintiff, W. L. Coon for plaintiff. Case of W. B. Marble vs Cynthia Marble, divorce, tried by the court, decision reserved.

The Grand jury were discharged at noon having finished their labors. Nathaniel Stevens, Charles Millet and Russell Crandell who were held under recognizances, were, with their sureties, discharged by the court, no indictment having been found against them. Case of John A. Arnold vs. Jacob Dewald, verdict for defendant. State vs. Douglas was continued for cause. Case of Z. Paddock vs. County Commissioners was tried and a verdict rendered for the plaintiff.

THURSDAY.—30th.—The court was occupied in the afternoon in hearing a motion for the continuance of the Stevens maiming case. The motion was granted. The petit jury was discharged for the term.

LOST.—Last week Thursday evening, near Shoemaker's Hall a linen lawn handkerchief, new. As it does not cost us much to advertise, we would like to give the finder an opportunity to oblige our "better half" by leaving it at this office.

MARTIN COUNTY.—We learn that the County Board of Martin county are now satisfied that their citizens are in want, and have accepted the offer of Gov. Marshall to issue county bonds for money to be advanced out of some State fund. Their committee was in town this week and received $350 worth of provisions, the last of a late remittance sent to our committee by the Governor. The towns are to obligate themselves to the county for the proportion of provisions received.

MORE BOUNTIES.—We learn that Messrs. Buck & Freeman, collected on Wednesday of this week, $100 additional bounty for Nels C. Rukke, 2d Minn. Inf'ty., Olavis Olsen and Ole S. Soven, 6th Minn. Inf'ty., and Calvin Hayecraft and James Morgan 2d, Minnesota Cavalry.

A CARD

I take this opportunity of informing my old friends and customers who extended to me their liberal patronage during the three years I was engaged in business on my own account in Mankato that I have engaged with Messrs Owens & Co., next door to the Messrs. Bradley's, who have opened a new Stove & Hardware Store, in whose behalf I would respectfully solicit a continuence of your patronage.

They have purchased a new and complete set of Tinners Tools and Machinery and supplied with first quality stock of my own selection. All custom jobbing in the Tin, Stove and Sheet Iron department will be under my especial care and attention. I will guarantee all work turned out from their shop just as represented, and manufactured in a workmanlike manner. For your Stoves, Hardware, Tinware, Plows Cultivaters &c., go to Messrs. Owens & Co. who are bound to sell good goods as cheap as any house in Mankato.

To DR. HOSTETTER:—Dear Sir:—This is to certify that I was taken with the dyspepsia a year ago last March, and, for a period of eight months, was one of the most miserable creatures you ever beheld, not being able either to eat, drink or sleep, and was compelled to walk the floor incessantly. I was nearly deprived of my reason, and hope had entirely left me, all the efforts made for my recovery having proved fruitless.

By the first of November, 1865, I had become so weak and feeble that I could scarcely stand alone, and, to all appearance, would soon die. At this time (having read your advertisement,) my wife prevailed upon me to try your Bitters. A bottle was procured, and, strange to say, I soon commenced recovering. I have taken four bottles, and am enjoying as good health now as could be expected for one of my age (about sixty years). I have no doubt that it was your Bitters alone, under Divine Providence, that effected this wonderful cure.

The News.

—The population of the United States, according to a census taken last November and December, by the Internal Revenue Bureau, was 34,505,882. The number was not taken by actual count, but it is estimated from the number of dwellings.

—Returns to the 1st of May show that the aggregate number of Freedmen's schools at that time, was fourteen hundred and ninety-six; teachers, seventeen hundred and thirty-seven; pupils, ninety-five thousand six hundred and thirty-seven. The demand for teachers and school facilities this spring is much greater than ever before, and taxes the facilities of the Bureau to the utmost.

—A party of Pennsylvania capitalists, numbering about twenty, arrived in Richmond on a prospecting tour through the State. It is said they represent some forty millions worth of capital, and that the resources of Virginia, in the shape of coal and tobacco, will receive a new impetus from their visit.

NEW YORK, May 20.—In the General Synod of the Reformed Presbyterian Church today, Rev. Dr. Wilson, delegate from the Old School General Assembly, made an address urging organic union. Mr. Sloane, delegate from the Reform Presbyterian Synod, also spoke for reunion. Several speeches for reunion were made, and the committee on reunion made a report similar to that made by the Reform Presbyterian Church to meet in Alleghany this week.

—The President will leave next week, Saturday, for Raleigh, to be present at the laying of the corner stone of the monument to his father on the fourth of June.

—The Judiciary Committee has nearly finished the impeachment investigation proper, and will soon be in a situation to prepare a report. In addition to the volume of evidence already in print, portions are passing through the press every day.

—Inspector Sewell, of the Freedmen's Bureau, has just returned from an extended tour in the South. He is decided in the opinion that no such general suffering prevails as the complaints from that section indicate.

CROPS.

Michigan papers speak of the coming crop in the most encouraging terms. The number of acres sown is large.

In twenty counties in Ohio, with but a few trifling exceptions, the wheat looks well, and gives evidence of a good yield, though the breadth of land sown is less than we could wish.

The same number of counties in Indiana do not give quite as fair a showing; yet the prospect is good for a fair crop, and should the season prove good, the yield will be large.

The St. Louis Democrat has returns from a large number of counties in Missouri. The universal testimony in the State is that wheat never looked more promising than at the present season.

The New Orleans Conservatives are still urging on the President the removal of General Sheridan. They complain that he is unnecessarily severe. King Cutler is now trying to induce Mr. Johnson to put General Meade in command.

The World's Washington special says that Surratt's trial will be postponed till the third Monday in June, when the Government will be ready. Hon. John A. Bingham, from Ohio, the Judge Advocate who prosecuted Payne and Atzerodt on the military trial, has been invited to be one of the prosecuting attorneys in the trial of Surratt.

—General Sherman has returned from Fort Harker, Kansas. He is reported to have said we can have an Indian war or not, as we choose. He says parties in Kansas desire war, but he don't think they will be gratified.

—The Atlantic cable of 1865 has been injured by an iceberg grounding against it off Heart's Content, N. F., on the 5th inst. The damage can soon be repaired. The old cable is in fine working order, 90 messages passing through it on Friday, yielding £2,591 7s.

It has been ascertained that there is a secret political Union organization of great strength in the western part of North Carolina and upper part of South Carolina, with smaller memberships in other parts of these States. There are branches or divisions in nearly every precinct of many counties. The members are all white persons, and pledged to oppose the return to power of those who favored rebellion. Parties apparently well informed say the order numbers a majority of the white voters in the western half of North Carolina, and will mostly vote the Republican ticket.

William A. Graham, once Secretary of the United States Navy, afterward a member of the rebel Senate, but always a Federalist, has received a pardon from the President.

Prussia is now agitated over the discovery of a plot to assassinate King William and Count Bismark. According to Berlin dispatches, the plot originated in Hanover, and embraces many of its most prominent citizens. Several arrests have already been made, and the designs of the assassins are supposed to be effectually thwarted.

Earl Derby officially announces that the Alabama claims will be amicably settled. In connection with this statement it is said that the proposition of this Government to submit them to arbitration has been refused. In view of these facts it may be reasonably supposed that England has concluded to make payment in full of all our demands against her.

HUMOROUS.

JUST LIKE HIM.—Old Singleton says that he only knows of one thing better than a wedding present—a wedding absent.

—"The easiest way to get a living," says a vagabond poet, "is to sit on a gate and wait for good luck. In case good luck don't come along, you are no worse off than you were before."

—A traveler stopped at an inn in a neighboring village, and finding the landlord and landlady fighting, cried out, "Hilloa, who keeps this house?" the wife replied; "That's just what we are trying to decide."

—The patron of a cheap boarding house, when accused of carrying off the pillows of his bed, said he had by accident put them into his ears for wads of cotton.

By the use of

CHASTELLAR'S

WHITE LIQUID

ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 30,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse, rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. With starry eyes, and radiant hair
Whose curling tendrils soft, entwined,
Enchained the very heart and mind.

CRISPER COMA,

For Curling the Hair of either Sex into Wavy and Glossy Ringlets or Heavy Massive Curls.

By using this article Ladies and Gentlemen can beautify themselves a thousand fold. It is the only article in the world that will curl straight hair, and at the same time give it a beautiful, glossy appearance. The Crisper Coma not only curls the hair, but invigorates, beautifies and cleanses it; is highly and delightfully perfumed, and is the most complete article of the kind ever offered to the American public. The Crisper Coma will be sent to any address, sealed and postpaid for $1.

Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. DR. SCHENCK'S

MANDRAKE PILLS.

A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all bilious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

LATEST FASHIONS DEMAND

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent DUPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,

Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

AFFLICTED!

SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

AMERICAN ORGANS.

(From "Godey's Ladies' Book," February, 1866.)

REED ORGANS, &c.

THE following remarks and suggestions relative to this immensely popular instrument will doubtless interest and profit very many of our readers; we commend the article to their careful perusal:—

A hundred and one makers of Organs, Cottage, Parlor-Cabinet, American, School Organs etc. etc., are each claiming to make the best instrument in the world. Being comparatively a new instrument, as at present constructed, we are convinced the public are much less capable of judging of its merits, or demerits, than of most other instruments. If there is really an essential difference in them, if there are some worthless ones, the public should have some criterion for judging of them, some facts which will enlighten them. We cheerfully concede the space for this article, knowing that there is hardly a family, or church, or school in all the land, but is more or less interested in this topic. We are also aware of its being a great misfortune, a real calamity, to any of them to purchase an inferior or worthless Organ, ruinous to good playing, and often a source of much annoyance and vexation. We know this article to emanate from a candid and intelligent source, and thus we give it to our readers.

The question is often asked, what are "reed organs?" We answer, they are, in most cases nothing in the world but the old melodeon in disguise. Many of the so-called Organs have the same bellows, the same reeds, and the same general internal arrangement. With the bellows turned on edge to gain room, they have simply put on a more pretentious exterior and a more high sounding name But an organ to be in reality an organ, must have a wind chest or reservoir for air separate from the bellows, into which wind chest the reeds open, and the tone has room to expand and perfect itself into the full round tone, similar to the flute or pipe organ, even, smooth firm and mellow; and this tone from reeds cannot be obtained in any other way known. Nothing so annoys a true organist as to have the volume of sound swelling and jerking spasmodically with every variation of force on the bellows or air-passages, instead of a wind-or sound box. And yet some makers even go so far as to claim this spasmodic or automatic jerking of the bellows on the reeds as an excellence, just as though they did not know that it must soon throw the reeds out of tune, and injure the bellows; and as though it were not an easier matter to obtain a much better and more easily managed swell by other methods. The truth is, any organ, so called, or melodeon which has the wind acting directly upon the reeds, is nothing more or less than a huge accordeon, dress it up as you may. And when organists and true musicians become aware of the fact that they can obtain those that are organs in fact as well as in name they will buy no more of the objectionable ones. Then again the swell should always be separate and distinct from the bellows, so as not to be acted on by the hand, or soft blowing, but convenient, so that the player can use it with the knee, separate from the hands or feet, and thus always under easy control, to be used ad libitum.

The large divided bellows, or double bellows, is also a very important improvement.—By this means not only can the wind be supplied more evenly, but with far greater ease to the performer, from the fact that either bellows alone will be sufficient for the lighter melodies, thus permitting the player to change about and rest the feet at will; then, if the bellows is of a requisite large size, and having the wind chest or reservoir, all will be well.—As to the reeds, they must be scientifically tuned and voiced, or all the other good qualities in the world cannot produce a good toned instrument. The inquiry now very naturally arises, where can the organ be procured combining all these essential and desirable qualities? There is only one possessing these points and that is the AMERICAN ORGAN, made by S. D. & H. W. SMITH, of Boston, SIBERIA OTT, Wholesale Agent, 581 Broadway, New York. These organs have a wind-chest extending the whole length of the instrument, and so constructed as to act at the same time as a reverberating sound box or board and having the same important relation and part to perform that the sounding-board has to the piano. This feature the makers have patented, and to it are owing in a great measure the entirely unequaled fullness and richness of tone so highly prized by all who have used these organs. They also have the largest and best divided bellows in use, which is another important feature. No part of their work is slighted no expense or pains spared to make the American Organs perfect musically, as well as mechanically, and, judging from the immense sale of them at present, they bid fair to long maintain the proud position they have won by superior merit alone. We would most heartily advise all interested to call upon or address MR SIBERIA OTT, the Wholesale Agent, at No. 581 Broadway, New York, and can assure them he will, in the most gentlemanly and truthful manner, impart to them all the information they may desire relative to this truly delightful instrument.

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

By Our own Reporter.

CHICAGO, May 21st, 1867.

Our correspondent after speaking at length of the Opera House, a subject not very important to this locality, proceeds as follows:

But, enough about the opera—I have only devoted so much space to it because it is the exciting topic of the day, and the weather is so disgustingly bad that there is nothing else going on. In fact the city is as dull as a cemetery on a wet day.

The day papers publish this morning a rather interesting statement of the business of our Chicago manufacturers and merchants, as reported to the Assessor of Internal Revenue. According to this there are no less than fifty-eight business firms in this city which each do a business of over $1,000.000 per annum—the largest sum reported is by Field, Palmer & Leiter, who exhibit a business of $9,220.067; next largest is that of J. V. Farwell & Co., $6,948.328; Bowen, Whiteman & Winslow $3,458.816; Munn, Nortor & Scott $3,335.468. Two hundred and fifty-nine do business of less than $1,000.000 and over $250,000 each and three hundred and seventy-four over $100,000 and under $250,000 each. The classification thus made is necessarily rather loose but I have not time nor do I suppose it would be of sufficient interest to repay the trouble, to make a closer one. Glancing over the figures presented, I believe, however, that I can calculate pretty closely the gross amount and I estimate it as very near—rather over than under $400,000.000. Rather a pretty business that to be reported only from firms doing over $100,000 annual trade, each and in a city only about thirty years old. Please to remember also the immense amounts our business men have invested in stocks, speculations and miscellaneous enterprises which are not and cannot be included in this list and then say if Chicago has'nt some reason to be proud of her business men.

The eight hour strikers still keep up their row but it has become rather a "tempest in a tea-pot." They still hold daily meetings, mainly for the purpose of vilifying as "sneaks," "scabs" and "things," the men who are industriously at work on the ten hour system. Remittances from other cities are constantly promised by the leaders to needy "strikers," but never come. Most of the important shops excepting those of the railroads, are at work, with all the men they need, and the railroad shops are gradually and surely filling up again.

The Baptists are holding their anniversaries here this week and have quite a jolly christian time. There are several thousand of them, strangers, in the city and the reports they receive of the progress of their denomination, all over the country are highly encouraging.

Our correspondent writing of date May 28, has the following additional particulars of the immense trade of Chicago:

AN IMMENSE TRADE.

In my last letter to you, I believe that I mentioned the enormous business returns reported by some of our Chicago merchants, the highest of which was that of Messrs. Field, Leiter & Co., Dry Goods merchants Nos. 110, 112, 114, and 116 Lake Street, amounting to between nine and nine and a half million dollars. Before closing this letter I should like to say for the benefit of my merchant readers, something of how this success has been achieved. This now immense firm has grown up with the growth of Chicago, and the members are therefore fully "posted" as to the requirements and tastes of all the vast Northwest, which now looks for both supply and demand to this market. Recognizing that the great obsticles in the way of supplying goods cheaply to the North west were, the exhorbitant profits of eastern jobbers, the enormous cost of freight from the east and the necessary outlay for great stocks of goods by country merchants who could go to New York but seldom, and could never trust an order to eastern men, Messrs. F. L. & Co., established a system of purchasing goods in vast quantities, for cash from auction sales and manufacturers, by which they have been and are enabled to offer goods here in Chicago as cheaply as they can be bought in New York, overcoming every obsticle noted, and affording the most complete satisfaction to their customers. This enterprise and tact have been the talismans which have insured their success and make them to Chicago what A. T. Stewart & Co., and H. B. Claflin & Co., are to New York.

DON.

—Fort Ridgely has ceased to be a military post; all the goods and "appurtenances thereunto belonging," except the untenanted buildings, having been sold and removed. The garrison took up its line of march for the Cheyenne River, leaving Capt. White and four men as the last and final squad for muster at Fort Ridgely.—St. Peter Tribune.

—The Jackson (Miss.,) Clarion says there are twenty-three Conservative papers in Mississippi which advocates reconstruction in conformity to the law of Congress. There are also several newly established Radical papers advocating the same course. Fifteen Mississippi papers oppose reconstruction under the Congressional plan.

LETTERS FROM MINNESOTA.

BY MINNEHAHA.

No. 2—Fishing.

H——, May 10, 1861.

MY DEAR KATE:—"What will you give me for a letter?" chirped Rose, half an hour ago, skipping around just out of arms reach; and not until I had promised to make a dress for her doll, would the little minx give it up.

Such a feast of good things as it contained, that letter from the old home land, from Kate!

You wish to know what I am doing and how I enjoy myself? Just now the sense of being very tired is uppermost, yet it is a healhy "tired;" tired by such exercise, as for the time wearies the body, but strengthens the mind.

Last night, Willie came to me with a look that showed he had something of importance to communicate.

Deftly drawing me one side out of the hearing of Rose, he said, "Mollie, the creek and lake are swarming with fish, great pickerel and suckers, and some buffalo, but the best time to catch them is just at day break, and as it is two miles to the creek, we will have to get up early to get there in time. But do not let Rose know you are going for she will want to go too, and she would only be in the way, scare the fish, and get cold and want to come home; ma says you may go, you will won't you?"

It required no coaking to persuade me to go, so we slyly got everything in readiness last night, Willie putting his spear and basket where they were handy, and I a small lunch, small, because Will says, "one can not work as well on a full stomach as an empty one," but I do not know where he got his theory. Will waked me with a whisper, this morning, that it was four o'clock, and that we must hurry.

Up the road for a mile, then over plowed fields and green undulating prairie we took our early morning walk. At last, just as the sun had sent up a few straggling beams, as forerunners, we reached the creek, which was slowly subsiding after the early rains. Nor was it long before a plump, slimy pickerel lay writhing on the bank.

I turned away my head, that I might not see its death agony, but Will said "Pshaw, how silly girls are, any way."

We had splendid luck, great fellows that weighed from three to eight pounds. We had to be very still, and keep back out of sight as far as we could, as the fish were very shy. We had traversed the stream for half a mile, I carrying the basket the while, as there were other parties up the stream that might have appropriated it. It was nearly full at last, and very heavy I assure you; the sun was far up in the sky, and I at least was as hungry as a wolf, while Will said "he wished we had brought more bread and butter. I thought those shiny fellows would look full as well in a frying pan, but I had a great desire before we turned our steps homeward, to try my luck with the spear. At last he consented, and I stamped on the jutting logs as I had seen Willie do to scare them out. "Ah, you fine fellow I'll have you now," when oh——, what is this? In my excitement I had sprung too far, and went headlong into the creek. I did not relish the cold bath at all, and how that little scamp of a brother laughed at me, while helping me out the best way he could.

"I declare, Moll, you are the largest fish I have seen yet; quite a haul this, but it is too bad, siss, and now we will have to go to the house, or you catch cold, sh—, hist, do you see that?" and in a trice a huge buffalo lay on the bank; I think it must have weighed fifteen or eighteen pounds at least. Willie's joy knew no bounds, he laughed and capered about, and at last joined me in my examination of the monster. We had never seen any think like it before, but knew from description we had received before, that it was a buffalo. We were admiring the great black fellow, and thinking what a feast he would make, when, hearing a twig crack behind us, I turned, and Oh! Kate, there I was, vis a vis with an Indian, a huge, swarthy, villainous Sioux. I know I turned very pale, and I could not help the exclamation of terror that escaped me. How he laughed at me, a low gurgling sound coming out of his large, wicked looking mouth. "Ugh, white girl fraid," he said, his snaky eyes looking into my white face. Willie was certainly some surprised, but he has seen a great many Indians since he has been here, and is used to their mean, sneaking ways, and so he tried to divert the savages attention from myself, and get up a conversation.

"We are catching fish, don't you think we have a nice lot?"

"Ugh, him big," pointing to the buffalo.

"Yes," said Willie proudly, "I think he is a fine fellow, but why do you not fish?"

"Me no spear, sell spear get whiskey. Ugh! git him, big!" he said, drawing our attention to a large sucker, within spearing distance, but scarcely had we turned our heads, than catching up our much valued buffalo, he sprung off like a dear, making our ears ring with his defiant whoops.

"You mean, thieving Indian!" exclaimed Willie, with something like a quiver around the determined mouth at his disappointment, "I wish I had fathers gun, I'd make you give that up."

I declare, I choked back something in my throat, for I had imagined fathers delight, and what mother and Rose would say, and now to be so meanly robbed. However, we consoled ourselves with the fact that we had now a nice mess of fish, while so heavy were they, that we wondered how we could have carried the buffalo.

You ought to have seen me, Kate, wet as I could be, my dress torn, in climbing fences and by the brush along the creek, my shaker jammed, and my sacque covered with slime in carrying the basket.

I think there was more of a smile, than a frown on mothers face as she said depreciatingly, "Mollie, Mollie, when will you be a woman."

"Keep her young yet, mother, no use in being an old maid yet a while, is there, pet," was what father said, while he praised Willie's fish, and condoled with us for the loss of the buffalo.

It is so delightful here at home; I have been off to school so much, that I appreciate it I tell you.

Father, with his cheery ways, so ready to join in his children's glee, freed from the diseases that used to weigh him down, mothers sweet smile of encouragement and gentle words of caution and rebuke, and that dear, tantalizing brother and sister, make me wish that I could always stay at home, and not have to teach school somewhere, couped up in a log school house, when I had much rather be catching fish, or making garden with Will. But it is quite necessary that I should, and I suppose that it is time that I left off some of my hoidenish, little girl ways, and tried to be a woman. But the prospect of my teaching this summer is rather dubious: people raise their eyebrows, and say "so young!" two little words of one syllable, but very vexatious, when one must needs get a school somewhere. I like the people better than I thought I should; they are whole hearted, out spoken and "go-a-head."

I have made the acquaintance of a lady, Mrs. Osborn, that I like very much; she is refined and intelligent.

We attended quarterly meeting together last Sabbath, six miles from here, at B—— Lake. The meeting was held in a large log school house, there was no upper floor and the voice of the large congregation, as it swelled upward, was as grand as the selected choir in Springfield. I found God was here, in this new wild country, the same as in the old church at home, and his religion seemed his worshipers nearer together, though some were strangers. We were invited to Mr. Carlyle's to dinner. There were a great many there, among them a woman named Goodrich, who I could not help but notice on account of her sympathy with secession: a great many dark looks were cast at her, and some rather bitter words. Mr. Carlyle has a daughter, Nellie, who is an odd little genius; about fourteen, with jet hair and flashing, merry black eyes; but enough of this.

Miss Tibbits has secured the school here; she told us (in one of her morning calls) that "Pap" (oh horror) said that she might have the school as well as any one, that she guessed she had as good learning as the best of them."

I am sorry that the children are to have such an instructress, she brought her "composition" over for me to see, as she had promised.

"Oh, I'll read it" she said as I reached my hand for it, "one's pieces sound better when read by themselves; but it is poetry, you did not know I was a poet, did you?" she said confidentially. After some preliminaries she began to read her "Ode on the last day of School," which consisted of twenty seven verses: oh dear, oh dear, but here is an extract,

"The last day of school has come
And I am very sorry indeed,
For except a few differences of opinion,
I think we have all agreed

"I think we owe many thanks to Mr. Haden,
For what he has done for us here
And I know very well on my part,
I hold him in my esteem most dear

"I think we have made great progress in our studies,
And of learning have got a very good supply
I know I can speak of myself in that respect,
As I have gone half way through a y Philosophy."

There, I will not torture you any more; you see the principle point is to bring the words into rhyme, regardless of meaning or metre.

"Why do you not send that master piece of poetry to the Editor of the county paper."? queried father, with a grave face.

"Well, I had thought some of doing so, but am rather young to appear before the public as an author; but I believe I will now. Who knows what fame and fortune those verses may bring me"? And she left to copy and send them by the first mail. I have not seen them yet, but of course the Editor will appreciate them, and so Miss Tibbits eagerly grasps the weekly paper in hopes to see her darling poetic effusion.

I have been teaching the children at home; I found that they had made little or no progress in their studies, though taught by that learned man, Mr Haden.

"Up from the wood paths, with bird songs about her,
May has come softly, the beautiful child," and she is just as fair in this North land, as in the old home. I wish you could see the prairies, the red, blue and yellow flowers set in their groundwork of green. But Rose says, "Dinner is ready," so au revoir.

MOLLIE.

VENTURE AND WIN.

"Nothing ventured nothing gained," is a truism much more limited in its application to business pursuits than most persons apprehend. This motto has allured to certain and irretrievable ruin many who thoughtlessly invested all their capital in an enterprise where there was a bare possibility of acquiring a fortune and a probability of losing all. In all contingent enterprises, "nothing ventured, nothing gained," has its counterpart in the nautical axiom

"Little boats keep near the shore Larger craft may venture more."

Better "make out" with what little we now have, than loose all in trying to acquire a fortune "on the wing." There are a few reckless adventurers who are willing to stake all on a single throw of the dice. Their motto is "make or break." These persons hold alternate intercourse with wealth and poverty. To-day they bet high and win, and roll in affluence. To-morrow they may be seen begging their bread. But they are prepared to accept with fortitude whatever may come, and failure only serves to stimulate them to renewed exertion. They will ascend to the summit of the Rocky Mountains, though they must subsist upon insects to do it. But most persons will fare better to buy their experience in small installments. Pecuniary disaster stands, "a wolf in sheeps clothing," near the door of every injudicious speculator. "Hard times" demand steady nerves and good judgment. Every one should move, but with discretion, and the financial crisis upon which we have fallen, will pass away with the return of another harvest, bringing joy and plenty to the door of every inhabitant of South Western Minnesota.

RUSTICUS

—Said one student to another, whom he caught swinging a scythe most lustily in a field of stout grass, "Frank, what makes you work for a living? A fellow with your talent and abilities should not be caught engaged in hard labor. I mean to get my living by my wits."

"Well, Bill, you can work with duller tools than I can," was the reply.

—The Commissioner of the General Land Office has received from the Secretary of the Interior information that the President of the United States has accepted the first section twenty miles of the Western Pacific Railroad, commencing at the corner [illegible] Rail- and San Pedro streets, in the city of San Jose, and extending to a point near the eastern boundary of Alameda canon, in Alameda county, and has ordered patents in conformity with law.

OLD STATE RAILROAD BONDS.

So far as we are advised a large majority of the press of the State are outspoken in their opposition to the law of the last legislature, (which is to be submitted to a pupular vote at the next election,) which provides for the payment of the old Rail Road Loan Bonds. It would appear that this scheme to revive and endorse by the State an old fraud, is brought forward at too early a day to insure success.

There are too many people in the State who are familiar with all the facts connected with it, to justify the belief that the people of this State will vote away three or four mil- millions of dollars to enrich a class of men who deceived, betrayed and defrauded them.

At this writing we have before us a circular which was issued in favor of this original Loan Scheme, from the office of the Pioneer and Democrat and claiming to be a Supplement to that paper. It was issued when the original proposition to loan the credit of the State to the Railroad Companies for $5,000,000 was pending before the people, and it was circulated all over the State as an electioneering document in favor of that measure. In one of the articles in this circular we find the following:

"We are aware that it has been alleged that these several companies can grade or construct one mile here, and another there, wherever it may be cheapest, and upon such grading of ten miles, get $100,000 in bonds of the State. The language of the proposition is, 'any ten miles of the road shall be actually constructed and completed, ready for placing the superstructure thereon.' Any lawyer, or any man of common sense, not a lawyer, would construe this to mean ten continuous or consecutive miles, and not ten miles in detached parts. Bonds would not be issued by any Governor upon any other construction. If they were issued they could not be negotiated anywhere. They would be fraudulent, and the people be justified in repudiating them, and would, undoubtedly, repudiate them. They would be utterly valueless to the companies."—[Supplement to Pioneer and Democrat, March 1858.

Now the people are well aware that no one of these companies constructed any ten "continuous or consecutive miles" of road before the bonds were issued, but these bonds were issued to these companies, upon grading done in "detached parts." The grading done by these companies was in places where the work was light and could be executed for a few hundred dollars per mile, while the heavy work was left untouched. It was in this way that the prairies were dug up in patches all along the lines of these projected roads, while no work of particular value was performed. These companies did just what the Pioneer said they would not do. The people know this to be true.

But says the Pioneer "Bonds would not be issued by any Governor upon any other construction." But the bonds were issued by Governor Sibley, upon a very different construction.

Now apply the law laid down by the Pioneer in 1858, "If they, (the bonds,) were "issued they could not be negotiated any "where. They would be fraudulent, and "the people would be justified in repudiat "ing them, and would undoubtedly repudiate "them. They would be utterly valueless to "the companies." Again in the same issue the editor of that paper in another article says: "Every holder of the State Railroad "Bonds will understand perfectly that the "Companies receiving the aid of public cred- "it are required and expected, under fatal "forfeitures and sacrifices, to provide for in- "terest and principal, and that the State "Government will impose no taxation for "that purpose."

This was the position of the Pioneer in 1858. By reference to these extracts it will be observed that a man may sometims say some good things in advocacy of a very bad cause. For instance: If the bonds were issued in a certain manner they could not be negotiated any where. They were so issued and as the Pioneer predicted, they could not be negotiated any where.

Again, "they would be fraudulent." Very good, they were fraudulent. The fact that the Editor of this paper is to-day very much interested on behalf of these Swindling Railroad Companies and speculators, will not very seriously effect the people. The facts of the original fraud are too fresh in their memories to allow them to be deceived or brow beaten into the support of this measure. Besides this the people are already drawn down and oppressed with taxation, and they will not be inclined to look with favor upon any measure which provides for taking millions from the treasury of the State to enrich those who have deceived and defrauded them.

A MISTAKE CORRECTED

The Owatonna Journal of May 30th. contains an able article on Railroad bonds in which that paper takes strong grounds against the law or the last legislature providing for their payment. We are glad to see this influential and well conducted Journal taking this position. While we approve of the tone and spirit of that article, we think the writer is mistaken as to one statement, which it contains, and that is this:

"These bonds were placed in the hands of agents and offered in New York Markets.

"At first they found purchasers at ninety-five cents, everything promised well, soon however leading New York papers commenced publishing articles crying down these bonds cautioning capitalists against such investments. The consequence was, that they depreciated from 95 cents on the dollar to 25 and found few buyers at that."

Our understanding of the matter is that they never sold for any such price in the New York Market; that leading capitalists would never have any thing to do with them.

We certainly know that the President of the Cedar Valley Road, to whom was issued a large amount of these bonds, offered them in the New York Market, and was unable to negotiate them for any reasonable price, and returned with the bonds to St. Paul, and there made or pretended to make some kind of a sale of about $100,000, of these bonds, to a man by the name of Pease. The trade was effected to enable Pease to start one or two wild cat Banks under the general Banking law of this State. It was then claimed that these bonds were sold for 95 cents on the dollar. The State auditor received them for that amount as security for the banks which the parties proposed to establish under the general banking law of the State.

The Banks were established and the bills issued on the security of these bonds at 95 cts on the dollar. It was thus that the banks at Owatonna and Glenco were started. It was well understood at the time that the sale of these bonds to Pease by the President of the Cedar Valley Road company was not bona fide but that this course was resorted to as a temporary expedient to relieve the R. R. company from its pressing embarassments, for this company owned every body that would give it credit from Faribault to St, Paul.

The establishment of these banks did relieve this company for about six weeks: of course it took all the bills which these banks were allowed to issue to pay for the bonds, and their money was paid to laborers and others to whom the Road was indebted, but there was no capital left in the banks with which to redeem the bills thus issued and paid out to laborors and others, and of course the banks "went up," on the first application that was made at their counters, to redeem these bills. These model institutions lasted about six weeks, and the people were defrauded out of all the money that was issued by them.

The above is tho only instance we ever heard of, where any of these bonds were sold at 95 cts on the dollar. No bona fide sale of them was ever made for any such sum; at least this is our understanding of the matter.

HOMESTEAD SETTLEMENTS.

The Commissioner of the General Land Office has written a letter which is published giving his opinion of the requirements of the law which grants homestead lands to actual settlers. He says that any one, man or woman, 21 years of age or the head of a family, being a citizen or having declared his intention to become such, may take a homestead. The law however must be strictly fulfilled, and the party making entry must proceed deligently to erect some kind of a house, and move his family into it, and show by deeds and not words alone that he intends in good faith to spend five years on his homestead. The abandonment of the land, or a change of residence for six months works a forfeiture of the entry. The question of most importance decided by the commissioner is whether a temporary abode upon the land for two or three days every six months is a substantial compliance with the law. He says that his office will not tolerate or support such an interpretation of the law, and that entries made in this manner, will be declared invalid. The law intends that the settler must make it his actual place of residence, and that he shall make such improvements as his ability willl permit. An exception to the requirement of residence is made where the party owning land makes an entry of homestead lands adjoining him. If he is a bona fide resident of his own premises and is improving them, his entry of homestead land, adjoining him will be held good without building upon it or improving it.

NEW ULM TRIALS.

We learn from Judge Austin that he has ordered the clerk of the District Court of Brown county, at New Ulm, to transfer his records to the clerk of Redwood county at Redwood Falls, for the purpose of holding the regular term of court which convenes on the 3d Tuesday of this month. Redwood is attached to Brown county for judicial purposes and a law was passed last winter, allowing the Judge of any District, in a case like this, to remove the place of trial to any county thus attached, for the furtherance of justice, or other good cause. Judge Austin deeming the atmosphere too much biased at New Ulm to admit of a fair trial of the murderers of Campbell and Liscom, has wisely ordered that the next term of court for Brown county shall be held a Redwood Falls. Upon the filing of his order in the clerks office at New Ulm, the commissioners of Brown county held a special meeting, and appointed a committee to wait on Judge Austin and ask him to rescind his order. They visited him at St. Peter on Saturday last and urged that an impartial trial could be held at New Ulm and that the expenses of the term would be greatly increased by the removal. The interview availed nothing, as the Judge held that expenses were a secondary consideration in so important a trial as those which are to come up at this term of court.

CHOLERA.

MR. EDITOR.—Through the colums of your paper, I wish to call the attention of the town authorities to the fact, that preparations for the coming of that terrible scourge, the cholera, should be made at once.

Indications from abroad, and the opinions of the best medical men lead us to believe that the great valley of the Mississippi, will be the theater of the depredations of the destroyer the coming summer.

Other places, both inland and upon water courses, are cleaning up, and preparing themselves to do battle, and why we should delay is a mystery to the public. Experience has demonstrated that cleanliness, good habits, wholesome food and thorough ventilation are the great enemies of disease, particularly of epidemic disease.

Our authorities should at once see to it that our streets and sewers are thorongly cleaned, and the privy vaults, and door yards of the citizens put in order. The filthy places should be well limed with good lime and a general cleaning up should at once be commenced.

In the event that our fears should be groundless, much good will be accomplished, and our little city present a much more pleasing spectacle to a strangers' eye than in its present filthy and unpresentable condition.

The Town Board owe it to the public to go to work immediately and spare no pains to bring about a thorough state of cleanliness.

SABBATH SCHOOL CONVENTION.

The Ninth Annual Convention of the Minnesota State Sabbath School Association will meet at the Presbyterian Church in Rochester on Tuesday, June 18, 1867, at 2 o'clock P. M., and continue in session during Wednesday and Thursday. For the information of those interested we quote portions of the circular issued by the State Central Committee. It says:

"We are not now able to announce the "names of any distinguished Sabbath School "workers from abroad, although it is confi- "dently expected that several will be present. "We have, however, endeavored to enlist the "interest and secure the presence of some of "our most effective home talent. Prof. "Phelps and Adams, and Misses Lee, Ti- "manns and Thompson, of the State Normal "School, Winona, Hon. Mark H. Dunnell, "State Supt. of Public Instruction, Prest. "Brooks, and the Professors in Hamline Uni- "versity, Red Wing, Prof. Nelson and Mrs. "Buckland, of Rochester, Prof. Kissell, of "Minneapolis, Judge McMillan, Mr. Pres- "cott and Prof. Gates, of St. Paul and others "engaged in educational work in Sabbath "and Secular Schools in the State, have been "invited, and most of them have signified "their intention to be present, and have ac- "cepted appointments on special themes as- "signed them by the Committee. Ministers "of all denominations are cordially invited, "and will as heretofore take prominent part "in the proceeding. Papers and addresses "on the 'Principles of Education;' 'Grada- "tion and Classifications of Sabbath Schools; "Uses and Abuses of Sabbath School Mus- "ic,' 'The wants of the Sunday Schools in "the Rural Districts;' 'Preparation of Les- "sons for Teaching:' 'Modes of Impressing "Religious Truth.' Primary Bible Lesson, "with class of small children; Teacher's "Meeting, with class drawn from the Conven- "tion—(Subject:—'Captivity of Daniel,'); "Object Teaching; Blackboard Exercises; "Question Drawer, &c., &c., will make up a "programme which it is thought must prove "interesting and valuable to all engaged in "the great work of teaching Bible truths."

All transportation companies by land or water, have agreed to return passengers home free upon the certificate of tho officers of the convention that they have paid full fare over their lines in going to the convention.

"All expecting to attend are desired to "forward their names and post office address "as soon as possible to Rev. Sheldon Jack- "son, Chairman Committee of Reception of "Rochester, giving the number of party, de- "nomination of each, and whether traveling "by public or private conveyance. The Com- "mittee will then send by mail letters of in- "troduction to the families whose guests they "will be, thus avoiding confusion, and enab- "ling delegates to go directly to their places "of entertainment.

"County Secretaries and Individual Schools "that have not yet done so, are earnestly re- "quested to send their statistical reports to "St. Paul, addressed to H. M. Knox, Chair- "man of State Central Committee, without "delay."

The circular closes with the following appeal:

"Brethern and friends in the work, come to the Convention,—make it a subject of special public and private prayer,—come prepared to receive and impart instruction, and let the great absorbing question with us be, 'How can we lead the children of Minnesota to Jesus.'"

A Minnesotian in Montana.

J. C. Goodnow, writing from Montana, under a late date, to his friends in this City, says:

One of the greatest strikes ever made in a mining country was made here a few days ago by L. W. Brown, Esq., of Shakopee, Minn., wherein he made the purchase of the enormous amount of sixty-three thousand five hundred feet of valuable quartz property, at a small figure, and only because he understood the kinks of the law, whereby he has made himself independently rich. I understand it is his intention to return to the State this summer for the purpose of purchasing machinery to erect upon his property, and when once done, cannot help but yield to him countless thousands of dollars.—You can hardly call him a lucky miner, but must give credit to his shrewdness in his profession.—Winnebago Homestead.

THE WATONWAN RIVER.—The Watonwan has again raised so that it is impossible to ford. Its banks are full to overllowing an unusual thing for the time of year.

IMMIGRATION.—Immigrants continue to come in to town notwithstanding the bad roads, and many business men are so well pleased with our location as a town that they intend locating here and going into business.

BUILDING.—A number of new buildings are being erected. J. N. Thompson is erecting him a fine house on Maine St. A. G. Lagrange, J. S. Ingalls, W. S. Marston, E. G. Williams, John Smith and J. G. Carr, have each erected dwelling houses, and some others are in process of erection. W. J. Smith is building a large furniture shop. Ray Williams & Bro's are building a lime house. Warner & Thurston are erecting a large Meat Market. S. C. Wellcome has built an addition to his store and has rented it to Mrs. Sanderson of Mankato who is about to fill it with a fine stock of Millinery and dress goods.

BUSINESS.—Business is very good for the time of year, and our merchants are all having a fair trade. W. C. Davis our Hardware merchant has a good stock of hardware and is having good season in trade.

DISTRICT COURT.—On Tuesday of last week the court sentenced Chas. F. Goodall, to the pententiary for one year. After some unimportant business the court adjourned to Tuesday June 4th.

JUNE 4th.—The divorce case of Andrew Schroff vs Agnes Schroff, was tried by the court, and decision reserved, F. H. Waite for plaintiff, A. C. Woolfolk for defense. John Kelley was admitted to full citizenship. Case of Luther Dana et. al., vs Minor Porter et. al., tried by the court, decision reserved.

JUNE 5th—Isaac Marks vs County Board, for provisions &c., in Wilson small pox case argued and submitted. John T. Fenn vs David S. Law and Jas. R. Tinkcom, decree ordered as prayed for by plaintiff. Catherine Cole et. al., vs George Maxifield, was a motion for a new trial, Wilkinson & Woolfolk for the motion, and Waite in opposition. Decision reserved. At about 4 o'clock P. M., the court adjourned sine die.

A Sewing Machine for the Blind.

"My health," says J. C. Spear, of Hartford, Ohio, in a letter to the Wilcox & Gibbs Sewing Machine Company, dated May 4th, 1866, "has now so much improved that I can devote my time entirely to the sale of your machines. I am entirely blind, and my sister travels with me and assists in showing the machine. They are so simple in their construction that I have learned to sew on them, which is something I could not do on any other.

THE "COMPENSATING" POWER,
(Both eight and ten horse.)

A landable ambition exists among threshers to "own the best machine in the neighborhood." Nothing is more disagreeable to them than to have farmers complain that their work is not properly done, or to lose valuable time by reason of breakages, and they cannot be too careful in selecting a machine.

The Sweepstakes is the accredited head of the Threshing Machine family, and its superior strength, durability, simplicity, ease of draft, style of finish, and rapacity for threshing and cleaning grain faster and better than any other in the world, are acknowledged.

The great reputation achieved by this favorite machine has led several unscrupulous manufacturers, and numerous agents, to attach the name "SWEEPSTAKES," in one way and another, to their machines and advertisements to mislead and deceive.

This is the essence of meanness—downright piracy, and sailing under false colors. To avoid the counterfeit, see that every machine has the card, "C. AULTMAN & CO., MANUFACTURERS, Canton, Ohio," in gilt letters, conspicuously on both sides of the Separator.

The Genuine Sweepstakes enables the thresher to pick his customers, seldom stops for repairs, lasts much longer than others, saves much grumbling and vexation, does the same amount of work with less labor, and enables him to select the best and most profitable jobs.

The farmers give it a preference, and often an extra price per bushel, because it threshes clean from the heads, separates perfectly from the straw, cleans fit for market without waste, saves all the grain, does its work with the utmost speed, safely and economy, and does not keep a gang of men and teams about them on expense.

The elegant "Patent Pivot Side Gear" is to be found only on the SWEEPSTAKES.

Our "Patent Cleaning Apparatus" enables the operator to control the direction of the blast, and position of the seives, and clean either heavy or light grain, without waste, as fast as it can be threshed,—the chaff and dirt being separated from the grain before it strikes the seive at all.

Separators, Horse Powers, Straw Stackers, Gears or Jacks, sold separately, when desired. A written warranty delivered with every machine. The "SWEEPSTAKES" is usualy a very scarce article after harvest, and parties should order early.

Call or send and get a pamphlet circular, giving a full description and particulars, together with numerous certificates, and the names and residence of over three thousand persons who have bought and used the SWEEPSTAKES in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Kansas alone.

Great Overland
EXPEDITION
MONTANA!
MANKATO, MINN.,
The point of outfit for Minnesota, Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana, etc.
The largest Overland Expedition ever organized, will positively leave Minnesota,
FIRST OF JUNE NEXT
under the command of
Captain P. B. DAVY,
who has designated Mankato as the point of outfit for Central and Southern Minnesota. It is situated at the great bend of the Minnesota, and on a direct airline from Chicago and Winona to Helena City, Montana.
Mankato contains 15 Dry Goods, 15 Grocery, 3 Hardware, 2 Drug, 3 Clothing, 6 Boot and Shoe, and 3 Harness stores, Feed and Provision Stores, 8 Hotels, a corresponding number of other business houses, 3 first-class Flouring Mills, and it is surrounded by a very fine agricultural country, well stocked with cattle and farm produce of all kind; and at that point can be obtained every article necessary for a complete outfit for the journey and mines, as cheap as can be had at any other town this city west of the Mississippi river.
Emigrants should leave the Mississippi at Winona, where they can take the Winona & St. Peter Railroad to Owatonna, the present terminus, and Mankato is 48 miles farther west by good stage road. The route from Mankato west to Big Stone Lake, the point of general rendezvous, a distance of 200 miles, traverses a beautiful section of country, with pleasant camping grounds and plenty of wood, water and grass.
The distance from Mankato to Helena City, Montana is about 1,000 miles and will require not more than ten weeks. It is shorter than any other, and the expedition led by Captain Tom Holmes, last year, over this route, arrived at Helena City two weeks earlier than the expedition led by Capt. Fisk from St. Cloud, via Fort Abercrombie.
For further particulars see Captain Davy's Circular or address Hon. J. R. WAKEFIELD, Secretary and Treasurer of the Expedition, Blue Earth City, Minnesota, or Mankato, March 29, '67.

DEFECTIVE PAG

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - JUNE 7, 1867.

—Fathers take your wives to the excursion.

—G. W. Weaver has purchased the lot 2d door above Wiser's Jewelry store, and is erecting thereon a one story brick 22 feet by 60.

Druggists.—Hunt & Gault have opened their drug store at the old stand of J. J Porter. Their store is beautifully arranged, and well equipped for a prescription office, and for doing a general drug business. They are candidates for a share of public favor, and will doubtless receive it.

—Mothers see that pa gives the older children money, to go with the excursion.

Pickpocket Pocket-Book.—Hunt & Gault, druggists, above the Mankato House, have something new in the shape of pocket-books. They are so fixed that they can be attached to the pocket and cannot be taken out by meddlesome thieves. They are nicely made and as convenient as any other style and far preferable. Call and examine them.

—The friends of the Methodist sabbath school are planning a steamboat excursion to take place on the morning of the 13th inst. The Ariel will take the excursionists in the morning at 6½ o'clock to a grove near Traverse where they will enjoy the day in regular pic-nic style. At six in the evening the Mollie will return with them, arriving at 10 P. M. Everybody are invited. Single Tickets. $1,50, for Lady and Gent $2,50, children $1,00. A very pleasant time is anticipated. For particulars see programmes.

—Children tease your parents to let you go to the excursion.

Personal.—Mr. Geo. W. McMullen, traveling correspondent of the Chicago Evening Post, called on us on Wednesday last. He will take notes of the commercial position of Mankato, its inducements to emigration &c. and will devote a special letter to the subject, which will appear in the Post in a few days. The Post is an evening paper of much ability and enterprise, and we bespeak for it a wider circulation in this section of the State.

Quick Trip.—Messrs. W. H. Day, P. B. Day, and Hiram Bigelow, being obliged to make a trip to Mankato, last week took a skiff 5 miles above Willow Creek and rowed to Dustins mill on the Blue Earth, a distance of 75 miles, in 6 hours. This is over 12 miles per hour. To test their speed, one of them went ashore and attempted to follow on foot. He found he was obliged to run at the top of his speed, to keep up.

Bank Partnership.—We are informed that Lewis & Shaubut, bankers of this city, have associated with them Mr. J. H. Barr, late of Terre Haute Indiana, and the firm name will hereafter be Lewis, Shaubut & Co. Mr. Barr is a gentleman of considerable capital, being a stockholder and Director in the First National Bank of Terre Haute. He has purchased the property where Judge Finch lately resided, and has removed to this city on account of ill health, where he intends to make a permanent residence. With this acquisition of capital and experience the firm of Lewis, Shaubut & Co., will offer to the public increased facilities for accommodation loan and exchange.

Personal.—Mr. C. S. Olney of Jerseyville, Illinois who occasionally makes our State a visit, arrived in town on Monday last, after an absence of two years. He is only a week from Southern Illinois, and declares that considering the latitudes vegetation is fully as far advanced here as there. It has there, as here, been emphatically a wet spring, so much so that nothing in the shape of wheels could travel. The prospect for wheat, oats and fruit is better than he has known for many years. A much greater breadth of wheat has been sown, and it is growing finely. Corn is somewhat backward, but it is not yet too late for good crops.

—The excursion is the climax of the season.

River.—The rain which commenced Friday evening last, and continued until Sunday evening with a brief intermission in the forenoon of Sunday, had a perceptable effect upon the river. Up to Thursday morning last it had raised at least six feet, which places navigation again in a splendid condition. The wet spring will doubtless be a lasting benefit to our river navigation. Three dry summers had reduced the lakes and springs so low that as feeders to a rapid stream they were almost useless. The wet season will return them to their original status, and we confidently predict that navigation will again be as good as in the years of '61 and '62. In this event we are to some extent compensated for the disappointment in not seeing a railway completed to this point this season.

Meeting of Village Board.—Last Saturday a meeting of the Village Board was held at the office of O. O. Pitcher. Bids for running the ferry were opened and canvassed as follows: R. Hammett $60, A. French $36, L. B. Winslow $25, T. Riley $15, Sam. Tate $10, E. M. Clark $25, John Risch $19.75. The condition of the ferry at present rendered it unnecessary for them to decide upon the bids. Jacob Bierbauer sent in his resignation as member of the Village Board which was accepted. The glory of being under the ban of public criticism for one year is very modestly declined by Mr. Bierbauer. A petition was presented for the erection of a bridge on second street over the creek near the residence of Mr. Little. It was laid over for deliberation.

Pianos and Organs.—The attention of our readers is called to the advertisement of Boardman, Gray & Co's pianos and the American Organs of S. D. & H. W. Smith. The pianos are made at Albany N. Y. where there is established one of the largest factories in the United States. Their facilities for making a first class instrument at a very low price are superior to any other manufacturers. They are sold at least 25 per cent cheaper than any other good instrument. It would be quite natural to presume them inferior for this reason. We have taken pains to satisfy ourselves upon this point by visiting the great Musical ware rooms of Munger & Brother of St. Paul. They sell the best variety of instruments to be found in the State, and they inform us that they can recommend the Boardman Gray & Co. pianos as being the best and only reliable cheap instrument made, and that we need not hesitate to recommend it to our friends. The organs are also said to be of a superior power and warrented to give satisfaction. Siberia Ott, 783 Broadway N. Y. is the wholesale and retail agent, to whom communications should be addressed. We have a discriptive list which will be kept for those desiring to see styles and prices.

Dental Rooms.—Since Drs. Stauffer & May have furnished their dental rooms in the 2d story of Prael & DuBuisson's building we happened in to take a look. We found them in excellent condition for business, their operating room being nicely furnished, and their instruments of the best selections. They have two as fine operating chairs as we ever saw. The room is handsomely decorated with pictures and mirrors, and on the center table is a large and beautiful card lifter containing their business cards. A disc, supported by bronzed iron fixtures which are fastened into the wall, is conveniently arranged for holding dental instruments at one chair, and a beautiful piece of walnut furniture is the receptacle for the instruments of the other chair. Their establishment would do credit to a city much larger than Mankato. Our own citizens, and persons from a distance, desiring anything in their line, should remember that Mankato has dental rooms as good and operators as skillful as can be found anywhere west of the Mississippi river.

—The Brass Band goes with the excursion

Bridge.—A petition signed by quite a large number of our citizens, has been laid before the Village Board, asking that a bridge be built over the creek on Second street. The bridge should be built. There is no reason why the residents of that street should not have an outlet as well as Broad street. There is $850 of road fund in the village treasury, and we know of no improvement so necessary as this bridge. The entire stone work will cost but $299, and the road tax assessed upon the property near it, will more than pay for grading.

Marks.—Late arrivals of goods makes it necessary for Mr. Isaac Marks to place them before the public in his new card, which will be found elsewhere. Marks claims to keep the largest stock, and sell the cheapest of any establishment in the city. The way to test the question is to examine his goods and inquire the prices.

—Gentlemen, don't fail to see that your ladies have company to go with the excursion.

Provisions.—Potatoes have been selling in this market as high as $2 25 per bushel, but have declined as low as $1 60. Butter ranged last week as high as 45 cents, but now sells for 30. Lard is selling at 25 cts., but we are informed that one of our merchants has ordered the article from Chicago, and will be able to sell at 18 to 20 cts. Flour stands at $14 00 to $14 50, but as it is declining east we may expect a slight decline here soon.

—Ladies, it will be no breach of etiquette to say to the gentlemen that the excursion will be splendid.

Hazen's Star Combination.—The troupe of performers known as the St Paul Varieties under the proprietorship of Mr. Ben. Hazen have been playing for two evenings at Higgins' Hall. They are to play again this evening, and to-morrow evening. The company is just what it is represented to be—"the varieties." The musical selections are very fine and are executed with great skill. The minstrels are adepts in the art of negro delineations, the Misses Rogers are faultless in "tripping the light fantastic" toe, and the farsical and comic scenes are pleasing, chaste and instructive. This is a rare chance for our citizens and they fully appreciate it.

—Lovers, the green woods is a delightful place to make proposals and mature plans. Go with the excursion.

—Three persons were attempting to cross the ferry on Saturday last when directly after starting from this side, the rope broke and the boat commenced going down stream. Two of them jumped off in shallow water and returned to this shore. The other man, Mr. Harts, went with the ferry into a swift current which caught the boat and drew it under. Mr. Harts caught a floating plank and cried for help. A skiff was sent to his relief, and by holding on to it he was brought to shore. The ferry railing when it sunk was barely in sight, but the river since has totally covered it. A skiff is running for public accommodation. The ferry will be raised as soon as the water recedes.

—Let every body avail themselves of the opportunity and go with the excursion. The excursionists enjoy a steamboat ride by moonlight. Let every body go with the excursion.

Minneapolis Tribune.—The Atlas and Chronicle of Minneapolis are consolidated under the style of the Tribune company. The company are now issuing a paper of the above name, equal in size, enterprise and talent to the St. Paul papers. Their paper will doubtless find a large patronage under its present able management.

Montana.—Uncle Tom Pierce has just received a letter from his son Parker, who is mining at Grantsville, Montana. He gives no report of any Indian troubles. Extracts of his letter will be published next week. In this connection we will state that Captain Davy is still receiving additions to his train and if the weather is favorable it will move in two or three weeks.

—We call attention of our village authorities to a communication signed "Physician." If a physician who is not pecuniarly interested in the healthfulness of our town, recommends the importance of safety through cleanliness, it is high time our authorites sent around the Marshal, as the old Board did last spring, and have him see that the town is put in order.

—J. F. Meagher occupies a column this week in advertising his immense stock of hardware and agricultural machinery. He has the largest variety of threshers in the State and is without doubt the largest dealer in his line west of the Mississippi river. Read his "ad" and examine his large stock.

—People who mutilate signs and posters on the street ought to know that they are liable to be fined for so doing.

The annual meeting of the Mankato Fire Company, No. 1, was held at the house of the Company on Monday evening the 3d of June, A. D. 1867, and the following officers elected for the ensuing year:

Edwin Bradley Chief Engineer; George A. Clarke Asst. Engineer; Wm. Bradley Forman of the Engine; H. Young Asst. forman of the engine; G. V. McGraw forman of the Hose; E. H. Smith Asst. foreman of the Hose; Jas. Shoemaker Foreman of Hook and Ladder Company; J. R. Brink Asst. foreman of Hook and Ladder Company; Sam Randall Treasurer; E. P. Freeman Secretary; Chas. Dunscomb Asst. Secretary.

It was also resolved that the company celebrate the coming Fourth of July, and the following persons were appointed a committee of arrangements to prepare for said celebration: D. H. Tyner, G. A. Clarke, J. Shoemaker, B. D. Pay, and Isaac Marks.

Colman's Rural World.—This well known Agricultural Journal for June 1st is before us, and contains articles of great interest to farmers on Milk Sickness, Soiling Milch Cows, How to make old cows remunerative, Bee management, Preserving fence posts, Killing moles, Management of trotters, Races at the St Louis Trotting Park, Culture of the grape, How to raise plumbs, and a good variety of Home Circle reading, Domestic Receipts, and Latest wholesale market prices.

Every farmer in the West would be greatly benefited by subscribing for this Journal. It is published by Norman J. Colman, St. Louis, Mo., at $2 per year, or in clubs of four or more at $1 50 each. Sample copies sent free.

Ask any professor or graduate of any regular College of Pharmacy, ask any regular doctor, ask the physicians of even Homœpathic persuasion, ask any druggist in our land, and they will all or any of them tell you that in some way they use Buchu as a curative agent for all diseases of the kidneys and urinating organs. Many of them will tell you that Helmbold's Fluid Extract is the best extract; while there are plenty of physicians who will acknowledge that they freely prescribe it for diseases as above mentioned. All these reasons, added to the fact that for nearly a quarter of a century has this remedy been on trial, "and not found wanting," has succeeded in placing it at the "head of the column" of all proprietary medicines. Doctor H. T. Helmbold, besides being the most liberal advertiser in the world, has, at No. 504 Broadway, New York city, the best regulated, the largest and handsomest Drug Store in existence, and where our friends can be assured a kindly welcome from not only the excellent Doctor, but his gentlemanly employees.—St. Joseph Union.

Mr. Editor.—Your article entitled "Unkind and untrue," it is pretty well known was intended for me, as I was the writer of the verses mentioned. I may have been in error as to the person holding our library money, but that was my understanding of it at the time. Prof. Stuart it seems paid the money to Mr. Smith, but the tardiness in the purchase of the library is what the scholars have to complain of, and I simply wished to agitate the subject in order to bring about the purchase, and had no intention of reflecting upon the conduct of any one further than the facts would warrant. We do yet demand however, that Prof. Stuart shall, according to agreement, see to it that the books are purchased at once.

ELLIS M. CLARKE.

SPECIAL NOTICES

Sheep Tobacco.—We have received 1,100 lbs leaf Tobacco, which we can sell for 15 cents per pound. Every farmer that has sheep ought to dip them, this spring, in Tobacco juice, such a course being recommended by experienced sheep growers as being very beneficial and healthful.

A CARD

I tkae this opportunity of informing my old friends and customers who extended to me their liberal patronage during the three years I was engaged in business on my own account in Mankato that I have engaged with Messrs Owens & Co., next door to the Messrs. Bradley's, who have opened a new Stove & Hardware Store, in whose behalf I would respectfully solicit a continuence of your patronage.

They have purchased a new and complete set of Tinners Tools and Machinery and supplied with first quality stock of my own selection. All custom jobbing in the Tin, Stove and Sheet Iron department will be under my especial care and attention. I will guarantee all work turned out from their shop just as represented, and manufactured in a workmanlike manner. For your Stoves, Hardware, Tinware, Plows Cultivaters &c., go to Messrs. 15 Years Ago and Now.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

Hostetter's Stomach Bitters was struggling into notice against the prejudices which everything new, however excellent, is doomed to encounter.

TO-DAY

it stands at the head of all the tonic and alterative preparations in existence. Its celebrity has evoked many imitations but no rivals. Physicians pronounce it the only safe stimulant that has ever been introduced into the sick chamber. In the Hospitals of the Army and Navy, the surgeons find it the very best tonic for convalescents, and report it as invaluable for sustaining the vigor of troops on the march, as a remedy for scurvy and all scorbutic affections, and as the only specific for sea-sickness. California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the Miner's Medicine par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climates, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fever.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure, and unvitiated vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient, and depurative herbs, plants, roots, and barks that have ever been intermixed in a medicinal preparation.

It is also proper to state that the Bitters are sold exclusively in glass, and never, under any circumstances, by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public has against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, and the Government stamp over the cork of the bottle.

Secretary McCulloch's reasons for not contracting the currency.

In a recent letter to certain Boston gentlemen, among other things the Secretary writes the following respecting the contraction of the currency:

Some surprise may exist that I have not, for some months past, reduced the circulation of the United States notes, according to the authority conferred upon me by Congress, and an inference may be drawn from it that my opinion upon the subject of contraction has undergone a change. Permit me to say, therefore, that I am as much persuaded as ever of the importance of an early return to specie payments, and of a reduction of the currency, as a means of checking extravagance and speculation, and of increasing production, without which all efforts to restore permanently a specie standard will be ineffectual. What the country needs in order that specie payments may be resumed and maintained, and real prosperity secured, is an increase of industry, and the restoration of our former habits of economy as a people among ourselves. We must earn more and spend less. In our trade with foreign nations we must sell more or buy less. Any different prescription for existing financial evils, is, in my judgment, quackery. That contraction will tend to bring about this desirable condition of things, I have never doubted; but I have, nevertheless, suspended a reduction of circulation of United States notes; and for the following reasons, either of which would, perhaps, have justified my course, and all of which have had more or less influence in determining it: First—A majority of the members of Congress, as indicated by a number of votes last winter, were adverse to immediate contraction, and I have not felt at liberty to place myself in practical opposition to the law-making branch of the Government, without whose support I must be powerless.

Second—There have existed for some months past anxious forebodings of financial troubles and while they continue I have been apprehensive that contraction of the currency, the object and effect of it being misunderstood or misinterpreted, might produce a panic in commercial cities, which extending over the country and beyond speculative interests, would injuriously affect legitimate business and the revenue dependent upon it. Third—Large amounts of interest-bearing notes are to be paid or converted within the present and next fiscal year, to which it seemed prudent for me first to direct my attention, leaving the question of curtailment of the circulating notes to be determined from month to month, by the condition of the country and the Treasury. Fourth—Anticipating that a failure of crops and other circumstances alluded to would seriously affect business, I have considered it important that the public mind should not be diverted by the criticisms and complaints of those who are opposed to contraction from real causes of trouble: that sound policy should not be put in peril by being made a scapegoat for evils resulting from different causes. Finally, you will not infer from what I have written, that I am not hopeful in regard to our financial future. It has been my constant aim so to manage the national finances as to aid in bringing the country to a healthy financial condition without being subject to severe disasters, which many judicious persons have supposed a large debt and derangement of business and a diminution of industry, occasioned by war and redundant currency, would render inevitable. My faith that this can be accomplished is unshaken. Causes which are now operating against us are exceptional and temporary. The prospect of a good crop of winter wheat was never better. More spring wheat has been sowed, and more corn has or will be planted this season than ever before. The people are beginning to comprehend again this important truth, which seems to have been disregarded for some years past, that prosperity is the result of labor: that industry and economy are as indispensible to national as to individual wealth. I shall be grievously disappointed if another year does not witness a large increase of industry, enterprise and revenue, decided progress towards the resumption of specie payment, and a steady reduction of the public debt."

The News.

—Horace Greeley is getting hit all around for his officious flunkeyism in going to Richmond to become bail for Jeff Davis. He has attempted a defense, but like the explanation of his universal suffrage doctrine, he has only made a bad matter worse.

—The diary of John Willkes' Boothe has been published. It is simply an attempted defence of his actions. He says in one entry: "I shouted sic semper before I fired: in jumping broke my leg. I rode sixty miles that night, with the bone of my leg tearing the flesh at every jump. I can never repent it, though we hated to kill. Our country owed all her troubles to him, and God simply made me the instrument of his punishment."

Wm. Schimmell, of St. Peter, has been appointed a trustee of the Lunatic Asylum vice Mr. Densmore, of Red Wing, resigned.

The Tribune has a rumor that the removal of General Sheridan from the command of the Fifth Military District, and the appointment of General Thomas to the vacancy, is contemplated by the President.

Two Men Instantly Killed.—By special despatch, we learn that a fatal accident occurred yesterday at Chaska, Carver County. While engaged in raising the frame of the new Turner's Hall, and after the same was partly up the supports gave way, and it fell to the ground, killing instantly, Chas. Gibhardt, a well known citizen and also a man named Wasserman. Several others were severely injured.—Pioneer, May 28th.

—Colored men have been appointed on the election boards in every precinct in Washington, by the Judges of the District Court.

—Albert Edgerton, Esq., of St. Paul has been appointed Register of Bankruptcy for the Second Congressional District, and O. P. Stearns, Esq., of Rochester for the First Congressional District.

Returns to the central office of the National League of America, show that the organization has a strong foothold in all Southern States, except Mississippi and Texas, and that it is extending rapidly.

—The Herald's Montgomery, Ala., special says: "George W. Egle, the man who offered a reward for the assassination of President Lincoln during the war, was arrested on a charge of complicity in the assassination a few days since, but discharged on producing a pardon from President Johnson."

WHITE LIQUID
ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 30,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by

☞A Young Lady returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse; rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousand of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Capilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, providing entire satisfaction is not given. SCHENCK'S SEAWEED TONIC.

This medicine, invented by Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, is intended to dissolve the food and make it into chyme, the first process of digestion. By cleansing the stomach with Schenck's Mandrake Pills, the Tonic soon restores the appetite, and food that could not be eaten before using it will be easily digested.

Consumption cannot be cured by Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup unless the stomach and liver is made healthy and the appetite restored, hence the Tonic and Pills are required in nearly every case of consumption. A half dozen bottles of the SEAWEED TONIC and three or four boxes of the MANDRAKE PILLS will cure any ordinary case of dyspepsia.

Dr. Schenck makes professional visits in New York, Boston, and at his principal Office in Philadelphia every week. See daily papers of each place, or his pamphlet on consumption for his days for visitation.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor, one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health, are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers, price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half-dozen. All letters for advice should be addressed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, No. 15 North 6th Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

WOOLEN GOODS
—OF—
HOME MANUFACTURE.

The Proprietors of the
'NORTH STAR WOOLEN
MILLS'

At Minneapolis, Minn., having run their Factory during the entire Winter, are now enabled to place in the market the most extensive and superior stock of Woolen Cloths ever offered to the People of the North-west, consisting of Plain and Fancy fine Light and Dark Tweeds, Plain and Checked Flannels Kentucky Jeans, Blankets, Socks, &c.,

CASSIMERES AND DOESKINS,

Our Cloths are made of

of Wool, with the Latest Improved Machinery, and most skillful and experienced workmen.

We now offer them for sale, both Wholesale and Retail, at greatly reduced prices. To Farmers and Wool-growers we offer the most

LIBERAL INDUCEMENTS

to exchange Wool for Cloth, allowing more than the market price for Wool, and selling them our Cloths at

CASH PRICES.

Agencies for exchanging on the same terms as at the Factory will be found at Rochester, Cannon Falls, Clinton Falls, Faribault, Mankato and St. Cloud.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

AFFLICTED!
SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

ASTROLOGY.
The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung Affections. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the prescription, free, by return mail, will please address

Vegetable Ambrosia,
FOR GRAY HAIR.

This is the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Cure that lay
In the Ambrosia that Ring made

This is the Man who was bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Cure that lay
In the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gray,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the Ambrosia that Ring made.

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

By Our own Reporter.

CHICAGO, June 4, 1867.

ED. UNION:—It is to-day warm as one could possibly desire, to make amends for the sloppiness of the month past, the sunshine is bright, the sky only dotted here and there with little cloudlets which seem etherial pearls so beautiful and pure are they, and a refreshing breeze sweeps inland from the lake. Chicago knows no happy medium in weather, none which is "tolerably good," we either have villainous storms, mud, ice, "and things" or we have sky and air of Italian softness, and purity. So much for the weather.

CITY CONVENIENCES.

The remark is frequently made with reference to this city of Chicago, that it is "fast", a phrase which seems to me as I view it from my tower of innocence, and pinnacle of virtue to mean "actually wicked." Chicago deserves it, for there certainly is a better show here for "industrious laborers in the Lord's vineyard" to find work than any other place I know of. I thought I knew the town pretty well, but a day or two since Guy made a revelation from the depth of his wicked experiences which caused me to put down a "mem" of a new fact. The Fulton and Atlantic ferries between New York and Brooklyn are extremely convenient places. Wives go there to meet husbands (other women's); husbands go there to meet wives (other men's); widows who have been widows and always will be, go there on miscellaneous business, young girls go there to see people get off the boats, young men go to see the girls look at people getting off the boats. Everybody has to go there who crosses the river, so of course it is to be presumed that everybody goes there with the most innocent intentions. A like convenience is the city railway office here. Appointments are made there, flirtations gotten up there, and many a case which goes through the regular gradations described in Beffo, ending it

"BROKEN VOWS AND HEARTS AND HEADS," finds its beginning here. Go in at any time you please and you find from one to twenty girls and women—waiting for a car—watch them,—but beware, especially beware of the very demure ones. You accidentally cough and a little chorus of "H'ems" runs softly round the room with the most virtuous intentions; you wipe your nose and delicate little clouds of cambric sail into view on every side. You abstractedly smooth your moustache and lo! there is a general impulse among the ladies to touch their dimpled hands to their ruby lips. I will pursue them no farther. I only mention it to show a sample of its conveniences. Another time I think I shall talk a little about matinee flirtations and their results.

The wonderful Japanese jugglers are still at the Opera House drawing immensely and are doing more and more astonishing, appalling, and incomprehensible things every night. Edwin Booth is playing at McVickers.

I wish, before closing this letter to call the attention of your readers to one of our leading firms, who with customary enterprise and ability are now, notwithstanding the general dullness of trade, pushing their business to the utmost. I refer to Messrs. Bowen, Whitman & Winslow, (successors to the Bowan Brothers,) dry goods jobbers and commission merchants No. 15 to 21 (inclusive) Randolph street. They transact business on the simple and "square" platform, "the way to make a good customer is to give him good goods, sell them honestly and as cheap as the market will possibly afford" and thanks to this policy they are even now doing an enormous business. They occupy new and magnificent buildings in the location mentioned, buildings erected with special attention to their adaption to the purposes of such business as this and consequently they are enabled to offer to buyers one advantage which all merchants will appreciate that of having the best light in the city to show goods by. Their stock is very full, as much so as any even in New York and purchased and handled so advantageously that they are enabled to offer it to buyers at as low rates as any eastern firm. They make no special "baits" on particular lines of goods, but sell all equally cheap and with equal care to meet every requirement of their customers.

COMMERCIAL.

The markets to-day are quite dull. Flour, only a few sales at $10,00@12,75 for spring extras. Wheat declined 5@7c and closed at $2,30@2,35 for No. 1, $2,14@2,21 for No. 2 and $1,50 for rejected. Corn, declined 3@4½c, closing at 96½@101c for No. 1. 93½@95c for No. 2, 82@83c for rejected. Oats fell 2c, closed at 69@69½ for No. 2. Rye went down 5@8c to $1,22@1,25 for No. 2. Barley dull at 90c for No. 2 and 75c for rejected. Mess Pork, dull, nominal prices $22,25@22,37½. Lard 12½. Freights 3c for corn to Buffalo and 6c to Oswego.

"DON"

U. S. District Court at Winona.

WINONA, June 5th.—The United States District Court is progressing in the business before it. Thomas J. Tomlinson was to day convicted of photographing U. S. Treasury notes and U. S. fractional currency. At the time of his arrest a large quantity of the photographic currency was found in his possession and six upon the same premises, the the negatives from which the counterfeits were printed were found together with a number of other negatives of bills on national banks. Tomlinson will receive his sentence upon the final adjournment of the Court.

LETTERS FROM MINNESOTA.

BY MINNEHAHA.

No. 3---Teaching.

V———, June 1, 1861.

DEAR FRIEND:—Here, on Mrs. Howard's latticed prizza, with the rays of the setting sun beautifying the green earth, I will tell you why, and how I came here.

I had made up my mind that I was not destined to teach this summer, and though I felt the need of doing so, I will not deny that I inwardly rejoiced at the prospect of freedom before me. "I will teach the children at home, help mother about the house, work in the garden, and have such glorious times, not have to be dignified and womanly, as I should were I to take the responsibility of a teacher upon me." I said to myself. And Elder Lewis, the town Superintendent of schools had agreed to give me lessons in Chemistry and Botany.

One forenoon, Will and I had been hard at work pulling weeds in the garden; hard because we were working on a race. Well, after our work was done, Willie proposed a run to the house, to see which would get there first. I beat him for once, coming in a few paces ahead. Of course I laughed, (and I am afraid, not after the most approved rules of etiquette,) of course my curls were tangled and my face flushed with the exercise and excitement, when, who should be standing in the front door, but a tall, dignified looking gentleman, with an amused smile lurking around his fine mouth, at my appearance.

"Is this the residence of Mr. L——?" he inquired, in a well toned voice, a voice full of depth and sweetness.

Now I suppose you think I was embarassed, and colored when he spoke to me, and stammered out my reply and invitation to "walk in." Oh no, I just threw my mantle of dignity about me, and received him as graciously as if my tangled hair had not been literally filled with May flowers by Rose and dress soiled by the morning work.

"I would like to see his daughter; Elder Lewis recommended me to call and see her about taking a school in V——," he said.

"I am the person you wish to see then," I answered with as much dignity as I could assume.

Such a look of amused astonishment as came into those searching eyes; but having gone thus far he could not very gracefully retreat; and by the time mother returned from a morning call, we had agreed upon the price, length of term, when to commence etc.

"You are quite young Miss L——, and our district a particular one to suit, with some hard cases to manage, but Mr. Lewis has highly recommended you as a scholar, and I think I can see the elements of a good teacher in you," with those eyes that seemed to read the soul upon my face.

"And I will try and not disappoint you," I replied, realizing the responsibility he was taking upon himself in thus engaging a teacher, so young and a stranger.

So the next Saturday was fixed upon as the day when he should come after me, school to commence the next Monday.

The children did not like the idea of my going away, at all. Rose, with her apron to her eyes, stood in a corner, and Willie stole his arm around my neck, and begged me not to go, and pictured the fine times we would have if I would only stay at home. "I wish that old red whiskered fellow had let you alone," he said.

"Why, Will," said I, "his whiskers are not red, they are a reddish brown—,"

"No, I say they were red, were they not, Rose?"

"Yes, and he has got green eyes, too," between her sobs.

Mr. Ellis had not been gone more than an hour, when a Mr. Fenton, from the township north of us, called on the same errand; so it seems my luck all came on one day.

I think I never enjoyed a ride so well as I did the one that brought me here. Mr. Ellis is a delightful conversationalist, not one that skims over the surface, in every day conventionalities, but who dives deep, bringing up wondrous pearls to our admiring gaze. One who brings out the good if there be any in a person, while over their defects he draws the cloak of charity. And it seemed on that day, as if earth and sky had never looked so lovely; the prairie with its waves of green, gemmed with innumberable flowers, met the southern horizon; while to the north, hazy in the distance, the forest raised its many heads against the sky. Now, a crystal lake, half hidden by sentinal trees, flashed its glittering surface on our sight, and though my lips were silent, my heart sang, "Praise God, for in wisdom, hath he made all these works."

"Is it not beautiful," said Mr. Ellis, after a long pause, in which we had been drinking in the beauties of Nature, "how harmonious are all the works of God; yes how lovely, and happy, too, would the world be, if man was more like his Creator."

So we talked of the scenery, of books and of politics, (for it was a long ride, eighteen miles,) and I was amazed at his wisdom, while abashed at my own ignorance. Then again there was a pause, each busy with their own thoughts. "I wonder," I said to myself, "where I will make my home at the end of the week, there, where all are strangers, but very likely at Mr. Ellis', as he is the trustee; oh dear, I wish I had not got to board round," and then I thought of asking him if teachers usually made it their home at his house, but changed my mind, as I would soon know my surroundings.

"When we reach the summit of yonder knoll, you will see V——," breaking the silence.

Just then a lady and gentleman, mounted on horse back, came riding over the brow of the hill.

How the face of the man at my side lit up as he caught sight of them, a look I had not seen there before, and as they passed us he raised his hat with a bow, and smile of pleased recognition.

Kate, I say it without exageration, I think, that lady was the most beautiful person I ever saw. I fairly held my breath as the sweet vision swept past. A queenly form, eyes of heavens own blue, and a wealth of sunny curls clustering around a shapely head, was the glimpse I obtained of this fairy being. Mr. Ellis seemed pleased with my admiration, and informed me that the equestrians were Mr. Frank Monroe and his sister Miss. Florance.

But a kind voice says "you will spoil those bright eyes, Miss Mollie, writing by twilight come in, and I will light the lamp."

I suppose you wish to know how I like my school. As I have only been here a week, I can hardly judge: but the prospect is encouraging: and I think I shall succeed, though I know I must not trust wholly to myself, I know where help is obtained. I have a good attendance, some girls old and far enough advanced in their studies to be quite companionable. I shall make it my home, here, at Mrs. Howards: she is Mr. Ellis' sister, a dear woman that seemed to take one right into her heart and home. Mr. Ellis is an old bachelor, that is he is called so, though his age is about twenty seven: he is engaged to Miss Monroe I think, and they are well suited to each other, for he is noble, and she, a most loveable being.

* * * * * * *

I rec'd a letter not long ago from Alice Dugan. I do not know as you would care to hear from her, as you two never seemed to agree, and I know, dear Kate, that she is not like you, she is imperious and selfish, while you are so gentle and considerate: but for some reason I have been irrisistably drawn toward her, she is so beautiful and talented. She is attending a fashionable boarding school in New York, and gives a brillant description of her surroundings. Guy Montfort is at college: "her dear Guy," she calls him. There, my paper is full, so you will excuse me. Much love from

MOLLIE.

P. S.—I have not seen Miss Tibbits "poetic effusion" in the paper, yet.

IMPEACHMENT.

The impeachment business would seem to be about at a dead lock in the Judiciary Committee. Three separate reports will probably be made. But three members of the committee are known (though possibly there is another) to favor the presentation of articles of impeachment before the House, and but one of these is clearly of the opinion that an impeachment can be sustained. In effect, then, the Republican members are not agreed to report in favor of impeachment while those of them who oppose such a conclusion are even more strongly opposed to the conclusion of the two Democratic members.

As regards the particular results of the investigation, which will be concluded by Wednesday, there is no proof that President Johnson is guilty, as Butler hints, and as Messrs. Ashley and low profess to believe, of complicity in the assassination of Mr. Lincoln. In fact, the evidence is conclusive against the suspicion. That the President has exhibited an almost criminal negligence in not prosecuting investigations into the plot, and bringing other criminals to justice, is made equally clear. About all effort has been abandoned since the execution of that "murdered woman."

Upon the charge of Presidential venality, the nature of the conclusion is similar. No bribes or other direct consideration for pardons have been received; although Executive laxity in the matter (quite as criminal as Executive inaction in the assassination matter) has opened the door to an amount of corruption which throws the Walpole annals of England utterly into the shade. If the President has not nursed corruption, he has taken no pains to suppress venality, or expel the venal from the purlieus and even the most private chambers of the White House.

LATER.—The Judiciary Committee have come to a final vote on the impeachment question. The vote stands 4 in favor to 5 against it. The resolution of censure, declaring that the President had been guilty of acts which merit the condemnation of the people, was passed by a vote of 7 to 2, the two voting negatively being of course democrats.

In view of the fact that the people of the United States have already passed a vote of censure by a still greater majority, this last useless formality might well have been omitted. The President has become so accustomed to censure that this delicate little probe of the Judiciary Committee will scarcely make him wince.—Chicago Post.

A Novel Love Story.

From the Marion (Ohio) Mirror.

A young couple, the girl the daughter of one of our wealthy citizens. the young man "poor but honest," met and "fell in love." The parents doated upon their pretty and accomplished daughter, and discountenanced the visits of the young man. Meetings by stealth were planned, and finally an elopement was agreed upon. All this was kept a profound secret, as was supposed, from the parents.

The night and the hour came. Quietly noiselessly, the young Miss descended a ladder improvised for the occasion, and the twain were making their exit from the gate, when they were suddenly surrounded by two men, one the father of the lady, the other a stranger, and captured. They were taken half willingly, half reluctantly, into the house and the parlor. The stranger threw off his mask and discovered to the couple a minister; the father produced a marriage license, simultaneously the mother and brothers and sisters made their appearance, and the couple were immediately married, with the blessings of all present.

The parents were apprised of the whole proceedings, and seeing the mutual love of the two, resolved to let love take its course, while their good sense made a happy denouement of what might otherwise have been a serious and unfortunate affair for life. God will bless those noble hearted parents. The son-in-law was doing as well as could be expected at last accounts under the circumstances, and peace and happiness smiled on the whole family.

FROM THE WEST.

ST. LOUIS, June 3.

Late Denver papers report 15 to 18 inches of snow, and heavy rains fell there between the 15th and 20th ult. The snow is so deep in the mountains that the coach could not go through to Central City.

A boy named Geo. Miller, 17 years old, who was captured by Blackfeet, in 1865, and stolen by Cheyennes the following year had escaped and reached Denver.

He reports five white women held captives, one of them the wife of a doctor at Council Bluffs.

The Indians keep thoroughly posted in regard to military movements. They have many Spencer rifles procured from traders. The Indians contemplate a general and simultaneous attack along the Platte early in June.

The Indian Commissioner, Judge Kinney and party were attacked at Bridger's Ferry, on the 15th. Captain Willis pursued and recovered all the stock and killed one Indian.

—The Imperial Government has issued a proclamation extending a general amnesty to the Poles engaged in the last insurrection in Russian Poland.

—The body of Artimus Ward arrived at New York on Friday night by the steamer Deutschland, and has been taken to Maine for interment.

W. B. GRISWOLD. - Editor and Pro'r

FALSEHOOD.

The Press under the above harsh caption, quotes the following from our article of last week, and calls it a specimen of impudent recklessness of misrepresentation:

"Now the people are well aware that no one of these companies constructed any ten "continuous or consecutive miles" of road before the bonds were issued, but these bonds were issued to these companies, upon grading done in 'detached parts.' The grading done by these companies was in places where the work was light and could be executed for a few hundred dollars a mile, while the heavy work was left untouched."

It says the writer of it "must either know "that it is wholly untrue, or he knows noth-"ing whatever about it." In the next breath it admits that on one road, the central, the grading was not done continuously from beginning to end, thus proving at once that what we said was at least not wholly untrue. It says farther:

"The St. Paul and Pacific commenced at St. Paul and executed a continuous grade from this place to Clear Lake—a distance of 61½ miles, without any other interruption than that caused by the crossings of streams. The Southern Minnesota—now Minnesota Valley—graded a continuous road-bed from Mendota to Belle Plaine—a distance of 37½ miles. The Root River Valley Road was graded continuously for 20 miles, and the Transit—now Winona and St. Peter—for 50 miles.

* * * * *

"If the Mankato Union desires to treat this question with fairness, it will take pains to promptly correct its previous mis-statements by placing these facts before its readers. If its object is to aid, by misrepresentation, in the perpetration of a flagrant injustice, it will take especial pains to suppress these facts. Now, let us see what it will do in the premises."

We have here quoted all the material statements of the Press article, because we "desire to treat this question with fairness." and more than that, we mean to do it. Will the Press premise to do as much? Has it thus far been fair in its treatment of this question? It asks us to place these facts before our readers. We willingly publish its statements but will the Press upon reflection, insist that they are true—that the facts as they transpired justify the statements above quoted? Let us see. The Press says: "The fact is that upon all except one, of the seven roads which received bonds in aid of construction, the grading was executed in continuous sections from beginning to end." Again, "the Root River Valley Road was graded continuously for 20 miles, and the transit now Winona & St. Peter, for 50 miles." Is this a fair and truthful statement? It is a well known fact, in this part of the State, that the grading and preparation of this road for the track for 50 miles this side of Winona, was not done until long after the issuance of the old Rail Road Bonds. The trustle work, ten or twelve miles this side of Winona, and the heavy grading, through the bluffs this side, were done under the direction of Mr. NeNamara, a citizen of Mankato, who was at the time the chief Engineer of this Road. Mr. McNamara was not employed by the Winona & St. Peter Company, until long after the old bond bubble had bursted, and the roads went into new hands.

How then, if the statement of the Press be true, could it happen that this heavy work was done under the direction of Mr. McNamara? If the 50 continuous miles of grading was done on the Winona & St. Peter Road, before the issuance of the bonds, such line of grading must have commenced on the prairie, about twelve or fourteen miles this side of Winona, and from that point extended westward to a point near Mantorville. We all know this was not done, there was grading in "detached parts," done along this line, but as we before stated, the hard places were passed over, and it is idle for the Press to attempt under the protext of honesty and fair dealing to force such a statement upon the people. Too many of our citizens have traveled over this line since 1859 who are familiar with the facts, for the Press to succeed in southern Minnesota, at least in convincing them, that he is right.

We are a little surprised at the course pursued by the Press on this question, and particularly as to the means adopted to force this proposition upon the people. The editor of that paper cannot be so igaorant of the popular judgment on this measure, as to believe that the law of the last legislature will be endorsed by the people, and yet he persists in denouncing everybody as dishonest who does not yield a ready assent to the positions as assumed by that paper. By what authority does that sheet denounce every man a repudiator who opposes a particular plan submitted to the popular judgment by the legislature? This submission is made under an express provision of our constitution. The people are left to decide whether the plan proposed by the legislature is a wise one or not, and if they reject it, they decide nothing further than upon what is contained in the measure submitted. The Press may deem it wise to thus denounce everybody who opposes its plan, or will not tread in the path pointed out in that paper. We do not so regard it. There is very little argument in epithets, nor are people very likely to be convinced by denunciation and abuse. The old democratic party tried that game and failed at it, and we regret to see our leading republican paper following this very bad example.

We will not, in imitation of the Press, charge that in the article quoted above, it stated a falsehood in regard to the grading done on the Winona & St. Peter road, but we do say that we are satisfied that it is mistaken. As to the other roads mentioned in that article we will notice them hereafter.

BLUE EARTH RIVER BRIDGE.

Our citizens, both country and city, are dreadfully apathetic upon the subject of bridging the Blue Earth river at LeHillier. We cannot recollect an instance where bridging was so necessary, that a community affected thereby, seemed so deaf to their best interests as the people of Mankato and those of the country who must pay a toll for every visit to the capital of the county. There is a ferry established over the stream, but some mishap may and has recently, prevented scores of teams from reaching Mankato. Only last Saturday we are informed that a large number of teams with produce were turned back because the ferry had gone down stream. Many of them returned to South Bend and one store alone in the afternoon sold between $300 and $400 worth of goods. We may safely estimate that Mankato lost a trade of $700 for the want of a bridge. The toll is also a barrier to many who would prefer coming here to do a small amount of trading, but are content to select from a smaller assortment to save expenses. About half of the county must cross this river to reach here, and there is a large class of citizens who are obliged to come to Mankato to bring their grain and do business. From this class must be wrung an annual contribution toward the maintainance of a ferry which in a few years would be sufficient to build a bridge—not perhaps such a bridge as should be built, but enough to offset their share of taxation for building a bridge which would last a life time. An overwhelming vote of the county has declared that Mankato shall be the capital town, and all channels of egress and ingress should be kept in a high state of repair, and clothed with every facility for crossing the streams at every season of the year. Many of those who voted against Mankato, as the county seat, are obliged to cross the Blue Earth and suffer individual taxation to get here, while our own citizens who voted that they shall come here for county purposes are doing nothing to facilitate their coming. The lack of a bridge is a pecuniary loss to Mankato, a barrier and expense to those living beyond it, and in the light of enterprise and thrift, a disgrace to the county. Some blame attaches to the county commissioners as well as to the citizens of Mankato. Horace Kinney and D. D. Evans and their constituancy are directly interested in a bridge, and the same may be said of Andrew Hanna who represents Mankato. They are a majority of the Board, and they should know that there is now no public improvement in the county so necessary as a Blue Earth river bridge at LeHillier.

THE STATE CONVENTIONS.

The people of the State will be called upon, by constitutional law, to again make known their choice for Governor, Lieut. Governor, Secretary of State, State Treasurer, and Attorney General. The election takes place in November, and the political organizations of the State should put their candidates in the field at an early day, so that the people may be able to discuss their individual merits, and especially that they may know precisely upon what issues the contest is to be joined, and become thoroughly conversant with the principles involved in the canvass. The democracy have called a convention to be held at St. Paul, on the 10th of July. There are no "whereases" or resolutions promulgated according to the plan of "St. Julian Cox" last year, so that no intimation is given in the call in relation to what the democracy will vote for beyond the men that are placed on the ticket. If they vote upon copperhead principles, as they have done since the commencement of the war, we know of no issue so nearly allied to such principles as the unconditional pardon of Jeff. Davis, and John Surratt, the enslavement of the "nigger," the removal of Gen. Sheridan because he displaced the rebel Gov. Wells of Louisana, the elevation in general of all prominent rebels to responsible positions of trust in the General Government, and the throttling of the republican and loyal party of the country. The Record announces that there is every indication of a vigorous campaign on the part of the democracy of this state. It does not seem to know whether they will be confined to a campaign upon the general principles of the party above indicated, or whether it will attempt to revivify upon local issues involving the interest of the State only. It is almost impossible for them to stand neutral upon the bond question, and if not for the position taken by their leading organ, the Pioneer, they would be glad to oppose the payment of the bonds as proposed by the Legislature. We have not been able to discover where the Record is to be found on this question, but it will probably come to the surface in time to declare the result at the November election. As long as a rat keeps in its hole there is no danger of its being rat-terriered. Two or three of the democratic country papers have, however, come out fairly and squarely against the payment of the bonds, and from them we are enabled to gather the sentiment of the people. What the democratic politicians will do on the 10th proximo remains to be learned.

HAWKES TRIAL ENDED.

The trial of Hawkes for the murder of his wife which has been occupying the attention of the District Court at St. Paul since the 27th of May was ended on Monday afternoon last. Of all conclusions to be arrived at, a judgment of one's motives is the most difficult. That Hawkes killed his wife was amply proven, if by design it was murder; if by accident it was excusable homicide. The question before the jury was whether there was design in the act. This must be proven beyond a reasonable doubt, and as there were few circumstances proved which would induce or provoke such a deed as the murder of an innocent wife, with whom no domestic trouble had occurred, the jury found a verdict of "NOT GUILTY." He is guiltless in the eye of the law, but there is another tribunal whose judgment he cannot escape. It seems to be the easiest thing in the world to shoot another by accident, and as gross carelessness is the cause, it is high time carelessness in such extreme cases should be made a criminal offense.

—Gen. Schofield's order for registration, does not endorse the Attorney General's opinion of the law. Attorney General Stanberry maintains that no one has a right to challenge a voter, that nothing but the prospect of a trial and conviction for perjury prevents any rebel from registering and voting. Schofield's order requires the Boards to decide for admission or rejection after examining the applicant and hearing witnesses.

Gopher Bond Swindle.

In answer to an article in the The New York Tribune, said at the time to have been written by Bill King, a letter was printed in The Boston Courier, under the non de plume of "Nichold," (supposed to be Chamberlain) bearing date of St. Anthony, Dec. 4th, 1858, in which the following language is used:

"They (the bonds) will be paid to the last "dollar if it takes the last acre of the poorest "farmer in Minnesota."

What a pity the great railroader's threat nine years old, should not command obedience! Put that into the pipes of the "poorest farmers" who read the Pioneer, and let them smoke it.—Hastings Gazette.

MURDER.—On Tuesday last the city marshal discovered fresh blood on the bank of the river, near Whaley's warehouse, also the stump of a cigar and $1.95 in change, and on dragging the river soon hooked on to the body of a man near by. It proved to be that of James Collins, a discharged employee of the Minnesota Central R. R., who had come in a few days before to solicit employment on our road. As he had several hundred dollars in loose money on his person, it is supposed that this was the occasion of the brutal deed. His throat was cut in the most horrible manner, and his chin and left hand also gashed in the struggle for life or death. His remains were placed in a coffin, and a coroner's jury impanneled on Wednesday morning, who are still in secret session as we go to press. Several arrests have been made on suspicion, and the authorities seem determined to sift the matter thoroughly.

The deceased was about twenty-five years of age, unmarried, and formerly a resident of New Lisbon, Wis.—Hastings Gazette.

Just as Represented.

"We find upon trial," says Joseph R. Orwig, in a letter dated Nov. 13, 1865, "that your machine, (Willcox & Gibbs,) is just what it is represented by its many friends; and we would not now do without it for twice its cost."

GOV. FLANDERS, the newly appointed Governor of Louisiana, applied to Gov. Wells for possession of the State papers, &c., when Gov. Wells declined surrendering them voluntarily. He will do it under protest.

The report that General Grant recommended that General Sheridan be reprimanded is untrue.

The rebels of New Orleans are making another effort to have Gen. Sheridan removed.

The assassination of the Czar of Russia was again attempted in Paris, on the 6th inst.

Gen. Sheridan has appointed Benj. J. Flanders Governor of Louisiana, in the place of Thomas J. Durant, declined.

—The crop accounts are favorable from all parts, and the harvest will be earlier than has been generally anticipated. New Georgia wheat has already been exhibited in New York, and the farmers of New Jersey are beginning to harvest.

—A Herald special says the Secretary of War, Gen. Grant and Sherman have resolved on most effective measures for a sharp and decisive campaign against the Indians, having become convinced that it is necessary. A large force of cavalry will be used.

—Judge Chase arrived at Raleigh, N. C., June 5th, for the purpose of opening the United States Circuit Court. He was received at the depot by about 2,000 freedmen, with banners, national flags and bands. He was escorted through the principal streets to his hotel, from the balcony of which he made a speech.

—The census shows the alarming excess of 230,000 more males than females in the United States. In the Western States, particularly, there is an enormous preponderance of the male population. Illinois has an excess of 92,000; Michigan, 40,000; Wisconsin, 43, 000; and so on.

Mrs. Partington recently taking up a paper, saw an article headed "woman's suffrage:" She laid the paper down and with a deep sigh, said: "Indeed woman has suffered amazingly ever since I recollect."

—The American Express Company has issued orders to its employees on the Smoky Hill route to Denver to this effect: "Every Indian within shooting distance to be shot. Show them no mercy; they will show none to you."

—The Washington municipal election passed off very quietly—contrary to the predictions and wishes of the Copperhead press. The negroes, as was to be expected, were a little jubilant over their new privilege, but gave no occasion for their bitterest foes to say they were unworthy of it. The Radical ticket was elected by over 1,000 majority.

—The Judiciary Committee has adjourned, and all the members left for their respective homes June 3d. They voted to reassemble on the 26th instant, to hear any further evidence that may be offered on impeachment.

—The Methodist Centenary anniversary collection amounts to $3,266,936.

—A Government of the new Dominion of Canada is to be organized with Bellean as Lt. Governor, and Campbell, McDonald, McDougal, Howland, Carter, Gault, McGee, and Langeren, as Ministers of state.

REMARKABLE FECUNDITY.—In Cincinnati, a few days since, an old lady, over sixty-two years of age, gave births to triplets—making in all thirteen children of which she is the maternal parent. Her husband blows a horn at the National Theatre.

—The Republican Congressional Committee is about to send additional speakers throughout the South, among whom is Langston, the Ohio colored lawyer.

—The report of the Secretary of the Treasury shows that during the month of May the national debt was reduced $5,170,159.26.

—The river here has been rising rapidly for several days, and now lacks only a few inches of the flood several weeks ago. A little more of a raise will take it over the bottoms across the river, and overflow the upper levee on this side. Lower Third street is also submerged.

The back water has covered most of the bottom across the river and will soon surround the unfortunate shanties near the railroad depot on this side. Several hundred cords of wood are also piled on the upper levee, that are in great danger of floating off. If the river rises but a little more, considerable damage will be done. Fortunately the Minnesota is at a medium stage, or the flood would be a severe one.—Pioneer June 9th.

THE labors of the Judiciary Committee have not been altogether barren of results.—They have unearthed some facts that have an important bearing on Jeff. Davis' complicity in the assassination. They have the originals of letters that reached him in 1864, proposing assassination, and his defenders and apologists have been unable to show that he discountenanced the scheme.

—The question whether a civil officer can be impeached for other than indictable offenses, has lately enjoyed the attention of the judiciary committee of the House. All leading authorities on the subject have been consulted and found to be almost unanimous in the opinion that the commission of an indictable offense is in no sense necessary to impeachment.

—The Shakers of New Lebanon are horrified over the marriage of two of their number.

—The President has appointed Benjamin Thompson, of St. Paul, agent for the Sisseton and Wapeton bands of Sioux Indians, now located in Dakota Territory.

—It is estimated that the registry in south Carolina, when completed, will show 45,000 white to 60,000 colored voters.

—The New Hampshire Legislature met June 5th and organized by electing Gen. Griffin, Republican, as Speaker of the House, and William T. Parker, Republican, President of the Senate.

THE "COMPENSATING" POWER,

A laudable ambition exists among threshers to "own the best machine in the neighborhood." Nothing is more disagreeable to them than to have farmers complain that their work is not properly done, or to lose valuable time by reason of breakages, and they can not be too careful in selecting a machine.

The Sweepstakes is the accredited head of the Threshing Machine family, and its superior strength, durability, simplicity, ease of draft, style of finish, and capacity for threshing and cleaning grain faster and better than any other in the world, are acknowledged.

The great reputation achieved by this favorite machine has led several unscrupulous manufacturers, and numerous agents, to attach the name "SWEEPSTAKES," in one way and another, to their machines and advertisements to mislead and deceive.

This is the essence of meanness—downright piracy, and sailing under false colors. To avoid the counterfeit, see that every machine has the card, "C. AULTMAN & CO., Manufacturers, Canton, Ohio," in gilt letters, conspicuously on both sides of the Separator.

The Genuine Sweepstakes enables the thresher to pick his customers, seldom stops for repairs, loses much less time than others, saves much grumbling and vexation, does the same amount of work with less labor, and enables him to select the best and most profitable jobs.

The farmers give it a preference, and often an extra price per bushel, because it threshes clean from the heads, separates perfectly from the straw, cleans fit for market without waste, saves all the grain, does its work with the utmost speed, safety and economy, and does not keep a gang of men and teams waiting at their own expense.

The elegant "Patent Pivot Side Gear" is to be found only on the SWEEPSTAKES.

Our "Patent Cleaning Apparatus" enables the operator to control the direction of the blast, and position of the seives, and clean either heavy or light grain, without waste, as fast as it can be threshed,—the chaff and dirt being separated from the grain before it strikes the seive at all.

Separators, Horse Powers, Straw Stackers, Gears or Jacks, sold separately, when desired. A written warranty delivered with every machine. The "SWEEPSTAKES" is usually a very scarce article after harvest, and parties should order early.

Call or send and get a pamphlet circular, giving a full description and particulars, together with numerous certificates, and the names and residence of over three thousand persons who have bought and used the SWEEPSTAKES in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Kansas alone.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - JUNE 14, 1867.

REMOVAL.—E. H. Smith Esq Deputy Collector of internal revenue has removed his office to Finch & Pitcher's law office.

SODA.—Wallace the enterprising grocer, fruit, and provision dealer has put a soda fountain in operation, where the pleasant and cooling beverage can be had at 5 cents a glass.

NEW BARBER SHOP.—Two colored persons, one of them a late barber in the Merchants Hotel, St. Paul, have opened a new barber shop in Burt's building, just above the Mankato House.

A HAIL.—During the severe storm of Wednesday evening, within a mile of town, hail of the size of large plumbs, fell without cessation for half an hour. No damage of any consequence.

TO ROAD OVERSEERS.—E. D. B. Porter, Town Clerk, wishes us to inform the road overseers of Mankato Township, that the road lists are ready for distribution.

—THE Editors of the State hold a convention at St. Paul on Thursday of next week. The editors of Wisconsin will arrive there the same day, upon an excursion trip. We should like to attend. It is our publication day and the prospect looks gloomy.

LAND SALE.—Willard & Barney sold this week 80 acres of land in Decoria Township for $800—$10 per acre. When wild prairie will sell for such a price the country is altogether safe.

—The Sauk Centre Herald is a new paper just started over the ruins of the Sauk Valley News. It has a neat appearance and speaks well for the enterprise of its proprietor J. H. Simonton. It is deserving a successful issue.

TO SCHOOL CLERKS.—We understand that our school Superintendant Capt. J. R. Beatty has received from the State Superintendant the school laws in pamphlet form, together with practical instructions and suggestions of the Superintendant. The school registers are also received and ready for distribution, and may be had at Smith & Humphrey's book store, where our Superintendant makes his head quarters.

The Clerk of each District is entitled to a copy of the laws, which may also be had at the book store, or by addressing the superintendant by letter, stating post office address.

HUNT & GAULT.—We would call attention to the new firm of Hunt & Gault, who have established a very nice drug store and prescription office, two doors above the Record office. We are informed that Mr. Gault is a superior chemist and druggist, having spent many years in learning and practicing his profession. He compounds medicines with great skill and care, and will do so at any hour, day or night. Of patent medicines, paints, oils, perfumery, brushes, and all kinds of fancy toilet articles they can boast a very fine selection.

SELECT SCHOOL.—In our advertising columns will be found the card of J. J. Brown, Esq., who opened a select school in the basement of the Methodist Church, on Wednesday last. We have assurances that Mr. Brown is a competent teacher, and the necessity of such a school as he proposes to teach, is not questioned. His terms are reasonable, and his assistant is said to be abundantly qualified for her duties.

GRIEBEL'S BOOT & SHOE STORE.—We had been intending to call special attention to Griebel Bros, boot & shoe store, which is so elegantly stocked with the best boots and shoes in the market. They keep on hand and receive almost constantly the most fashionable goods in their line, as well as all heavy boots and shoes. They have a very pretty shoe for ball players, also leather and findings for sale. Their store is conveniently located and those desiring goods in their line should call and see them.

NAVIGATION ON THE BLUE EARTH.—Last Sunday morning Capt. Holmes of the Mollie Mohler pushed out on an exploring expedition, and returned about 10 o'clock covered with laurels. Scott & Worden's mills are located at the mouth of the LeSueur river which empties into the Blue Earth river. There were 425 barrels of flour at the mill and the roads being almost impassable, Capt. Holmes was urged to prospect the river and reach the mills with the Mollie. Without the slightest accident or hindrance the Mollie ploughed the Blue Earth river for a distance of five miles, and brought out the flour. Well done, Mollie! It is now an established fact that the Blue Earth is navigable as far as Scott & Worden's mills, and the steamer could doubtless have gone as far up as the rapids, had occasion required.

BASE BALL CHALLENGE.—We understand that the North Star Base Ball Club, of St. Paul, has sent a challenge to the 1st nine's of the Mankato Frontier Club, which has been accepted. Of course our club without experience, will not essay to compete with players of four years standing, but they have accepted this proposition, simply on the ground of creating and maintaining a friendly relation between the two cities. The contest will take place on the 26th inst. commencing at 2 o'clock P. M. The members of the Mankato club who will participate in the game are Dr. Stauffer, W. Bradley, De Groodt jr, Comstock, A. S. White, Walter Fowler, Josiah Owens, I. H. B. Beebee and J. Thornton.

ANOTHER IMPROVEMENT.—The banking firm of Lewis Shaubut & Co. have just purchased from Lewis & Frisbie the lot of 23 feet adjoining the drug store of Frisbie & Shepard, and will erect the present season a bank building, of brick, 2 stories high 23 feet by 50. The cost of the lot was $1,350 and Dr. Frisbie reserves also, the easement of a hall, to be built in the bank building, which will lead into the drug building up stairs.

—DAN. W. PORTER, proprietor of the wholesale liquor store in Higgins' building, is a prince of good fellows. He not only keeps an excellent quality of wines, St. Paul Ale, and good whiskey, but also a fine flavored cigar. Call on Dan, and you will buy cheaper than in St. Paul.

CELEBRATION OF THE 4TH.—We mentioned in our last issue, that the fire company of this city propose to celebrate the 4th of July. We understand that they have ordered uniforms, and will appear on that day with their new regalia. This will be the first entree of a Mankato Fire Company throughly "equipped as the law directs," and must certainly be quite an era in the history of our thriving town. The company intend to give a ball in the evening, which we are confident will be an attractive feature of the 4th of July. The proceeds will be appropriated to the many little expenditures of the company, which the village Trustees refuse to pay.

The company desire the citizens to co-operate with them by selecting a committee, and providing for an address, to be delivered on the occasion, with music and other appropriate ceremonies which will be attractive and pleasing. We trust our citizens will not be backward in making the next 4th of July a holiday worthy the name. There are many of our citizens residing in the country who would gladly lay aside their toils and spend the day in pleasant recreation, if any inducement was offered them, and we believe it may be made reciprocally beneficial by preparing a public observation of it in Mankato.

FROM PARKER PIERCE.—We extract a few lines from a late letter written by Parker J. Pierce who is now in Montana, for the benefit of his former associates in this city.

GRANTSVILLE, SALMON RIVER DIGGINS }
May 1st 1867. }

For the benefit of my many friends in Mankato, especially the (ladies) I only have to say I am well, and doing fine. The snow is about gone and we shall commence mining soon. Provisions are high. Flour $30, per hundred, bacon 80cts, coffee 75, and other things in proportion. We will not starve, as there is plenty of provisions coming in. I shall not write very often, as it costs $1,00 to pay Express charges on letters out, I had rather pay a dollar for a square meal, as we term it, than write to those I left behind. So I close to prospect. Direct as above. Weather fine.

P. J. PIERCE.

FLOUR ON HAND.—Wesley Maxfield, Esq., our late Auditor, who is now superintending Davidson's Warehouse, informs us that there is in store at that warehouse, over 2,000 barrels of Red Jacket, and Rockey's flour. Heniline's mill has one thousand bushels of wheat, and Rockey with Prael & DuBuisson about 2,000. It is said that Scott & Worden and Loveland & Harrington have not as much wheat as they could grind, but about as much as they can sell without exporting it. There is occasionally a load of wheat coming into market, and we sum up the resources in flour as follows: In this town where the wheat is reduced to flour, we shall have on hand 2,600 barrels. On the Blue Earth and Watonwan rivers, at the various mills, there are probably 1,000 barrels, making in all about 3,600 barrels. This flour with what meal will be used, will last 3,600 families six weeks, or until harvest. Counting six persons to the family, and 21,600 will be supplied. In the counties of Blue Earth, Faribault, Martin, Jackson, Watonwan and part of Brown, the population is not more than 25,000, one third of whom have wheat enough on hand to last them untill harvest. This leaves 16,666 persons only to be supplied, while our estimate gives an abundance for 21,600.

RIVER.—Since our last issue the river has been rising steadily at the rate of about 18 inches per day, until Wednesday, when it commenced to recede. The banks opposite the city are overflowed. The river is now falling as fast as it raised. The water comes almost entirely from the Blue Earth and Le Sueur. The upper Minnesota is quite low, as we are informed by Capt. Houghton of the Chippewa Falls.

EXCURSION.—The excursion to Traverse and back, which was planned for the benefit of the Methodist sabbath school, took place yesterday. We should judge that not less than sixty persons and perhaps more, constituted the party. An inauspicious morn prevented some from going, but enough went to make the affair a success, and to make the day agreeable. As the party did not return at the hour of going to press, we can only anticipate a happy day and safe return.

CAMBRIA ELECTION.—W. E. Davis, town Clerk of the new Township of Cambria, informs us that at the town election June 3d the following officers were elected: Supervisors, John S. Davies chn, W. P. Ives, W. R. Lewis; Town Clerk W. E. Davis; Assessor, Evan Bowen; Treasurer, Thomas F. Davis; Justices, Edward Rowe, S. D. Shaw; Constables, David Thomas, David Harris. We are informed that the above are an excellent corps of officers. The clerk has already enjoyed the confidence of the people of Butternut Valley in that capacity for three years.

FRISBIE & SHEPARD.—Every body knows the CITY DRUG STORE, which for several years past has been conducted by Lewis & Frisbie. Last fall the partnership was dissolved, and Dr. Frisbie became sole owner. This week we announce that the Dr. has taken in Mr. W. H. Shepard and the new concern is to be known as the firm of Frisbie & Shepard. Their store is the oldest drug establishment in the city, and in the person of Dr. Frisbie we find the most competent of druggists and chemists. While they will devote their attention to wholesaleing they will not neglect a prompt attention to retail customers, and carefully compound medicines and prepare prescriptions. Dr. Frisbie being a medical graduate, brings into his business an experience and skill almost invaluable in the compounding of medicines. Their stock of paints of all colors and qualities, together with their oils glass and putty are especially commended to the attention of our readers. Their new card will be found among the new advertisements.

BEER GARDEN.—Elsewhere see the card of C. J. Klein who has established a beautiful summer resort near the Blue Earth river. The place has a large number of fine shade trees, and cool beer, lemonade, ice cream, cigars &c., will be enjoyed under their broad arms, which hide a scorching sun, and afford a quiet rural enjoyment.

SPECIAL NOTICES

WOOL TWINE.—A large quantity of the best wool twine just rec'd at Ray Williams & Bros.

Go to Ray Williams & Bros, for your Turnip & Ruta Baga Seed.

—Milch Cows and Calves for sale.

I am also prepared to buy cattle at any time.

Farmers would do well to leave their cattle with me on sale.

The Mammoth Chester White Boar, Washington, and a smaller one still at Le Hillier.

C. H. DEMARAY.

SUMMER CLOTHING.—Our readers will please bear in mind that they can always find a good assortment of all kinds of Summer Clothing and their stock is being sold cheap which is in keeping with the times, so do not forget to call at the Clothing Emporium of Randall & Smith for Summer goods.

KNOBBY.—Those Linen Duck Suits, also a nice assortment of Cassimere Suits, at Randall & Smith's.

Are you in need of any kind of a Hat, and if you are, go where you can find a full stock to select from which is at Randall & Smith's.

IN SEASON.—While the advertising agent for Helmbold was putting up his mammoth posters in New Haven, Ct., on a large board near a bookstore, a young lady very richly dressed in silks and satins, but evidently one of the "shoddy," seeing the advertisement, supposing it to be a concert or circus, stepped into a bookstore where tickets are usually sold to such entertainments, and asked the clerk for "Two tickets to Helmbold's Buchu." Of course the polite clerk excused the matter as well as possible, and the lady retired amid the suppressed laughter of several "bloods" who were present.—Sunday Mercury, N. Y.

—We would call the attention of the traveling community, to the facilities of going East via Milwaukee & St. Paul R. R., to Milwaukee. Thence across the lake to Grand Haven, in one of those elegant steamers owned by the Detroit & Milwaukee R. R. Co., where a good night's rest and a square meal on board can be obtained at a fair price. The connection to Detroit is close, with all eastern trains.

—Those of our readers who need anything in the way of Cosmetics or Toilet Articles would do well to patronize the firm of Berger, Shutts & Co., Troy, N. Y. They are the only Agents in America for many of the most valuable French and English Toilet Articles and preparations that are used by the Beauties of the Old World, to beautify and make attractive their person.

See their advertisement in another column.

What Lady would wear false hair or curls, when by an outlay of One Dollar, she can procure an article that will cause her hair to curl in wavy ringlets, or heavy, massive curls?

It does not injure the hair, but on the contrary, renders it soft, glossy and healthful. It is equally efficacious in curling the hair of the opposite sex. Messrs. Berger, Shutts & Co., Chemists, of Troy, N. Y., are agents for the same.

See their Card in another column.

SHEEP TOBACCO.—We have received 1,400 lbs leaf Tobacco, which we can sell for 15 cents per pound. Every farmer that has sheep ought to dip them, this spring, in Tobacco juice, such a course being recommended by experienced sheep growers as being very beneficial and healthful.

RAY, WILLIAMS & BRO.

HOUSE TO RENT.—A house pleasantly situated on the first Bench contains 6 rooms, has a good cistern, well water and stable.

Enquire at this Office. tf

ALWAYS ON HAND.—If you want a No. 1 heavy or light wagon, go to Kunselman & Walker.

If you want a choice spring wagon or fancy buggy, go to Kunselman & Walker's.

[no17.6m.]

—Ladies get you shoes at Austin's.

—Smith & Humphrey have just received a supply of Justices Dockets, and Wells' "Every Man his own Lawyer."

—For Pegged or Sewed Boots, go to Austin's opposite Mankato House.

☞PINE LUMBER.—Randall & Smith are now receiving a large stock of Furnishing and Common lumber, Flooring; Siding; Shingles; Lath, Doors and Sash, and persons contemplating building during the coming season, can be supplied at reasonable rates, Give them a call.

—Matresses at Drew & Payne's.

BREAKING PLOWS! BREAKING PLOWS!—If you want a first class BREAKING PLOW go to the store of L. L. & O. H. Davis, who have for sale the Grand DeTour Breaking Plow which has no equal in the market. They sold and guarantied every one of their silver steel plows for old ground, and they all gave satisfaction. They now offer a plow for breaking prairie which they will guarantee in the same manner. Call and examine the Grand DeTour plow.

ECONOMY.—It is truly economy to use D. B. DeLand & Co.'s Best Chemical Saleratus, because, for the same money you get more and better Saleratus.

—For Boots and Shoes, of all kinds, go to Austin's, opposite the Mankato House.

—Go to Beebe's for photographs.

A CARD

I take this opportunity of informing my old friends and customers who extended to me their liberal patronage during the three years I was engaged in business on my own account in Mankato, that I have engaged with Messrs. Owens & Co., next door to the Messrs Bradley's, who have opened a new Stove & Hardware store in whose behalf I would respectfully solicit a continuance of your patronage.

They have purchased a new and complete set of Tinners Tools and Machinery and supplied with first quality stock of my own selection. All custom jobbing in the Tin, Stove and Sheet Iron department will be under my especial care and attention. I will guarantee all work turned out from their shop just as represented, and manufactured in a workmanlike manner. For your Stoves, Hardware, Tinware, Plows, Cultivators &c., go to Messrs. Owens & Co., who are bound to sell good goods as cheap as any house in Mankato.

15 Years Ago and Now.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS was struggling into notice against the prejudices which everything new, however excellent, is doomed to encounter.

TO-DAY

it stands at the head of all the tonic and alterative preparations in existence. Its celebrity has evoked many imitations but no rivals. Physicians pronounce it the ONLY SAFE STIMULANT that has ever been introduced into the sick chamber. In the Hospitals of the Army and Navy, the surgeons find it the very best tonic for convalescents, and report it as invaluable for sustaining the vigor of troops on the march, as a remedy for scurvy and all scorbutic affections, and as the only specific for sea-sickness. California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the MINER'S MEDICINE par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climates, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fever.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure, and unvitiated vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient, and depurative herbs, plants, roots, and barks that have ever been intermixed in a medicinal preparation.

It is also proper to state that the Bitters are sold exclusively in glass, and never, under any circumstances, by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public has against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, and the Government stamp over the cork of the bottle.

Cheap Ice Pitcher.

The following simple mode of keeping ice-water for a long time in a common pitcher is worth knowing. We have tried it: Place between two sheets of paper (newspaper will answer, thick brown is better,) a layer of cotton batting, about half an inch in thickness; fasten the ends of paper and batting together, forming a circle; then sew or paste a crown over one end, making a box the shape of a stovepipe hat, minus the rim. Place this over an ordinary pitcher of ice water—making it deep enough to rest on the table so as to exclude the air—and the reader will be astonished at the length of time his ice will keep, and the water remain cold after the ice has melted. So says the Scientific American.

The Difference.

In letters from Paris describing the French Exhibition, we find such statements as these:

"Neatness, order, decency are everywhere and if there is anything else in Paris, it does make its appearance in public. People come out by the hundred thousands—all the liquor shops of Paris are open; there is no Maine Law; the supply of liquors is unlimited, and not one person is seen drunk."

In Boston we have a Maine Law, and every day policemen are seen carrying drunken men and even, unhappily, drunken women through the streets. That is the difference between Boston and Paris. Is it owing to the climate?—Boston Advertiser.

Washington, May 22.—Senator Wilson returned from the South this morning, and left for Boston this evening. He has been out thirty-one days from here. During that time he has made twenty-four political speeches, besides half a dozen more on temperance, &c. He comes back in good health and reports himself greatly pleased with the trip. He says he was everywhere courteously received, and is more than ever convinced that the Republicans can carry a majority of the Congressional Districts in the South. He will urge that the funds of our committees be expended mainly in paying speakers and organizers rather than in sustaining newspapers and circulating expensive documents, and thinks it would be well to give employment to a number of colored men of good local standing.

Late advices at the War Department from all the Military Districts in the South represent matters as in a very favorable condition.

—The Washington correspondent of the Cincinnati Commercial states that the report sent out last winter that Horace Greeley had been offered a place in the Cabinet, although promptly denied, was strictly correct. Within a few days a copy of the letter offering Mr. Greeley the place of Postmaster General has been seen, and will probably be made public. The offer was declined on the ground that Mr. Greeley could not support the policy of President Johnson.

—The State Department has received nothing official as to the fate of Maximilian. The full correspondence between Minister Campbell and the Juarez Government is published. People generally infer from it that Maximilian has been shot, but the contrary opinion still exists at the State Department.

—The President's party made up for the Southern swing is ludicrously small and insignificant compared with the mob of distinguished individuals that attended him on his winding way to Chicago. Two members of the Cabinet, his private secretary, and two or three other private friends compose the suite. It is evident that the idea of a "kingly progress" has been abandoned. The party left Washington so privately and modestly that compared with the departure of a year ago they can almost be said to have sneaked out of the city. Some of the experiences of the other swing have made a vivid impression upon the Presidential mind. He does not seem inclined to harangue every crowd at length, or bandy slang with his opponents in his character of private citizen.

—Albert Harrington has received his appointment as a cadet at West Point, with orders to report on the 20th inst. He leaves Winona on Monday next. We wish him eminent success, and trust he will do credit to the district and State which sends him.—Winona Republican.

—The Minneapolis Tribune says that owing to the scarcity of wheat the flouring mills in that city will soon have to stop operations until after harvest.

—The contract for carrying a weekly mail form Blue Earth City to Yankton, Dakota Territory, has been awarded to the Minnesota Stage Company, and will go into effect on the first day of July.

—A gentleman residing in Owatonna, who lately visited Jackson and Martin counties, states that a Mr. and Mrs. Pressler, the parents of the children who had their limbs frozen off in 1866, at the Chain Lakes had requested him to have published in the newspapers the fact that the public were being humbugged by those who are traveling about the country with the children. They informed the gentleman that they have never received a cent from the funds thus contributed, and they do not wish their names connected any longer with such measures.

—The President had a dinner given him at Raleigh, at which there was no toast or speeches made.

—The Secretary of the Treasury reports a larger amount of revenue than was anticipated, for the month of May, and in consequence, a handsome amount is left to apply on the national debt.

—Alluding to the large surplus reported regularly in the Treasury, the N. Y. Tribune asks, "Why not employ at least eighty millions of this surplus in cancelling at least that amount of the public debt, and thus save the country four or five millions of interest per annum?" The Tribune "suspects somebody profits by this enormous and hazardous accumulation of coin in the Treasury."

—Orders have been issued to put the ram Stonewall in readiness for sea. She is delivered to the Japanese at Washington, but the Government grants the necessary leave of absence to a competent officer, and the purchasers pay him a handsome price for taking her to Japan. About one month will be required to put her in first-rate order.

CHASTELLAR'S
WHITE LIQUID
ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 30,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by

☞ A Young Lady returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse; rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousand of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli; it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. CONSUMPTION CURABLE BY DR. SCHENCK'S MEDICINES.

TO CURE CONSUMPTION, the system must be prepared so that the lungs will heal. To accomplish this, the liver and stomach must first be cleansed and an appetite created for good wholesome food, which, by these medicines will be digested properly, and good healthy blood made; thus building up the constitution. SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cleanse the stomach of all billious or mucous accumulations; and, by using the Sea Weed Tonic in connection, the appetite is restored.

SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP is nutricious as well as medicinal, and, by using the three remedies, all impurities are expelled from the system, and good, wholesome blood made, which will repel all disease. If patients will take these medicines according to directions, Consumption very frequently in its last stage yields readily to their action. Take the pills frequently, to cleanse the liver and stomach. It does not follow that because the bowels are not costive they are not required, for sometimes in diarrhœa they are necessary. The stomach must be kept healthy, and an appetite created to allow the Pulmonic Syrup to act on the respiratory organs properly and allay any irritation. Then all that is required to perform a permanent cure is, to prevent taking cold. Exercise about the rooms as much as possible, eat all the richest food—fat meat, game, and, in fact, anything the appetite craves; but be particular and masticate well. [2nd w. ea. mo. 1 yr.

The Proprietors of the
"NORTH STAR WOOLEN
MILLS'

At Minneapolis, Minn., having run their Factory during the entire Winter, are now enabled to place in the market the most extensive and superior stock of Woolen Cloths ever offered to the People of the North-west, consisting of Plain and Fancy

CASSIMERES AND DOESKINS,

fine Light and Dark Tweeds, Plain and Checked Flannels Kentucky Jeans, Blankets, Socks, &c. Our Cloths are made of Wool, with the Latest Improved Machinery, and most skillful and experienced workmen.

EXCLUSIVELY

We now offer them for sale, both Wholesale and Retail, at greatly reduced prices. To Farmers and Wool-growers we offer the most

LIBERAL INDUCEMENTS

to exchange Wool for Cloth, allowing more than the market price for Wool, and selling them our Cloths at

CASH PRICES.

Agencies for exchanging on the same terms as at the Factory will be found at Rochester, Cannon Falls, Clinton Falls, Faribault, Mankato and St. Cloud.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent
DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Eliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

AFFLICTED!
SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

ASTROLOGY.
The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.— She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth. It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secrecy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

TO CONSUMPTIVES.

The advertiser, having been restored to health in a few weeks by a very simple remedy, after having suffered for several years with a severe lung affection, and that dread disease Consumption—is anxious to make known to his fellow-sufferers the means of cure.

To all who desire it, he will send a copy of the prescription used (free of charge), with the directions for preparing and using the same, which they will find a sure cure for Consumption, Asthma, Bronchitis, Coughs, Colds, and all Throat and Lung Affections. The only object of the advertiser in sending the Prescription is to benefit the afflicted, and spread information which he conceives to be invaluable, and he hopes every sufferer will try his remedy, as it will cost them nothing, and may prove a blessing. Parties wishing the precription, free, by return mail, will please address

This is the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Cure that lay
In the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Man who was bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Cure that lay
In the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gay,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the Ambrosia that Ring made.

This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the Ambrosia that Ring made.

MY FIRST LOVE.

For the Union.

I, while in early youth did meet,
A blue eyed maiden, oh! so sweet,
I was bewitched, and I made a vow,
But I dont care two cents for her now,
Not I.

But since I've begun to tell a tale,
Of what happened since I left Yale,
I will be as brief as I possibly can,
For you know such things always bother a man,
And why?

We met at a party, the usual way,
Where boys and girls get together to play.
The mirth and jest went on for an hour,
Before I saw the beautiful flower,
My daisy.

She was the handsomest there to be seen,
And I fell in love with this fairy queen,
And I thought if she'd promise my wife to be,
I should be gloriously hap-pi-e,
Was I?

Of course I courted her late and early,
And soon she said she loved me dearly.
But alas! how soon she changed her notion,
And I had some thoughts of taking a portion—
Of physic.

I left the place in utter despair,
I thought 'twould kill me, but did'nt care.
I tried to think of some place to go,
Then struck a "bee line for Man-ka-to,
And here I am.

Here I have been long enough to forget,
I was ever in love with a heartless coquet,
And thankful am I, that I was spared,
The painful pleasure of being paired.
With such a woman.

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

By Our own Reporter.

CHICAGO, June 11, 1867.

ED. UNION:—Another Baptist must have come to town for this morning the rains have recommenced. There is little fear however of any injury to the crops at this time for we have had a hot dry week and this is what farmers term a good growing rain. The excellent prospects for the coming harvest have already had an excellent influence on the markets and during the past week the prices of every kind of cereals have gone down and business has taken a start to which we have not been at all accustomed for months back. During the dull season we have had, there has been a general falling off of the efforts of the pilanthropic chaps who go about soliciting money for the benefit of other people, but already with the brightening of the financial sky, they come out like frogs after a rain, croaking about fresh applications of the old "more blessed to give than to receive" text. The first in the field are the Southern Relief people and to organize and render more effective their disinterested endeavors, they have started a Ladies Southern Relief Association. Chicago women seem to have a peculiar penchant for getting into associations and societies of all kinds and doing good to almost anybody or anything. If it does'nt effect much good it does'nt do much harm, and it amuses them, so success go with them.

Among the cheerful little incidents which are in the criminal records of to-day are an infanticide, a probable murder, an attempted rape, a case of arson, an interesting adultery suit, a stabbing affray, a riot, a robbery and a score of pettier crimes.

The estimated expenditures of the city for the current year amount to the round sum of $2,400,000.

Booth is drawing immense audiences at McVickers and the daughter of one of the proprietors of the theatre, Miss Mary McVicker has made a debut, playing opposites to him, with great success. She has even more than realized the most sanguine expectations entertained of her abilities.

Speaking of the "show business" in which most of the people engaged are jolly good fellows and love a joke, reminds me of a brace of practical jokes played here recently, which are furnishing considerable amusement to the "men about town." A certain well to do merchant who bears the reputation of being a "sport" as well as a first class business man, Mr. S——y, has an old chum, known as Charley W——s, who in many particulars, especially in a love for practical jokes, is a very "double to him". About a month ago Mr. S, received at his office one day a telegram purporting to come from Springfield informing him that his "dear Jennie" was at the St. Nicholas hotel there, wanting very much to see him and begging him to "come quick." Decidedly puzzeled as to which "dear Jennie" it was, he thought the easiest way to find out would be by acceding to her request, and on that nights train he was a passenger for Springfield. On arriving there in the morning he was met at the depot by a deputation of friends, jolly fellows, who somehow knew his business, and ere long the thing leaked out, nothing more than an easy practical joke at his expense. A spree was the natural result and the next day he returned determined to get square. For a month he "lay low," submitting quietly to all the jests of the knowing ones. Then, one day last week, when he knew Charley was down town on business he posted off to Charley's home, near Union Park, where presides a handsome young wife, not long the partner of the gay Charley, who S. had by this time ascertained was the fertile inventor of the "dear Jennie" hoax. "Is Mr. W——s at home?" Wife—"No, Sir, he is down town." S.—"I'm sorry, as I wished to pay him some money before going out of town to-day. Can I see his wife?" Wife—"I am his wife, sir." S.—"Excuse me, I wish to see Mrs. W——s, wife of Mr. W——s, of No. —, —— street." Wife—"Well, I am the person." S—(hesitatingly and with a look of doubt,) "Oh! no, excuse me, I,—I don't like to doubt a lady's word, but Mrs. W——s is quite a different looking woman from you." Wife—(astounded,) "What?" S—(confidently,) "Oh! yes, Mr. W——s introduced her to me the other day down on Dearborn street. A lady with blue eyes, long brown curls, expensive jewelry, rather dashy." Wife—(flaming and indignant,) "There, Thank you, that will do, sir. Perhaps I'm not the woman." Here the dialogue ended by an abrupt retreat on the part of the wife. S. took up a convenient post for observations near by, and had not long to wait before Charley came cheerily home. Mrs. W——s met him at the door, with a broom-stick, her black eyes flashing and her "raven tresses" floating in the wind, and she "went for him." In the midst of the storm, S. made his appearance, inquiring "How are you Jennie?" Charley is out gunning for S. and peace is not yet declared in that household.

Messrs. Bowen, Whitman & Winslow, Dry Goods Jobbers and Commission Merchants, successors to Bowen, Bros., at Nos. 15, 17, 19, and 21 Randolph street, have instituted a novelty in this market, the issuing of a weekly price list of all the immense variety of goods sold by their firm, which is furnished for reference gratuitiously to every merchant who desires it. They have as full a line of goods as any house in the west, and even offer as good opportunities for selections of goods as any Boston or New York firm. Everything they sell is disposed of at the lowest prices which the state of the market will afford and as in all their transactions they are governed by the most strictly, honorable principles, merchants who chose to send orders for goods on the "List" prices may be sure of having perfect satisfaction. To those who choose to come in person to buy, Messrs. B., W. & W, offer, in addition to all other advantages the best light in the city to select goods by.

LETTERS FROM MINNESOTA.

BY MINNEHAHA.

No. 4—A Letter from Home.

V——, July 9, 1861.

DEAR OLD SCHOOL MATE:—I have just finished my dinner, and as the most of the scholars are out on the green, and the school room comparitively quiet, I will jot you a few lines.

This is a pleasant room; not a log school house as I had imagined, but a neat framed one, looking somewhat like that in dear old Springfield. That old school house! how many cherished memories cluster about it. Viewed in the distance, by memory's glass, its time wrecked walls seem sacred, for it was there that our young steps first turned, while our innocent hearts swelled with delight, as we mastered those first lessons.

I like my school extremely well, my whole heart and soul are in the work, and I think I realize the responsibility of the charge, committed to my care. Yes, there are, or were, some "hard cases." Simon Clase, has evidently had things pretty much his own way, heretofore. He seemed to expect brute force would be employed to reduce him to submission as formerly, and was completely taken back by the kindness shown him. It seems, that he had been considered an out-cast, and treated accordingly. A kind word will now melt him completely. Willful little Johnny Martin, I can not help loving, with all his faults, and as that love is returned, his strong will is easily bent to my own.

"Full many a flower is born to blush unseen," would be well applied to sweet Amy Clayton, sitting in her corner over there, by the window, with a book instead of play, which would be much better for her, but she seems to shrink from the ruder natures of her companions, and sometimes, as I look into the deep blue eyes, with that far away look in them, I wonder if she is "of the earth earthly," wonder if angel wings are not hidden away somewhere, ready to take flight to some more congenial sphere.

The children are very patriotic, I wish you could hear them cheering for "The Union, and Lincoln," and then as some one cries, "Hisses, and death to Jeff. Davis and all other traitors," you would be reminded of a flock of geese. Then, George Taylor, says, "Miss L——, we wish you would step to the door, and see our fort. Do you think the rebels could take that?"

And surely it is a formidable structure for such puny hands to raise. It is constructed of timbers left scattered here and there, after building the school house.

There is Mr. Ellis, admiring their fort, and praising their ingenuity, and then with a nod to me, he says that he will be in this afternoon to see how the school prospers;" and little Alice Monroe, at my side, whispers, that "sister Florence is coming too."

But it is almost 1 o'clock, and I will finish this after school.

Almost bed-time. Yes, Miss Monroe was with him; what a facinating creature she is, such an attraction in look and manner. I hope she is as good as she is beautiful, for Dale Ellis is deserving of such a woman, but for some reason, Mrs. Howard does not seem to like here, and, with a woman's tact, tries to keep her brother out of her company, I wonder why, I should think every one would love her, and yet, I do not just like her manner toward me; it is patronizing and condescending, not as if I was her equal, and she calls me "little Mollie," when she speaks to me, and once in a while there is a strange glitter in the blue eyes, and a hardening of the lines around the sweet mouth, yet for all, my soul goes out in admiration, even as it did to Alice Dugan. We went to the swing, this evening to enjoy an aerial ride by moonlight. It is a pole swing, and swings out over the lake. Rather searey to nervous persons, but I enjoyed it immensely. It is intended for two, indeed, one cannot swing alone with safety. How timid Florance seemed, as she found herself in the swing, and how she clung to the arm of Mr. Ellis, as he seated himself beside her.

After a while, "Come" said Mrs. Howard, "shall we not swing together, Mollie? See if I do not make a capital beau."

Oh, it was exhilerating, that ride in mid-air, with the silvered lake below, and above the Queen of night, attended by her royal attendants, the stars. By and by, Miss Monroe concluded that it was time for her to return, and as the most of the party had no thought of going back yet, Mr. Ellis excused himself to his sister, saying "he would be back in time to see us home." On our way home that night, some allusion was made to Florence. I do not know what I said, but it was a rapturous extolation of her beauty and attractions. Mrs. Howard was silent, but her brother, with that rare smile of his, said as he looked down into my face, "My child, you are seeing your happiest day, now, when you see only the beautiful side, ere experience has taught her bitter, yet salutary lessons."

"Amen," was Mrs. Howard's low whispered response, while a sigh floated upon the night wind, that sounded more like one of relief, than of sorrow.

I think there was an under current of meaning in his words, but I was too full of the enjoyment of the day and evening, to think much about it, and I am too sleepy now, to ponder them deeply, and though I am yawning terribly, I must tell you about the letter I received from home to day. There was pleasant chat from father, words of advice from mother, scratches from Rose's pen, that looked as if she had dipped Biddie's feet in the ink, and drawn her across the paper. Then there was a real live letter from Will, a sheet full of fun and gossip.

"Moll" he wrote," we miss you terribly; do hurry that school out and come home. I went coon hunting the other day, I did not kill any coons, but I killed a rabbit and two squirrels. I did so wish you had been along: and then it is so lonesome to work in the garden and field, all by myself, for, Rose is at school yet: and I suppose you will say; you had ought to be there too; May be you won't say so after I tell you why I aint.

Well, you see, I had forgotten how to do that example, about the poultry and servant, and all that, in the Least Common Multiple, you remember it, don't you? Well, after trying it a long time, I took it to Miss Tibbits, and do you think she could do it? No she could not! and then she tried to creep out of it, by, saying that she thought the answer was wrong; I told her that I thought she was mistaken, as Mollie had worked and explained it to me before; and then you had ought to have seen the old hag (Oh Willie) spit fire, she said that I need not be preaching sister Mollie to her, she guessed she knew as much as you did, you was a pert little upstart, etc, etc, and Mollie do'nt scold me for what I did then, for I was awful mad, I never was so mad in my life before. I told her I wished she knew half as much as you did, and if she had as much sense in her whole body, as you did in your little finger, she would be a much smarter person. I tell you I was awful mad, and I said more, but do not remember it all, and she stood there white and trembling with rage, and then as it was noon, I just picked up my books and started, and then she began to make up a little, and told me to come back, and when she found threatening would not do, she tried to coax me back, but it was no go.' Rose says she is going to pick a fuss, so that she can have an excuse to leave school (she does not say it before mother, mind you,) and as she is as big a mischief as ever, it will be a wonder if she does not. There is none of the scholars that like Miss Libbie Tibbits, and would leave any time, if their parents would let them.

She is great on the Union, Miss Tibbits is, and says she will not marry a man unless he is a soldier, Query: would she have a chance?

She goes round singing a line from her last composition.

'Ill marry my lover, my lover so true,
The one who goes fighting for the red, white and blue.

But that is all well enough, I suppose it is right to be patriotic. I only wish I was big enough to go to war, would I not be killing rebels, though."

He is a dear little brother that Willie, though a little too quick tempered some times.

But I declare, it is after 4 o'clock, and the good people of V—, will think I have a beau.

Give my love to all the dear friends. Now, "Angels guard thy bed, Katie, sayeth your friend.

MOLLIE.

The Bridge at Quincy.

From the Detroit Tribune.

To a Detroit company has recently been awarded the contract for the construction of two of the largest iron railway bridges in the United States or the world, the longest is to cross the Mississippi at Quincy, Ill., the shorter at Burlington, Iowa.

The bridge at Quincy will be divided into two sections. The first, commencing on the east or Quincy side of the river, runs over Quincy bay, as it is called, which is a branch of the Mississippi that sweeps around the east side of an island lying between the two shores. Between the Quincy shore and the island will be a Bullman bridge, composed of four spans of 85 feet each, and draw span of 190 feet, allowing a channel each side of the pier on which it rests of eighty feet. The upper cords and other posts of the four spans will be of cast iron, all the other parts will be of wrought iron throughout, except the posts. This division will be supported by two abutments and five piers of stone, all except that supporting the draw span imbedded in the sand, while that will have its foundation in the rock. They will all, too, be provided with ice-breakers, and rendered proof against any action of the river. The railroad track will run on the top of this division of the bridge, while across the main channel, over which will be extended a bridge of the Pratt patent, the trains will run over on the lower floor.

Across the island, a distance of 1,460 feet, the track will run upon the embankment 25 feet above the level of the island, and 12 feet above high water mark, which will be the height of the whole bridge over the high water level.

The main branch of the river is thus reached, which is crossed by a bridge of 17 spans, as follows: Eleven of 57 feet each in length, two of 200, one of 250, then the great draw span 360 feet long, and then the span on the western side, 250 feet in length. The abutments are two in number, the piers 17, and all, except that sustaining the draw span, imbedded in the sand, while that again has a rock foundation. The pier supporting the draw span will be 400 feet long and 34 feet wide, while the others will be 40 feet long and 10 feet wide. The channels in this case will be each 180 feet. The material of the draw span will be entirely wrought iron, as will be that of the others, with the exception of the upper cords, which are to be cast iron. The draw span in this division will be entirely self-supporting, while the ends of that in the shorter division will be sustained by chains hung from a central tower. The main bridge will be 2,967 feet long, the embankment over the island is 1,460, and the shorter division 530 feet, making a total length of 4,977 feet across the river.

—A lady having had her front teeth repaired by gold filling, when she laughed the yellow specks would show themselves, whereupon her little niece observing them, seriously remarked: "Aunt Mary, I wish I had copper-toed teeth like yours."

—Gen. Longstreet accepts the Military bill as a peace-offering, and counsels his fellow citizens to use the opportunity it offers. It is a significant fact that most of the chief rebel Generals have fully accepted the terms of the North, though by these terms they are disfranchised.

OUR OPINION.

The Hastings Gazette of the 15th inst. replies to our article in which we intimated that it was mistaken in presuming that the State Railroad bonds, if legally issued, could be collected by a suit at law. Admitting that a State cannot be sued, it says that it has heard of test cases where the legality of such bonds might be brought in issue, and in support of his position that a State can be compelled by process of law to pay its bonds, submits the following proposition:

"Suppose a bondholder should sue the party from which he received it. Would not the legality of the bond, the circumstances attendant upon its issue, etc., be the points for discussion and decision in the court? And if the defendant proved the bond good and valid, would not the State have to pay it, principal and interest?

It is our opinion that our friend of the Gazette has not stated an analagous proposition. But upon the question proposed we are unable to see what process in a suit between two individuals would bring the State to its knees. We presume that bonds are sold like other property, and the nature of the bargain between the vendor and purchaser, would figure some in a suit where the bond proved to be invalid. If the vendor guaranteed payment of the bonds, upon a failure of the State, he must pay it himself. If there is no such bargain, we doubt his responsibility. But suppose the defense of the vendor was that the bonds were legally issued, and it was proved that no illegalities either patent or latent, nor fraud, attended their execution. Would not the defendant be discharged from any obligation? As a question of law and fact the bonds are declared good by the court, but can you imagine any process that can be issued against the State in a suit between two individuals? The decision upon the validity of the bonds is only had for the purpose of discharging the vendor from refunding the money he received for it. It is simply incidental to the main issue between the parties. A State is only bound in honor to pay its debts, and this is why the word "repudiation" is so offensive, and being thus offensive to all honorable men, those papers favoring the bond swindle are using it in defamation of the fair name of our State, to intimidate the people into a recognition and payment of these bonds. It is therefore the duty of our exchanges who oppose the bond swindle, to show by facts and figures the equities which the State holds against the bonds, and thus prove that no dishonor is incurred by refusing to pay them at their face. We notice that several papers have offered a legal technicality as a defense to their payment. The defense is that the constitutional amendment was proposed by a Territorial Legislature, and approved by a Territorial Governor, and was never a part of the constitution submitted to Congress, and upon which the State was admitted in the Union, and therefore the people as a State were not authorized to vote upon such a question. It is unnecessary to discuss this legal question, for to evade a just debt on account of an informality in the officers executing the law, or the informality of the instrument which is the evidence of indebtedness, is not only a stain to individual honor, but much more so to the honor of a State whose legislature is yearly invoked for the very purpose of rendering legal that which from the equity and exigencies of the case was necessarily though illegally, done. The State must look above its own technicalities and try the bond question in the spirit of equity, fairness and self protection. The five million loan project, was eagerly endorsed by the largest bond holders we have, also by the politicians in power at that time, by railroad corporations who expected to get a share of them, and by a lot of blood suckers, who, instead of earning an honest livelihood, are ever on the alert to bleed the public by some swindling operation; while the people, through the grossest misrepresentations, that every door yard should have a railroad depot and not a cent to pay for it, gave it barely endorsement enough to carry it into effect. These are the parties to the five million loan bill. Many of the above persons are still bond holders, and between them and the people of the State the question is to be settled. Without impugning the motives of any one, it is enough that on account of its magnitude, its impracticability, the peculiarities of the amendment and the utter want of financial discretion in its projectors, the scheme failed, the railroads were not built, laborers were not paid for what was done, bonds were issued to the amount of two and a half million of dollars for work not worth one fourth that amount, the railroad companies neither paid interest or principal on them as they agreed to, and they at once became almost worthless. We here ask if equity does not dictate that the men who advocated this scheme should suffer the consequences of their own recklessness as well as the State. He who seeks equity must do equity, and he who would enforce his contract must show performance on his part. The bond holders have not performed, and therefore the State should not. So far as the State has received an equivalent, so far they are willing to pay, but the proposition before the people, involves a policy which we think would result in a payment in full of most all the bonds, and therefore we oppose it.

For the Union.

State Superintendents Meeting.

MR. EDITOR:—According to announcement, the Hon. Mark H. Dunnell Supt. of Public Instruction met a number of the County Supt's of schools of this part of the State, on the 14th inst. at the Mankato House in this place.

The following county Superintendent's were present:

D. Picket Esq., of Sibley county, H. Henry Esq., of Scott county, M. L. Wilde Esq., of LeSueur county, Rev. A. H. Kerr of Nicollet county, and myself.

Mr. E. D. B. Porter and Mr. Ira S. Smith were present nearly all day, and took part in discussing the various questions, which engaged the attention of the meeting.

The subject of text books was first considered, and all united in the opinion that something should be done at an early day to secure the adoption, by the State, of a uniform series of books, the time during which the State Normal Board was to regulate this matter having expired. Various new books are now being introduced in different places in the State, so that we will soon have no uniformity at all.

The Superintendent is strongly in favor of County Institutes as the very best available means of improving our Teachers, in which opinion all seemed to agree, and arrangements for holding Institutes this fall, and the manner of conducting them, were discussed at some length. The Superintendent proposes to devote the months of September and October to attending these Institutes.

The methods of conducting the examinations of teachers, and determining the grade to which each may belong, was next discussed. The form of certificate now in use was condemned and another recommended which I think will be adopted Many objections to the present school code were made and discussed. In short we made a full day of it and I think a great amount of good will result from these meetings of the Superintendent with the county Superintendents all over the State. The meeting held here was the last of a series in which Mr. Dunnell met all, or nearly all the county Superintendents in the State, and heard their views on all questions of interest relating to schools. I think we have now an able and efficient State Superintendent. He seems to be very much in earnest, and I have no doubt that his efforts will have a wonderful effect in improving our common schools.

JOHN R. BEATTY.
Co. Supt. of Schools.

Introvert your Vision.

There is a class of persons whose only desire seems to be to search out the faults of others, and herald them to the world. Such people, if they would stop but for a moment, and study their own characters and proclivities, would be surprised, perhaps, to find in themselves the same faults and weaknesses. Shame on them! Of all the pests that infest the city and country, these are the most to be despised, dreaded. They not only injure, in some degree, the persons whom they thus back-bite, but their despicable practice has a contaminating influence on the youthful mind, which, if not constantly guarded and guided by religion, is susceptable of the worst influence that mankind can impart.

If they can detect any palpable faults in their neighbors, why do they not frankly and kindly tell them of it, or else say nothing about it at all? Simply because they are too pusillanimous, cowardly and mean, and would rather have the pleasure of indulging their evil propensities, by spreading it, no matter at whose expense, to the world.

Reader, if you have hitherto been guilty of this practice, abstain from it in future. Go into some more lucrative business, "introvert your vision," know thyself, and instead of being "jests," to the society in which you move, you will be honored and respected citizens. Young men! young women! heed this before you form a habit that shall destroy your peace.

FROM VERNON CENTRE.

By our own Reporter.

That never failing topic (The weather) excites frequent remark here, and at present is a matter of much interest. The continued wet weather is remarkable, and begins to make us fear that the coming harvest will be light. Wheat sown upon high ground still looks well but many fields not thus located will yield but little. The same may be said of corn and oats. Considerable corn has rotted in the ground without starting, though some fields in this section look very well. The river here is high but now slowly falling. The roads are simply horrible. Our merchant's shelves are almost empty by reason of the difficulty experienced in transporting merchandise from Mankato. We are glad that you have called attention again to the necessity for a bridge at LeHillier and hope you will not cease to agitate the subject until something is done. We can hardly agree with you in attaching blame to the county Commissioners. They can do nothing more than to issue the county bonds and this they stand ready to do. Your business men must cash those bonds and forthwith the bridge will be built—and by the way we are slightly inclined to wish that your merchants may lose a trade of $700 each day (as when the ferry rope broke) until they see the propriety of doing this thing.

Leading Papers on the Bond Question.

MANKATO, May 17, 1867.

To the Editor of the Mankato "Union:

SIR.—It has been truly said, that tyrants are blinded by the exalted opinion which they have formed of their own power and ability to coerce people into their views, and through this blindness cannot see that the surging waves of public opinion are sapping the very foundation of their fancied strength. Past history has in a thousand instances demonstrated this fact, and Maximilian, if alive, feels the force of this adage. In our own State we have the same feelings, only in a smaller capacity fully set forth in the dogmatic tone of our St. Paul dailies, in regard to the bond question. The St. Paul Press really fancies that the great republican party of this State will humbly bow before his wand and that his ipse dixet is with it like the laws of the Medes and Persians, and hence like the unfeeling tyrant he hurls his enethamas, and vituperation at the devoted heads of all who refuse to see things through his jaundiced eyes. The Pioneer, as the organ of the Democracy, follows suit, and attempts to coerce that party in the same boisterous and ungentlemanly manner, and all who do not humbly bow the knee to Baal, are held up to the world as men, in whose composition, there is not one particle of honesty. If these two Metropolitan journals fancy that they are going to rule the political destinies of this State, they are certainly doomed to disappointment, and will find next fall, that they have been fighting a windmill, and have got most desperately "thrashed." St. Paul and Winona, have hitherto, had every thing their own way, and no man, no matter how honest or talented living outside their sacred walls can have anything within the people's gift. The Governor must be a St. Paulite, and our Congressmen must be from Winona and then all things are lovely. With regard to the bond issue, the present plan proposed by governor Marshall, sanctioned by the legislature, and now attempted to be crammed down the people's throats by the hungry Jackalls of the Press and Pioneer will meet with such a rebuff as will teach these Shylocks that there are Minnesotians outside of Sodom and Gomorrah, and that their daily bulls have as little effect on the Soverign people of this State, as a mandate from the snail eating King of Siam. The people are willing to do what is honest and just between man and man; but will not be bomboozled by interested scribblers who wish to feather their own nests by the spoliation of 500,000 acres of the best land in the State. The people do not wish to repudiate an honest debt; but are bound that they shall not be fooled by an organized monopoly that pays the purchased curs for yelping at the heels of the honest and industrious people of this State who object to paying for what they have never had, before it is due. They object to the plan as laid down by the last legislature, and will support that objection at the ballot box, with such an overwhelming majority, as will astonish no one but those who are in the bond ring, and these will find that they have misunderstood public opinion with regard to this bond swindle. If the bond holders will give up their illgotten gains to the people, and will take these 500,000 acres of land, the people will at once say amen, not that they in any way believe in their legality, but to get clear of these land sharks whose mouths are watering to "gobble" up all they can obtain from a generous and noble hearted people, who have already suffered from the gormandizing maws of an unprincipled monopoly. If this proposition should be accepted by the bond holders, what a glorious time would be seen at the scramble which would be made for the big end of the wind fall, and the tournament of the Killkenny cats, or Donybrook fair, would be a tame affair when compared with the scramble when Greek meets Greek. This much I will state for the edification of the Press and Pioneer, and I hope they will ponder well the prognastication which is, that if they live until the people of Minnesota sanction by their votes the present plan of getting clear of those franduleut and spurious bonds, old Methusalah was only a wea boy at his death in comparison with the venerable age they would attain when "kicking the bucket,"—beg pardon—throwing off the mortal coil.

I am Sir, yours in haste,
DRACO.

FROM WASHINGTON.

SURRATT'S JURY EMPANELLED.

WASHINGTON, May 15.—A jury in Surratt's trial has finally been empanelled and the indictment read, the prisoner pleading not guilty. By the request of the prisoner's counsel and the consent of the government, the jury were allowed to seperate till Monday, with admonition to avoid conversation with any body on the subject of the case.

THAD STEVENS AND CONGRESS.

Stevens has addressed a letter to the Washington Chronicle, in which he suggests the propriety of having a Quorum in Congress on the first of July, in consequence of the recent decisions of the Attorney General. He holds that Mr. Stansberry has no more right to interfere than the President had to reconstruct.

—A schedule of the bids received at the office of Indian Affairs for Winnebago Trust Lands, at the sale of March 15th, is before the Secretary of the Interior, for his action thereon. As soon as a decision is reached by the Secretary, in reference to the bids submitted, the bidders will be immediately notified of the result of their bidding.

A MAN SAWED IN TWO.—One of those sudden and frightful accidents at which humanity shudders, took place at the large saw mill of W. C. Cowles, Esq., in this city, yesterday, (June 12th,) by which Mr. Cowles' head sawyer, a man by the name of Daniel Cummings was instantly killed. Mr. Cummings had charge of a large circular saw with hooked teeth, and which was running at the time at full speed. It is supposed he was reaching over the saw to feel whether it was heating or not, when the teeth of the saw caught his shirt sleeve and drew him on it. He was heard to exclaim "Oh!" which drew the attention of Mr. Cowles and others, who were in the mill, and they looked towards the saw where Mr. Cummings was at work. A frightful sight met their eyes. The unfortunate man had evidently been drawn upon the sharp saw, the hooked teeth entering the neck near the left shoulder blade and passing diagonally down through the left breast, nearly severing the head and right breast, and shoulder from the body. He must have died instantly.

Mr. Cummings was a Canadian by birth, and removed to this city about two months ago. He was an industrious, faithful, sober man, and understood his business thoroughly. He leaves a wife and three children in this city to mourn his sudden and frightful death. —Hastings Union

A BOLD HAND AT THE HELM, OR HELMBOLD.—A paragraph has been going the rounds of the press quite recently, stating that Helmbold the celebrated New York Druggist, pays the Tribune of that city over $10,000 per year for advertising. Helmbold's business must be immense to enable him to pay such a sum of money to one paper out of some fifteen or sixteen hundred in which he advertises. By his judicious, but at the same time extensive advertising, Helmbold has made his "Buchu" and other proprietary compounds standard remedies in almost every household in the land; while the medical faculty, whose approbation is never gained for a nostrum, not only recommend Helmbold's preparations, but quite generally use them in their private practice. If some thousands of business men, who have been content to plod along in the old fogy footsteps of their ancestors, who looked upon newspaper advertising as money thrown away, had but possessed Helmbold's sagacity and courage, they might, perhaps, figured quite as largely in the Income-Tax returns. —[New York Times.

MONTANA EXPEDITION.—The last of the Montana expedition took up the line of march from this city yesterday. The expedition when connected at Fort Abercrombie will number about fifty teams from Minneapolis and vicinity, forty teams from St. Cloud and vicinity, forty teams form Fort Abercrombie and vicinity, and about twenty teams from Mankato and the Minnesota valley. Fifty Red River carts will also join the expedition from Abercrombie.

Notwithstanding the extreme high water and exaggerated reports concerning Indian troubles, the indefatigable Captain Davy will make his grand expedition a success. The force that he will have with him will be sufficient to protect itself and train with perfect safety through any Indian country. Success attend you, Captain.—Minneapolis Tribune June 16th.

SHAKOPEE, June 14—About 1 o'clock this morning, 13th, as the steamer Hudson was ascending the Minnesota river, a few miles below this place, a young man by the name of Johnson fell overboard and was drowned. All efforts to save him were of no avail, the current of water drew him under the boat and the wheel struck him, injuring him so that he was perfectly helpless.

His parents live in Fulton, Ill.—Pioneer June 15th.

SHAKOPEE, June 14—A sad accident occurred here last night: About 8 o'clock a man named Lord and two of his children were struck by lightning. The children were instantly killed. Mr. Lord still lives, but is in a critical condition, with no hopes of his recovery. At the time of his being struck he was repairing some out houses. His children were with him. He had a saw in his hand. He is conscious of what happened at the time.

THE "COMPENSATING" POWER,
(Both eight and ten horse.)

A landable ambition exists among threshers to "own the best machine in the neighborhood." Nothing is more disagreeable to them than to have farmers complain that their work is not properly done, or to lose valuable time by reason of breakages, and they cannot be too careful in selecting a machine.

The Sweepstakes is the accredited head of the Threshing Machine family, and its superior strength, durability, simplicity, ease of draft, style of finish, and capacity for threshing and cleaning grain faster and better than any other in the world, are acknowledged.

The great reputation achieved by this favorite machine has led several unscrupulous manufacturers, and numerous agents, to attach the name "SWEEPSTAKES," in one way and another, to their machines and advertisements to mislead and deceive.

This is the essence of meanness—downright piracy, and sailing under false colors. To avoid the counterfeit, see that every machine has the card, "C. AULTMAN & CO., MANUFACTURERS, Canton, Ohio," in gilt letters, conspicuously on both sides of the Separator.

The Genuine Sweepstakes enables the thresher to pick his customers, seldom stops for repairs, lasts much longer than others, saves much grumbling and vexation, does the same amount of work with less labor, and enables him to select the best and most profitable jobs.

The farmers give it a preference, and often an extra price per bushel, because it threshes clean from the heads, separates perfectly from the straw, cleans fit for market without waste, saves all the grain, does its work with the utmost speed, safety and economy, and does not keep a gang of men and teams about them on expense.

The elegant "Patent Pivot Side Gear" is to be found only on the SWEEPSTAKES.

Our "Patent Cleaning Apparatus" enables the operator to control the direction of the blast, and position of the seives, and clean either heavy or light grain, without waste, as fast as it can be threshed,—the chaff and dirt being separated from the grain before it strikes the seive at all.

Separators, Horse Powers, Straw Stackers, Gears or Jacks, sold separately, when desired. A written warranty delivered with every machine. The "SWEEPSTAKES" is usualy a very scarce article after harvest, and parties should order early.

Call or send and get a pamphlet circular, giving a full description and particulars, together with numerous certificates, and the names and residence of over three thousand persons who have bought and used the SWEEPSTAKES in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Kansas alone.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - - JUNE 21, 1867.

--Parsons is receiving daily by express the latest styles of summer goods.

HOTEL.—Mr. C. Kron is repainting and refitting the old Minnesota House where he lives, in lower town, and will soon open it as a hotel.

--A nice stock of summer goods just received, and for sale cheap at PARSONS.

SOLD OUT.—Mr. C. Kron the contractor for the delivery of the mails between this place and New Ulm has sold out his contract to Tyner and Quinn, who are now forwarding a tri-weekly mail on prompt time.

--The best assortment in town of Parasol. silk and cotton sun umbrellas at PARSONS

HOOSIER GROCERY.—Messrs. Scherer & Patten, late of the State of Indiana, have opened a grocery, first door above White's queensware store, where they offer superior inducements to purchasers. As candidates for public favor we call attention to their card elsewhere.

--Good dress prints, warranted fast colors for 15 cts at PARSONS.

DISAPPOINTED.—Owing to previous engagement the St. Paul Base Ball Club cannot attend the base ball match which was to take place here on the 26th inst. A postponement has been made until after the 4th of July.

--Ladies get your lace curtains of PARSONS.

WHEAT & FLOUR.—Since our last issue wheat has tumbled from $2,60 to $1,25, and flour from $14,50 per barrel to $12,00, and it is rumored that it is selling at even less than that figure. It doubtless will go lower very soon.

--The finest piece of broadcloth in town is at PARSONS.

MORE LUMBER.—West. Maxfield, at Davidson's warehouse, has just received about a hundred thousand feet of dry pine lumber, flooring and siding, also pine shingles, lath &c. He is piling it just below the warehouse and is about ready to see customers.

--Gentlemen will find a good stock of summer cassimeres, including Minneapolis goods at PARSONS.

--A good assortment of jaconets, shirred muslins, marsailes, &c., cheap at PARSONS.

ARTHUR'S.—The July number of this interesting Home Magazine has arrived. The steel engraving entitled "The wreck," is a beautiful picture, true to life and nature. The fashions are fully and beautifully illustrated. The reading matter is selected from its numerous contributors, with great care and taste. The magazine can be had at Smith & Humphrey's.

A HEAVY LOAD.—The steamer Hudson arrived here last Sunday morning, with two barges, having been five days en route from St. Paul. She brought to this port the heaviest load of the season. It consisted of 100,000 feet of lumber for Maxfield, and 40,000 for Randall & Smith, a boiler and other machinery for Rockey's mill, and the cards, looms, spinners and other machinery for Bierbauer's woolen mills, besides threshing machines, and large quantities of smaller freight.

VALLEY ROAD.—Work on the Valley road is progressing rapidly. Three miles of ties are laid west of Belle Plaine and a large force is grading nearly opposite Henderson. The road will run on this side of the river to LeSueur, and it is doubtful whether it even crosses the river at St. Peter. It will be completed to LeSueur this fall bringing it within 22 miles of Mankato.

MILLINERY AND DRESSMAKING.—We publish elsewhere the millinery card of Mrs. A. M. Sanderson, who has removed her stock of goods to the brick building occupied by Drew & Payne in the furniture business. Mrs. S. is late of Winona, where she has spent four years in the best establishment in that city, and comes here highly recommended as a millinery and dressmaker. We have been shown several letters of commendation given to this lady before she left that city, and we therefore do not hesitate to recommend her to the public as worthy of patronage and confidence.

GONE TO JACKSON.—Dr. J. S. Eaton, of this city, left late last week for Jackson, in Jackson county, for the purpose of practicing medicine. Dr. Eaton is a graduate of a Philadelphia medical school, and has also practiced under the instructions of Dr. W. W. Clark, of this city, whose large experience and skill has been highly beneficial to him. We are informed that his natural and acquired abilities in his profession are quite superior, and we doubt not he will be successful in his new field of enterprise.

NEW COMERS.—The Mollie, on Tuesday morning last, brought up three families of Norwegians consisting of eighteen persons; also a company of eight persons from Denmark. The Norwegians go to South Bend, where they have friends, and from there they will seek out homes somewhere in Blue Earth county. The Danes go to Garden City, and will probably settle near there. All of them are young robust and enterprising looking people.

LATER.—The Norwegians have gone to Madelia.

CENSUS OF MANKATO.—Our township assessor in going his rounds has taken the names and number of persons living in Mankato. The exhibit is not as flattering as we could wish, but shows a steady and healthy growth. His count was made up at first to 2,361, but it has since been increased to 2,400 which he thinks covers the whole village population. The population of the village two years since was 1,973, giving us an increase of 22 per cent. In the township the population was 2,547, and with 22 per cent added to the population outside of town, the present population of the township is 3,100. These are the actual figures, and we make no effort, as most enterprising country editors do, to swell the amount to a fourth more than figures will warrant. According to such methods of computation we could put the population of the village at "about 3,000," without fear of serious contradiction, but the above figures may be relied on as strictly correct.

KILLED BY LIGHTNING.—We are informed that in the storm of Wednesday the 12th inst. five head of cattle of Mr. Davis, living near Kasota, were killed while on the open prairie. Mr. Davis went out to drive them up, and found them all near together with only slight marks of the lightning. A house near Cleveland was struck during the same storm, but no damage done.

SHIPMENT OF FURS & HIDES.—Mr. L. T. Kellogg shipped on the Mollie Mohler, yesterday, a large lot of furs consisting of 7,110 rat, 70 mink, 4 otter, 18 wolf, 40 badgers, and a miscellaneous lot of coon, skunk, and wild cat skins. He also shipped at the same time about 7,000 pounds of cattle hides. He commenced to collect these skins on the 9th of May last, and in a month's time they were nearly all bought. They were taken in the counties of Faribault, Martin, and Jackson, and their value is about $4,500. Quite a number of sheep pelts were also shipped at the same time.

Mr. Kellogg now purposes going into the purchase of the new clip of wool, and will pay the market price for it. His headquarters are at Prael & DuBuisson's store.

CATHOLIC BOOKS.—German and English Prayer Books, just received by Smith & Humphrey.

WET.—A letter received by a gentleman in this city, from southern Illinois, states that the wet weather still continues there. Wheat looks well but the wet weather has prevented them from tilling the corn.

SODA-FOUNT.—Wickersham & Co., have just received a new soda fount, with patent gas generator and fixtures, which they are setting up in their drug store. The apparatus is placed in the cellar and is attached by tubes to the fount which sets on a marble top counter, prepared for that purpose. The counter is a beautiful piece of workmanship, and is ornamented by two small plaster Paris statues on either end, and in the center by a large wreath of artificial flowers all of which are set into the counter and protected by a glass front. The marble slab is two feet by six, and upon it rests the fount with two silver faucets, one for soda water and another for different healthful mineral waters which they intend to prepare for sale. The cost of this fount is upwards of $500, and we trust the enterprising firm will receive a patronage which will repay the outlay incurred by such a creditable improvement.

--THE Ladies Aid Society of the Baptist Church, Mankato, desiring to obtain funds for the completion of their house of worship, cordially invite their friends to meet them in the church on Friday the 28th inst., at 8 P. M. Cake and Ice Cream will be furnished for the occasion.

By order of the Society,
PHEBE A. WOOD, Sec'y.

PROF. STUART.—We received late last week a communication from Prof. Stuart, in vindication of his own honor and conduct in reference to a young woman who he has since married and with whom he has since left town. As the article has no virtue but the simple statement of Mr. Stuart, which we think militates against him rather than in his favor, and as our citizens are little interested in the man since he has gone from among us, it is unnecessary to publish his letter, and we will simply mention the cause which gave rise to a suspicion of improper conduct. A few weeks since a young woman from St. Paul made her appearance in town and was taken charge of by Prof. Stuart, who found her a boarding place, and soon removed to the same boarding house himself. She pretended to be his student and did sometimes go to his school. They were frequently in each other's rooms, and he was paying her board. He pretended that she was left under his tutelage by her parents, on account of the superior educational advantages afforded here over those in St. Paul. People of sense would not accept such an explanation, and his patrons became alarmed that their children were under the influence of a man whose conduct was not above suspicion. The extent of Stuart's guilt is not known, but the pressure of public opinion had the effect to induce them to marry quite suddenly last week. Add to this the fact that nearly every man that trusted him has been victimized, and we may well conclude that his room is as acceptable as his company. He came here and ingratiated himself into the favor of the clergy of this city, who introduced him to the editors, and with this endorsement he flourished for a brief season. We trust that the clergy and newspaper men will next time exercise more discretion and not be so easily gulled by an imposter.

CROP FAILURE.—A gentleman at South Bend sends us a most doleful letter respecting the prospects of the growing crops. It is certainly the first intimation that we have had from farmers, that the crops were at all in peril, except perhaps on extremely low ground. While we think our correspondent must have overstated the "situation" we publish his letter as a piece of information derived from the observation of one man, living in that section of the county. He says:

MR. EDITOR.—So far as I have traveled this County, I have observed, that the constant and disagreeable wet weather we are now having, has a disastrous effect upon the crops. The low and level land is wholly inundated, and the crops are entirely demolished, and even on the dryest and best tilled fields the crops scarcely cover the soil. Some papers recently made the farmers and merchants believe, that, "the wet and moderately cool weather, which we had in May, was the best weather for growing wheat." "I have been conversing with farmers in regard to this extraordinary agricultural phenomenon and they are unanimously of the opinion, that they will scarcely raise enough wheat to supply their own wants, and they affirm that they will not sell their wheat at any price, until they obtain a fair view of the coming harvest. My opinion is, if the weather immediately becomes dry, there is a prospect of having a light crop, but if it continues to rain for a few weeks, I assert without fear of contradiction, that the crops of Blue Earth County will be entirely destroyed.

H. JONES.

South Bend, June 12, 1867.

—Chas. Mansfield, U. S. Deputy Assessor, of this place has been appointed inspector of cigars for this division.

WINONA & ST. PETER R. R.—Contrary to our expectations, from sources of information within our reach, the Winona Republican says that work is now progressing on this road west of Owatonna, and that the road will be in running order to Clear Lake on the 1st of September next. We have further information that it is quite possible that the road may yet be completed before winter to Janesville—eighteen miles from Mankato.

FESTIVAL.—The Ladies of the Episcopal Church will hold another Ice Cream Festival next Tuesday evening, at Shoemaker's Hall. They also intend continuing these Festivals on each alternate Tuesday evening during the Summer. All their friends, and those interested in building the church are cordially invited to be present.

SPECIAL NOTICES

15 Years Ago and Now.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS was struggling into notice against the prejudices which everything new, however excellent, is doomed to encounter.

TO-DAY

it stands at the head of all the tonic and alterative preparations in existence. Its celebrity has evoked many imitations but NO RIVALS. Physicians pronounce it the ONLY SAFE STIMULANT that has ever been introduced into the sick chamber. In the Hospitals of the Army and Navy, the surgeons find it the very best tonic for convalescents, and report it as invaluable for sustaining the vigor of troops on the march, as a remedy for scurvy and all scorbutic affections, and as the only specific for sea-sickness. California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the MINER'S MEDICINE par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climates, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fever.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure, and unvitiated vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient, and depurative herbs, plants, roots, and barks that have ever been intermixed in a medicinal preparation.

It is also proper to state that the Bitters are sold exclusively in glass, and never, under any circumstances, by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public has against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, and the Government stamp over the cork of the bottle.

A HORRIBLE STORY.

An Extraordinary Crime by a Child.

A private letter, written by a resident of Fort Pitt, a small settlement in the Valley of the Saskatchewan, Prince Rupert's Land, contains the following account of a most terrible occurrence which took place there on the 13th of March:

"A dreadful affair happened here the other day; such a singular and out of the way crime, if it can so be called, that it is almost without the bounds of credibility. You know what a quiet little village ours is; here, hedged in by the forest primeval, and subject only to the wants that attend man in his primitive state, we rely mainly on our traps and guns as a means of gaining a livelihood; we are as happy, even in our isolation from the busy haunts of men, as were the fabled dwellers in the Utopian Arcadia. The name of the last new comer is Martin Buthiere. He is a habitan from Lower Canada. He came here last fall, accompanied by his wife and two children. It is in this family that the dreadful tragedy, which I am about to relate, took place. On Saturday,—instant, Buthiere killed three pigs, slaughtering them in the usual manner—that is, after stabbing the animals and allowing them to bleed to death whilst walking around, he disemboweled them and plunged their carcasses in a vat of boiling hot water, and then scraped the bristles clean from the skin. The three pigs were then hoisted by the hind legs to an over hanging beam. The butchering operations of Martin were witnessed by his two young children, boys of the respective ages of six and eight years. The eldest, Gustave, it was observed at the time, seemed delighted, not only by the stupid actions of the pigs after receiving their death wounds, but also excited and interested in the after process of the butchering, clapping his little hands and muttering, in the patois of these people, childlike observations of joy.

"Soon after the parents went to church, and on their return were met at the door by the oldest child, Gustave, who exclaimed in childish glee, 'I have killed little piggy; come and see,' He was covered with blood.—What they saw may be inferred from the confession of the boy as to what had taken place.

When the parents had gone to church, Gustave proposed to his little brother, Adolph, that they should play pig. In this request, it is supposed the unfortunate little fellow acquiesced. The youngest was to be the pig, the eldest the butcher. Gustave eagerly assisted his brother to undress for the tragedy; and taking a small rope, tied him down securely to a rough lounge that stood in the room; he then procured the butcher knife that his father had used in slaughtering the pigs the day before, and plunged it into the throat of his passive and helpless brother. The wound was a mortal one, and it is supposed that death must have immediately resulted. After the child had bled his little life away, the unnatural brother, with the most incredible heartleasness, took the cord which connected the body to the lounge, and, tying one end around the feet of the corpse, threw the other over the beam, and lending his weight and strength, hoisted the body to the position in which it was found; then, not satisfied with the programme thus far carried out, the little butcher must needs disembowel his dead brother almost in the exact manner in which his father had the pigs the day before."

SOUTHERN PROSPECTS.

Every day gives new indications of the healthful working of reconstruction in the South, and the enfranchisement of the freedmen is accepted with quite as much alacrity as could be expected. Hon. Henry Wilson publishes, in the last number of the New York Independent, two columns of his recent tour, and they go largely to show that the estranged people of the South are gradually but surely becoming accustomed to free speech and the free ballot. The Senator spoke to the people boldly, denied everywhere the responsibilities of the Government of the United States, and of the loyal Republican party, for the precipitation of the war, and its consequences, and held the citizens of the rebel States closely accountable for every dollar expended, every drop of blood shed, every life sacrificed, and every lingering woe that has been entailed upon the people. He pronounced the rebellion wicked beyond description, and told his audience that the virus of Slavery had poisoned their veins, fired their blood, and made them hate their country and their countrymen together. His listeners were the best whites of the South, as well as the blacks, and whatever antagonism they may have felt, no single utterance of disrespect ever arose.

Never was there a grander field than those States now present for noble effort in enlightening the masses. Gen. Wilson well says—"they need not only the fostering care of the government, but the charitable action of the people, to relieve their misfortunes and sufferings, and to aid their educational and religious institutions. These people have sinned against their country, and against man, as no people have sinned for ages; but they have brought down upon themselves terrible punishments. They are our countrymen, are to be with us and of us; and, though they continue to say and do weak and foolish things, we can afford in the hour of our complete triumphs—not only of arms but ideas—to labor for their good, though our labors may be received with reproaches rather than grateful thanks."

The mission convinced the Senator that the great mass of freemen will vote the Republican ticket and support the policy of equal rights. He is confident that there are now more than six hundred thousand Republican voters in the Rebel States; and that before November next there will be more than three-quarters of a million. They are in pressing need of help; and the friends of equal rights, and of a united and free nation, should give aid to them. They are hungering and thirsting for speakers; and if one hundred of our ablest speakers would go into those States, they would find listening crowds for weeks to come. Never had men a nobler field of labor than have the friends of union and liberty. Our friends are begging, imploring for documents, presses, workers, speakers. Intelligent patriotism sees that it is vital to the future of the rebel States, and to the country, that they should pass into the control of patriotic, liberty-loving, justice-giving, progressive men. To take the States up out of their sectional positions, and put them in unity and active sympathy with the political, religious, educational, and business interests of the nation, is surely a patriotic and Christian work, for which good men may pray and labor.—St. Paul Press.

CHASTELLAR'S

WHITE LIQUID

ENAMEL,

For Improving and Beautifying the Complexion.

The most valuable and perfect preparation in use, for giving the skin a beautiful pearl-like tint that is only found in youth. It quickly removes Tan, Freckles, Pimples, Blotches, Moth Patches, Sallowness, Eruptions, and all impurities of the skin, kindly healing the same leaving the skin white and clear as alabaster. Its use cannot be detected by the closest scrutiny, and being a vegetable preparation is perfectly harmless. It is the only article of the kind used by the French, and is considered by the Parisian as indispensable to a perfect toilet. Upwards of 30,000 bottles were sold during the past year, a sufficient guarantee of its efficacy. Price only 75 cents. Sent by mail, post-paid, on receipt of an order, by

☞ A YOUNG LADY returning to her country home, after a sojourn of a few months in the City; was hardly recognised by her friends. In place of a coarse; rustic, flushed face, she had a soft ruby complexion of almost marble smoothness, and instead of twenty-three she really appeared but eighteen. Upon inquiry as to the cause of so great a change, she plainly told them that she used the Circassian Balm, and considered it an invaluable acquisition to any Lady's toilet. By its use any Lady or Gentleman can improve their personal appearance an hundred fold. It is simple in its combination, as Nature herself is simple, yet unsurpassed in its efficacy in drawing impurities from, also healing, cleansing and beautifying the skin and complexion. By its direct action on the cuticle it draws from it all its impurities, kindly healing the same, and leaving the surface as Nature intended it should be, clear, soft, smooth and beautiful. Reparator Capilli.

Throw away your false frizzes, your switches, your wig—
Destructive of comfort, and not worth a fig;
Come aged, come youthful, come ugly and fair,
And rejoice in your own luxuriant hair.

REPARATOR CAPILLI.

For restoring hair upon bald heads (from whatever cause it may have fallen out) and forcing a growth of hair upon the face, it has no equal. It will force the beard to grow upon the smoothest face in from five to eight weeks, or hair upon bald heads in from two to three months. A few ignorant practitioners have asserted that there is nothing that will force or hasten the growth of of the hair or beard. Their assertions are false, as thousands of living witnesses (from their own experience) can bear witness. But many will say, how are we to distinguish the genuine from the spurious? It certainly is difficult, as nine-tenths of the different Preparations advertised for the hair and beard are entirely worthless, and you may have already thrown away large amounts in their purchase. To such we would say, try the Reparator Cappilli: it will cost you nothing unless it fully comes up to our representations. If your Druggist does not keep it, send us one dollar and we will forward it, postpaid, together with a receipt for the money, which will be returned you on application, proving entire satisfaction is not given. DR. SCHENCK'S

PULMONIC SYRUP.

This great medicine cured Dr. J. H. SCHENCK, the Proprietor, of Pulmonary Consumption, when it had assumed its most formidable aspect, and when speedy death appeared to be inevitable. His physicians pronounced his case incurable when he commenced the use of this simple but powerful remedy. His health was restored in a very short time, and no return of the disease has been apprehended, for all the symptoms quickly disappeared, and his present weight is more than two hundred pounds.

Since his recovery, he has devoted his attention exclusively to the cure of Consumption and the diseases which are usually complicated with it, and the cures effected by his medicines have been very numerous and truly wonderful. Dr. SCHENCK makes professional visits to several of the larger cities weekly, where he has a large concourse of patients, and it is truly astonishing to see poor consumptives that have to be lifted out of their carriages, and in a few months healthy, robust persons. DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC, and MANDRAKE PILLS are generally all required in curing Consumption. Full directions accompany each, so that any one can take them without seeing Dr. SCHENCK, but when it is convenient it is best to see him. He gives advice free, but for a thorough examination with his Respirometer his fee is three dollars.

Please observe, when purchasing, that the two likenesses of the Doctor—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other as he now is, in perfect health—are on the Government stamp.

Sold by all Druggists and Dealers. Price $1.50 per bottle, or $7.50 the half dozen. Letters for advice should always be directed to Dr. Schenck's Principal Office, 15 North 6th St., Philadelphia, Pa.

J. W. Bradley's Celebrated Patent

DOPLEX ELLIPTIC

(OR DOUBLE SPRING)

SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been throw aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

AFFLICTED!

SUFFER NO MORE.

When by the use of DR. JOINVILLE'S ELIXIR you can be cured permanently, and at a trifling cost.

The astonishing success which has attended this invaluable medicine for Physical and Nervous Weakness, General Debility and Prostration, Loss of Muscular Energy, Impotency, or any of the consequences of youthful indiscretion, renders it the most valuable preparation ever discovered.

It will remove all nervous affections, depression, excitement, incapacity to study or business, loss of memory, confusion, thoughts of self-destruction, fears of insanity, &c. It will restore the appetite, renew the health of those who have destroyed it by sensual excess or evil practices.

Young Men, be humbugged no more by "Quack Doctors" and ignorant practitioners, but send without delay for the Elixir, and be at once restored to health and happiness. A perfect cure is guaranteed in every instance. Price, $1, or four bottles to one address $3. One bottle is sufficient to effect a cure in all ordinary cases.

ALSO, DR. JOINVILLE'S SPECIFIC PILLS, for the speedy and permanent cure of Gonorrhea, Gleet, Urethral Discharges, Gravel, Stricture, and all affections of the Kidneys and Bladder. Cures effected in from one to five days. They are prepared from vegetable extracts that are harmless on the system, and never nauseate the stomach or impregnate the breath. No change of diet is necessary while using them, nor does their action in any manner interfere with business pursuits. Price, $1 per box.

Either of the above mentioned articles will be sent to any address, closely sealed, and post paid, by mail or express, on receipt of price. Address all orders to

ASTROLOGY.

The World Astonished

AT THE WONDERFUL REVELATIONS
MADE BY THE GREAT ASTROLOGIST,
Madame H. A. Perrigo.

She reveals secrets no mortal ever knew. She restores to happiness those who, from doleful events, catastrophes, crosses in love, loss of relations and friends, loss of money, &c., have become despondent. She brings together those long separated, gives information concerning absent friends or lovers, restores lost or stolen property, tells you the business you are best qualified to pursue and in what you will be most successful, causes speedy marriages and tells you the very day you will marry, gives you the name, likeness and characteristics of the person.—She reads your very thoughts, and by her almost supernatural powers unveils the dark and hidden mysteries of the future. From the stars we see in the firmament—the malefic stars that overcome or predominate in the configuration—from the aspects and positions of the planets and the fixed stars in the heavens at the time of birth, she deduces the future destiny of man. Fail not to consult the greatest Astrologist on earth It costs you but a trifle, and you may never again have so favorable an opportunity. Consultation fee, with likeness and desired information, $1. Parties living at a distance can consult the Madame by mail with equal safety and satisfaction to themselves, as if in person. A full and explicit chart, written out, with all inquiries answered and likeness enclosed, sent by mail on receipt of price above mentioned. The strictest secresy will be maintained, and all correspondence returned or destroyed. References of the highest order furnished those desiring them. Write plainly the day of the month and year in which you were born, enclosing a small lock of hair.

GRAY HAIR.

This is the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Man who was bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gay,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

POETRY.

See! Satan's slaves to scenes of riots go,
By day and night, through rain, or hail, or snow:
And shall some visitor, or worldly care,
Detain believers from the house of prayer?

Forbid it, Lord! revive thy people's zeal;
The lukewarm plagues among thy people heal,
Ye heirs of bliss, whom Jesus often meets,
When'er his house is open, fill your seats.

Jehovah loves the temples of his grace
More than the tents of all his chosen race:
Blest is the man whose seeking spirit waits
On all the means of grace in Zion's gates.

Bear with me, while I say the crime is great,
Of those who practice coming late:
As if God's service was by far too long,
And they omit the first and closing song.

Shall pew doors rattle, hats and patterns move
To show how you the service disapprove!
Disturbing those who come to praise the Lord,
Yea, even while they listen to the word.

A little less indulgence in the bed,
A little more contrivance of the head,
A little more devotion in the mind,
Would quite prevent you being so behind.

Suppose an earthly prince should condescend
To bid you to his banquet as a friend:
Would you not try by all means within your power
To be in court at the appointed hour?

Shall such attention to a worm be given,
And be refused to the God of heaven!
Who can expect to be by Jesus blest,
If absent when he comes to meet his guests.

Oh, what a pleasant sight it would afford,
If when the pastor says, "Let us praise the Lord,"
Each seat were occupied, and all the throng
Were waiting to unite in the first song.

CHICAGO CORRESPONDENCE.

By Our own Reporter.

CHICAGO, June 18, 1867.

Several times, of late, I have been enquired of by the proprietors of newspapers in different parts of the north-west, concerning the advisability of accepting and inserting advertisements which have been sent to them from this city with the thinnest possible guarantee of honest intention of payment therefor. I find news very dull to-day, so I think I shall turn a little attention to this subject of unreliable advertisers and kindred topics. If subjects were more plenty and the day less warm I might content myself with the mere general advice of Punch to people about to marry. "Don't do it" but under existing circumstances the thing will bear some elaboration. As a rule people who only refer one to a Post Office drawer, who seem to hold no other than written communication with their fellow men and who possess romantic or peculiarly Frenchy names are to be viewed with suspicion, and the more they promise the less they perform of their promises. Our city abounds with such birds and their schemes for plunder may be classified as follows: "lotteries," "infallible remedies," "easy way of making fortunes," "certain cures for baldness," "removals of obstructions from whatever cause," new and invaluable books," and people who 'want partners with a little capital." I profess to be the keeper of no other man's conscience than my own, that gives me enough to do, consequently it is none of my business if any man wished to advertise such things, but, nevertheless, they are almost without an exception frauds, delusions, and snares set for the unwary, traps so artfully baited that there always will be found fools enough to keep them going. Some years ago a shrewd fellow in New York devised a scheme which I have not classified with the others because it was a novel one and as far as I know, the only one of its kind ever attempted, but which for adroit humbug certainly deserves to stand at the head of the list. He operated on two classes, "those newly enjoying the extreme felicity of connubial bliss" and "those in affliction." He was what show people term "a sweet weeder," in other words had rare command of language and his utmost skill was exerted in the getting up of two letters, one to each of these classes. These letters were artfully lithographed, and seemed written. Each day he would visit the newspaper offices, get to see the "exchanges" and select from among them a list of "marriages" and deaths. Then, to the joyful and the sorrowful severally would he forward letters accordant with their situation. One breathed only love and extacy, dwelt lingering on the supreme happiness of wedded life, and gently, modestly, yet with a faint touch of the jocose reverted to possible "olive branches." The other was printed on mourning papers and professing to come from a sympathetic mourner, who took a sad pleasure in exhorting those in grief to "look beyond the confines of the tomb." The first concluded with an offer of an "elegant work on love and marriage,—a beautiful and appropriate engraving, and an extremely handsome jewel, suitable for a present to the beloved one,—all for one dollar. The second dolorously proposed to mitigate the sorrow, and cheer the sad heart of the grief-stricken with "a book which every christian should read and whose precepts should be treasured in the heart, written by a celebrated divine to console himself in the hour of affliction and of which only a limited number of copies were issued—a beautiful and appropriately emblematical picture—an ornament of beauty and value—suitable for those in mourning, —all for "one dollar" The books were each of about a dozen pages, three inches by two in surface, the engraving about as large as those usually seen in magazines one an absurd cupid "and things," the other a funeral urn "and things," while the several ornaments or "jewels" were, one a brass ring stamped so as to show a heart transfixed by an arrow on its top, the other a plain black gutta percha ring. Total value of articles about two and a half cents,—postage six cents,—clear profit 91½ cts., on every dollar. He was a genius in his line and infinitely superior to the "physician whose sands of life have almost run out," the fellow whose invention must be wanted in every house in the land, and the rascal who at an incredible expense advertises a lottery in which he promises to give away far more than all the sale of his tickets will amount to.

Among the new books issued this season and offered by our Western agents, one of the most readable and enjoyable is the "Early and Late papers", by Thackeray, issued by Ticknor & Fields, of Boston, and for sale here by Mr. J. H. Ammon, of No. 87, Washington street, their sole agent for the North-west. These papers have never before been published.

Corn also rising very slightly 2@2½ c better than yesterday, 83@85½ c, for No. 1, 79@82 for No. 2, 56@59 for rejected. Oats, irregular, 57@60 for No. 2. Rye, dull at $1.07 for No. 1. Mess Pork, Bulk meats, and Lard all unchanged and very dull. Freights dull, corn 3@3½ to Buffalo, for sail, and 3½ for propeller.

DON.

EVERYDAY RELIGION.

BY REV. N. L. BRAKEMAN.

Our word religion comes from the Latin Religio, (ligo to bind, and re, denoting repetition,) and literally signifies "to bind anew." As originally used it denoted the binding obligation of an oath, or vow to the Gods, which was held very sacred by the Romans. In a comprehensive sense the term includes a belief in the being and perfections of God; in the revelation of His will to man, in man's obligation to obey his commands; in a state of rewards and punishments; and in man's accountableness to God. It also includes true godliness, piety of life—the practice of all moral duties. (The practice of moral duties without a belief in a divine law-giver and without reference to His will and commands, is not religion.—See Webster.)

Religion is two-fold in its character, corresponding to "the two tables of the law" and man's double nature. It consists of theology and morals—doctrines and principles—faith and works. It is general and particular, for each, for all. Personally, it applies to man's body and soul; relatively, it defines his relations and duties to God and man; inwardly, it has to do with mind and heart; outwardly it controls life and conduct, and is man's law in things temporal and spiritual; molds character and fixes destiny. for time and eternity. Such belief, is religion. It is both a Science and an Art. As a science, it contains truths to be studied, understood and believed. As an art, it prescribes a system of rules to be observed, precepts to be practiced, and duties to be done. Religion is, then, both theoretical and practical. The former is not trivial, the latter is supremely important.

Religion is a principle. a spirit, a power. It serves God because it loves Him, not because it fears hell. It does right because it is right, and delights in doing it. It goes, not simply where law drives it, or drags it, but wherever right principles open the inviting way. Religion speaks the truth, keeps its promises, pays its debts, gives good measure, and deals in full weights. It never sands its sugar, waters its syrup, nor adulterates its wine. It never sets fire to insured property, nor shaves its own paper, nor 'fails' with flushed pockets, nor takes the benefit of the bankrupt law, nor ties up cannon balls in cotton bales. It never gives nor takes a bribe, never perjures itself for the privilege of voting, never evades the laws of internal revenue, nor corrupts the elective franchise. Religion never takes advantage of ignorance, weakness, poverty, nor make another's necessity its own opportunity. It is kind to the poor, feeds the hungry, clothes the naked, judges the fatherless, and pleads for the widow.

Religion is never ashamed of its poor relatives, nor does it roll in splendor while they starve! It never neglects an opportunity of doing good, never finds "something else to do" when it ought to watch with the sick, and never complains of "illness" to get rid of duty. It knows nothing of unholy ambition, envy or jealousy, and is without partiality, without hypocrisy. It never puts profession in the place of practice, never offers prayers when it ought to give a loaf of bread, never says, "Oh! I am so sorry," when it ought to say, "There, take a dollar."

We need not repeat that religion was not designed simply for some men, but for all men—not for the Sabbath-day, but for every day—not for the closet, but for public life; for the thronged mart. the highway for the exchange; for counting, court and custom houses; for halls of art, science, literature and legislation.

We want an every day religion—men who shall not be ashamed of Christianity, but with whom it shall be a central idea, an abiding presence, a controlling principle, a divine reality, a living power; men, who, in every relation of live, shall be bold for the right, true to themselves, to humanity, to God; and who, in all places shall be recognized as those who "have been with Jesus and have learned of Him." Without this we are nothing. We may have a name to live while we are dead; we may have position and influence, while our example shall only lead others astray; we may make great professions of piety, but a slight inconsistency will neutralize it all. "The little foxes spoil the vines." "See that ye walk circumspectly." Be "diligent in business, fervent in spirit serving the Lord." Make piety practical, by making it a vital part of your everyday life. Apply to it the infallible test of experience. Suffuse daily toil with holy principle; demonstrate to all with whom you have to do that, love to God, faith in Christ, resistance to temptation, superiority to wordly pleasures, holiness, heavenly-miudedness, are realities. Martyrs were called to die for Christ, we are called to live for Him, and it requires an eqnal grace.

Reader, are you an everday Christian? If not why? Remember your obligations to God and His claims upon you, and think of the day of final account; remember religion leaves you all of this world to enjoy that is worth the having, and gives you heaven besides. Death will soon call for us all—writer, compositor, reader; what then of business, pleasure, wealth, fame? These are not to be despised, but they do not fit us for death and heaven. What are temporal things to spiritual? What is time to eternity? Labor not in vain, nor spend your strength for naught. Set your heart on heaven, lay up your treasures there, which moth and rust do not corrupt, nor thieves break through and steal.

OWATONNA, June 17.—Chas. Shannon, a clerk in Cooper Bros., store, while going to supper on Sunday evening, was struck by lightning and instantly killed. The lightning struck him on the head and passed down his back, blistering it in different places, dislocating several of his joints, and tearing his clothing.

The labor market rarely has been overstocked to the extent that it is now throughout the country. Laborers have been very plenty here all season, and we learn that the men working in the gravel pits along the W. & St. P. R. R. are now receiving but $1,50 per day, and many persons offering are refused work even at that low price.—Winona Democrat

SUNDAY SCHOOL CONVENTION.—The ninth annual Convention of the Minnesota State Sabbath School Association commenced its session in this City June 18th, 1867, at 2½ o'clock in the afternoon.

The Convention was called to order by H. M. Knox, of St. Paul, Chairman of the State Central Committee, and united in singing—

"All hail the power of Jesus' name," &c.

After some appropriate remarks by Mr. Knox, the Convention engaged in silent prayer for a few moments, and again joined in singing—

"Come, Holy Spirit, heavenly dove," &c.

After which Revs. Cobb, Williams and Rulefson led in devotional exercises.

The President of the Association, Hon. J. V. Daniels, then came forward and addressed the Convention at some length, and spoke of the wonderful progress we had made within ten years in the Sunday school work in this State, and concluded by welcoming to the hearts and homes of the people of Rochester, the delegates from the different parts of the State.

Rev. Mr. Barker an East India Missionary, addressed the Convention on the subject of Sunday School Missionary Societies, and related some touching incidents of trial and glorious success in foreign Missionary work, and insisted that the great object to be secured in all was to lead the children to Christ, and to prepare for this, the teachers and superintendents must themselves learn in the school of Christ.

Miss Buckland of this City, then called her class of 18 little girls before the Convention, and showing them a picture of Christ blessing little children, asked them questions on the picture and brought out the great object of the lesson, that Christ loves little children; and this was done so that the children knew it themselves, and on being asked how they knew it, they all joined in singing "Jesus loves me, the Bible tells me so," &c. This beautiful illustration of faith from little children drew tears from many eyes.

A committee consisting of Rev. Jabez Brooks, Hon. Levi Nutting and D. D. Merrill, was appointed to nominate officers for the ensuing year.

The Tuesday evening Session was opened by reading the scriptures, followed by prayer from Rev. Mr. Nelson.

Rev. D. C. Cobb then addressed the Convention with effect. Revs. Strong, Ray and Peat followed Mr. Cobb, in appropriate remarks, then the meeting closed with singing the doxology and benediction by Rev. Mr. Rulefson.

Wednesday morning. Services opened and conducted by Rev. D. C. Bell. Special subject, the outpouring of the Holy Spirit upon the State. A special request was given for the prayers of the Convention for a blessing upon the Sabbath School interest in Dakota County.

Mr. Rose spoke encouragingly of the increasing interest manifest in our Associations as an omen of good.

This exercise concluded by singing—

"Blest be the tie that binds our hearts to Christian love."

The President then took the Chair and the regular business of the Convention proceeded.

The report of the State Central Committee was presented by the Chairman, H. M. Knox, which was full of interesting items and suggestions.

Rev. M. Cobb called attention to the fact that but a small part of the Methodist Schools were reported and hoped that some plan might be adopted to prevent so meager a report in future.

Rev. A. J. Nelson presented a resolution from the Annual Conference of the M. E. Church, requesting the State Convention to so alter their Constitution as to allow each Church to report its own statistics through its proper officers.—Resolutions referred to a Committee of seven, Rev. A. J. Nelson, Chairman.

The following officers were chosen for the ensuing year:

Pres.	D. W. Ingersol,	St. Paul.
Vice Pres.	J. N. Hall,	Mankato.
" "	J. G. Jones,	Anoka.
" "	C. C. Righter,	Hastings.
" "	J. B. Crooker,	Owatonna.
" "	R. C. Baldwin,	Lake City.
" "	M. B. Lewis,	Red Wing.
Treasurer,	H. Knox Taylor,	St. Paul.
Secretaries,	Rev. C G Bowdish,	Glencoe.

State Central Committee: H. M. Knox; D. D. Merrill; A. H. Rose; J. B. Power; D. W. Ingersoll.

We have neither time or space for further report. We are happy to state that the Convention was very largely attended and the exercises throughout deeply interesting, and we doubt not will be productive of much good.—Rochester Post.

BLACK HILLS EXPEDITION.—B. M. Smith, Esq., projector and manager of the Black Hills Exploring Expedition arrived from above on Saturday evening last, and returned on Monday. In a few moments hurried conversation, he informed us that the prospects of the enterprise are good—in fact all that could be desired. Names are rapidly being added to the roll of those who contemplate joining the expedition, and unless something extraordinary occurs to interfere with the present plans, a large party will start from Yankton about the first of July for the purpose of exploring and settling the now almost unknown region known as the "black hills of Dakota." Within a few days several eminent and influential men have determined to go along, and are now making arrangements for the carrying out of that plan. The influence and capital of these men will add to the character of the enterprise, give it a wider reputation and beget for it a greater degree of public confidence. Mr. Smith is well known in the Northwest, and no better or more competent man than he, could be found to lead an exploring party. The country to which they go is known to abound in game and fish, is unrivaled as a grazing region, contains vast forests of pine timber, and is believed to be rich in precious metals. To a man who has a love for a new and wild country, and is so situated that he can go, this trip offers rare inducements.—[Sioux City Journal.

—An unmistakeable case of cholera was reported in New York, the 17th inst.

—A full jury of negroes was impanneled at Navasata, Texas, on the 14th—the first ever recorded.

—A formidable anti-Popery riot broke out in Birmingham, England, on the 18th of June. The rioters, who were out in great force, took posession of two streets and completely sacked them. The Roman Catholic Chapel was attacked and threatened with demolition. At six o'clock p. m., the city was in full posession of the rioters. A large military force had been dispatched to the scene of the disturbance, with orders to disperse the mob at all hazards.

Treasury Statement.

The Treasury statement for May shows a decrease of the National Debt of $5,170,159. But as an offset to this gratifying exhibit we learn that the portion of the debt bearing coin interest has increased during the month $61,440,600, while the decrease of the currency interest debt has only been $41,423,915, showing that the debt bearing interest has increased twenty millions of dollars. The idle coin and currency in the possession of the Government amounts now to $171,424,582. What does Mr. McCulloch want with so vast a sum of idle money? What is there to hinder him from redeeming one hundred millions of Seven-Thirty bonds, and thereby forever stopping interest on them? Here we are informed, with a grand flourish, that the National Debt has been reduced five millions during the month of May, when, in point of fact, we find that the interest-bearing debt has increased twenty millions, and that there has been an accumulating of idle money in the Treasury during the month of twenty-five millions. We don't call this reducing the debt. When the outstanding obligations against the Government which draw interest are reduced, we will then admit that the public debt, as it stood June 1, is less than on the first of May. And this is the real touchstone of the matter. Mr. McCulloch has given up his contraction hobby until times grow better. Had he not better also relinquish his coin and currency hoarding folly, and commence applying some of the idle two hundred millions in the Treasury in liquidation of Seven-Thirty bonds which are falling due?—Chicago Tribune.

—THE fertile and desirable lands comprising the recent Sioux reservation in this State are now open for pre emption. These are among the choicest agricultural lands in Minnesota. The soil is extremely fertile; there is an abundance of good water and timber; while the surface of the country is just undulating enough to render the whole susceptable of improvement and cultivation. In addition to many smaller streams, the Minnesota, Redwood, and Yellow Medicine rivers run through these lands—furnishing numerous and valuable powers for the propulsion of mill machinery. The price is from $1.25 to $3.00 per acre, and the lands are not subject either to private entry or to settlement under the homestead law, but are required to be paid for in national currency. There is no better opening for immigrants in the entire West. Persons coming from the East, who desire to see these lands or to locate upon them, should leave the Mississippi river at Winona, proceeding thence by rail and stage, or private conveyance, to either Mankato or St. Peter, from which places the Sioux lands are easily accessible.—Winona Republican.

Items on the Surratt Trial.

Sergeant Dye has been subjected to a most rigid cross examination by the defense, but his testimony as to the identity of Surratt and the man he saw conversing with Booth in front of the theatre on the night of the assassination remains unshaken.

Surratt's counsel betray the weakness of their cause by flying into a violent passion and using language toward the Judge that calls for frequent reprimands.

It will be remembered that the attorneys who defended poor old Wirz were frequently guilty of the same folly.

The evidence in the Surratt trial leaves the prisoner in a tight place, and apparently destroys his hope of acquittal by alibi. The sensation of the day was the evidence of a negro woman, who lived at Mrs. Surratt's, and testified that John took supper with his mother in the dining room of her own house about 9 o'clock the fatal Friday.

Negro Suffrage in New York.

One of the prominent questions before the Convention to amend the Constitution of New York will be that of negro suffrage. How little the granting of this privilege to the colored population will affect the result of an election may be seen by a glance at the census. In 1865 the population of the State was 3,831,777, of which 44,708 were colored. The New York Commercial Advertiser estimates that of this number less than five thousand would be voters if they were put on a par with the whites by the law. If this be a fair estimate, it seems hardly worth while to oppose the application of the principle of impartial suffrage, which would make so little difference in an election. But the five thousand votes are likely to go all one way, and even the great vote of New York has sometimes been so evenly divided as to make it worth while to have a thousand to add to the right side.

—Gen. Longstreet has read himself out of the Democratic camp a voluntary exile from all his political associations of the past six years. He has announced his approval of the military reconstruction bill, which he terms "a peace-offering to the South," and declares that the people of the South have henceforth no interest with the Democratic party because of the opposition of that party to negro suffrage! The letter excites considerable comment in Administration quarters. Gen. Longstreet is wiser in his decision than many pretentious men who will deride him.

—It is said that Santa Anna is undoubtedly in Mexico, bent, as usual, on revolution. A Tampico paper publishes a pronunciamento issued in behalf of the garrison, disavowing Juarez, and proclaiming Santa Anna as Commander-in Chief of the army, and provisional President of the Republic. One of the charges against Juarez is that he has mortgaged two States to the United States Government for fifty-five million dollars!

—An extraordinary scene was witnessed in Calvary Cemetery, New York, on June 18th. A number of persons turned out to attend a funeral, and, after the burial of the corpse, fell to fighting in the graveyard. Men and women participated on both sides. Clubs, brickbats, stones and knives were freely used. A number of persons were severely injured, and one child was killed. The inhabitants living in the vicinity were so terrified by the encounter that they concealed themselves in the woods.

—THE CABINET is reported to be about equally divided on the question of General Sheridan's removel. Attorney General Stanbery's decision is reported to be that Military Commanders have no right to remove civil officers and appoint other civil officers in their stead. We may infer then that District Commanders have a right to remove officers of the State Provisional governments and detail military officers to fill the vacancies,—in other words to abolish the civil government when ever they see fit. We apprehend the rebels would not find this horn of the dilemma any more comfortable than the other.—Chicago Post

THREE PER CENT. RAILROAD EARNINGS.

In addition to the half million acres of land held by the State for an internal improvement fund, and which was donated by Congress for that purpose, the proposition of the last Legislature appropriates the three per cent earnings of the railroads, which comes into the State treasury, to the payment of the illgotten railroad bonds. It is asserted that the people can afford to do this because the money comes out of the railway companies, and it is therefore not like taxing the public for it. Such an idea is a fallacy which will require but few words to correct. The State law provides that three per cent of the gross earnings of the various railroads shall be paid into the State Treasury. Beyond this there is no taxation of the entire property of the roads of the State, not even their lands, which are scattered through every county, and are enhanced in value by surrounding settlements. Other corporations and all individuals are assessed and taxed, both upon personal and real property, while no assessor is authorized to assess a rod of road and stock which runs through his town, though it be worth millions of dollars. Our fundamental law requires that all property shall be taxed, and that taxation shall, as near as possible, be equalized and uniform throughout the State. It would be very difficult for the assessors of the many towns through which our railroads passs to make a proper assessment of the property of the roads, as the stock is daily passing from one end of the State to the other. The Legislature has therefore allowed them to pay into the State treasury three per cent of their gross earnings in lieu of taxation. This money then belongs to the people and is as much a part of the general revenue of the State, as the tax which is levied upon our farms and houses.

It is only for convenience that the railroads are taxed in this manner, and not, as some would assume, for the purpose of creating a special fund in the treasury, or as an offset for legislative favors. It cannot be long before this three per cent income will relieve the people of direct taxation, for the support of the State government. Last year six mills were levied for State purposes, and it cannot be less this year, unless this income is used; and if used it cannot be long before State taxation will cease altogether. It is therefore plain to be seen that the people have an interest in this fund which they cannot and will not permit to be taken from them.

There is still another view of the case which presents an equity in favor of the people. The railroads very quietly consent to pay the percentage, because they are not restricted in the passenger or freight tariffs, and therefore they can and do simply change this snug sum to their freight and passengers. If they had a transient traffic, drawing much of their gross earnings from the products and passengers of other States which pass over their lines, the percentage would not wholly be derived from our people. But this is not so. Our roads are the terminus of all roads, and nearly every product, and nearly all the passenger travel, which supports these roads, comes immediately from the people of this State, so that we are overcharged enough to make good the earnings which are paid into the treasury. If with these facts before them the people are willing to give away these earnings, then we've counted without our host, and lost our bearing, in divining public sentiment.

July Session of Congress.

There is reason to believe that there will be, and that there is a necessity for, a July session of Congress. A number of the prominent members of Congress foresee the necessity and promise to be present at the adjourned session, and Hon. Robert C. Scheuck, Chairman of the Union Republican Executive Congressional Committee has issued a circular letter addressed to Republican Senators and Representatives, reminding them of the importance of their being in their seats at 12 meridian on the 3d of July. The cause of this necessity is the same spirit of treason which has always prompted Andrew Johnson to betray the loyal party of the country into the hands of the rebels. His Attorney General, Stanberry, is a stoolpigeon. Johnson says, go, and he goeth, or come, and he cometh. Any opinion adverse to the intent of the reconstruction law as understood by the Congress which passed it, or any construction of the law which will prevent the negroes from voting, and assist in elevating the rebel element in the South, is given at the behest of Johnson. When once promulgated by Stanberry, the President, as if guided by legal counsel instead of his own treacherous dicta, issues his instructions to the Commanders of military districts to carry out the law as interpreted by the Attorney General. Ah! what a villian!

Upon two essential points this opinion of the President to his Attorney General, which comes back to him with official sanction and is promulgated to his military commanders, has interfered with the free and fair registration of the voters of the South. His first decision was, that no military officer has a right to challenge the oath of any person offering himself to be registered whether the applicant swears to the truth or not. In other words he has no right to punish or prevent perjury in rebels who seek to register coutrary to the spirit of the reconstruction act. Another decision is, that our military commanders have no right to remove any State official in the rebel States, no matter how much he may interfere with, and clog the operation of laws passed to secure a return of those States to the Union. The rebel States are in rebel hands except so far as the military supercedes them, and for the purpose of bringing the work of reconstruction to a successful issue, it was found necessary to remove Gov. Wells of Louisana, Mayor Withers of Mobile, and some other rebel officials. The result must be; that, if reinstated, renewed efforts will be made by them to throw the State Governments into the hands of rebels, who will refuse to hold a constitutional convention, or holding it, will refuse to adopt the national amendment, or ingraft in their State constitutions the doctrine of impartial suffrage to both black and white. As congress is determined that these States shall be represented in the National Government upon no easier terms than they have already proposed, reconstruction will be impeded and delayed. To secure a prompt compliance with the spirit of the reconstruction law and early admission of the rebel States, congress should convene next week and offer such amendments as will defeat the purposes of President Johnson, and those of his ilk.

RIVER IMPROVEMENT.

We notice in the Press of the 23d inst., an advertisement for sealed proposals, to be offered at the office of Gen. G. K. Warren, St. Paul, for improving the Minnesota river, and for the purchase of two steamers, which we presume are to be used for dredging purposes on the Mississippi, and for the removal of the wreck Northern Light, which was sunk in that river in April 1866, and obstructs the channel at the lower end of Coon Slough.

The work to be performed on the Minnesota river, is the removal of snags and boulders which lie in and near the channel of the river, from the mouth of the Yellow Medicine river to the little rapids above Carver. This work is divided into two sections, the first comprising that portion of the river lying between Yellow Medicine and Mankato, and the second comprising that portion lying between Mankato and the little rapids. The sum appropriated for this purpose is $37,000 and the bids are to be opened at noon of July 24th. Persons contracting to do the work must be ready to proceed with it from two points, as early as the 1st of September next, if the stage of water permits. This improvement will add much to the importance of our river as a navigable stream, and with the present prospect of a better stage of water in the future, than we have had in three years past, the river will do much to influence the rates of freights, and aid in carrying off our surplus grain.

STATE NOMINATIONS.

The Republicans of Ohio met at Columbus on the 18th inst., and nominated R. B. Hayes for governor, Samuel Galloway Lieut-Governor, James H. Goodman State Auditor, Sidney J. Warner, Treasurer.

At Des Moines, on the 19th inst, the republican State convention was the largest and most enthusiastic ever held. Col. Samuel Merrill of McGregor, was nominated for Governor on the first ballot, Col. John Scott was nominated Lieut. Governor, J. M. Bech, Supreme Judge, Henry O'Connor Attorney General. Both conventions endorse the reconstruction policy of Congress, and reiterate the principles of universal liberty and equality before the law.

EDITORIAL CONVENTION AND EXCURSION.

A convention of the Editorial Association of the State was held at St. Paul on the 20th inst. The business of the convention was principally to receive and entertain the members of the Wisconsin Editorial Association who arrived there in the morning of that day, from Sparta where they had been in session, and from whence, through the courtesy of railroad companies and Capt. Davidson of the Packet company, they proceeded to visit the Mississippi river towns, as far up as Minneapolis. The party consisted of 75 editors and 20 honorary members, among whom were the Governor and other State officers of Wisconsin. They were received by our Minnesota editors at Ingersoll's Hall, after which they repaired to the boat and partook of a few baskets of wine. In the afternoon the Wisconsin Association was formally received by Mayor Otis and Governor Marshall. They were escorted over town in carriages, attended the theater in the early evening and both Associations held a grand banquet at the St. Paul Pleasure Park, which lasted until the small hours of the morning. On Friday a trip was made to Minneapolis, and a public reception and dinner took place. In the afternoon they returned to St. Paul and took the evening boat for La Crosse.

Crops in Illinois.

We are favored with a copy of the Jerseyville Register, a paper published in Southern Illinois, which gives the following flattering prospects of the coming crops:

Our exchanges are unanimous in the favorable comments upon the condition of the growing crops. There were some apprehensions that the lateness of the spring and the copious rains would prove injurious, but neither one of these have had any material effect. The wheat crop is especially promising. It is estimated that the amount of ground under winter wheat is greater than at any time in the agricultural history of the country. In some places this may be slightly damaged, but the aggregate yield will be very large. Spring grain has also been put in on a larger scale than heretofore, and is doing well. Corn, the great basis of pork and beef, was late of being planted, owing to the incessant rains, but this will not prevent an extensive crop, provided autumn frosts do not come upon us earlier than usual. From every source we learn that the three great staple cereals of the country—wheat, corn, and oats—never promised a more abundant yeld. Fruit of every description will be also plenty, and of course cheap.

FROM MADELIA.

By our own Reporter.

THE CROPS:—Wheat in this town looks well; in fact there is as good a promise of wheat as there was at this time last year. Although we have had very heavy rains, wheat is not yet hurt. The growth is luxuriant and in color dark green. Our soil is of that peculiar formation which withstands extreme wet and dry weather without material injury to the growing crop.

But little corn was planted in this locality, most fields of which, however, look very promising. The Sorghum prospect is much better than at this date last year.

IMPROVEMENTS.—Considerable improvements are being made in and around the village. One new blacksmith shop has been completed and several dwelling houses are in course of erection. Mr. S. P. Driggers has sold his blacksmith shop and lot to a gentleman from Wisconsin, who intends to build an addition to the shop and start a first class wagon and plow factory.

THE YATES BRO'S.—Seem to be doing a thriving business. They have a good stock of dry goods and groceries which they are selling as cheap as could be reasonably expected.

WHITE COVERED WAGONS.—"West-ward the star of empire" &c. The arrival of white covered wagons containing immigrants and their household effects is getting to be a daily occurance.

POLITICAL.—Why don't you bring out the Hon. M. S. Wilkinson as a candidate for Governor, subject to the decision of the Republican State Convention?

Mr. Wilkinson is a man of sound practical judgment and a firm friend of the laboring classes. Watonwan county is not very extensive, politically speaking, but what there is of her is all right.

FROM MAPLETON.

By our own Reporter.

Rain! rain! rain! No sooner does a northerly wind break the solid ranks of one driving storm, than it suddenly shifts to the south or east and brings another more solid and driving than the last. The effect is plainly visible. There are some pieces of grain that cannot fully recover from its effects. One in particular—the remembrance of which is accompanied by a personal grief—is nearly whipped. It was very tenacious of life, but tenacity would'nt win. The weather is decidedly the victor. A few straggling spears and tufts still remain, emblems of bravery and grit, but unless there is an immediate "cessation of hostillities" they too must fall. For fear of giving an impression detrimental to our locality let us glance at the other side. Possibly we have more rain here than in the northern part of the county. Certain it is that no country can stand the amount of rain we have had without being damaged. The above is an extreme case, while some of our fields look remarkably well. Mr. Taylor (Robert) returns from Winona and says he has seen no better fields on the road than some in Mapleton. We have a variety, according to the lay of the land.

Mapleton river is in trouble. For the past month it has been seeking rest in its own bed. For four weeks it has been endeavoring to lead a retired and peaceable life, but in vain. These horrid rains above referred to, keep it in a constant turmoil; at one time bringing it within six inches of last spring's high water mark, and seldom allowing it to travel within its own limits.

FILLING UP.—We notice different reporters giving their local merchants an occasional notice under the above heading. We will simply say that R. Taylor, our Mapleton merchant, "fills up" regularly three times a day with groceries and provisions. As we have seen no faster time recorded, we conclude we are ahead, therefore you will do well to give him a call &c. He also deals in dry doods but not quite so extensively. More anon.

DESTRUCTIVE FIRE IN ST. PAUL.

Last Saturday the machine shops of the St. Paul & Pacific railway were destroyed by fire. The loss is estimated at 150,000. The only building saved was the engine house. Most of the machinery was so heavy that it was impossible to remove it. The engine "Wm. Crooks," was a total loss. A lathe costing $6,000, 2 box cars, material for 15 more, and 250 cords of wood were among the losses. The insuance will not cover over $25,000 of the losses.

BURNS CLUB.—MR. EDITOR.—The Blue Earth Valley Burns Club met Thursday June 20th, at the house of J. Dobie, in the town of Sterling, and had a very pleasant time. The club was called to order by the President, J. Dobie. A. M. Hewitt acted as Secretary in the absence of the Secretary of the club. Opening address by J. Dobie. Minutes of last meeting were read. Members were then admitted. James Ellis, Azro Annis and William Hall became members of the club. Next in order were the games.

Putting the heavy stone 30 lbs., J. Dobie, 18½ feet, first prize. Putting the light stone 15 lbs, J. Dobie, 25½ feet, first prize. Standing jump, George McKay, 7½ feet, first prize. Throwing the hammer, John Johnson, 53½ feet, first prize. Running jump, William Hall, 13 feet, first prize. Running jump, Thomas Graham, 76 years of age, 10½ feet. Short race, William Hall, first prize. Boys race, Alexander Ellis, first prize. Vaulting with the pole, Azro Annis, first prize. Long race, William Hall, first prize. Tossing the caber, J. Dobie, first prize. Hop, step and jump, James Currie, first prize.

Mr. Ellis appeared on the ground in Highland costume. When the games were about half through, the club was entertained by the Ladies, with a splendid dinner.

McCORMICK'S HARVESTERS.—RADICAL CHANGES.

A system of yearly improvements has gone on so regularly and silently that our present machines are wholly unlike those made a few years ago, either in appearance, weight, draft, style of construction or capabilities of work. We make this statement to correct the falsehoods of some opposition agents, who point out our machines made a dozen years ago as fair samples of our present machines. Now we are not ashamed of these "old sogers," who have gone through many a hard fought campaign; on the contrary, we are proud to see them still at work, with a long life before them, while all others made at the same time have passed out of existence, carrying their faults with them into the grave. We made ours for work, and their continued existence shows they were not made in vain.

We invite farmers to personally examine our new machines and avail themselves of the liberal opportunity we give of testing their merits alongside any others in the harvest field. We know that each maker would have it appear that his machine is the best, but as all cannot be best, we propose to close that controversy on our part by the following

CHALLENGE.

Any purchaser who desires it, can have our New Two Wheeled Mower, or our Improved Self-Raking Reaper on trial with any Mower or Reaper in the United States, and have the privilege of working them together through the entire harvest, he agreeing to keep and pay for the one preferred, at the regular price.

This is our method of doing business with those who may have doubts, or who may not have seen our new machines at work. It is a plan all can understand and appreciate who have been compelled to bind themselves in a note before even loading a machine on their wagon, or at most allowed but a few hurried hours trial.

IN MOWERS.

McCormick sweeps the board at the Great Paris Exposition of all nations with his new two wheeled MOWER with patent tilting lever by which the points of the guards can be tilted up or down at any angle instantly and while in motion. This mower is light, neat, of easy draft, compact, simple and durable.

TOWN AND COUNTY.

FRIDAY, - - - JUNE 28, 1867.

FOURTH OF JULY CELEBRATION!!

THE GLORIOUS FOURTH WILL BE PATRIOTICALLY CELEBRATED AT MANKATO.

A CORDIAL invitation is extended to the citizens (including the Ladies and children,) of Blue Earth and neighboring counties to unite with us in kindling anew the fires of Patriotism on our immortal, National Holiday.

The various Orders and Societies, Masons, Odd Fellows, and Good Templars are invited to join the procession, in their proper regalia. If the weather permits, the celebration will come off in a grove but a few blocks from the center of the city, to which all can repair without fatigue. The dinner will be a basket Picnic, to which each family or party are expected to bring their own refreshments. The Superintendents and teachers of Sunday Schools are earnestly invited to bring out the children and join the procession. Be on hand promptly at 10½ o'clock.

PROGRAMMEE OF THE DAY.

At sunrise a salute of 13 guns,

10 a. m.—Fireman's Parade.

11½ a. m.—Grand procession will form on Front Street, between Main and Jackson Streets.

—Parsons is receiving daily by express he latest styles of summer goods.

—"Minnesota Letters" was necessarily delayed until next week, owing to the lateness of its arrival.

NEW HAY.—The first load of new hay appeared in our streets last Saturday. The owner held it at $25 per ton, but after searching in vain for buyers, sold it at the rate of $15 per ton.

—Gentlemen will find a good stock of summer cassimeres, including Minneapolis goods at PARSONS

—The Methodist mite society will be held at the church on Wednesday evening next. Ice cream will be served, and strawberries are engaged for the occasion.

—The finest piece of broadcloth in town is at PARSONS.

STRAWBERRIES.—We noticed Dr. Durkee on Tuesday last passing up street with a bowl of ripe strawberries. They were of the Russell and Albany variety, and were as large as a walnut. It is said that strawberries both wild and domestic will yield abundantly this season.

POTATO BUGS.—These potato pests have again made their appearance in this vicinity and threaten to do much damage. A neighbor has already pulled up his vines and replaced them with other plants, being convinced that there is no use to try to raise potatoes.

—Ladies get your lace curtains of PARSONS.

LEMONADE.—Paddock & Co, have something very nice for making lemonade. It is composed of best refined sugar and crystalized juice of lemon. It is nicely put up, is cheap, and can be kept on hand without loss, and makes a splendid drink. Call in and see it.

—Good dress prints, warranted fast colors for 15 cts at PARSONS.

—A well written article on the present and future development and commercial importance of Mankato, appears in the Chicago Post of June 24th, which is a good emigration document for our citizens to send to their friends. Smith & Humphrey have copies for sale.

—The best assortment in town of Parasol. silk and cotton sun umbrellas at PARSONS

TO-NIGHT.—Remember that the ladies of the Baptist Aid Society will meet their friends at the Baptist Church this evening. Refreshments will be served, and the proceeds of the entertainment will be used in completing the church edifice.

—A nice stock of summer goods just received, and for sale cheap at PARSONS.

VALUABLE FARM FOR SALE.—We call attention to the advertisement of James E. Brown & Bro., who offer a great bargain in a farm located at Winnebago Agency The Agency is situated in one of the most beautiful and fertile sections of the county, and the farm mentioned could not fail to please the most critical purchaser, and it is offered at a bargain.

WEATHER PREDICTION.—The "oldest inhabitant" says that after June we shall have a change in the weather, and that instead of raining every day, nights and Sundays, it will rain nights and Sundays only, and so continue until September, when we shall have a brief "spell of weather"—that is, dry weather. Early in November it will freeze hard enough to drive in all the snakes and after that pleasant weather will prevail until Christmas, and not more than ten inches of snow will appear during the winter.

PERSONAL.—Rev. Thomas Marshall arrived home on Saturday last after a rather protracted visit to his friends, and attendance upon the General Assembly at New York. We reflect the sentiment of a very large number of our citizens when we say that we are glad to hail his return among us.

He observes that rain is the order of the day in the East as well as here, but there seems to be less anxiety there than here concerning the crops.

INTERESTING SKETCH.—We are presented by Smith & Humphrey with an interesting work entitled "Our new States and Territories." It is a neatly printed book of 80 pages, and is full of illustrations of the emigrant, the miner, the Indian, hair breadth escapes, coach travel, Salt Lake City, Brigham Young, mormon farm house, customs &c., and many other pleasant and amusing pictures. The sketches are deeply interesting, and useful, giving brief accounts, historic, geographic and physical, of the different territories. Price only 50cts. It is written by A. D. Richardson the far-famed Tribune correspondent.

HANDSOME PRESENT.—Mr. G. E. Hannum, of Shelbyville, has lately presented to the Rev. Thomas Marshall of this city one of the last editions of Websters unabridged illustrated dictionaries. It is an elegant volume and is bound in Russia leather, which is the most durable as well as costly binding used. It was ordered expressly for Mr. Marshall, by Smith & Humphrey, of this city, who have on hand every quality of this valuable work. The book is highly appreciated by the recipient, not only for its intrinsic merit but as an evidence of the kindest regards of the donor, Mr. Hannum.

Pendleton; Eloquence—its Diversity; The Woman of the North and the Woman of the South; Domestic, or Striking an Average, by Mrs. Wyllis; Monsieur Tonson, beautifully illustrated with thirteen original designs; Memory; Temperament and Marriage; Delineation of Character; &c., in July number Phrenological Journal; 30 cents, or $3 a year. New vol. S. R. Wells, 389 Broadway, N. Y.

—"Minneinneopa Base Ball Club," is the name of an organization formed by the young lads of Mankato. Their grounds are on the Van Brunt Addition, and they propose on the 4th, to play a match game with the 3d nines of the Frontier Club.

BRICK.—A sample of brick manufactured by Gregg & Co, at the upper yard has been left at our office. They are well burned and substantial, and the color is as good as the best ever manufactured in Mankato. Their test kiln proves that they have the best of clay, and if the weather permits, they will turn out the smoothest brick ever offered in this market.

MILL AT MADELIA.—Capt. W. Golding, of Plainview, widely known as an early steamboat proprietor on the Minnesota river, has proposed to the citizens of Madelia to build a grist mill in the village, if they will obtain for him a grant of a water power. They promptly accepted his proposition and are now negotiating for the power. If successful, the Captain will preceed, as soon as the weather permits, to erect a mill, with at least two and perhaps three run of stone. We are glad that Madelia has secured this proposition, for the Captain is a thorough business man and will erect a valuable improvement for the town.

RIVER UP AGAIN.—Last Sunday the river commenced to rise at this point at the rate of one inch per hour, and continued to rise some days, as fast as three inches per hour, until yesterday when it commenced to recede. The flat above town is five feet under water and the Blue Earth ferry has suspended operations. It will require but a few days time however, to open communications if it should hereafter rain only nights and Sundays. The river is within three feet of the spring rise.

GARDEN CITY.—"Garden City items" came so late that we only give an abstract of its news. The Watonwan river has risen and broken through Quale & Friend's mill dam, doing considerable damage. Crops look tolerably well except corn which on many farms will be a failure. Emigration continues to flow in and daily accessions are made to the population of the village. It is very difficult for merchants to obtain their goods from Mankato. Our correspondent says that the demand for eggs cannot be supplied, and presumes that Mankato must be without, unless we use duck eggs from the sloughs. We are sorry to hear that the boasted farming section adjacent to that village has so few eggs. They are not very scarce here. Building is going on constantly. Among the new buildings, are: Boynton & Cheeny, store, Warner & Thurston, meat market, W. G. Smith furniture shop, J. M. Thompson, dwelling, S. C. Wellcome, addition to store, &c.

TO FARMERS.—Elsewhere will be found the new advertisement of J. N. Hall of this city, the agent of McCormick's justly celebrated reapers and mowers. The many improvements which have been made on this machine, place it now on the top round of the lader of fame. It has no superior, and its proprietor claims it to be superior to every machine in use. To prove this, a proposition is made which challenges a contest upon terms which are certainly satisfactory to the purchasers. We advise our patrons to read carefully the advertisement, and call on Mr. Hall at the bank of J. J. Thornton & Co. who will sell them on accommodating terms.

—Attention is called to the advertisement offering for sale one of the finest stock farms in Southern Minnesota. It is situated one and a half miles from Madelia the county seat of Watonwan County. See the card and apply to Buck & Freeman, Mankato, or H. Montgomery, Madelia.

A CARD

I take this opportunity of informing my old friends and customers who extended to me their liberal patronage during the three years I was engaged in business on my own account in Mankato, that I have engaged with Messrs. Owens & Co., next door to the Messrs Bradley's, who have opened a new Stove & Hardware store in whose behalf I would respectfully solicit a continuance of your patronage.

They have purchased a new and complete set of Tinners Tools and Machinery and supplied with FIRST QUALITY STOCK of my own selection. All custom jobbing in the Tin, Stove and Sheet Iron department will be under my especial care and attention. I will guarantee all work turned out from their shop just as represented, and manufactured in a workmanlike manner. For your Stoves, Hardware, Tinware, Plows, Cultivators &c., go to Messrs. Owens & Co., who are bound to sell good goods as cheap as any house in Mankato.

15 Years Ago and Now.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

HOSTETTER'S STOMACH BITTERS was struggling into notice against the prejudices which everything new, however excellent, is doomed to encounter.

TO-DAY

it stands at the head of all the tonic and alterative preparations in existence. Its celebrity has evoked many imitations but NO RIVALS. Physicians pronounce it the ONLY SAFE STIMULANT that has ever peen introduced into the sick chamber. In the Hospitals of the Army and Navy, the surgeons find it the very best tonic for convalescents, and report it as invaluable for sustaining the vigor of troops on the march, as a remedy for scurvy and all scorbutic affections, and as the only specific for sea-sickness. California and Australia have emphatically endorsed it as the MINER'S MEDICINE par excellence, and in Spanish America and all the tropical climates, it is considered the only reliable antidote to epidemic fever.

There is no mystery about the causes of its success. It is the only stomachic and alterative in which are combined the grand requisites of a mild, pure, and unvitiated vegetable stimulant, with the finest selection of tonic, anti-bilious, anti-scorbutic, aperient, and depurative herbs, plants, roots, and barks that have ever been intermixed in a medicinal preparation.

It is also proper to state that the Bitters are sold exclusively in glass, and never, under any circumstances, by the gallon or the barrel. Impostors and imitators are abroad, and the only safeguard the public has against them is to see that the Bitters they buy bear the engraved label and note of hand of Messrs. Hostetter & Smith, and the Government stamp over the cork of the bottle.

SHEEP TOBACCO.—We have received 1,400 lbs leaf Tobacco, which we can sell for 15 cents per pound. Every farmer that has sheep ought to dip them, this spring, in Tobacco juice, such a course being recommended by experienced sheep growers as being very beneficial and healthful.

SUTTON—LISCOM.—On the 25th inst., at the residence of the bride's father, J. M. Wirt, by the Rev. D. Tice, CAPT. C. A. SUTTON of Minneapolis, to MELISSA LISCOM, of this city.

Accompanying the foregoing notice came a very fine cake beautifully frosted, and decorated with flowers, for which the editor returns thanks, and adds his congratulations and best wishes for the future hapiness and prosperity of the twain which are made one flesh. They will soon make a bridal tour to New Jersey, from which we wish them a safe and happy return.

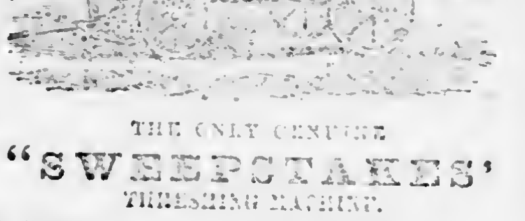
C. AULTMAN & Co's

"SWEEPSTAKES."



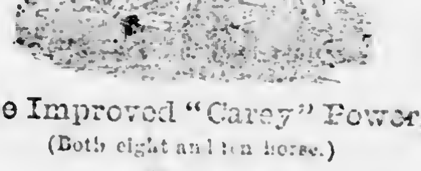
THE ONLY GENUINE

"SWEEPSTAKES"

THRESHING MACHINE.

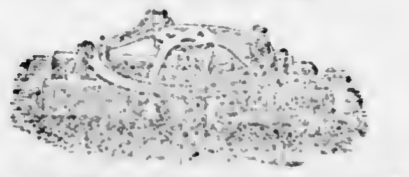
J. AULTMAN, Manufacturer, Canton, Ohio. | HENRY H. TAYLOR, Gen'l western Ag't, Chicago, Ill.

TWO STYLES OF HORSE POWERS.



The Improved "Carey" Power,

(Both eight and ten horse.)



THE "COMPENSATING" POWER.

(Both eight and ten horse.)

A laudable ambition exists among threshers to "own the best machine in the neighborhood." Nothing is more disagreeable to them than to have farmers complain that their work is not properly done, or to lose valuable time by reason of breakages, and they cannot be too careful in selecting a machine.

The Sweepstakes is the accredited head of the Threshing Machine family, and its superior strength, durability, simplicity, ease of draft, style of finish, and capacity for threshing and cleaning grain faster and better than any other in the world, are acknowledged.

The great reputation achieved by this favorite machine has led several unscrupulous manufacturers, and numerous agents, to attach the name "SWEEPSTAKES," in one way and another, to their machines and advertisements to mislead and deceive.

This is the essence of meanness—downright piracy, and sailing under false colors. To avoid the counterfeit, see that every machine has the card, "C. AULTMAN & CO., MANUFACTURERS, Canton, Ohio," in gilt letters, conspicuously on both sides of the Separator.

The Genuine Sweepstakes enables the thresher to pick his customers, seldom stops for repairs, lasts much longer than others, saves much grumbling and vexation, does the same amount of work with less labor, and enables him to select the best and most profitable jobs.

The farmers give it a preference, and often an extra price per bushel, because it threshes clean from the heads, separates perfectly from the straw, cleans fit for market without waste, saves all the grain, does its work with the utmost speed, safety and economy, and does not keep a gang of men and teams about them on expense.

The elegant "Patent Pivot Side Gear" is to be found only on the SWEEPSTAKES.

Our "Patent Cleaning Apparatus" enables the operator to control the direction of the blast, and position of the seives, and clean either heavy or light grain, without waste, as fast as it can be threshed,—the chaff and dirt being separated from the grain before it strikes the seive at all.

Separators, Horse Powers, Straw Stackers, Gears or Jacks, sold separately, when desired. A written warranty delivered with every machine. The "SWEEPSTAKES" is usualy a very scarce article after harvest, and parties should order early.

Call or send and get a pamphlet circular, giving a full description and particulars, together with numerous certificates, and the names and residence of over three thousand persons who have bought and used the SWEEPSTAKES in Illinois, Iowa, Minnesota, Wisconsin and Kansas alone.

Maximilian.

A special dispatch from New Orleans to the Herald, says a letter from Queretaro, published in Matamoras the 2d inst., says that the government will banish Maximilian and his principal officers, reserving the infliction of extreme penalities for those whose crimes demand it.

The platform of the Republican party in Louisiana is decidedly radical. It insists on a perfect equality, without distinction of race or color. It advocates the right not only to vote, but to enter the jury box without any educational or property qualification whatever, and claims for freedmen, everything granted them by the most liberal interpretation of the Civil Rights bill. It also advocates the repeal of the cotton tax, and calls for immediate assistance from the Government in repairing the levees.

The platform condemns Andrew Johnson's Amnesty Proclamation, believing the disfranchisement of rebels to be the highest duty of the General Government, and declares that no man is to be supported for office who will not boldly and openly pledge himself to make equal distribution among white and colored alike of all offices to which he may have the power of appointment. It also pledges the party to aid the Government in paying the last dollar of the public debt. —Chicago Post.

POTATO BUG.—The Janesville (Wisconsin) Gazette on Tuesday evening alleges that complaints come from all quarters of the ravages of this pest. and the swarms of them that already abound. One gentleman in that city states that he gathered and destroyed a couple of quarts of these bugs in a short time, and by a mathematical calculation he destroyed at least fifteen thousand eggs. They are reported as thick in some localities as the chintz bugs were a few years ago, and the prospect of a good crop of potatoes is seriously threatened by them.

The Sparta Democrat of the same date says:

This destructive, stripped, lady bug or as he is now denominated from his familiarity with potato patches, the potato bug, has thus early in the season, made its re-appearance. We had hoped that a severe freezing of the ground in this section. in the early part of winter, before we had any snow, would have frozen them out, but in this we have been disappointed. We learn that they are already on hand in greater numbers and of larger size than last year, commencing their destructive labors before the potato vine has scarcely opened its folds above the earth.

A WESTERN exchange says :—We took a new reporter on trial yesterday. He went out to hunt items, and after being away all day returned with the following, which he said was the best that he could do:—"Yesterday we saw a sight that froze our muscles with horror. A hackman driving down Clark street at a rapid pace came very near running over a nurse and two children. There would have been one of the most heart-rending catastrophies ever recorded, had not the nurse with wonderful forethought, left the children at home before she went out. and providentially stepped into a drug store just before the hack passed. Then, too, the hackman, just before reaching the crossing, thought of something that he had forgot, and turning about, drove in the opposite direction. Had it not been for this wonderful concurrence of favorable circumstances, a doting father, a loving mother, and affectionate brothers and sisters, would have been plunged into the deepest woe, and most unutterable funeral expenses."

—The Court passed sentence upon THOMAS J. TOMLINSON, convicted of counterfeiting the currency of the United States. The prisoner was asked if he had anything to say why the sentence of the law should not be passed upon him. He replied that he had nothing to say except that, on account of his aged and infirm parents, he begged to have the Court make the sentence as light as possible. Mr. YALE, counsel for the prisoner, also plead strongly in his behalf. At the close of Mr. YALE's remarks, Judge NELSON addressed the prisoner, enlarging somewhat upon the enormity of his offense, and concluding by sentencing him to three years imprisonment in the Penitentiary, at hard labor. The prisoner received his sentence with firmness, and thanked the Judge for the comparative leniency of the punishment. —Winona Republican.

HOSPITAL FOR THE INSANE.—Hon. C. T. Brown, of St. Peter, has been elected President of the Board of Trustees of the State Hospital for the Insane. A temporary building 96 feet by 34 feet is to be erected at once. It will be of a sufficient size to hold fifty patients

—Gen. Sheridan will issue in a few days, an order protecting all parties in peaceful prosecution of the campaign throughout the state of Louisiana.

Wells has heard nothing from the President, and the entire press and people of New Orleans, irrespective of party, are rejoicing over his removal, and propose a day of thanksgiving and praise.

—Registration is progressing rapidly in the South. In Richmond the whites were five ahead at the last accounts. At Norfolk the result of the first day's labor in two wards is reported to be 449 voters, 307 being colored. A reward of fifty dollars is offered for the arrest of any one illegally registering his name.

Registration in Mobile commenced on the 17th, 150 voters having registered in the proportion of 23 whites to 127 colored.

—THE Illinois Legislature, now in special session, has passed a bill providing for the assessment and collection of taxes on the shares of the capital stock in banks and banking associations. The exemption of bank stock from taxation may be considered at an end—and justly, too.

—Two prominent followers of Maximilian at Queretaro, have been shot by order of the Liberal commanders. What disposition will be made of the "Arch-Duke" himself has not yet been announced.

—It is stated, on reliable authority, that freedmen are being shipped from various points on the Southern coast, ostensibly as free emigrants to Liberia, but in reality to be disposed of as slaves to Cuban planters.

—Mrs. Yell lately cowhided Mr. Lay for not performing a promise to marry her. As he wouldn't make her Lay, she made him yell.

DR. SCHENCK'S
MANDRAKE PILLS.
A Substitute for Calomel.

These Pills are composed of various roots, having the power to relax the secretions of the liver as promptly and effectually as blue pill or mercury, and without producing any of those disagreeable or dangerous effects which often follow the use of the latter.

In all bilious disorders these Pills may be used with confidence, as they promote the discharge of vitiated bile, and remove those obstructions from the liver and biliary ducts, which are the cause of bilious affections in general.

SCHENCK'S MANDRAKE PILLS cure Sick Headache, and all disorders of the Liver, indicated by sallow skin, coated tongue, costiveness, drowsiness, and a general feeling of weariness and lassitude, showing that the liver is in a torpid or obstructed condition.

In short, these Pills may be used with advantage in all cases when a purgative or alterative medicine is required.

Please ask for "Dr. Schenck's Mandrake Pills," and observe that the two likenesses of the Doctor are on the Government stamp—one when in the last stage of Consumption, and the other in his present health.

DUPLEX ELLIPTIC
(OR DOUBLE SPRING)
SKIRT.

The Wonderful Flexibility and great comfort and pleasure to any Lady, wearing the Duplex Elliptic Skirt will be experienced particularly in all crowded assemblies, Operas, Carriages, Railroad Cars, Church Pews, Arm Chairs, for Promenade and House Dress, as the Skirt can be folded when in use to occupy a small place as easily and conveniently as a silk or muslin dress, an invaluable quality in crinoline, not found in any Single Spring skirt.

A Lady having enjoyed the pleasure, comfort, and great convenience of wearing the Duplex Elliptic Steel Spring Skirt for a single day, will never afterwards willingly dispense with their use. For Children, Misses and Young Ladies, they are superior to all others.

They will not bend or break like the Single Spring, but will preserve their perfect and graceful shape when three or four ordinary skirts will have been thrown aside as useless. The Hoops are covered with double and twisted thread, and the bottom rods are not only double springs but twice (or double) covered; preventing them from wearing out when dragging down stoops, stairs, &c.

The Duplex Elliptic is a great favorite with all ladies and is universally recommended by the Fashion Magazines as the standard skirt of the fashionable world.

To enjoy the following inestimable advantages in Crinoline, viz.: Superior Quality, Perfect Manufacture, Stylish shape and Finish, Flexibility, Durability, Comfort and Economy, enquire for J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic, or Double Spring Skirt, and be sure you get the genuine article.

CAUTION.—To guard against IMPOSITION be particular to NOTICE that skirts offered as "DUPLEX" have the red ink stamp, viz., "J. W. Bradley's Duplex Elliptic Steel Springs," upon the waistband—none others are genuine. Also Notice that every Hoop will admit a pin being passed through the centre, thus revealing the two (or double) springs braided together therein, which is the secret of their Flexibility and strength, and a combination not to be found in any other Skirt.

FOR SALE in all Stores where First Class skirts are sold throughout the United States and elsewhere. Manufactured by the Sole Owners of the patent.

He used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Maiden, handsome and gay,
Who married the man once bald and gray,
Who now has raven locks, they say.
He used the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Parson, who, by the way,
Married the maiden, handsome and gay,
To the man once bald and gray,
But who now has raven locks, they say,
Because he used the Cure that lay
In the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

This is the Bell that rings away
To arouse the people sad and gay
Unto this fact, which here does lay—
If you would not be bald or gray,
Use the AMBROSIA that Ring made.

MANKATO.

NOTES OF A TRAVLING CORRESPONDENT.

What The Chicago Post Says of Us.

The travling correspondent of the Chicago Post, made our city a visit a few weeks since, and in his travels through the State designated Mankato, as one of the principal points in the State, with a future no less flattering than the best towns in Minnesota. After speaking of the Minnesota Valley and the early history of Mankato, he proceeds to speak of its importance in the following language:

BUSINESS.

The business of Mankato, in many departments, is already extensive. The rapid settlement of the country beyond, besides furnishing a demand for ordinary merchandise, also induces a very heavy trade in agricultural implements, of which Mankato is the center. This reaches many thousand dollars annually, and one of the first things which meets the eye of the stranger, will be a large collection of the most costly implements, such as Mowers, Reapers, Threshing Machines, etc., which he is told are but a part of the stock of Mr Meagher, or some other dealer.

In manufactures a considerable progress has been made, but their establishment upon a large scale is yet in the future. Mankato has no water power within the limits of the town, but the streams emptying into the Minnesota near and tributary to it are furnished with very extensive privileges. One of these, the Blue Earth Rapids, extends for several miles, and is only second to the Falls of St. Anthony in extent. On them several mills are already erected, and a great deal of attention is now being directed to their development and improvement. Within a few years they will undoubtedly furnish power for grinding nearly all of the great wheat crop in this part of the State, as well as for the various kinds of manufactures which are so sure to flourish among a large and thriving population.

Mankato has for some time stood at the head of the towns on the Minnesota river, in the annual shipments of wheat and flour, and each year is making this superiority more apparent.

The following table shows the amounts from the various points, shipped last year:

	Barrels Flour.	Bush'l Wheat.
Belle Plaine	......	45,000
Faxon	......	12,000
Henderson	......	29,000
Le Sueur	......	22,000
Ottawa	......	5,000
St. Peter	6,000	68,859
Mankato	39,000	190,000
South Bend		25,000
Shakopee		106,791
Carver		80,000
Chaska		101,000

By reducing the amount exported in the shape of flour, to bushels, we have an aggregate of 540,000 from Mankato, or more than three times the amount forwarded by any other place, a fact which abundantly proves its commercial superiority over other and older towns.

NEWSPAPERS.

Mankato possesses an element of success in a well conducted public press. There are two newspapers, the Union and Record, the former Republican, and the latter Democratic. To their polite conductors, Messrs. W. B. Griswold and John C. Wise, I am indebted for many courtesies and attentions, as well as much valuable information in reference to the town. Both papers have a good standing in the community, and while differing in political views have the best of feelings towards each other, an example which other towns might imitate with profit.

NORMAL SCHOOL.

By a recent act of the Legislature a State Normal school was located at this point, and the people are now moving to comply with the requirements of the bill by raising $5,000, which will entitle them to an additional $5,000 from the State Treasury. This is but a beginning of what they intend to do, as the value of the institution is fully appreciated, and as rapidly as the growth will warrant it the fund will be increased to some such amount as the importance of the work warrants.

SCENERY.

Mankato is a formidable rival to St. Paul and Minneapolis in its attractions for the tourist. The hills and valleys about it, covered with beautiful foliage, and interspersed with the numerous streams flowing into the Minnesota, afford many charming landscape views and pleasant drives. The chief attraction, however, is the far famed Falls of Minne-ione-opa, or singing waters, about four miles from town. They are composed of a double fall, the first of about twelve, and the second sixty feet. The precipice is in the center of a dense wood, and the scenery and surroundings are of the most romantic and picturesque description. It is the subject of one of the charming series of Minnesota views published by Mr. B. F. Upton, of St. Anthony, which are so celebrated wherever Minnesota is known, and it is one of the most highly prized. These views may be obtained from Mr. A. H. Beal, of Minneapolis, who has a wholesale depot for them in connection with his own extensive gallery.

POSITION AND PROSPECTS.

Having thus briefly glanced over the present of Mankato, I pass on to a consideration of its advantages and prospects. Situated at the great bend of the river, the produce of the entire country northwest must pass through it on its way to the metropolitan markets.—At present no railroads reach this point, but will soon do so, and their presence will at once enhance its importance. The Winona and St. Peter railway now extends to Owatonna, fifty miles east of Mankato, and will undoubtedly strike the Minnesota river at this point. This will afford a direct outlet to the Mississippi, which will be sought by all shippers, who will have to reach it at Mankato. The track is now graded fifteen miles from Owatonna, and it is probable that the railway people will lose no time in completing so desirable a connection.

The Minnesota Valley railroad, from St. Paul up through the valley of the Minnesota river, is now completed to Belle Plaine, more than half of the distance to Mankato, and it is destined to reach this city within a year or two at most. It will then extend on to a junction with the Sioux City branch of the Union Pacific, and develop the rich tracts in the southwestern part of the State.

Within two years, therefore, Mankato is destined to hold in her hands the entire trade of this prosperous and rapidly increasing part of Minnesota. There are rich tracts being thrown open to settlers by Government and private holders. Every boat takes loads of immigrants to their new homes, and at the present rate of increase the entire southwestern part of the State will soon be filled with a thrifty and industrious population. It is one of the best fields now open. People who go there want to bring willing hands, and completely eschew the wild schemes of speculation which have afflicted so many. If this is done, success is certain. Backed by such a population, with its inherent elements of prosperity, Mankato possesses a bright future. Surrounded on almost all sides by ample water power, it will add manufacturing to its commerce, and become what nature intended it should be, the virtual capital or center of the southwestern part of the State and the great valley of the Minnesota above it.

LETTERS FROM MINNESOTA.

BY MINNE-HA-HA.

No. 5---Sad and Disappointed.

V——, Aug. 17, 1861.

DEAR KATE.—Thank you, very much for your kind letter, so full of news and good cheer, but I'm afraid that you will not get a very readable one from me this time, as I feel an unmistakable attack of the blues.

I have been boarding at Mr. Monroe's, this week and prehaps that might suggest the question whether "that had any thing to do with my present state of mind."

And certainly, Kate, I have been greatly disappointed in this family, it is so unlike my fathers. That courtesy, that is so charming in the family circle, is entirely lacking here. The father is morose and sullen, the mother a worn out drudge, and the children selfish. And is it not hard, Kate, when you have imagined a loved object to be perfect, when you have set up that friend as a pattern for yourself, to have the veil unwittingly torn aside, and their glaring imperfections laid open before you?

I had looked upon Florence Monroe, as something above common mortals; her wondrous beauty, her sweet womanly ways, and the witchery that drew you irresistably toward you, cast a glamour over my impracticed eyes.

I was sitting in a kind of vine covered summer house, yesterday morning, spending the hour before school time in the perusal of "Hiawatha."

You know how unconscious I am to things around me, when absorbed in a book, and I think Florence and her friend, Miss Merton, who is spending the summer here, had been seated on the bench outside, several moments before I was aware of their presence. Had there been any other way of egress, than the one by which they sat, I should have gone out of hearing distance, for they were evidently having a confidential talk, I thought too, what if they should come in and find me there, really, I was in a quandary, but I tried to bury myself in my book, and not listen, but their words would come floating in, and somehow my book had lost its interest.

"Well Florance," said the facinating and fashionable Miss Merton, "how do you progress in your flirtation with this Mr. Ellis?"

"As well as heart could wish; it requires but a few more smiles and honeyed words to bring him to my feet."

"And what then?"

"Well I think I shall accept him; mama says that it is about time that I was settled in life, and then you know, I am getting pretty well up in my twenties, besides he is an eligible party, being quite wealthy, as well as good looking and well appearing. I could not marry the handsomest man, loved I him ever so much, did he not have property enough to enable me to shine in my proper sphere; neither could I marry a clown or clodhopper, be he ever so rich."

"And how is your heart affected, in this case, lady Florance?" laughed her companion.

"I like him very well, but he has many queer notions, and odd bachelor ways that need correction, they will be well attended to, when I am Mrs. Ellis," laughed the beauty with a disagreeable ring in the usually sweet tones.

"And you are quite sure of him?"

"Quite, unless,—but there he is coming up the street, and I have not changed my morning dress, and I am afraid mama has not dusted the parlor, I do not see why he should call so early; when I am his wife I will teach him better manners."

And to my great relief, the ladies made their way to the house by a back path, leaving the unwilling listener to her reflections.

What a fall from the pedestal of perfection to which I had raised her, did my ideal sustain. "And," I said to myself "this is the woman that Mr. Ellis thinks will make him happy! Oh, Florance, Florance, why are you not true to your seeming?" But let me change this unpleasant subject.

Dear little Amy Clayton is very sick, and I think the angel child is done with earthly schooling. Her father is a coarse dull man, with no allinity between himself and little daughter, and the step mother is a hard, bustling worldly woman, that "can never see what that child is allers dreaming about," and she gives her blows instead of kind words.

"Amy is just like her mother," the neighbors say, "she was a quiet little body, far too good for Austin Clayton."

"Your child is dangerously ill, Mr. Clayton," I said last evening, coming into the rude summer kitchen, after sitting by the little sufferer, until she had dropped into an uneasy slumber, "had you not better call in the paysician?"

"Pshaw, pshaw, mam, I guess if her feet are soaked, and she drinks a heap of yarb tea, she'l be peart enough in the morning."

"I shook my head sadly, for I felt that life was fast slipping from the hold of this frail neglected child; and I knew that strong, earnest efforts must be made to save the, to me, precious life.

"She's a perfect little nuisance, and allers was; no kinder help at all, and I 'low she never will be unless she teaches school, which is all she'l be fit for," brawled the unnatural step mother, in so loud a tone, that I was afraid that she would awaken my little charge, as there was only a thin board partition between us; and I was right, for the blue eyes were full of tears, and sobs shook the attenuated form as she put her arms around my neck, and drawing me down to her she whispered, "Oh, dear, Miss L——, I hope I will die, then I can go and see my own mama, who was always so kind to me, and loved me, and called me pet names, but no one seemed to care for me after mother died, until you came, and you have made my heart so glad, that I would almost wish to stay, only it seems as if there was no room for me here, and as if I was always in the way; no I don't want to live, and you must not weep for me very much, for you know that I am going to be an angel. But somehow, I shrink from going through the dark valley, and feel afraid of the deep river; won't you prayer for me, dear teacher, that I may have more of what mama called faith? Please pray for me now, for I do not know how long it will be, before the boatman calls for me, and I am very week.' And pray that papa, and, and, his wife may get to be good and come to heaven too."

Thus importuned, I knelt down by the little sufferer, and between my sobs, for I was deeply moved by her words, I poured out my soul to God.

"If it is thy will to take her from us, Oh, Lord, sanctify her loss to the good of her family, the neighborhood, and thy unworthy servant," I prayed and my "Amen," was echoed by a deep, tender voice at my side, and looking up, Dale Ellis stood with uncovered head; and as he smoothed back the soft hair from the almost glorified face of the child, the firm mouth worked convulsively, and the tear that dropped on the shining curls did not shame his manhood.

Charley Howard just brought me a note from Mr. Frank Monroe, asking me to accompany Miss Merton, his sister, and himself on a boat ride, this afternoon. Such a pleasure is not to be missed, though I dislike Mr. Frank's attentions, but I think he will be fully occupied with Miss Merton, and I can enjoy the ride to my hearts content. It is very windy, too, and from my window, I can see the white capped waves as they lash the shore. If the wind keeps on rising by two o'clock, the lake will be in a perfect boil, oh, it will be grand! I wonder, two, at Florance, for going out at such a time, as she professes to be very timid; and I wonder if Mr. Ellis is going; Frank did not say any thing about his making one of the party. Oh, I remember, now, that he said this morning that he was going across the lake on business, and would not be home till three o'clock. I think I understand Florance's motives for the ride, but will not judge harshly, at any rate, it shall not interfere with my enjoyment.

What a distracted condition our country is in, Kate; the fearful battle of Bull's Run convinced the North, that three months men could not subdue this gigantic rebellion. There is great excitement here, and I think Minnesota will not be long in filling her quota. The people are generally patriotic, though some secession sympathizers, dare utter sentiments that almost make me look for the thunderbolts of God's retributive justice to descend upon them.

I received a letter from home by last mail, but cannot tell you what it contained as Mr. Howard, the post-master, is now making up the mail; but I will write again, soon, and tell you about the boat ride, and whether Amy gets well. Mother wrote, "send our love to Katie," so also does your old friend,

MOLLIE.

THE NEW ULM TRIALS.

No Indictment Found---Court Adjourned Until September 10, 1867.

Correspondence St. Peter Tribune.

RED WOOD FALLS, June 19, '67.

ED. TRIBUNE:—The District Court 6th Judicial District, for the Counties of Brown, Cottonwood, Murray, Pipestone and Redwood, in the State of Minnesota, was called yesterday—Hon. H. Austin, presiding.

C. T. Clothier, Francis Baasen, and D. G. Shillock, from Brown county; S. A. Buel, John M. Dorman, and Alfred Wallin, from Nicollet county, and Attorney-General Colville from St. Paul, are present at this important trial. Court convened at 1½ P. M., and Grand Jury called. On motion and affidavit of Chas. T. Clothier, John M. Dorman was appointed by the Court to defend John Gutt, charged with the murder of Alexander Campbell, on the 25th day of December, 1866.

Maj. Buell, County Attorney for Brown county, submitted his credential bond and oath, which was accepted.

The Court ruled that under Act March 9th, 1867, changing the title of the court of Brown county, Maj. Buell could not act in this court for Brown county, except as assistant prosecutor, and that Col. McPhail was the proper prosecutor in all criminal cases brought before it.

The court took a recess until 5 P. M., to allow John M. Dorman and C. T. Clothier, Esqs., to prepare motions touching the jurisdiction of the court and grand jury. On resuming, the Court made a ruling that all motions in that behalf, not allowed by statute, should be made in writting by 7 P. M., at which time J. M. Dorman, Esq., for John Gutt, filed a lengthly motion in writing denying the jurisdiction of the Court and Grand Jury to inquire into any crime charged to have been committed by the said John Gutt, in the county of Brown, and attacking the said Act of March 9, 1867, and the order of the Judge of May 25th, 1867, changing said Court, as unconstitutional and void, and asking that said Grand Jury be dismissed from inquiring against said John Gutt. C. T. Clothier obtained leave to file a similar motion for the other New Ulm prisoners. Sundry other motions were made, which were not noted by your Reporter. Court then adjourned till 8 a. m., to-morrow.

Wednesday, 8 a. m.,—Court overruled all the motions made by counsel for prisoner, yesterday, and granted leave to prepare motions attacking the pannel, and special venire issued to raise the number of Grand Jurors from 17 to 23;—motions overruled, and exceptions taken by counsel; venire returned, and one juror excused—22 sworn in and charged. Judge Austin's charge to the grand jury, was very able and quiet lengthly.

Hon. J. S. G. Honnor, is foreman of the Grand Jury. I will endeavor to keep you fully advised of all matters of interest transpiring here.

From the Mankato Record, June 29th, 1867.

The witnesses summoned at this place to attend the trials of the New Ulm murderers at Redwood Falls, returned home on Thursday evening, and from E. Bradley, Esq., we learn that the Grand Jury failed to find indictments against the New Ulm murderers, and thereupon the juries were dismissed and the court adjourned until the 10th day of September next.

Court was opened on the 18th by Judge Austin. The counties to which Brown is attached for judicial purposes, failed to make returns of jurors, a grand jury was summoned by special venire, to which a defense interposed a challenge, but it was overruled by the court. The grand jury was composed of twenty-three men, a majority of whom were from Brown county. They were ably charged by the Judge, and retired to deliberate on the matters presented for their actions.

Gutt, the soldier, who is charged with stabbing Liscom, was unable to provide counsel, and the court appointed John M. Dorman, of St. Peter, to defend him. There being no civil business for trial, the court adjourned from day to day to await the action of the grand jury.

The State was represented by Col. Colville, Attorney General, Col. McPhail, county attorney of Redwood, and Major Buell and Mr. Wallin of St. Peter. For the defense, Judge Atwater, of Minneapolis, Mr. Clothier of New Ulm, and Mr. Dorman of St. Peter.

The attendance from Brown county was very large, numbering probably about one hundred and fifty persons, who were all camped together on the prairie, and styled "Camp New Ulm"—grand and petit jurors, prisoners, and counsel all together.

The grand jury had the cases under consideration for about seven days, and finally appeared in court and reported no indictments. When their report was handed to the Judge, he seemed astonished, looking at it for almost five minutes. when he inquired of the jury whether this was the result of their deliberations. Being answered affirmatively, he administered a severe rebuke to them. He told them that they had solemnly sworn to diligently inquire and true presentments make of all public offences within their jurisdiction, and though two persons had been deliberately murdered at New Ulm, and the guilty parties are known to the court and the public, and the evidence upon which they are charged had been published to the world and was before them, the jurors had shamefully stultified themselves by failing to present the parties for trial. He talked to them about half an hour, during which time many of the jurors held down their heads with shame. He assured the jury that their violation of duty would not, as it was hoped, shield the guilty from punishment, but he said he would dismiss both juries from further service, order new ones subpoenaed and adjourn the court until the 10th of September, and that he would continue to do so until the accused are tried, and if guilty, properly punished. In conclusion, he advised the jurors that when they returned to their homes, they should calmly and dispassionately reconsider their conduct, and see if their conscience would justify them in what they had done.

The judge's remarks, though severe, were fully merited by the conduct of a majority of the jurors, and the severest condemnation was felt towards them by those in attendance on the court.

At the conclusion of the judge's remarks, Judge Atwater moved that, inasmuch as the grand jury had failed to indict the parties held for their appearance, that they and their sureties be dismissed. The judge replied that he could not grant the motion, but would hold the parties to answer at the adjourned session, considering their securities legally holden.

Mr. Dorman, as counsel for Gutt, asked that he be admitted to bail. The judge said that as he did not consider him as guilty as some of the others, he would grant the application, naming $1,990 as the sum required. This was objected to by the counsel, but the judge replied that if the prisoner could not give the bail required, he would be remanded to the custody of the sheriff.

The jury was composed of twenty-three persons in all, only nine of whom were for conviction. Five of the latter were citizens of Redwood Falls, two Norwegians from Brown county, and two other persons. There is no doubt that the action of the jury was dictated by outside parties, regardless of the evidence, and so patent was this fact that the result was confidently predicted several days before the announcement by the jury.

The Bond Question---Unfortunate Admission of a bond Organ.

From the Winona Republican, June 19th.

In discussing the railroad bond question, recently, the Mankato Union held that the bonds were not legal because they were issued to the companies upon grading done in detached parts, contrary to the law in the case. This charge is very indignantly denied by one of the very few organs of the bondholders in this State—the St. Paul Press. That veracious journal accuses the Mankato writer of either ignorance or willful falsehood, "The fact is," says our St. Paul cotemporary, "that upon all, except one, of the seven roads "which received bonds in aid of construction, "the grading was executed in continuous "sections from beginning to end." This is asserted with a degree of assurance which in many quarters will doubtless entitle it to confidence, but nevertheless the Press is wrong. The exception to which that paper alludes in the lines quoted above is the Minnesota Central road. There was one other road out of the seven concerning the condition of which at the period in question we are able to speak from personal knowledge. The grading on the Winona & St. Peter road was not executed in continuous sections from beginning to end. The very heaviest and most expensive work on that road, within fifteen miles of Winona, was done by its present owners, long after it had passed from the control of the men who received the bonds for the alleged continuous grading. This fact may, or it may not, have much to do with the question now before the people—we do not bring it in here for the purpose of promoting what is falsely styled repudiation—but simply to vindicate the truth of history, as cited by the Mankato Union. How many other roads in the State can justly be placed in the same category we shall not pretend to decide with authority; but if the confession of the St. Paul Press be correct—that "the issue of the "bonds upon any other basis than that of "continuous grading would be fraudulent" —then we think enough has been shown to satisfy the public that the St. Paul advocates of the dubious and uncertain measure now before the voters of the State had better consult their counsel before answering all the cross questions of the attorneys for the opposition.

Items on the Surratt Trial.

In the Surratt trial, on the 24th, further evidence was brought forward by the Government to show that the accused was in Washington on the day of the assassination. Wm. A. Cleaver, keeper of a livery stable, testified that he saw him on the afternoon of that day, and that Surratt told him he and Booth had bloody work to do; that they were going to kill old Lincoln. Booth and Surratt did their livery business with him. John Lee, a former detective, testified that he saw a man on Pennsylvania avenue, in Washington, on the afternoon of the assassination, who according to the best of his knowledge, was the prisoner at the bar. Samuel A. Ramsey, partner of Cleaver in the livery business, testified that he knew Surratt and saw him at the stable several times. Another witness testified that he saw Atzerodt and Surratt at Port Tobacco, Maryland, in January, 1865.

The First National Bank of Vicksburg denies that it has been in any way embarrassed.

THE NEW ULM TRIALS.

On our first page will be found a detailed account of the session of the District Court, held at Redwood for the purpose of trying the murderers of Campbell and Liscom. As was to be expected, if the New Ulm or Brown county influence could effect anything, the the murderers would go "scot free." Where now are the promises of the people of New Ulm to see that an impartial trial would be had? It seems that even the whole judicial district is tainted with an odium of guilt as "accessories after the fact" in shielding these villians from trial by the refusal of the Grand Jury to indict them. The blood of these men rests upon the skirts of some of its inhabitants, and nothing will save these counties from disgrace, but the indictment and trial of those bound over for that purpose. There are many good men there, but the New Ulm influence has for the moment overpowered them, and now they have the grand opportunity of making a righteous cause their theme, and so dispose their influence as to checkmate the schemes of those sympathizers with murderers, who, with hands uplifted to high heaven, pledged to the public their word and honor that the guilty parties should be brought to justice, and disregarding their promises have proved themselves most infamous liars, unworthy the pure air they breathe. The action of Judge Austin is certainly commendable and even surprising. His lecture to the jury, and adjournment of the court with a determination to assemble until indictments should be found, evinces better pluck than we had given him credit for, and it will meet with the hearty endorsement of all law loving citizens.

LUMBER MARKET.

Every body knows that the price of lumber at Minneapolis has for several years been so high as to place the article beyond the reach of builders of moderate means. We are so accustomed to high prices that we have deemed the high price of lumber to be either attributable to a general inflation of prices and cost of manufacturing or to the scarcity of the article. In 1861 dressed flooring could be had for $10 per thousand, while since then it has ranged from $40 to $50 at the mills, and retailed at $65. The cotton blockades of the rebellion, and the non-production of this staple in the South, did not cause a greater rise in the price of cotton goods than we have suffered, at the very fountain of supply, in the price of every description of pine lumber. It is a pertinent inquiry whether prices have ruled high on account of the scarcity or cost of manufacturing, or for some other reason. Recent developments point to a monopoly of the business and correspondingly large margins of profits, as one, if not the only cause of such tremendous inflation. The income returns of Hennepin county shows that Dorillius Morrison has cleared the handsome sum of $23,796 in the lumber business of 1866.—This sum is far greater than the income of the renowned Capt. Davidson, President of the Northwestern Union Packet Company. whose business is deemed to have a very large margin of profits. But W. D. Washburn is another manufacturer of lumber in Minneapolis and his income for 1866 was $75,000. In addition to building our own homes we have contributed largely to the pockets of this monopolist, Washburn, who if we recollect aright, in the summer of 1864, was seeking a nomination for Congress at the hands of the dear people of the 2d District. Extortion is a mild term to be applied to the deliberate plundering of the people, so unequivocally proven by his immense profits of the past year. Lumber at Chicago is cheaper than at Minneapolis. Upon this subject the Press of the 28th ult. says:

> "We notice that common boards are selling from the schooners by the cargo to the lumber dealers at Chicago for $12a$14 per thousand feet,—while here $22 and $20 are asked by the manufacturers for the same quality of lumber, in the close neighborhood of the mills. The lumber manufacturers at the Falls are making, it is true, every effort to discriminate against this city in prices, but they cannot defeat the operation of the laws of trade. Parties in this city have made contracts with mill-owners in the St. Croix Valley, for ample supplies of common lumber, at $15 per thousand feet, delivered here—a reduction of from five to seven dollars below that asked for the same grade by the Minneapolis mill men."

The extraordinary pressure in the money market has already caused a decline on the St. Croix, but the mills at Minneapolis still cry for the pound of flesh. We hope that the time is not distant when lumber manufacturers will take the pains to learn that lumber is dull of sale, not so much from the general depression as from the exhorbitant prices asked for it, and the immense profits derived from the business.

END OF MAXIMILIAN.

The Russian Minister at Washington received a dispatch from Grolier Tchieff captain of an Austrian sloop, at Southwest Pass, La., stating that Maximilian was shot by the liberal authorities on the 19th of June, in pursuance of a decree of the Juarez Government. Messengers sent by our Government to request that his life be spared, report that Juarez was inclined to save his life, but the people pressed him so hard, that he was forced to yield to their wishes for his execution. Thus ends the life, the hopes and the ambition of a usurper, who, though willing himself, was yet a tool in the hands of Napoleon, of France, and his brother, the Emperor of Austria, to plant upon American soil a government akin to European despotism.—France, however, withdrew her troops, knowing that, with the overthrow of the Southern rebellion, which was fast hastening, the United States would compel him to accept the Monroe Doctrine, and leave Mexicans to rule Mexico. The result has been that Maximilian has fought with bravery with the few troops at his command, and being overpowered, was compelled to surrender and suffer death, as the penalty of usurpation. His execution suggests to us the difference in the treatment of felons in the United States and in Mexico. Conquest is not a crime so mon[illegible]son, and yet the latter crime in the person of Jefferson Davis has been treated as an offense which should call forth every emotion of humanity in its favor. Instead of trying Jeff. Davis by court marshall and shooting him as he deserved, he is given his freedom from arrest, and every act of clemency is shown him, as if a privileged prisoner. Aside from the sympathy which naturally gravitates toward the unfortunate, there can be no reason why either usurpers or traitors should not suffer the penalty of their crimes.

ANOTHER PLEA FOR ROADS.

For the third time this year, communication with the western and southern portion of the county has been cut off by the obstruction of high water and a want of roads and bridges. Is any further argument in favor of the construction of necessary roads and bridges demanded? The flat separating us from West Mankato has been submerged by six feet of water for nearly a week at a time, and the Blue Earth flats were also overflowed and the ferry suspended, bringing the entire travel of southwestern Minnesota to a dead lock within a mile and a half of town. 'Tis true the waters soon subside, but they are generally high when a pressing necessity would bring thousands of people to town, and they return to throw their patronage into the lap of the country traders, who mock at our complaints of a light trade, and profit by our laches in enterprises in which lies our only assurance of success. Before another spring the flat near town should be supplied with culverts, and turnpiked above high water mark, and next season the Blue Earth should be bridged and the flat turnpiked. The township and village should bear the expense of the former, and the county at large, the latter. Instead of these necessary improvements, we see that our roadmasters are repairing roads where they need it least, and even building a road near the Recorder's office, that is not traveled by team three times a week. This shows that the great necessity of the hour is hidden in the policy, that, "me and my wife, son John and his wife, we four and no more," shall be blessed with an easy footpath, before the great highways of the country shall be opened to uninterrupted travel.

McCORMICK TAKES THE GOLD MEDAL.

Telegraphic despatches from Paris, of June 28th, states that the "McCormick Mower," takes the first prize as the best mowing machine on exhibition.

There were twenty-eight different machines on exhibition, most of which participated in the trial and some struggled very hard for the medal. This trial and award settles authoritatively for the present the merits of the different Machines. Improvements will doubtless still be made, but as McCormick always keeps up with the requirements of the times there is every probability that, like his self Raking Reaper, the Prize Mower will distance all opposition.

FROM PLEASANT MOUND.

June, 24, 1867.

By Our Own Reporter.

THE CROPS.—MR. EDITOR.—Your South Bend correspondent in his letter of June 12th gives a very doleful account of the crops throughout the county. He says that "even on the dryest and best tilled fields the crops scarcely cover the soil." I do not doubt but that it is so in some parts of the county, where the land is very low and level, but I think his observations have scarcely extended through the entire county; since the date of his letter we have had two weeks of very wet weather and the consequences are the crops in Pleasant Mound and the western part of Shelbyville are simply splendid. They are also excellent through the western part of Faribault county and in Martin county so far as we have seen. Corn on the rolling land never looked better, at this time of year, and the only fear that we have in regard to wheat and oats is that they will grow so heavy as to lodge, and will not fill well. We are on high rolling land, and it is quite probable that crops are doing better with us than they are on lower land: there is no doubt but that the flat lands are suffering badly by the wet weather, but I think it cannot be called a general thing throughout the county.

ARAD.

ORGANIZATION OF A NEW SABBATH SCHOOL.—Mr. Editor:—According to previous announcement the parents and children of School District No 72, met at the school house, near "The Red Jacket Mills," on Sabbath afternoon, June 30th, for the purpose of organizing a Sunday school. Mr. James B. Elliot, was appointed chairman of the meeting and Miss Netty Hannah Secretary. The following officers were then elected: Superintendent, G. Darr, Assist. Supt. Levi Scott, Librarian Wm. H. Miller, Treasurer Jas. B. Elliott. Five classes were organized and their teachers appointed. On motion of the Superintendent the school was designated as the "Red Jacket Sunday School." First lesson assigned, "The Lords Prayer."

NETTY HANNAH, Sec.

The foregoing announcement is still another evidence of the rapid advance of our county in all that pertains to moral and intellectual elevation. The neighborhood of the "Red Jacket Mills" will receive commendation from every lover of the Sabbath day, for thus moving in giving sacred instruction to the youth of that vicinity. Most of the above officers we are personally acquainted with, and we are confident that the Red Jacket Sabbath school is in very competent hands.

RESOLUTIONS OF CONDOLENCE.

GARDEN CITY, June 26, 1867.

At a session of Garden City Lodge I. O. of G. T., held June 24, 1867, the following preamble and resolutions were unanimously adopted:

WHEREAS, In the dispensation of Divine Providence, our worthy Brother, E. L. Fogg, is suddenly removed from among us by death; and whereas, by the sacred ties of Templar Brotherhood, as well as common obligation, we do hereby take death's solemn admonition to ourselves and tender our services and unfeigned sympathies to our young sister, the broken-hearted widow, and to all the surviving friends. Be it therefore resolved:

1st. That we, the Garden City Lodge of Good Templars, do deeply deplore this sudden removal, by death, of our worthy Brother, E. L. Fogg; he having been with us from the first as one of our constituent members, filling, from time to time, with credit and devotion, our most responsible offices, being generally present in our councils and a liberal active supporter and defender of temperance, the grand object of our association.

2d, That in accordance with the rules of our order, we unanimously, attend the funeral services this afternoon, at Frazier & Dilley's Hall, to do the duties usual to such occasions, and perform the rites of burial as required by the order.

3d. That a copy of these resolutions be forwarded to the bereaved widow and family, with our sincere sympathy and condolence; and also a copy be sent to the county papers for publication.

Done at the Good Templars' Hall, in Garden City, June 24, A. D. 1867.
